Poshard: Postal report merits action

Lisa Miller
Staff Writer

U.S. Rep. G. K. (Kenneth) Poshard, D-Carbondale, said Friday that legal action ought to be pursued against the Carbondale post office because of its improper hiring and contracting practices, which is 'a possible misappropriation of funds.'

Poshard, a representative during a press conference Friday there was enough information in the report of the postal investigation to spur further action.

The result of the investigation concluded that a management supervisor put a construction and a truck leasing company in his son's name.

Poshard would not release the name of the post office employees or their relatives involved with the investigation because he wanted to stay in compliance with the Privacy Act.

Poshard said contracts were awarded to the construction company realized of $5,500 by the postal office to pay the company were sometimes caused by the management supervisor instead of the son who allegedly owned the company.

In addition to the companies listed on the son's name, the management supervisor also hired a construction company owned by his brother-in-law, the report said.

Poshard said no documentation had been kept to show other companies had the chance to bid for the postal contracts.

"There are no documents to show that the three firms were the low bidders in a bidding process," Poshard said.

Poshard said there was no definite dollar figure, but the report showed that one of the films may have received as much as $40,000 from the post office.

An additional supervisor at the post office who was responsible for approving the contracts was promoted at an escalated rate over a four-year period, the report said.

Carbondale Postmaster Hubert Goehrl said he approved some of the contracts for the three companies and he said they looked legitimate when he signed them.

"I don't know the making of every one of the contracts I sign," Goehrl said.

Poshard said the three companies stopped working for the post office when Hill-Pruett took the position of director of Human Resources in March of 1989.

Pruett claimed lawyers could not be awarded contracts regardless of whether or not they lived under the same roof as post office employees, Pos hard said.

According to the United States Postal Service manual, contracts could not be awarded to postal service employees, their immediate families, businesses owned by postal service employees or their immediate employees.

Poshard said there was a serious ethical or criminal conflict.

"The term 'immediate families' is not clearly defined, therefore there is no way to tell whether or not these companies could face

College seniors fail history, literature

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A study released Sunday found college seniors don't know much about history or literature—but with nearly a quarter unable to identify Franklin Roosevelt as president during the Depression or distinguish between sections of the Communist Manifesto and the Constitution.

The survey by the Gallup Organization was released in conjunction with National Endowment for the Humanities report calling for a core curriculum in colleges that would teach students "basic landmarks of history and thought."

Two arrests made during Harvest Fest

Rain, police force location to change twice

By Jeanne Bickler
Staff Writer

The Southern Illinois chapter of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws had its Harvest Fest at Evergreen Park Friday, after being moved from 611 Pizza by police.

Two of the organizers, St. John's Knapp of the Carbondale Police Department and Joe Wena was a warning and was the area for obstructing a peace officer.

No arrests were made for possession of marijuana.

Knapp said the person with the knife was wearing it outside of his pants. The knife was about five or six inches long. He said it is illegal to have a knife of this size in a liquor establishment.

NORMIL originally planned to hold its educational Harvest Fest at the Free Forum area. The event was moved to 611 Pizza because of rain.

"The kids called me and said they wanted to have the party here, so I said okay," Sam Chang, manager of 611 Pizza.

About an hour later, police encircled the building and asked Knapp to leave.

Knapp said the police were answering a call for assistance.

"We received a call from the owner of 611," Knapp said. "He said that she didn't want them there. We heard there was a lot of (unwanted) students.

Students can weatherize homes at low cost

By Jackie Spinaker
Staff Writer

A strip of fine hair and a piece of plastic there could keep the chill of winter from coming through the doors.

Dave Loos, Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources official, said students can find cheap methods of weatherizing their homes for under $10.

"The time to begin weatherizing is now, while we have some nice fall days," Loos said.

One of the cheapest ways to keep the winter wind out, Loos said, is to caulk cracks around doors and windows.

Caulking is the process of making seams and cracks around windows and doors air and water tight with an oakum or tar substance.

"Caulking down on air flow is the most important step in weatherizing and the least costly," Loos said.

Alan Potts, customer service representative for Central Illinois Public Service, said half of a home's heat is lost through doors and windows.

Besides caulking, students also can purchase plastic kits for sealing windows.

Both Loos and Potts said the easiest method for making a home energy efficient is to regularly change furnace filters.

"A clean filter makes the furnace operate more efficiently by keeping the air moving through the furnace," Loos said.

He added that the filters, which cost less than $1, should be changed every 60 days.

Potts said CIPS also offers advantages to people who use electrical heating instead of gas.

The standard cost for natural gas in winter is 5.89 cents per kilowatt hour. Electricity costs 5.65 cents for the first 400 kilowatt hours, 3.39 cents for the second 400 kilowatt hours and 2.3 cents for more than 800 kilowatt hours of electricity.

"Gas is still a very good option, but electrical heating costs less," Potts said.

East Germany plays down violent democracy clashes

BERLIN, West Germany (UPI) — East Germany's official news agency Sunday dismissed thousands of pro-democracy demonstrators who clashed with police during anniversary celebrations as "rowdies" and said the ringleaders had been arrested. Sources estimate more than 1,000 protesters were rounded up by police who moved to crack down on anti-government demonstrations along midtown Saturday, several hours after they began. In a brief radio-wire dispatch, ADN news agency reported "rowdies" tried to disrupt the 40th anniversary celebration of the communist state.

Israeli Jews observe holiest day of the year
JERUSALEM (UPI) — Jews throughout Israel at sundown Sunday began observing Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the year when the Jews worldwide fast and ask forgiveness for their sins. During Yom Kippur, Hebrew for "day of atonement," everybody in Israel comes to a halt and the nation shuts down. All businesses and restaurants close down for 25 hours. The army scaled off the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip to prevent violence, a standard precaution on holidays. Patrols along Israel's borders were increased to guard against guerrilla infiltration attempts and military bases prepared for a surprise attack.

Pope John Paul II announces China visit
SEUL, South Korea (UPI) — Pope John Paul II headed for Indonesia Monday on the second leg of his 11-day Asian pilgrimage after expressing desire to visit China, a nation that shut the Vatican and barred his plane from flying over its territory. The head of the world's 1 billion Roman Catholics, winding up a five-day visit to South Korea, prayed for China at the end of a mass for 650,000 faithful Sunday on a river island in Seoul. The pope also reiterated that he hoped divided South and North Korea would end 36 years of undeclared war and make reconciliation progress.

Nasa gear up for shuttle countdown
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Engineers tested two nuclear generators aboard the shuttle Atlantis Sunday, setting the stage for the Monday start of the ship's countdown to launch Thursday on a flight to fix the shuttle's xenon-powered steering system. Atlantis' xenon-powered Galileo probe tucked in its payload bay, is scheduled to lift off on the sixth post-Challenger mission at 2:29 p.m. Thursday. The shuttle's countdown was scheduled to begin earlier, but NASA determined it was not clear to proceed with the flight until a federal judge rules Tuesday on a suit filed by protesters who want to keep the shuttle on the ground.

Single record and the Horizon Award, given for the country music star whose career has shown the most dramatic upswing in the year. Officials from the CMA said no other deceased artist has ever won an active category award. "I Wonder Do You Think Of Me," was the first single released from his new album.

Prof's book discusses influence of social class

By Brian Gross
Staff Writer

Writing her first book involved an enormous work load for Annette Lareau, faculty member of the sociology department, but she said the rewarding experience proved it was worth it.

"Home Advantage: Social Class and Parental Intervention in Elementary Education" was born out of original research data compiled for Lareau's dissertation at the University of California-Berkeley. She came to SIU in 1986 and in between teaching reviewed her dissertation into a 568-page manuscript.

"It was an all-consuming project," Lareau said. "I wrote every day last year except for four or five weeks. My printer died this year."

Before sitting down to write the book, Lareau said she observed classrooms over a six-month period and then selected six children and their families for a more intensive study.

"Many people believe social class doesn't make much difference in society," Lareau said. "In the book, I argue that class does make a difference. In sociology, it's widely known that social class has an influence on what sociologists call life chance, or opportunities available."

Lareau concluded from her research that working class parents, high school graduates or drop-outs, are reluctant to help their children because they didn't feel capable of helping them.

"I was prepared to help as critical to a child's success," Lareau said. "They looked up to teachers and were intimidated by the teacher's education."

"Upper-middle class parents had more resources to comply with requests teachers made of them. They felt competent as college graduates, on the same level with, or of higher social rank than, teachers. That made a difference. They felt capable of teaching their children."

"Home Advantage" is not a textbook, but is being used currently at two California universities in graduate and undergraduate classes.

Lareau said, "I think it will be helpful to other graduates, she said. "It's a realistic portrayal of the ups and downs of field work."

Lareau said she had not expected a book to come out of her thesis, but she had considered it. She said the hassle involved with submitting copies for review to different publishers didn't appeal to her. Instead, the book came to be published under different circumstances.

"I met a person, Phil Wexler, as a concert," Lareau said. "He was interested in my research and offered me a contract. He was very encouraging to me about revising it. I might not have done it if he hadn't been so encouraging."

Lareau said an exciting moment in the process came when she saw her first advanced copy of the book at a San Francisco convention in August, when it went on immediate display. Officially, the book was released in September.

"There's a feeling of accomplishment," Lareau said. "It is important to publish."

Lareau said, "I was ready for it to be done. I'm already starting new research that I hope will be a book, so no rest for the weary," she said.

Hank Williams Jr. show musical delight

By Doug Toole
Staff Writer

Hank Williams Jr. demonstrated Thursday night why he has been named "Entertainer of the Year" for the past three years. Mixing country, rock, honky tonk, blues and show tunes, Williams and the seven-piece band opened with a giant video screen showing Williams and his late father, Hank Williams Sr., playing a duet on "Teardrops From My Eyes" through the wonder of modern video technology and old Williams movies.

Then, Williams and the band began to play. He opened with energetic tunes that showed off his band's talents as soloists, thus did a rendition of Lyrnyd Skynyrd's "Sweet Home Alabama," which he performed with surprising musicality. After that he played two tributes to his late father, "If You Don't Like Hank Williams" and "Family Tradition," where he invited the audience to sing along.

Every song Williams played was full of raw energy. Even his duet on "Sweet Home Alabama" was soft at times, loud at others. Fans in the audience danced with guys. Guys danced with guys. It was truly a delight."

The Carbondale City Council had better check its list, and check it twice before it puts $20,000 in any proverbial stocking.

The City Council has allotted $20,000 to buy new Christmas decorations because the old ones are dilapidated. As Mayor Neil Dillard said "Carbondale has been criticized for many years about the way it looks at Christmas time. We want to change that.

And so we agree wholeheartedly that decorations during a festive season is something that every city, if it is any city, has.

Unfortunately we find something a little odd. A purchase of Christmas decorations receives $20,000 from City Council while programs focused towards helping children in public housing receives $1,000. This does not seem fair.

The program for the children would help create sports programs and cultural clubs for needy children living in public housing in Jackson County. Senior Director of the Jackson County Housing Authority, said in a letter to Mayor Dillard that he asked for $3,000 to help match the funds the housing authority received from the federal department of Housing and Urban Development.

The city only gave the housing authority $1,000, and City Manager Steve Hoffner said that the money will be given if the other $4,000 is raised from other sources.

We realize that this program is for all of Jackson County, and that all cities or towns should have some input. However Carbondale can only see fit to amount to help these youths - but Carbondale sure will one of his most complex; theories. The earliest version of the inner life as Freud had an input. Unhappy communists to form new party opposed to reform

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — Dismayed hardline communists, opposed to Western-style reforms announced Wednesday, will form their own breakaway party dedicated to maintaining an orthodox communist system in Hungary.

The new party would be in direct opposition to the revitalized Hungarian Socialist Workers Party that came into being Saturday when a majority of delegates at a special congress of the ruling Communist Party voted to rescind its past policies, including a devotion to a Marxist economic system.

The party literally voted itself out of existence, "creating itself as a socialist party committed to a multi-party system and free elections.

In a letter to the official Hungarian news agency, MTI, the small right-wing conservative center New Hungarian Christian Democrat Society, formed recently to oppose political and economic reforms, appealed to "disappointed communists" to join their new, yet unnamed party.

The letter also said the society, named the Communist Party general secretary who ruled Hungary for more than 30 years before his ouster last year, would also work with conservative activists who may elect to join the new Hungarian Socialist Party and baume reform from within party ranks.

Returning to the original mood of the show, Williams performed "Fack Naked" and "Country of Mind" in rapid succession. The ballads were well performed, but the crowd always responded better to the upbeat highlight of the show.

In addition to getting everyone in the crowd on their feet, Williams played a drum solo, a steel guitar solo, a short guitar piece and a harmonica in the song.

Williams commented on how few country artists are featured on national programs like pay-per-view. Sadly, he's correct. Country music is rather limited in its appeal and market.

Williams' concert was featured via satellite as a pay-per-view presentation.

Williams stands apart from the rest of the artists in his genre in that he is a great musician, a great performer and the music he plays is so good it rises above one particular classification.

Waylon Jennings opened for Williams but left the stage after those few songs. Before leaving the stage, Jennings said to the mostly seated audience, "I love Hank, and I love y'all, but I ain't never played for people sitting down, so I'll see y'all later.

Jennings and his band left the Arena parking lot in their tour bus at 7:35 p.m.

The students even had trouble with the history section. One third of the students, 31 percent did not know Roosevelt was president during the Great Depression. Of the 696 students at 67 colleges who took the test, 68 percent failed the social studies section and 39 percent failed the history section.

Eighty-three percent did not know that Kaiser wrote The Waste Land and "The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock." Fifty-eight percent could not identify Plato as the author of "The Republic" or Shakespeare as the author of "The Tempest.

Only 58 percent of the students knew that the Koran is a sacred text of Islam — with 12 percent identifying it as a Jewish text, the survey found.

On the history section, the survey found "significant gaps" of many of them dealing with American history. Only 23 percent of the students, for example, correctly answered that the Emancipation Proclamation only declared slaves to be free in areas of Confederate state not held by the Union.

Forty-two percent of the students couldn't place the Civil War in the correct half century and about a quarter said Columbus landed in the Western Hemisphere sometime after 1500.

I'm not three percent identified the phrase, "From each according to his ability, to each according to his need," as a section of the Constitution instead of "The Communist Manifesto" of Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels.

On average, men scored higher on the test than women, and seniors at private colleges or universities had higher scores than those at public universities.

to see Southern Illinois compare so favorably with the three states.

"We had no preconceived ideas. We visited each of the three states, and the state employment service for work supplies totals and we applied methodology developed by the Labor Department," Kirkiss said.

Analysis of the study showed that work stoppages in Southern Illinois were also less severe and less frequent.

"During 1988 through 1982, the average number of workers who stopped work was 177 in Southern Illinois, while it was 301 in Illinois, 315 in Indiana, and 341 in Minnesota," the study said. "During the same period, 30 days in Southern Illinois compared to 62 days in Illinois, 81 days in Indiana, and 57 days in Minnesota.

Hanson said this was the first time to his knowledge such a study has been completed.

"We (the commission) hope we can break some ground with this study and encourage other states to use this information," Hanson said.

The study also noted that work stoppage rates have been on the decline nationwide. But because the national statistics exclude states with fewer than 1,000 workers, the national rate is not comparable with the area or state rates computed by the study, the study said.

The four-month study was sponsored by the Southern Illinois Coalition and cost nearly $5,000.

criminal charges," Poshard said.

"It's a court of law or somebody decides whether or not laws have been broken," Poshard said. "I am not going to prejudice the case by telling you what I think because it's not important what I think. It's important what the legal system thinks right now.

The owners of Guaditz's Apparel, located next door to 611 Pizza, did not wish to comment until they consulted with their lawyers.

"They won't say they closed the police, but I will," Chang said.

"They told my brother (the manager of 611 Pizza) to get out of there," Chang said.

Chang said the owners of Guaditz's are unfairly blaming the NORML members for several things.

"They said after they called the police, the kids from NORML stole $500 worth of merchandise from their store," Chang said.

"They're saying 611 Pizza and NORML are responsible," Chang said. "They can't accuse people of stealing. They're just trying to make the NORML people look bad.

Chang said NORML had called for permission from 611 Pizza's management to use the restaurant.

"They called and asked if their band could play. We didn't know what NORML was about, but there was no smoking," she said. "The kids were behaving so well. They didn't do anything.

Chang said she did not support the smoking of marijuana and the group was not doing that in her restaurant.

"I'm not supporting NORML's cause," Chang said. "Anything against the law, I won't do.

After the group was removed from 611 Pizza, they moved to Evergreen Park.

The Harvest Fes proceded as planned, with music and speeches about the legalization of marijuana.
BOSTON (UPI) — Actress Bette Davis so despised a factory time clock she punched during a teenage job that she tracked it down 60 years later and claimed it, the curator of the late Oscar winner's memorabilia said Sunday.

"When she was a teenager, trying to get a break in acting, she worked as a waitress, an usher and in a factory in the Lowell area," said Howard Gotlieb, curator of the 20th Century Archive at Boston University, which houses 109,000 items in its Bette Davis collection.

The actress, whose half-century movie career included Oscar-winning roles in "Dangerous" and "Jezebel," died of cancer Friday night in Paris. She was born 81 years ago in Lowell, Mass., a mill town north of Boston.

"Four or five years ago, this huge crate came in the mail and I opened it and saw this old Victorian-style time clock and I had no idea where it was from," said Gotlieb, who obtained Davis's papers in 1972.

"She must have had somebody looking for it for many years and it was finally located just a few years ago," Gotlieb said.

The evil punch clock now rests in a Boston University vault with other priceless Bette Davis memorabilia.

Local band vies for regional airplay and record contract

Establishing a local following, presence is band's first goal

By Katherine Lydon
Staff Writer

Pulse, a local band, is selling its first tape, "Scary Polarity," in three Carbondale record stores and has been promised airplay on a local radio station.

The band consists of Paul Brown, Lonnie Wright, and Kevin Swanner.

Brown, Pulse's vocalist and keyboardist and SIU-C law student, owns Above the Sky Publishing, a BMI (Business Music Industry) affiliated publisher, whose label is on the record. Brown is from Carbondale.

Wright, from Johnston City, plays guitar and sings high boardist first part, "Scary Polarity," on tour.

"We're fortunate that our label is affiliated publisher, which says we're extremely talented," Brown said. "We care a lot about people and we play for a drug-free band," Brown said.

Rich Fries was guest bassist for the tape.

Brown said they "are not glamour boys. Brown said he feels people miss a good rock and roll band that captures the imagination. He is out to make people enjoy the music with it. He wants to get people dancing and moving, which he believes, and that stirs hearts and emotions, he said."

"We're new in the area and we're trying to establish a presence. It's like going forward and backward at the same time," Brown said.

Pulse's methods for establishing a presence, according to Brown, include sending "Scary Polarity" to major labels, giving some airplay locally, obtaining local media coverage, and creating interest.

His reason for shopping a major label is because major labels have more resources, Brown said. They can afford to market the tape for six months to a year.

He said another option would be to go with a major independent. Although an independent can only afford to market a tape for three to six months, independent allow for more artistic freedom, Brown said. Brown brought "Scary Polarity" to local radio stations to gain airplay, he said. The program director at WCL said he would play some of the tape and if he gets enough requests, he will play more, Brown said.

He did not get the same consideration when he pursued another local station, Brown said. He declined to say which station didn't want to play the tape.

"In a way you have to pester people, but you have to do it politely," Brown said.

His logic for pursuing the station that wasn't interested is because he feels that if the program director may not be interested, there may be somebody at the station connected with other labels that would be, Brown said.

Brown said he wants to create interest in the area because if he sells tapes in this market, it will make the tape more desirable to major labels.

The tape can be purchased at Piano Records Inc. on the strip, Dic's Jockey at University Mall and Record Bar Inc. at the mall.

Tree planting at Head Start centers kicks off annual awareness month

By Dale Walker
Staff Writer

The Seventh Annual SIU-C Head Start Awareness Month kicked off Friday with tree plantings at three locations and will coincide with the annual Sharing Day, Family Day and the Annual SIU-C Head Start Open House.

Head Start is a comprehensive, developmentally appropriate preschool program for economically disadvantaged children and families. It has been affiliated with SIU-C for 18 years, Lila N. Haqq, director of Child Development, said.

"Tree planting was a symbolic activity to highlight the beginning of Head Start Awareness month," she said. At 10 a.m. Friday, a tree was planted at the SIU-C Head Start centers at 925 Giant City Road, Carbondale; 418 S. Fifth St., Murphysboro; and Route 1, Champaign, she said.

Informational Sharing Day, which is scheduled for Oct. 16 at the Carbondale Head Start center, will include presentations from public service community agencies from Jackson and Williamson counties.

"It's an open forum for sharing information and networking to increase awareness of community resources like the Jackson County Community Workshop and the Literacy Corner," Haqq said. SIU-C Head Start Family Day will be held Oct. 20 at Evergreen Park in Carbondale. "We invite all 229 Head Start families to attend the outdoor day of parent/child activities and the International Potluck Lunchroom," she said.

The Carbondale Police Department will be distributing I-Search packets and fingerprinting children for I-Search during Family Day. An artist will be on hand to do sketches of children, she said.

The Annual SIU-C Head Start Open House will be held on Oct. 27 at the three SIU-C Head Start centers, Haqq said. Open House hours will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

SIU-C faces blood drive challenge

By Phil Pearson
Staff Writer

Universities compete in a variety of physical sports but there is a new competition where the blood is sure to flow.

The University of Missouri at Columbia has challenged SIU-C to see which school can collect the most blood in a six-day blood drive, Vivian Ugent, Red Cross regional blood drive coordinator in Southern Illinois, said.

Ugent said the "grudge match" was proposed by MU as a run-away request for the 19th Annual Blood Drive, which often kicks off on Labor Day.

Ugent said MU's competition is a six-day drive to collect blood from 600 people and the first school to reach the mark will win.

"Records were made to be broken," Bill Winingear said. "We've got a real enthusiastic bunch of kids and think we can do it."

The MU blood drive will begin Oct. 13 and the SIU-C drive will begin Nov. 5. Both drives will last six days with each school having a goal of 2,200 pints. The winner of the challenge will be the school collecting the most pints.

SIU-C's drive is being sponsored by Mobilization of Volunteer Effort, an organization with the goal of coordinating student groups, personnel in the office of Community Development, and other organizations in the community.

One of the organizers of the blood drive at SIU-C said he isn't worried about losing the challenge.

"We think we can stand up to the Missouri Challenge and beat them," Adalikwu said. He added that all local universities are planning a "carnival atmosphere" of events to celebrate the annual blood drive.

Winingear said similar activities are being held for the MU blood drive, which will coincide with the MU homecoming.

Rick Mitchell, president of MOVE/LEAD, said there has been a lot of support from student organizations. He said students and faculty have agreed to work during the drive in whichever capacity needed and the Air Force ROTC detachment has volunteered to run a telephone campaign to complement the recruiting of donors with tables.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic and Republican negotiators failed again to reach agreement today on how best to handle a needed deficit reduction bill and thereby avoid another issue of a capital gain tax cut.

"We don't have an agreement yet," said Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas after the 90-minute negotiating session.

Dole said he presented Democrats with a new GOP proposal on how to address the partisan problem of passing a deficit reduction bill, called reconciliation, but he did not reveal details of the plan.

He planned to meet with President Bush's budget director Richard Darman later Sunday to discuss the status of the talks.

Senate Democratic leader George Mitchell of Maine said that the "constructive and positive suggestions" Dole made during the session in addressing a Democratic concern that expanded child care benefits — passed by the House and Senate earlier — "fall through the cracks" amid talks on paring down the overloaded deficit reduction bill and the capital gains tax cut issue.

A key sticking point is that Republicans want the capital gains tax cut favored by Bush — and already passed in the House deficit reduction bill — included in the Senate's bill too.

The Senate Finance Committee rejected the capital gains cut last week, opting for partial recapturing of tax deductions for contributions to individual retirement accounts.

Also at issue is how to strip down the deficit reduction bill, which both sides agree is loaded with numerous issues not required for deficit reduction.

Unless the reconciliation bill passes by Oct. 15, across-the-board spending cuts of about $16.3 billion, already ordered Oct. 1 and split evenly between defense and domestic programs, would become permanent.
Archbishop Tutu's son arrested in bomb threat

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Airport police arrested Archbishop Desmond Tutu's son Sunday for the second time in a year for threatening to blow up an airplane, authorities said.

Trevor Tutu, an advertising executive believed to be 29, threatened "to 'acquire a device' when he was expelled from a domestic flight Sunday in East London, a South African town on the coast of the Indian Ocean, a spokesman for the Law and Order Ministry said. Police also arrested Tutu's traveling companion, an unidentified woman, for possession of marijuana, the spokesman said.

Tutu, who was also traveling with his wife, Leah Nermalco Shinxani, has frequently said his family is the greatest strength God gave him.

At the time of his arrest Sunday, Tutu was free on bail pending appeal of his conviction in the New Year's bomb hoax. Mellet said the same unidentified woman, involved in the New Year's incident.

A's win AL pennant

TORONTO (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics became the first team in 11 years to repeat as pennant winners, edging the Detroit Tigers 3-2 in a 12-inning game Sunday.

Ed Still scored one run and tripled home another in support of Dave Stewart, helping the A's close the best-of-seven American League playoffs in five games.

Dave Stieb took the loss for Toronto, which has dropped seven of its last eight playoff games.

Stewart, the only major league to reach 20 victories each of the last three seasons, allowed eight hits over eight innings in his second start of the series.

He departed after allowing a leadoff home run to George Bell in the ninth, Dennis Eckersley relieved and posed his third save despite allowing a ninth inning sacrifice fly to Kelly Gruber.

Controversy developed upon Eckersley's appearance, when Toronto manager Cito Gaston asked the umpires to inspect the reliever's glove. The umpires promptly designed to disturb the reliever, infuriated Oakland manager Tony La Russa, who hurled his lineup card to the ground.

Eckersley was allowed to pitch.

With a crowd of 50,034 watching, Jose Cano (26 single home) and Harris Henderson hit second with 59, and host Paul Burkinshaw rounded the loop.

Overall in the meet, La Russa said. "So Leeann really came through for us. We had a pretty good team performance."

Indiana finished with the top two finishes. Michelle Padgett was 15th with a time of 19:24. There were 60 finishers in the meet.

"Vincent finished 12th overall with a time of 18:48, Arnne DeNoon said. "So Leeann really came through for us. We had a pretty good team performance.""

Men harriers run wild at Indiana

By Kevin Simpson

SUU-C men's cross country took the top four positions at the Indiana State Invitational over the weekend as it gears up for the Missouri Valley Conference Championships in Peoria on Oct. 30.

The 10,000-meter race was run at Sullivan Links Golf Course in Terre Haute.

The Salukis had 22 points to outdistance Southern Indiana, 52, Indiana State, 58, Purdue, 122 and Danville Area Community College, 128.

Freshman Geral Owen paced the Salukis with a time of 31:22. Sophomore Vaughan Barry and mark Stauri finished second and third with times of 31:40.8 and 31:43.5 respectively.

The OIE Miss Marlowe in Oxford, Miss. Oct. 20 will be the last meet for the Salukis before the conference championships.

Coach Bill Cornell said the race showed how strong the four runners on his team can be, but he would like to see the team improve overall.

"Our entire season is designed to get us ready for the conference championships," Cornell said. "Whenever you have your team take four out of four spots, you know they're running well."

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Vinny Testaverde, rebounding from last week's embarrassing performance, threw for 269 yards and three touchdowns Sunday and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers ended a 12-game losing streak to Chicago with a 42-35 triumph over the previously-unbeaten Bears.

The Buccaneers, 3-2, hadn't beaten Chicago since a 26-23 overtime victory on Jan. 2, 1983. A regular season-record crowd of 72,017, including several thousand Chicago fans, watched Tampa Bay win.

Salukis fall short again at Northern

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

Not even another record-setting performance by sophomore quarterback Scott Gabbert could save the Salukis from their second straight conference victory denying defeat in Northern Illinois Saturday.

After losing to Arkansas State in the first seconds last weekend, the Salukis suffered another loss to the Huskies, 29-24.

"I felt like we earned a lot of respect out here," said Scott Gabbert. "I thought the world of Scott Gabbert," SIU-C head coach Bob Smith said. "It's not a two-game span. A lot of the credit goes to our offensive line, our receivers, our backs and, most of all, our offensive coordinator Bill Callahan, who has made adjustments in our offense for different secondaries."

Smith knew the Salukis could have some success with the passing game against Northern. It's difficult to imagine a Saluki quarterback winning over the championship game for a second consecutive year.

Northern's ability to execute their withstanding offense against the Saluki defense was the determining factor in the game, Smith said.

With just 2:58 to play in the game, the Huskies managed a 24-21 Northern threat to take the lead. The Huskies drove down the Saluki two-yard line. But a goal line stand by SIU-C prevented Northern from scoring and SIU-C took possession.

"That was a tremendous effort by our defense," Smith said. "We could have been scoring on this march but we prevented them from getting a first down. We thought that should've won the game for us."

The game would have ended if the Salukis didn't take possession.

"After the goal-line stand, the Salukis ran two running plays, an incompletion and then took a safety on fourth down rather than risk a punt deep in their own territory," Smith said. "We're pleased we took the safety."

"We felt we also made the right decision to punt with Peters because he has done so well. He ended up shanking the punt, but they (Northern) helped us out when they fumbled the ball. But we just couldn't contain them on defense."

The safety cut the SIU-C lead to 24-23. After Peters' punt, Northern took over on their own 40 yard line. Executing their withstanding offense to perfection, Northern eventually scored the winning touchdown.

"Our defense played hard but I don't think we have the zip we had in past weeks," Smith said. "We may be to the point in the season where we need to substitute more."

The Huskies scored first with 6:35 remaining to play in the opening quarter. Northern halfback Brett Schroeder took a punt behind the right side and ran for 60 yards before adding the extra point and Northern led 7-0. It was the only Northern score of the first half.

The Salukis tied the score on their next possession. Gabbert, who completed 11 consecutive passes at one point in the first quarter, capped off a 10-play, 76-yard drive with a nine-yard touchdown pass to Rob Derdicin with 2:45 remaining. Steve Wedemeier's kick tied the score 7-7. The Salukis next score came in the second quarter. Gabbert moved 79 yards on 15 plays as Gabbert hooked up between linebacker Lenny Wright recovered. This set up a 23-yard field goal by Wedemeier and the Salukis led 17-7 at halftime.

"I thought we'd win this game," Smith said. "I felt that way before the game. During the game and until there were just 20 seconds left in the game. We pretty much had control of the game in the first half."

Spikers win in Chicago, await conference play

By Tracy Sargeant
Staff Writer

The winner and runner-up in the tournament will be played for Conference play at home against Western Illinois Friday."

"SIU-C coach Pati Hagemeyer said the team had to work for the two wins. "It's not like we can just back track on the matches. He added, "Nina Ben had a record-breaking season and the Salukis are looking to do it again."

Hagemeyer said that Nina probably wasn't aware of how well she had done. "Nina talked about not having any regrets. We go to her a lot in games when she is.""

Also with a season-high of 64 assists was sophomore setter Terri Schulteheirch. Hagemeyer said that the Schulteheirch has improved his level of play and taken on a bigger role in the court.

"Terri has seemed to be into it a lot more consistently. Whether she continues that or not I don't know. Right now we don't have a strong leader on the court," Hagemeyer said.

"So (DePaul) is something you can't grooms a person for. You can't practice that in situations. Either they get accustomed to it or they don't. It has been some of the recent years they have strong leaders," Hagemeyer said.

Hagemeyer said the team has been improving in preparation for conference play. "The team gets better and better every time they play. They have shown improvement in that area," Hagemeyer said. "That is a major thing we need to look right now."

"We will be working on how they want to put things together."

Women netters win 2 of 3, improve season mark to 7-3

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

The SIU-C women's tennis team won two of three matches this weekend to improve in season mark to 7-3 Saturday.

The Salukis defeated Louisville 3-2 at the Egyptian Sport Center Friday night. The matches were moved indoors because of rain. Since then they are only four courts at the Sports Center, the match was shortened to four singles matches and one doubles. The matches were started to 7-3. Students were asked to fill in by June 4 and 6-4, 7-7 and 7-6. But No. 2 player said the Salukis had a tough time playing well and really showed what they were capable of.

The match went down to doubles competition. Boardman and Edwards defeated Dyer and Abell in three sets 6-1, 6-1, 7-6 and 8-6 in the tiebreaker.

"That was ironic because doubles is the first match four of us and we have struggled in doubles," SIU-C coach Judy Austin said. "We have been playing really well and showed what they were capable of." Edwards defeated Tracy Re homemond in the second singles match. Edwards was defeated by Julie Abele in the No. 3 position, 7-6, 6-2.

Women netter in doubles competition. Boardman and Edwards defeated Dyer and Abell in three sets 6-1, 6-1, 7-6 and 8-6 in the tiebreaker.
