The Daily Egyptian, August 11, 1964

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_August1964
Volume 45, Issue 199

Recommended Citation

62 Attending Youth World At Southern

Learning about all phases of government, both local and international, is one of the opportunities given to 62 high school seniors attending the Third Annual Youth World on campus this week.

Michael Nee, account salesman for Illinois Bell Telephone Co., will speak on state government at 10 a.m., Wednesday. Federal government will be the topic of U.S. Rep. George E. Shipley Thursday. Shipley is from Olney, K., Nell Thurmond, mayor of Johnson City, spoke to the group on local government Monday.

Students attending the Youth World are getting practical experience in international government. They will be working all week on resolutions to be presented during a mock general assembly at 8 p.m., Friday in the University Center Ballroom.

After registering on Sunday, the students spent most of Monday becoming oriented to the various SIU components, including a trip to Little Grassly and V.T.I. At 7 p.m., Mayor Thurmond will speak to the local government class.

Robert Marks, a state representative spoke on state government at 8 p.m.

Today their time will be devoted to organizing committees to discuss the resolutions to be introduced at the mock assembly.

Wednesday they will continue to study the resolutions. Michael Nee will speak at 10 a.m. in the Family Living Lounge and Abdul Altman, professor in the Department of Government, will speak at 7:30 p.m. They will also watch a demonstration on the assembly process.

Final drafting of resolutions will be done Thursday. Rep. Shipley and R.C. Coleman, director of Plan A Curriculum, will speak to the participants.

At Least They Can Dream

Students Respond to an Intriguing Question: "What Would You Do as SIU's President?"

By Larry Widrig

Imagine yourself with a doctoral in speech. You've been chairman and director of the speech departments at two large Midwestern universities for general years. The Board of Trustees at SIU has just made you Southern's new president.

With some trepidation you assume your new post. What would be your first official act? After a careful study of the University and its problems? Since everyone seems to think he can do the other fellow's job better, a group of students were given a chance to say what they would do if they were the person described above. Here are their responses:

"First thing I would do as new president is to lift the ban on automobiles owned by students over 21 years of age," says Phil Wolf, a senior major in dentistry student from Forrest Park.

"I don't feel that anyone who has a car and is over 21 should be deprived of his driving privilege while he is attending this university, unless he loses his license for some unlawful act," Wolf added.

"I would coordinate the different university services," says David Needham, a senior geography major from Plainfield.

"Each university service presently is separate, with no knowledge of what the others are trying to accomplish. Hence, the student suffers because he has to spend all his time running between departments trying to get them to reach a final unifying agreement," Needham stated.

"I would shorten the summer session to eight weeks and air-condition all class rooms and dormitories," says Parli Bergamiller, a senior math major from Murphyboro.

"I would change the requirements for the student loan fund," says Jim Huberty, a senior from Skokie. "As it stands now, any student or group of students can borrow money from this fund, since they can afford to work for their money," says Huberty.

"I would expand Southern's housing facilities so that students, single or married, would not have to depend so greatly on the property owners of Carbondale," says Dennis Jordan, a junior government major from Waukegan.

"The people who rent in Carbondale seem to think that this area has the highest standard of living in the country, as their rents show," Jordan added.

"Then, too, I would issue student pay checks every two weeks," Jordan added.

"My first move would be to abolish compulsory ROTC," states Liz Lemons, a student wife from Carbondale.

"I would make an effort to increase the ratio of professors and instructors to students and eliminate the need for graduate assistants to be instructors," says Paul Carlson, a sophomore psychology major from Plainfield.

"I would attempt to improve the parking facilities so that more cars could be allowed on campus," says Jim Lemons, a senior English major from Carbondale. "I feel college students are responsible enough to use their cars properly," Lemons added.

"I would build an 18-hole golf course on the south side of campus lake," says John Marek, a senior psychology major from Riverdale. "You know, all work and no play makes the president a very unfavorable person on campus," Marek added.

REST AND RELAX - With Morris Library's air conditioning going full blast, students have found it a great place to beat the heat, and incidentally, to study. The three young women above demonstrate just how informal getting a formal education can be at times.

Everette N. Hong, chairman of the Management Department, has asked to be reassigned to teaching duties, according to Henry J. Rehn, dean of School of Business.

Rehn said Hong asked for the action to be taken "as soon as possible." It would probably go into effect as of full quarter, according to the chairman.

"I'll probably act as chairman in the meantime, until we get a new one," Rehn said.

Hong said he plans to return to full-time teaching at SIU, with his present rank of professor.

Hong joined the SIU faculty at 1958 as acting chairman and professor of management. He was appointed chairman of the department in 1960.

Before coming to SIU, he was head of the Division of Economics and Business at the college of William and Mary. He had also taught at Arizona, Syracuse, Iowa State and Tulane.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Washington in 1934, and his doctorate at Southern California in 1943.

Hong is the eighth department chairman to step down in the past year for various reasons.

Included are seven in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. They are Charles D. Hord, political science; William S. Wham, English; John S. Porter, philosophy; Jack E. Hoge, chemistry; Donald L. Fuhrman, astronomy; Philip J. Sibley, economics; and Richard L. Tidwell, mathematics.

Everette Hong
J. Brasfield, physics; Paul J. Caudill, sociology; Bruce Harkness, English; James Neckers, chemistry; Carl C. Lindgren, microbiology; Vera L. Peacock, foreign languages; and Walter B. Welch, botany.

Hord is the only one who resigned to accept a position at another school. He is returning to the University of Illinois. All the others stepped down to devote full time to their teaching duties.

Gus Bode

Gus says the official program may have called it the re- ception, but the basketball coach could tell you it was a "social" affair with a display of broken field running.
The Proscenium One company has as its third summer offering a worthwhile production of Clifford Odets' "A Taste of Honey.'

Set in the slums of Salford in Lancashire, England, the play dramatizes a lack of humanity and a hunger for it. More specifically, the drama concerns the small cyclones that shake the private world of Josephine, played by Judy Mueller.

Josephine, daughter of a woman of the streets, receives the expected lack of loving attention from her mother and the world. In an attempt to achieve a place for herself, the young school girl encourages the attentions of a Negroe sailor, who during the Christmas holiday absence of the mother spends time at the comfortless flat with Josephine.

In a few months she realizes she is pregnant. By chance Josephine meets Geoffrey, who volunteers to take care of her with no strings attached. This second act of humanity and a hunger for it.

The play is set in England. It could be anywhere at any time. The scenery, props, and costumes are the result of Josephine's fairly movable nursery rhymes, mops the hearth is her mother Helen, who volunteers to take care of the baby's childishness with no strings attached. This second act of humanity and a hunger for it.

With facile stage presence she makes the part of Helen of Josephine's fairly movable nursery rhymes, mops the hearth is her mother Helen, who volunteers to take care of the baby's childishness with no strings attached. This second act of humanity and a hunger for it.

The play is set in England. It could be anywhere at any time. The scenery, props, and costumes are the result of Josephine's fairly movable nursery rhymes, mops the hearth is her mother Helen, who volunteers to take care of the baby's childishness with no strings attached. This second act of humanity and a hunger for it.

Maurie Ayllon plays the role of Helen with aptness. Miss Ayllon's Lancashire accent is noticeably clear and understandable.

With a few last-minute stage adjustments the production opened last Saturday night. A final rehearsal was held the previous day. The play is scheduled to run for six more performances. The production is produced by the Proscenium One company, which is made up of the students of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and the University of Illinois at Chicago.

The play is being performed at the Proscenium One Theatre, located at 409 South Illinois Box Office as the day and time come.

The Syracuse University Theatre Department will present "A Taste of Honey" as a part of the Syracuse University Theatre Festival, which runs from August 14-21. Curtain time for the festival is 8:30 p.m.

The festival will conclude with a performance of "The Three Sisters" by Chekhov.

Anyone interested in becoming affiliated with Proscenium One is invited to attend the weekly producer's meeting, which is held at the 409 South Illinois Box Office as the day and time come.

Some Dates 'Wristle'

SIU Coeds Prefer gentlemen; Drinks, Advances Main Gripe

Gentlemen may prefer blubbles; SIU girls prefer gentlemen.

SIU coeds seem to think that most SIU girls are gentlemen, but they do notice a few objections. Some men are too square on a date. Some men are too careful in dress. Girls object to the men's habits of some men.

Dorada Fontana, who works at the University Center Information Desk, says, "Two of them are gentlemen, but they have a big line and are big flirters." A senior from Johnson City, says, "Most of them are well-manered and some are more refined than the men back home. Sometimes too forward on a date.

Mary Prange, a senior from Red Bud, objects to the fact that "a boy opens the door for you when you are half a mile away. You feel obliged to make a dash so that he does not have to wait five minutes for you to get there." She thinks that the SIU men are very polite.

Mary Noelle, a junior from Eldorado, says, "The boys here seem to be gentlemen. I haven't been home enough to know what the boys there are like. They seem to change when they go to college."

Dianne Warren, a junior from Sullivan, says, "Some of the men are gentlemen and some are not. The thing that irks her is that some SIU men wear woolen slacks. The boys back home seemed much more conscious of their clothes."

Sally Cerveny, a freshman from Lansing, Ill., says, "About 50 per cent of the SIU men are gentlemen. Many try to take advantage of a girl on a date. A girl almost has to be a wrestler to go on a date with some of them." She believes that the SIU men spend more money on a date.

Gerhard Harris, for the past three years professor and director of academic affairs at the Philadelphia Museum of Art, will teach General Studies courses in art. "General Studies courses are all broad in scope and relate specific subjects to development of culture and civilization," Dr. Shroyer said. "This is just the field in which Magnus has been engaged for the past three years. The humanities, the foundations of Western civilization and the 20th century novel—interpreting these movements through the medium of art."

A native of Oslo, Norway, Magnus obtained the bachelor's degree in English and philosophy from the University of Wisconsin, Madison; the master of arts degree in English and philosophy from Yale University, New Haven, Conn.; and the master of arts degree in English and philosophy from the University of Illinois, Urbana.

Before going to the Philadelphia Museum of Art in 1954, he taught at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., for several years and from 1947 to 1961 served as associate professor and director of the Evening College at Lafayette.

Today's Weather

Cloudy

Increasing clouds with scattered showers in afternoon and evening. High in the mid 90s.

TASTE OF HONEY — Judy Mueller (standing) and Maurie Ayllon enact a scene from "A Taste of Honey," the current play at Proscenium One. Miss Mueller plays Josephine's daughter.
Fun Coming Saturday

8 Events Scheduled in Saluquarama '64

Eight events will be highliished in Saluquarama '64, a day of relaxation, fun and enjoyment to be held on Saturday, instead of its traditional Memorial Day slot on the calendar.

The Activities Development
Center said there will be sep-parate divisions for men and women in a fishing derby, bait casting, ping pong competition, distance races, badminton tourney, canoe races, limbo contest and swimming.

A dance and beach party at 8 p.m. at Lake-on-the-
Campus will end the day.

Dates of individual events will be announced at the party.

Information blanks obtainable at the information desk of the University Center should be filled out by anyone wanting to compete.

Student Employment Program

Is Topic of Workshop Today

SIU's student work program will be discussed today at a day-long workshop for supervisors of student workers.

The meeting will be in the University Center, Frank C. Adams, director of the student work program, said. He will discuss the coursework of the student work program, and Mary Walker will discuss the office training program.

Muny Opera Trip

Set for Aug. 14

The Activities Development
Center has scheduled a bus trip for SIU students and faculty for the Muny Opera Festival:

The bus leaves the University Center at 4 p.m. A $2.50 cover charge covers the bus trip and a ticket to the production which stars Cab Calloway as Sherlock Holmes.

On Sunday a Saluki Safari will parry into the Muny Opera.

There is no charge for this free sight-seeing tour.

Those interested in either trip should sign up at the Student Activities Office before noon Friday.

Test Farm Tour

Set Wednesday

SIU will sponsor a Test
Farm Tour all day Wednesday.

Tours will be conducted in cooperation with the Lincoln
Farm Bureau Farm Management Service beginning at 9:30
a.m.

Morning and afternoon discussions and tours will be at the Dalry, Steer and Hog Test
Farm.

Dalry, hog and beef far-ners from the surrounding area are expected to take part in the tours.

JOURNEY EGYPTIAN

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.

Published in the Department of Journalism 1963-1964.
By Jack Rechtin

The Southern Illinois University Foundation was formed in 1943 as a nonprofit corporation to receive, hold and administer gifts for W.W. Vandeveer expendable fund. Vandeveer, an executive with The Artland Foundation Trust Co. in Cleveland, and a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors, established the Vandeveer Chair of Economics.

The Thelma Louise Kellogg Scholarship Fund is also controlled by the Foundation. Miss Kellogg, an associate professor of English at SIU from 1929 until her death on Dec. 8, 1946, made a bequest which is being used for outstanding English majors.

Miss Kellogg is remembered by her colleagues as a "dynamic, superb teacher," interested not only in the welfare of her students, but also of the community.

Last year, the English majors received the largest scholarship in her honor were Marian Barker, Rita L. Carson and Patsy M. Leake.

Fred Dazak, supervisor of the financial aid office at the Center, said application for the Kellogg Scholarship has not been made for the coming year.

Dazak said the SIU Foundation supplies his department with about 30 scholarships every year, and they are available to academically qualified and financially deserving students.

With the Foundation working on behalf of the University and its students, SIU is not the only school that has philanthropic funds to rely upon.

Tucker will Retire

This Summer After 17 Years Service

Lowell Tucker, associate professor of plant industries, is retiring at the end of the summer session after being on the SIU faculty for 17 years. Tucker came to SIU in 1947 and served as acting chairman of the Agriculture Department for a short time before the department was enlarged and changed to the School of Agriculture.

Tucker received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, his master's degree from the University of New Hampshire, and has done doctorate from the University of Massachusetts, specializing in horticulture.

Before coming to SIU, he conducted horticultural research at the University of Illinois. He also taught and carried on research at the University of New Hampshire, Kansas State College, the University of Idaho and Manhattan State College. At SIU he has taught on-campus and extension courses in conservation, general agriculture, preservation of agriculture, horticulture, and landscape gardening.

He has been an academic advisor for agriculture students.

Tucker holds memberships in various professional organizations and has had articles and technical papers published in bulletins and journals concerning horticultural, conservation and general agriculture.

A Force for Growth

Gifts Administered By SIU Foundation

By Jack Rechtin

The Southern Illinois University Foundation was formed in 1943 as a nonprofit corporation to receive, hold and administer gifts for W.W. Vandeveer expendable fund, Vandeveer, an executive with The Artland Foundation Trust Co. in Cleveland, and a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors, established the Vandeveer Chair of Economics.

The Thelma Louise Kellogg Scholarship Fund is also controlled by the Foundation. Miss Kellogg, an associate professor of English at SIU from 1929 until her death on Dec. 8, 1946, made a bequest which is being used for outstanding English majors.

Miss Kellogg is remembered by her colleagues as a "dynamic, superb teacher," interested not only in the welfare of her students, but also of the community.

Last year, the English majors received the largest scholarship in her honor were Marian Barker, Rita L. Carson and Patsy M. Leake.

Fred Dazak, supervisor of the financial aid office at the Center, said application for the Kellogg Scholarship has not been made for the coming year.

Dazak said the SIU Foundation supplies his department with about 30 scholarships every year, and they are available to academically qualified and financially deserving students.

With the Foundation working on behalf of the University and its students, SIU is not the only school that has philanthropic funds to rely upon.

Tucker will Retire

This Summer After 17 Years Service

Lowell Tucker, associate professor of plant industries, is retiring at the end of the summer session after being on the SIU faculty for 17 years. Tucker came to SIU in 1947 and served as acting chairman of the Agriculture Department for a short time before the department was enlarged and changed to the School of Agriculture.

Tucker received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, his master's degree from the University of New Hampshire, and has done doctorate from the University of Massachusetts, specializing in horticulture.

Before coming to SIU, he conducted horticultural research at the University of Illinois. He also taught and carried on research at the University of New Hampshire, Kansas State College, the University of Idaho and Manhattan State College. At SIU he has taught on-campus and extension courses in conservation, general agriculture, preservation of agriculture, horticulture, and landscape gardening.

He has been an academic advisor for agriculture students.

Tucker holds memberships in various professional organizations and has had articles and technical papers published in bulletins and journals concerning horticultural, conservation and general agriculture.

A Force for Growth

Gifts Administered By SIU Foundation

By Jack Rechtin

The Southern Illinois University Foundation was formed in 1943 as a nonprofit corporation to receive, hold and administer gifts for W.W. Vandeveer expendable fund; Vandeveer, an executive with The Artland Foundation Trust Co. in Cleveland, and a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors, established the Vandeveer Chair of Economics.

The Thelma Louise Kellogg Scholarship Fund is also controlled by the Foundation. Miss Kellogg, an associate professor of English at SIU from 1929 until her death on Dec. 8, 1946, made a bequest which is being used for outstanding English majors.

Miss Kellogg is remembered by her colleagues as a "dynamic, superb teacher," interested not only in the welfare of her students, but also of the community.

Last year, the English majors received the largest scholarship in her honor were Marian Barker, Rita L. Carson and Patsy M. Leake.

Fred Dazak, supervisor of the financial aid office at the Center, said application for the Kellogg Scholarship has not been made for the coming year.

Dazak said the SIU Foundation supplies his department with about 30 scholarships every year, and they are available to academically qualified and financially deserving students.

With the Foundation working on behalf of the University and its students, SIU is not the only school that has philanthropic funds to rely upon.

Tucker will Retire

This Summer After 17 Years Service

Lowell Tucker, associate professor of plant industries, is retiring at the end of the summer session after being on the SIU faculty for 17 years. Tucker came to SIU in 1947 and served as acting chairman of the Agriculture Department for a short time before the department was enlarged and changed to the School of Agriculture.

Tucker received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, his master's degree from the University of New Hampshire, and has done doctorate from the University of Massachusetts, specializing in horticulture.

Before coming to SIU, he conducted horticultural research at the University of Illinois. He also taught and carried on research at the University of New Hampshire, Kansas State College, the University of Idaho and Manhattan State College. At SIU he has taught on-campus and extension courses in conservation, general agriculture, preservation of agriculture, horticulture, and landscape gardening.

He has been an academic advisor for agriculture students.

Tucker holds memberships in various professional organizations and has had articles and technical papers published in bulletins and journals concerning horticultural, conservation and general agriculture.

A Force for Growth

Gifts Administered By SIU Foundation

By Jack Rechtin

The Southern Illinois University Foundation was formed in 1943 as a nonprofit corporation to receive, hold and administer gifts for W.W. Vandeveer expendable fund; Vandeveer, an executive with The Artland Foundation Trust Co. in Cleveland, and a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors, established the Vandeveer Chair of Economics.

The Thelma Louise Kellogg Scholarship Fund is also controlled by the Foundation. Miss Kellogg, an associate professor of English at SIU from 1929 until her death on Dec. 8, 1946, made a bequest which is being used for outstanding English majors.

Miss Kellogg is remembered by her colleagues as a "dynamic, superb teacher," interested not only in the welfare of her students, but also of the community.

Last year, the English majors received the largest scholarship in her honor were Marian Barker, Rita L. Carson and Patsy M. Leake.

Fred Dazak, supervisor of the financial aid office at the Center, said application for the Kellogg Scholarship has not been made for the coming year.

Dazak said the SIU Foundation supplies his department with about 30 scholarships every year, and they are available to academically qualified and financially deserving students.

With the Foundation working on behalf of the University and its students, SIU is not the only school that has philanthropic funds to rely upon.

Tucker will Retire

This Summer After 17 Years Service

Lowell Tucker, associate professor of plant industries, is retiring at the end of the summer session after being on the SIU faculty for 17 years. Tucker came to SIU in 1947 and served as acting chairman of the Agriculture Department for a short time before the department was enlarged and changed to the School of Agriculture.

Tucker received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, his master's degree from the University of New Hampshire, and has done doctorate from the University of Massachusetts, specializing in horticulture.

Before coming to SIU, he conducted horticultural research at the University of Illinois. He also taught and carried on research at the University of New Hampshire, Kansas State College, the University of Idaho and Manhattan State College. At SIU he has taught on-campus and extension courses in conservation, general agriculture, preservation of agriculture, horticulture, and landscape gardening.

He has been an academic advisor for agriculture students.

Tucker holds memberships in various professional organizations and has had articles and technical papers published in bulletins and journals concerning horticultural, conservation and general agriculture.

A Force for Growth

Gifts Administered By SIU Foundation

By Jack Rechtin

The Southern Illinois University Foundation was formed in 1943 as a nonprofit corporation to receive, hold and administer gifts for W.W. Vandeveer expendable fund; Vandeveer, an executive with The Artland Foundation Trust Co. in Cleveland, and a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors, established the Vandeveer Chair of Economics.

The Thelma Louise Kellogg Scholarship Fund is also controlled by the Foundation. Miss Kellogg, an associate professor of English at SIU from 1929 until her death on Dec. 8, 1946, made a bequest which is being used for outstanding English majors.

Miss Kellogg is remembered by her colleagues as a "dynamic, superb teacher," interested not only in the welfare of her students, but also of the community.

Last year, the English majors received the largest scholarship in her honor were Marian Barker, Rita L. Carson and Patsy M. Leake.

Fred Dazak, supervisor of the financial aid office at the Center, said application for the Kellogg Scholarship has not been made for the coming year.

Dazak said the SIU Foundation supplies his department with about 30 scholarships every year, and they are available to academically qualified and financially deserving students.

With the Foundation working on behalf of the University and its students, SIU is not the only school that has philanthropic funds to rely upon.

Tucker will Retire

This Summer After 17 Years Service

Lowell Tucker, associate professor of plant industries, is retiring at the end of the summer session after being on the SIU faculty for 17 years. Tucker came to SIU in 1947 and served as acting chairman of the Agriculture Department for a short time before the department was enlarged and changed to the School of Agriculture.

Tucker received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, his master's degree from the University of New Hampshire, and has done doctorate from the University of Massachusetts, specializing in horticulture.

Before coming to SIU, he conducted horticultural research at the University of Illinois. He also taught and carried on research at the University of New Hampshire, Kansas State College, the University of Idaho and Manhattan State College. At SIU he has taught on-campus and extension courses in conservation, general agriculture, preservation of agriculture, horticulture, and landscape gardening.

He has been an academic advisor for agriculture students.

Tucker holds memberships in various professional organizations and has had articles and technical papers published in bulletins and journals concerning horticultural, conservation and general agriculture.
Summer Commencement, 1964

The Faculty Led the Procession into McAndrew Stadium.

The Candidates for Degrees, Led by Marshals in White, Followed the Faculty.

Eager, Excited Families and Friends Filled the West Side of the Stadium.
Silver-Levered Merchants

A vending machine doesn’t smile when it takes your money. It doesn’t say “thank you.” It merely spits merchandise in exchange for coins deposited. Occasionally it doesn’t do this; occasionally it refuses to accept your money. Occasionally it accepts your money but refuses to deliver goods. Sometimes it just makes noises, there is no ulterior motive. By nickels, by dimes, by quarters, BU students spend more than $30,000 a year in campus vending machines. What is in the likeness of our silver-levered merchants? Whether they be bandit or beneficial, they exist, and all things are open to comment.

Comment is heard: Why aren’t they serviced more often? Why isn’t there a greater selection of brands? Why can’t I buy a Coke from foreign coins, slugs, mutilated coins, and counterfeit coins tempt to obtain merchandise. The second category of “getting even” is cheating the machines. A variety of apparatus is used, in addition, cut-down coins, foreign coins, slugs, mutilated coins, and counterfeit coins are sometimes used in attempts to obtain merchandise. So the noises continue, and a machine is a machine is a machine.

Next in the series: “Campos Vending’s Arrangement.”

Walt Wachtick

Silver-Levered Merchants

On Other Campuses

An Unfamiliar Face

Courage is not something you see a person exhibit often. Most pot-bellied office workers and faculty members or sorority girls do not think about it, or do not find themselves in situations where they have to show courage. The young people contributing to the voter registration project in Mississippi are examples of courage. It shows the realization that today there are other ways to fight wars than with weapons. For the Civil War, and both World Wars we volunteered. But it is harder to enter a war when violence is one side’s weapon and not the other’s. The young people’s weapons are education and the rights the Negroes are entitled to. Their job is explaining and trying all over a tin to tell people that what they have always been denied is now theirs, but to keep it they must get out and use it.

We read with shame the Harvard Crimson’s statement that the purpose of the Civil Rights workers is to “precipitate a crisis of violence” and a description of the venture as a “masive, daring, probably bloody assault on the racial barriers of Mississippi.” The civil rights workers did not go to stir up trouble. As their training school non-violence was the byword.

With a Ku Klux Klan brand of terrorism, the white man has reigned supreme in the South. He has fought so hard to keep the Negro suppressed that the Negro has come even more to occupy his thoughts. Southern whites have shown their nastiness, redneness, and even resorted to murder in their fight against the Negro. Certainly, this way has to be changed. It will take a long time and the voter registration project is just a beginning.

Courage, however, is needed to stop this perpetuation of a wrong. Youths are furnishing it.

The Summer Texan, University of Texas

The fascinating thing about the Arabic language is that so many words sound just like they’re supposed to. Halt means halt and what’s mine is mine. When you get on a Caddy you’ll see a sign at the front telling how many spare tires there are on that back.

—Vandalia (Ohio) Cross-roads Chronicle

The graduate as seen by.....
Goldwater, Striving for Unity, Clarifies ‘Extremism’ Quotes

NEW YORK—Striving to unite the Republican party behind his campaign for president, Sen. Barry Goldwater has paraphrased the controversial extremism quotes of his acceptance speech.

Goldwater offered a clarification of his views in a letter to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, which was made public Sunday almost on the eve of the Herndon, Pa., summit conference for GOP unity.

"If I were to paraphrase the two sentences in question in the context in which I ut­tered them," Goldwater wrote in response to an inquiry by Nixon, "I would do it by saying that wholehearted devotion to liberty is unassailable and that halfhearted devotion to justice is indefensible."

The "two sentences in question" were a specially excerpted part of Goldwater’s July 16 speech at San Fran­cisco, which was later adopted by the republic­an nomination. He said them:

"I would remind you that extremism in its defense of liberty is no vice. And let me make it clear that I deplore the modera­tion in the pursuit of justice as no virtue."

Critics of Goldwater in­cluded the words were a blanket approval of ex­tremism. Republican Sena­tors Jacob Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, shunned any pretense of mid­night on the Goldwater bandwagon for the sake of party harmony.

Goldwater sought to ease the controversy over his remarks a week ago by pointing to President Johnson’s "air strike against Communist North Viet Nam as an example of ex­tremism in the defense of liberty."

Republican leaders will meet Wednesday at Hershey in a move for party unity. Gov. William S. Scranton will preside.

Phony Fund-Raiser Arrested as Bilker

CHICAGO — Harold Sager, 47, was arrested Monday on the charge of bilking the Dis­abled American Veterans of $2 million in a fund raising racket.

Harold Sager, 47, alias Harold 5. McClellan, was charged with violating the Illinois law regulating charity solicitations.

"This is one of the meanest and most miserable racket I have ever witnessed," Clark told a newspaper in a conference in the county.

"I was one of the meanest and most miserable racket I have ever witnessed," Clark told a newspaper in a conference in the county.

Red Paper Prints U.S. Pilot’s Photo

HONG KONG — A Commu­nist newspaper Monday published a picture of the U.S. pilot who said he had shot down last week in the U.S. R毕竟, the man was not the Navy’s torpe­do boat bases.

The newspaper Wen Wei Pao iden­tified the plane as Lt. (j.g.) Everett Alvarez Jr., of San Jose, Calif., a published pic­ture on a U.S. Navy identi­fication card bearing Al­varez’s name, height, weight with a shot of a wrecked plane that he said had been piloted by Alvarez.

Officials of North Viet Nam have confirmed that Alvarez had been captured, but pub­lication of the picture of his identity card was the first concrete evidence sup­porting the statement.

Kerner Assails Charge by Percy

CHICAGO — Charles H. Percy, charged with building a new military base in central Illinois, has been arrested for the defense of liberty.

"I was one of the meanest and most miserable racket I have ever witnessed," Clark told a newspaper in a conference in the county.

Nicosia, 50 years in the United States, said on Tuesday that Nicosia would fully respect a Security Council resolution on the cease-fire in Cyprus, "but we have reports of ground fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots in the tense northeap coastal strip between Polis and Xeros." The Turkish Cypriot alliance named the series of Turkish attacks and warned that it is risking war.

The attack on Polis was the fourth consecutive day of Turkish air activity over Cyprus.

A Greek Cypriot spokes­man said there was no word from Polis on whether there was a village.

In Paris, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization disclosed that Turkey was withdrawing some of her air force.

The Daily Egyptian Classified Ads

Classified advertising rates: 20 words or less $1.00 per week. Each additional word $0.25 per week. Respective for 3 issues for $3.00 (20 words). Payable before the deadline for a week’s publication, except for Tuesday’s paper, which is noon Friday.

The Daily Egyptian does not refund money when ads are canceled.

The Daily Egyptian reserves the right to reject any advertising.

Associate Press Roundup

Turks, Greek Cypriots Agree
To U.N. Call for Cease-Fire

NICOSIA, Cyprus—Turkey and Greece finally agreed Monday with a U.N. Secu­rity Council meeting agreed to a cease-fire on this embattled island Monday, a brief Turkish air attack on a north­west village before Turkey’s announcement.

Nicosia said it hoped the starting attack in Polis was due to a mix-up in Turkish military orders, a government source in

Cypriots Ask U.N. Council
To Meet Again

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Cypriots asked for another urgent session of the U.N. Security Council Monday to consider a cease-fire, Monday morning on a cyriented to former President.

HARRY S. TRUMAN

The Associated Press

THE HOUSE OF MILIANT

FINE WOMEN’S SPORTSMARKET

606 S. ILLINOIS

DAILY EGYPTIAN

August 11, 1964

Page 7

457 - 2985

for reservations

7.500.000

WANTED

Subway. 45 days/week in our home, prefer married. $65. Good references. 5-4pm, Mon­day to Friday, after view after 6pm-9pm 620-2986

SEAFORD

1964 American tractors. VX111th. Tract­ors, 37 Gomer Lane, Tract­ors or Court phone 549-2993. 1964. Meals.

WANTED

Subway, 45 days/week in our home, prefer married. $65. Good references. 5-4pm, Mon­day to Friday, after view after 6pm-9pm 620-2986

SEAFORD

For Range—Combination — 308 W. Jackson. Phone 457-196-199

1964

D.C. Ex­tra­

Excellent condition. Call 517-192 or

196-199

Triumph cycle. 600 c.c. Ex­

Excellent condition. Call 517-192 or

196-199

Stereo record—stereo phonograph re­corder. $35 model. Little use, very good condition, $525. including extremely amplified speakers. $15 new, Cone of

196-199

Cobden.

196-199

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203

196-203
'Operation Riversafe'

Waterways Hazards Studied By Transportation Institute

Four broad needs for the safer movement of hazardous cargoes on the nation's inland waterways are identified in a recent report to the U.S. Coast Guard on an "Operation Riversafe" research project conducted last year under the direction of the SIU Transportation Institute.

They are: (1) an accident analysis system, (2) a vision toward more unified standards in navigation rules (rules of the road), (3) a cargo hazards advisory system, and (4) planning for port area emergencies.

These by no means exhaust the problem areas in safety on the inland waterways as the speed, volume and variety of barge traffic increases, says Alexander R. MacMillan, the institute director, who supervised the study. However, they relate to problems that need solving to protect the public, the operating personnel and the cargoes.

The "Operation Riversafe" project, started more than a year ago under an $18,000 grant from the U.S. Coast Guard, was concerned with surveying present practices and procedures affecting the safe movement and handling of dangerous cargoes on the inland waterways. The first two of four proposed phases in a "research in depth" on the problems were completed under the project.

Junius to Aid Crippled Society

Ronald J. Junius, who received his master's degree in education and recreation from SIU, has been appointed field representative for the architectural barriers program of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

He will work with state and local Easter Seal societies and other organizations to stimulate modification of existing public buildings and construction of new ones to make them accessible to 22 million handicapped or infirm Americans.

MacMillan says Phase I was concerned primarily with the mechanics of organizing the study. Phase II covered an eight-month survey, identification of some of the main problems related to river safety, and making a report on the findings to the sponsoring agency. Suggested as Phase III would be implementation of applied research in depth on the Phase II proposals. The final phase would be an evaluation through analysis of specific programs implemented. The U.S. Coast Guard currently is studying the Phase II report submitted by MacMillan in February.

In elaborating on the four needs identified in the report, MacMillan says the research team developed a coding form suitable for analyzing waterways accidents of all kinds as a guide for developing accident report forms that can be applied to data processing systems for analysis.

Variations in "rules of the road" on the nation's waterways suggest the need for updating the regulations for more realistic application to all vessels operating on the inland waterways, the report says. It also urges early action in developing a system for identifying the hazardous nature of barge cargoes, and advance planning for handling emergencies that may develop in port areas.

CHARLIE VAUGHN

Vaughn Signs With Hawks

Former Saluki basketball star, Charlie Vaughn, signed his $604,95 contract with the St. Louis Hawks on Saturday.

Vaughn, little All-Americans guard at Southern from 1959 to 1961, will be playing his third season with the Hawks of the professional National Basketball Association this fall.

The 6-3, 195-pound playmaker scored 583 points last season after tallying 778 in his rookie year. Vaughn's .443 field goal average last year was the best ever by a Hawk guard.

Vaughn, former Tama, Ill., high school basketball standout, and now a year-round resident of St. Louis, played for Hawk coach Harry Gallatin when the two were at SIU.

Vaughn still holds 17 of 18 individual SIU basketball records, including the most points scored for a career 2,088; most points in one season (779) and most points in one game (43).

With Hawks

Advertise

DAILY EGYPTIAN

HOW CHARLIE MADE A PILE OF DOUGH!

You can, too! Here's how he did it.

Charlie called a friend down at the paper. Told him he was expanding. Needed a new man. The paper helped him write a real hum-dinger of an ad. Charlie got a fire-bell. Then he had a great buy on some new material. The paper helped him write a real puller. The material sold fast at a cozy profit. Charlie's happy and so are we!

Charlie's got big boosters now, tells everybody where they can get the MOST for their advertising dollar. You know, it's true, by appealing to the RIGHT GROUP, you reap money hard over fast. Whether it's display or classified, you can't lose with the