William A. Fenwick Polls 1072 Votes
To Win Presidency Of Student Body

William A. Fenwick, a 24-year-old junior from Chicago, was elected president of the student body in the campus elections which ended yesterday.

Fenwick, a marketing major, succeeds Dick Childers, an English major.

He defeated John Reznick, a 21-year-old junior from Chicago, and Ray Land, a 10-year-old sophomore from Kansas City, Mo., for the office.

Fenwick polled 1,072 votes to 634 for Reznick and 272 for Land.

Fenwick and Ted A. Hutchon, a 21-year-old junior from St. Louis, who ran for vice president, teamed up to win for the top jobs in student government.

Hutton’s claim to the vice presidency is tentative. He polled 1,031 votes, only 13 fewer than his opponent, Frank Davis ’63, and election officials said they would recount the votes.

Both Fenwick and Miss Davis campaigned independently and Ray Land, who had a running mate early in the campaign, ended up on a solid “Reform” ticket by himself.

Seven Coaches In Race For SU Basketball Job

By Tom McNamara

The field of candidates for head basketball coach received a boost by the announcement just before the formal campaign last night of the candidacy of four assistant coaches.

The opening was created when Harry Gallatin resigned to take the head coaching position with the St. Louis Hawks of the professional basketball ranks.

The seven remaining candidates are Glenn Wilkes, a 1959 graduate (Deland, Fl); Bob Harrison, Kenyon College (Cambridge, Ohio); Lou Watson, Indiana University (Bloomington, Ind.); Bill Key, Harris Junior College (St. Louis); Jack Hartman, Coffeyville Junior College (Coffeyville, Kansas); Ray Forster, Anderson High School (Anderson Ind.); and George Lubel, SIU freshman coach.

Estes, now coach at Anderson High School, Anderson, Ind., took Bridgeport high school to second place in the 1959 Illinois prep basketball tournament. He resigned at the end of the season.

Several recommendations for final candidates have been made by the SIU coaching staff and the SIU basketball team.

Estes’ assistant coach was George Lubel, who is still in the running for the vacancy left by Gallating. He has been announced as a former graduate of SIU and has been on the SIU coaching staff since 1959. He has been coaching for 13 years.

Harrison is the only former professional player among the final candidates. He played eight years of professional basketball.”

Hartman, when he was visiting campustold how close he came to coming to Tom Thacker, present star of the University of Chicago. However, Cincinnati ended up with the boy and Hartman was left empty­ handed.

ci­

Watson has been assistant coach at Indiana for seven years behind the incomparable Branch McCraken. Watson must figure that there isn’t much of a future at Indiana with McCraken in the head coach position.

Harrison is the only former professional player among the final candidates. He played eight years of professional basketball. Like the other candidates he too has enjoyed much success.

SIU freshman coach George Lubel is still in the running for the vacancy left by Gal­

lating. He has been announced as a former graduate of SIU and has been on the SIU coaching staff since 1959. He has been coaching for 13 years.

Wilkes of Stetson University had a 67-42 won-loss record entering the 1961-62 season. His previous record including the past season is not available. Wilkes, who is possibly the last candidate to be brought in for interviews.

The Governor’s conference in Developing the Talents of Illinois Youth will be held on April 15, 1963, and will focus on educational needs of our times.

In a speech prepared for delivery by Ltr. Gov. Samuel J. Shapiro in the Agriculture 1 vs. 2 debate, Governor Kerner said, “No longer can we be content with the conventional approaches which fail to take into account the needs of an emerging population.”

Kerner continued, “An essential in our contemporary world—upward mobility of the nation’s youth—equals changes in teaching methods, that fail to use new tools of education such as programmed materials, televised lessons, and broader uses of motion picture and instructional techniques involving independent study and discovery methods of learning.”

He said that unless the schools and society can handle the problems of drop-outs, delinquency and a group of upper­ privileged youth “we can expect the cost of public welfare programs, expanding law enforcement and penal operations to increase further.”

He remarked noted that the state’s authority and responsibility are outlined in the state constitution which provides “free schools whereby all children of this state may receive a good common school education.”

“All children” includes all levels of mental ability from the mentally handicapped to those approaching the genius level, he said.

The governor added that progress in educating the gifted has been blocked by an “extreme shortage of specially trained teachers plus other specialized personnel to serve in supervisory positions.”

OGUZ NAYMAN, journalism graduate student from Turkey, reports facts about SIU to his countrymen. He tapes five minute programs which are broadcast through the Voice of America on Sunday afternoons. The programs cover all aspects of life at Southern, from Homecoming, fratactivities and sororities, to the Youth Orchestra.

There's a good possibility that Southern is much better known in Turkey than the Ivy League of Yale or the crimson of Harvard.

The reason behind this is that a Southern graduate student's work with Voice of America, Oguz Bulent Nayman, a master's candidate in journalism, has been talking about Southern in five minute segments to his countrymen.

Nayman began his work last May. He goes about the SIU campus looking for things to report to his homeland, and has already covered such topics as fraternity and sorority life, the Youth Orchestra, Homecoming, the Egyptian and his work, last summer on the Granite City Press-Record.

The Turkish graduate student works closely with the Broadcasting Service. Nayman records his five to seven minute messages here on campus in the WSVU-FM studios.

"We often joke about him," Buren Robbins, director of Broadcasting Services said, "I've often kidded him about his work. We wonder if he's saying something good or bad about us, but it must be o.k., if USIE puts it on the air," Robbins added.

The tapes recorded here in Carbondale are forwarded to Washington, D.C. where they are checked and then put on the Sunday afternoon feature program to Turkey. The programs are relayed through transmitters in Algiers and Malta before getting to Turkey.

"I really enjoy this work," Nayman said. "I feel I owe a great deal to Southern and the United States for my education, and this gives me a chance to tell about this wonderful land to my fellow countrymen," the University of Ankara graduate added.

Nayman, who worked for the U.S. Information Service in Ankara before coming to Southern, has a number of tapes in the works. Last summer he went to Mississippi to see the home of William Faulkner. He plans to talk about his experiences in Mississippi.

"I try to give an accurate picture of campus life and life in America," Nayman said. "In fact, one of my recent tapes was about students taking exams here. I think this probably was very interesting to Turkish students, whose exams are quite different."

In addition to his radio work, Nayman has done a great deal of translating American literary works for Turkish newspapers.

Livestock Judging Could Prove To Be A Boon To Courtships

In Livestock, As In Women, Judges Are Taught

To Look For Beauty First -- Smooth Hair, Sound Feet And Legs Also Count

By Joan Shapley

"She's stylish."

"Wow, what class!"

"Get a load of those legs!"

No, these remarks aren't directed at the 26 beauties entered in the Miss Southern contest. They are typical phrases used by the newly-formed SIU livestock judging team. Judging beauty is their objective, but for the present they are mainly concerned with the conformation, style, and type of beef, cattle, logs, and sheep.

Southern's seven-man team, coached by Dr. Howard Miller, animal industries department, spends many long hours judging both breeding and market classes. After school and on Saturdays they journey to the University farms to improve their skills.

Judging livestock is a two-fold project. First of all, the animals are placed in order beginning with the one most conforming to the ideal type. Secondly, oral reasons must be given as to why the judges placed the ring of animals as they did.

"The placing of animals often times can be luck, says Miller. The deciding and most important factor depends upon the set of oral reasons given by the judges about the judging of animals. Smooth hair, sound feet and legs, well carried, of deep position, deep bodied, thrifty conditioned, of fine and, strong bones, are everyday terms in judging circles. From the good point of view, it is questionable as to whether these phrases are comparable outside of the livestock circle.

When the team delivers its set of reasons members are judged on delivery, accuracy, style, and smoothness. Dr. Miller calls the boys in to give a set of reasons -- sometimes on a ring of Hereford market steers and sometimes on four bowls of soup.

"Relaxation and self-assurance are important," says Miller. Completely changing the boys line of thinking from steers to soup seems to relax them.

Miller said this added confidence and experience in judging helps the boys when securing jobs. It also may help in winning coeds some team members believe.

The long hours of practice finally paid off when SIU's judging team captured top honors over 18 other universities at the Southeastern Inter-collegiate Livestock Judging Contest held at Mississippi State University, Starkville.

Honor's not only came to the team but to individual members. Herbert Oetjen, Jacob, Ill., compiled the highest total of points ever recorded in livestock judging history. Out of a possible 1000 points, he received 956 points. Number 10 judge of the conference was Jim Down, of Wyoming, Ill.

Other members of the top team are Ed Bas, Tuscula, Jim Miller, Greenview, Allen Wilson, Fairfield, Phil Utley, Athison, and Scottie Chapman, Martinsville.

At the present time, the team does not judge the Miss Southern beauties (this does not mean that they wouldn't like to), but they devote their attention to the four-legged beauties.

Dancing, softball, races, games, and a beach party are on the agenda for Thompson Point May 25 and 26.

A street dance in the "circle" at TP will get the weekend off to a swinging start. The dance will begin at 8 p.m. May 25.

On May 26 will begin at 1 p.m. at the area near the boat docks. Various games such as three-legged races, horse-shoeing, and softball, along with canoe races, will highlight the afternoon's activities.

Steagall Hall and Bowyer Hall will compete in their annual softball game. Scores and points will be recorded for the winners of the various games, and trophies will be awarded to the boys and girls dormitory accumulating the highest number of points.

A beach party at Campus Lake, 7 p.m., will conclude the day's activities.

Jay L. Bergstrand, research assistant in the Zoology department, will speak at the Zoology seminar at 4 p.m. Tuesday Room 133 of the Life Sciences building. His topic will be "Ectoparasites of the Bobwhite Quail in Southern Illinois."
Kennedy Pledges Voluntary Wage Controls

ATLANTIC CITY -- President Kennedy Tuesday pledged continuing drive to keep wages and prices in check, but by voluntary means rather than controls. He spoke before a United Auto Workers Union Convention meeting composed of 10,000 UAW delegates and the general public.

He said the two great tasks of the nation's economy are to create demands for good and to avoid inflation. To do this, he remarked, unjustified wage demands which require price increases and other demands... are contrary to the national interest.

Kennedy quipped that in talking to the U.S. Chamber meeting and to American Medical Association officials recently he had begun to wonder how he got elected. "Now I remember," he said, in a bow to the thunderous reception from the UAW delegates.

TRENTON, N. J. -- The State Assembly has denounced as ruthless a declaration by 200 New Jersey doctors not to treat elderly patients under the Kennedy administration proposed medical aid bill.

The legislation, which will be up for vote Monday, could require the State Board of Medical Examiners to revoke the license of such a doctor and would impose a fine of $50 to $500 or up to 90 days in jail.

ALBANY, N.Y. -- Stockholders of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads voted overwhelm­ingly today in favor of a merger that would create the nation's richest railroad line.

Estimated of an actual merger date were from 12 to 18 months after the beginning of hearing this summer.

GROTON, Conn. -- Mrs. John F. Kennedy christened America's heaviest submarine, the Polaris-firing Lafayette on Tuesday. Outside the gates of the plant stood 50 to 75 pacifists, in a silent protest against the launching.

Secretary of the Navy described the ship as a splendid example of the shipbuilders' art and a specimen of progress toward peace, which will add to this country's war deterrent strength.

CHICAGO -- The Illinois Public Aid Commission cannot remove mothers of illegitimate children from public assistance rolls, according to a ruling by Attorney General Quilliam Clark.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. -- A powerful space rocket exploded in flight Tues­day about 50 seconds after its maiden test flight. No reason was given for the explosion.

BERLIN -- West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared today he saw no use for calls to the U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin and indicated that it might be dangerous to prolong them. Adenauer made no comment as to the exact danger. On Monday he cautioned against taking steps that would recognize Communist East Germany. State Department press officer Lincoln White continued, "As our views, we are open to suggestions submitted by our allies."

ALGIERS -- Death struck at quarter-hour intervals among Moslems of Algiers Tuesday, as the European Secret Army Organization's gunmen staged multiple at­tacks in the heart of the city and killed 28 Moslems by nightfall.

CANBERRA, Australia -- U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged Australia to adjust to the situation if Britain joins the European Common Market. He said all-including the United States-would have to make some adjustments.

School Critics Spur Interest

Critics of American schools, right or wrong in their beliefs, are causing re­newed interest in the philo­sophy of education according to Dr. Bruce Raup, professor of education at Columbia University.

"We need to have clearer ideas about where the move­ments in our culture are leading us and to provide for them in our educational programs at all levels."

A visiting professor now teaching philosophy of education at Southern Illinois University, Raup was a founder and first president of the Philosophy of Education So­ciety. He received the Nicholas Murray Butler award in 1937 for distinction in advancing philosophy of education.

"In meeting the challenge of various educational views, the work of the philosopher in education becomes of paramount importance," Raup said. "It is encouraging to know that philosophy of educa­tion is becoming widely recognized and provided for in colleges and graduate programs of education of teachers."
Sabbaticals Granted To 18 Faculty

Sabbatical leaves and leaves of absence were recently granted to a number of SIU faculty members. Those taking sabbatical leaves for the academic year of 1962-63 are: Assistant Professor of Music Will Gay Bottje; Associate Professor at University School William E. Buys; John C. Downey, associate professor of Zoology; Research Professor in History Harvey C. Gardiner; Professor William Henry Harris from the philosophy department; Dr. Hellmut A. Hartwig, foreign languages; Archibald McLeod, professor and chairman of theater; Lecturer Herbert Roan, design; Jerome J. Rooko, accounting; Professor and Chairman of Botany, Walter B. Welch, Miss Charlotte West, physical education.

Those taking sabbatical leaves for the partial academic year, 1962-63, are: James B. Aiken, community consultant, Community Service; Associate Professor John A. Cochran, economics; Associate Professor Scott W. Hinners, animal industry; Dr. Leland P. Lingle, physical education; Associate Professor Howard H. Olson, Animal Industry; Dr. Herbert W. Potter, plant industry; Dean Burnett H. Shryock, school of fine arts.

Faculty members taking other leaves of absence for the academic year 1962-63 are: Dr. Donald F. Bloss, geology; an instructor from VTI, Miss Jean Danielskelson; Dr. John B. Miles, applied science.

Dr. Philip J. C. Dark, anthropologist, will be gone during July, and Dr. Guy A. Renzaglia, rehabilitation institute, will be gone from June 18 to August 11. Administrative Assistant James D. Turner will be gone from June 18 to July 28.

Methodists To Meet Here

Methodist clergyman and laymen from across southern Illinois will meet May 23-27 on campus for the 111th annual session of the Southern Illinois Methodist Conference. Hosts will be the Methodist congregations of Carbondale but meetings will be held in public auditoriums on campus, according to the Rev. Ron Seibert, director of Wesley Foundation at Southern.

Theme for the meeting will be "No Longer Our Own But Thine" a quotation from the covenant prayer of Wesley. Programming will include worship services, business sessions and addresses by ministers and laymen. The Saturday program will be geared to youth and will bring high school young people to the campus for a visit and an introduction to the work of Wesley Foundation.

Headquarters for the conference will be in the River Rooms of the University Center with displays from the Methodist Publishing House, Methodist Board and Agenacies and the Board of Ministerial Training. All business sessions, evening programs and the Sunday services will be held in Shryock Auditorium.

Faculty Members Win Guggenheim Awards

Mrs. Carol Cook MacClimotlock, associate professor of music, and Gunther Rothenberg, assistant professor of history, will go abroad for study next year on John Simon Guggenheim awards.

Dr. Rothenberg will leave at the end of the spring term to study in Austria this summer, and will be a lecturer at the University of Graz, Austria. He will do research on 19th century national movements in the Balkan countries.

Mrs. MacClimotlock will use her Guggenheim to complete her long time studies on Giaches de Wert, a 17th century Flemish composer. She will sail in August to do some work at the British Museum in Oxford, but will spend most of the next school year in research throughout northern Italy.

The award will permit her to complete a complete edition of the life and music of de Wert on which she has been working for the past seven years.

An exhibition tracing the history of flight will be on display at the University Museum in Alfeld Hall from May 15 to June 17.

Throw further this attempt at improvement of the intellectual morale at SIU, a most important speaking on the 18th will lecture on the purposes of education in the mass democratic society. Faculty members will present two papers answering the question: "What Are the Ways of Achieving the Intellectual Atmosphere at SIU Be Improved?" A panel of conference participants will discuss those statements. Finally, as a fitting conclusion to the conference, a local faculty member will deliver a speech concerning "The Use of An Aims of Education Evaluation in the Context of Southern Illinois University." This conference is an excellent opportunity for students to actually become a part of and participate in discussion which could be the basis for working out problems of concern to everyone. To be a success, the conference must intensify and enlightened participation from students. We urge all to get the Aims of Education Conference considerable thought and to work to make it an all campus evolution.

Testing Necessary, But...

Who gave Mr. Miller his assistant professorship? Even as a sophomore, I can see so many fallacies in his reasoning that I too wonder what the future holds for him. U.S.I. has such a man with such ideas for a professor.

Secondly, what right has any one to call some one else a Communist or to say that he has "Commie" leanings because he doesn’t agree that testing is a wonderful and glorious event. It sounds as if Mr. Miller would not have us test because we are to protect our rights and fight for society from agressors, but I can’t help wondering if it’s so wonderful. Why shouldn’t testing be considered like anything else? Isn’t it evil that the world situation is so bad that we have to resort to such kind of record, much less a perfect one?

Worse than Atomic War

Atomic warfare is bad enough, but something that is worse than atomic warfare would be worse. So it’s hard to say what either the French can tell us what it is; or the Czechs, or the Greeks, or the Norwegian, or the Filipinos; it is an alien oppressor.

ELMER DAVID

A lively and lasting sense of filial duty is more effectively impressed on the mind of a son of daughter by reading King Lear, than by all the dry volumes of ethics and divinity that ever were written.

THOMAS JEFFERSON

He who permits himself to tell a lie once, finds it much easier to do it a second and third time, till at length it becomes habitual; he tells lies continually attending to it, and truths without the world’s believing him. This falsehood of the tongue leads to that of the heart, and in time depraves all its good dispositions.

THOMAS JEFFERSON

Sick, Sick Attitude

Mr. Miller’s letter ("We Will Not Be Safe.") is not only demonstrative of a sick, sick attitude of some people. Obviously, Mr. Miller is eccentric about the resumption of U.S. nuclear tests. After all, recognizing that some students are not as solid on testing as he is, he accuses them of “spouting Commie propaganda” and “keeping their Communist sympathies to themselves.” He recommends “punishing them (our enemies) as they should be punished.”

Then boldly sallies forth with “Until we encourage free discussion and frank statement of opinions . . . we will not know who are our enemies.” Evidently Mr. Miller’s idea of “free discussion” is “agree with me or be a Commie.” Since this attitude is identical to the attitude of the HUAC, I nominate Mr. Miller as a candidate for membership to the group of “glorious defenders of freedom.”

William Spencer

Reds Responsible for Conformity

As professor Miller pointed out there is an increasing tendency towards conformity at SIU. When he failed to point out in that the communists and their sympathizers were originally responsible for this -- through their abuse of the right to freedom of speech. Now they are turning our defensive reaction to their own insidious ends: they are pretending to agree when they really don’t.

If the red traitors were to publicly express their views, then we would recognize them for what they are. At SIU we have learned how to deal with these fellow travellers; and they know it. What can be done? It is our duty to make the reds free to say what they really believe so that we may deal with them without publicity. Unfortunately it may require a long period of freedom of speech, and the open encouragement of non-conformity before these enemies of democracy will one more publicly express their insidious views which defile our republic.

Retired At 17: Asiatic Flu Almost Ended Cornell's Running Career

By Tom McNamara

Bill Cornell, who ran the mile in 4:02.8, almost gave up running four years ago.

Recurring attacks of Asiatic Flu had sidelined the lanky young athlete just after he had run a 4:14.6 mile and was being hailed as potentially the best middle distance man England would ever see.

The decision to give up running was almost as painful as the flu attacks that forced Cornell's strength and desire to continue as a runner.

"I felt it wasn't worth running anymore," he said after his impressive showing in the SU-Kansas track meet. "I decided to go to work as a store clerk."

But two years in a store was about all he could take. And he switched to chasing - vigorously - "bad guys" in Joplin, Mo. and took a job with a police force.

Three years after his decision to quit running - when he was 20 - Cornell decided to take the advice of an official of the Chelmsford Athletic Club and started running again. When the opportunity came to come to the United States, Cornell readily agreed.

On April 3, 1961 Cornell and his wife, Rose, hit the SIU campus. He immediately began running like his old self.

Last May in a meet against the Chicago Track Club, Cornell ran the mile in 4:12 showing that he still had the ability to run. Later the same year he and his friend, Brian Turner from England, entered the California Relay that Cornell came away with numerous awards.

But Cornell's greatest thrill of his running career came Saturday night when 3,000 cheering fans saw him run mile in 4:02.8. It is the second fastest time posted by a collegiate this year.

In addition to running the mile, he also runs the two mile and leg on SIU's two mile relay team. Against Kansas Saturday night he turned in a 4:45.5 time for his half-mile fast leg, "I got a great deal of pleasure out of my leg on the relay," Cornell said. "Considering that I quit running four years ago it makes me feel good but Lew (Hartzog) deserves the credit."

"He makes us work hard every day," Cornell continued in his British accent. "Without his help and his constant pushing me, I would never have run that fast."

Hartzog says he knew all along the Cornell could run mile in 4:03.8 earlier this year. Now within his 4:02.8 clocking Hartzog is hopeful that his star runner will break four-minute Saturday night when Oklahoma State calls on SIU in the last home meet of the year for the Salukis.

"We'll have to find a pacer," Hartzog said earlier this week. "I might put a rabbit on the track for the first half mile hoping to see Cornell and Turner catch him and break four minutes."

It was the slow first half-mile that prevented Cornell from breaking four minutes last Saturday. His time for the first half mile was a slow 2:08 but his last half-mile clocking of 1:55.2 was fantastic, according to Hartzog. Saturday night if Hartzog can find a pacer for the first half mile the anticipated crowd might see both Bill Cornell and Brian Turner break the four-minute mile.

Fred, Bruno Up For 'World' Team

SIU gymnasts Fred Orlosky and Bruno Klaus are still in the running for two of the events in the United States team going to Prague, Czechoslovakia for the 1962 World Games.

After the second tryouts that were held at Seattle, Wash. last weekend Orlosky is in sixth place while teammate Klaus is in two places behind.

However, both are in good shape and are expected to make the final tryouts to be held June 15-17 at the Merchancn Marine Academy.

Orlosky holds a two-point lead over the seventh place man, John Culberson, and Klaus trails Culberson by a raction of a point.

SIU coach Bill Meade was disappointed with his team's performance at the AAU meet. "We have two boys in contention even though we did not perform up to expectations at Seattle," Meade said.

It was a weekend that everything went wrong for the Salukis.

Orlosky fell off both the side horse and parallel bars, two of his better events, and settled for fifth place in the high bars.

Klaus, 1961 NCAA high-bar champion and 1962 third-place holder, ended up sixth in his specialty.

Ray Ripplender, former SIU athlete and star pitcher for Glen Martin's baseball team, is now pitching for the Washington Senators in the American League. Last Thursday Ripplender hit a home run in addition to his standout pitching performance.

Yea! Rah!
Team!

Forty girls and one boy -- if you look closely you'll see him in the second row from the left in black shorts and dark shirt -- showed up to try out for cheerleader posts next year. In the picture at the right, they are being put through their paces in McAndrew stadium by this year's cheerleaders. Those selected will return to campus early in September to take part in New Student Week and to get their vocal chords in shape for the first football game.

Nepal Officials
Visiting Campus
For Three-Days

High government officials and industrial leaders from Nepal began a three-day visit to SIU today. Included on their itinerary will be a tour of the campus and a visit to the Vocational Technical Institute to study its operation, according to Rex Karnes of Area Services.

The group, currently touring the United States to study selected industries and areas of industrial development, included in the group are Krishna Bahadur Deuja, joint secretary of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce; Hulas Chand Golchha, general manager of a milling company; Jogendra Jha, a construction executive; Mani Harsha Jyoti, a mining expert; Ananda Bhakta Rajbandary, assistant manager of Nepal Bank Ltd.; Bel Krishna Shrestha, managing director of a marketing corporation; and Judhha Bahadur Shrestha, director of several firms.

Boy Pianist
Guest Artist
At Festival

A 12-year old Vandanlax boy, who won top-performer honors in the annual downstate preliminaries to the Chicagoland Music Festival, will be guest artist at the "Music Under the Stars" festival May 19.

Courtney Scott was one of five pianists winning Chicagoland Music Festival eligibility out of a field of 24 entries in earlier competition at SIU.

The "Music Under the Stars" guest artist honor is traditionally awarded to top vocal and piano performers in the Chicagoland preliminaries. No vocal contest was held this year.

Features of the 13th annual "Music Under the Stars" at McAndrew Stadium will include a select high school band co-directed by guest conductor Dale Perkins of Mt. Carmel and C. Dale Fjersand of SIU's Edwardsville Campus music faculty; a 900-voice massed elementary chorus to be directed by Miss Betty Boirtight of Herrin, a 500-voice massed high school chorus directed by W.H. Beckmeyer of Mt. Vernon and a select symphonic orchestra of downstate youngsters conducted by Paul Gurley, supervisor of instrumental music in the East St. Louis schools.
