Winter Admission Here Increases by 60 Pct.

SIU Plans No Ceiling on Enrollment

Admission of students to the Carbondale campus of SIU for winter quarter is running more than 60 per cent ahead of last year, reports Leslie L. Chamberlin, director of admissions.

A tabulation of admissions shows as of Dec. 1 a total of 500 new students ranging from 723 at that date a year ago. Chamberlin said 653 of the entering freshmen have almost double the number from last year. Southern is probably the only state school to be showing this great a winter increase this year, said Chamberlin, because most other universities have been forced to cut off admissions in full term due to the large influx of enrollment. About the only new students who will be accepted will be those that have been cleared into the University by the end of central admissions next month. "We have no plans to cut off admissions at SIU," Chamberlin emphasized.

SIU limits fall quarter admission of new high school graduates to Illinois residents who rank in the upper two-thirds of their class or out-of-state residents in the top 40 per cent. Others must wait until a later term and enter on scholastic probation, unless they score exceptionally high on entrance exams.

In addition to those who have not previously attended college, the students shown in Chamberlin's report include the 72 graduate students. The figures represent an increase of 1,500 students over last year and a drop of 32 in graduate students.

WSIU Radio Will Broadcast Toscanini Tapes Next Term

WSIU will broadcast rare tapes of Arturo Toscanini performances beginning at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 5. The performances will be broadcast as a part of the "Concert" series on WSIU. The tapes will be presented on Tuesday evenings during the Winter quarter as two-hour concerts.

The rare tapes were originally recorded on film, acetate transcriptions and tape and many were never intended for commercial release. Many were done simply for documentary purposes. Others represent the work of private individuals who wanted to preserve a broadcast.

When Maestro Toscanini faced retirement, his family and admirers realized that many of his performances had never been captured on commercial disks. This is when the search for other recordings that preserved one or another of his achievements began.

Walter Toscanini, the Maestro's son, took charge of the project, the search for "lost" performances.

The project developed into locating performances and recording material on tape, editing it, eliminating noise with electronic filters, and restoring as many performances as possible to listenable condition.

"Lost" performances and many performances never released on records to the public will be included in this series of rare tapes to be broadcast.

John L. Kurtz, operations manager for radio, and Walter Richter, assistant operations manager, said they have received a number of calls about the series from interested listeners.

Richter said the rare tapes are being made available to FM radio stations which regularly broadcast Classical Music programs and are being supplied by Walter Toscanini.

"The white man is dead. — Men with pale skins still live. But the man with a certain color skin and a mandate from God to order and organize the world with darker skins: that idea is dead. It's a beautiful idea, Negroes and whites, but have not the ready obituary notices."

Such is the theme around which Lerone Bennett exposes what he sees as the psychological mechanisms of the Black Fury that is rolling across the land.

The Negro Mood is an anatomy of intense but vain mental activity among Negroes who, he maintains, are attempting to impose their will. Bennett believes that the Negroes are not sufficiently aware of the role of white men in history and that Negroes have assumed the role of white men in stride, attacking the forces responsible for the present state of Negro life. He has taken his theme from Ralph Bunche's criticism of the role of white men in the present state of Negro life and has analyzed it in great detail. The book contains chapters on the Negro rebellion, the Negro mood, the Negro rage, the Negro symbolism, and an appendix on the structure in the Negro rebellion. "The struggles in the streets," he says, "are the rejections of struggles in the minds of Negroes who are migrating internally."

He accuses the Negro power structure of imposing its will more actively in accommodating the masses to misery than in organizing society to attack the forces responsible for the Negro's plight. He concurs with Ralph Bunche's criticism of the role of white men in history and adds that as a group, have served as a bulwark against an acculturizer of the Freedom Movement. He believes Bennett, the Negro mood is not a mood of union and moderation. "White liberals," he writes, "cannot act as it reacts to Negro fury."

It is this theme that he feels will be the background for a Negro who is creating a white literature. In his book, Negro Writer's Angry Essays Show Agony of Bias Victims, Lerone Bennett, a former play reviewer for the New Republic and currently professor of dramatic literature at Columbia University, the author of The Life of the Drama by Eric Bentley, New York: Atheneum, 1965, 196 pp., $6.95.

Egg Quality, Sales Appeal Vary, Expert Says

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — The quality and saleable appeal of eggs in stores varies substantially among states and among cities within a state, said Scott H. Himmels, SIU poultry specialist from Carbondale, told a meeting of poultrymen here Tuesday evening.

The meeting at the Illinois Agricultural Association Building was sponsored by the Illinois Egg Council for poultry and egg producers, packers and marketing agencies representing central Illinois. The Council is an organization to promote the production and use of more high-quality eggs.

Himmels based his discussion on a recent study of samples of eggs obtained from retail outlets in 19 cities of seven midwestern states. An analysis of information gathered in the research led to the following observations by Himmels.

1. As a store's business volume increases there seems a significant increase in the candler grading, the cleanliness, the albumen height and quality of the eggs sold as well as in the use of multiple-color egg cartons. At the same time the wholesale cost, the per cent mark-up, and the relative retail price goes down.

2. As the economic level and social standing of residents increases in the neighborhood of the retail store there is an increase in the store's volume of business and in the candle grade, albumen quality, size, cleanliness and retail prices of the eggs.

3. Stores selling eggs under U.S. Department of Agriculture certification had a larger business volume, paid higher wholesale prices for eggs and received a slightly higher retail price, but sold eggs having a slightly lower candle grade and albumen height than stores selling eggs under state certification.

Appearing on the program with Himmels were John Smith Elgin, president of the Illinois Egg Council, and Henry Bradly, of the National Zoologists, France, told a meeting of University of Iowa where she retail outlets in 19 Cities of Illinois Egg Council for poultry and egg national board, Smith reported on the Council's activities and Bradley discussed the promotion of egg quality and usage.

The Road to Health

New Tricks in the Bag

Twenty years ago theivy halls were filled with those time-honored words as the average Illinois doctor and his classmates walked across the stage, the lawn, or the hospital corridor to receive a medical degree.

Of the 700-plus doctors in Southern Illinois, 60 are more than 70 years of age and at least five are over 70, and still practicing. The average age is 50. For some, it has been 30 years since graduation; for others, 40 years or more.

Think of the medical advances that have been made in those years. Think of penicillin and the other “wonder drugs.” Think of improved X-ray, the heart-lung machine, open heart and brain surgery. Think of anesthetics, antiseptics, pain killers.

Then think of those 20, 30, 40 years since the doctor left school. How well has he been able to keep abreast of advances? Has he been able to take time to return to school for the summer, as teachers do? Or even for a couple of weeks? And if he had the time, did he have the money? You know the answers. He has had to gain his knowledge through medical journals, statisfactor meetings, and conferences or conventions now and then.

Last of 21 Arrested by FBI
In Mississippi Slayings Freed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The last of 21 men arrested in the case of Mississippi’s three slain civil rights workers was freed on $5,000 bond Tuesday.

Horace Doyle Barnett, 25, Clinton, La., was arrested in nearby Bossier City last Friday, he moved from Meridian, Miss., last August. Barnett is one of 10 men the FBI accused of plotting to intercept, “threaten, assault, shoot and kill” the three civil rights workers, who were slain last June.

He was the only one arrested in Louisiana. The others made $5,000 bond Friday, the same day they were brought before a federal judge in Meridian.

The 21 included the Nucla County Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey, 41, Philadelphia, and Chief Deputy Cecil Price, 26. Price was listed among the 10 plotters.

Barnett’s brother among the 10 was Barnett’s half brother, Travis M. Barnett, 30, a Meridian garbage operator.

Horace Barnett asked for a preliminary hearing before U.S. Commissioner James Barton here but no date was set.

The 19 arrested in the Philadelphia-Meridian area have their preliminary hearing Thursday. At that time, the government must show enough of its case to establish probable cause for the arrests.

Ireland Raps Efforts to Establish
Of Big-Power U.N. Finance Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ireland appealed to the smaller nations Tuesday to oppose firmly and vigorously any attempt to establish a big-power financial veto over U.N. peacekeeping.

In a speech that reflected concern of many small U.N. member states, the Irish foreign minister, Frank Aiken, told the General Assembly that any attempt to establish that kind of veto could only be regarded as a revolution in the assembly’s financial powers.

Aiken also delivered a spirited defense of Article 19 of the U.N. charter under which the Soviet Union faces loss of its assembly vote because it is more than two years behind in its peacekeeping assessments.

On this point, he said the Assembly has the right to assess every member state for its share of the expenses of implementing its decisions, and each has the duty to pay even if it is opposed to any particular decision.

Johnson, Wilson Conclude Talks;
Plan Study of NATO Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain searched Tuesday for a satisfactory way to bring about a major reshuffling of the Western world’s nuclear defense, but wound up saying that further discussions are necessary.

The President and the prime minister concluded two days of conferences, and then said, in a joint communiqué that they agreed that the objective, with respect to nuclear defense, is:

"To cooperate in finding the arrangements which best meet the legitimate interests of all members of the Atlantic Alliance, while maintaining existing safeguards on the use of nuclear weapons, and preventing their further proliferation."

They added that, while a number of elements of this problem were considered, in what they termed an initial exchange of views, "the was only the first stage in their consultation in which the matters that they discussed would need to be examined in greater detail."

This apparent prelude to further meetings gave no clue as to when or where the next one might be held. They also reaffirmed their determination to continue to contribute to the maintenance of peace and stability in the Middle East and the Far East."

"In this connection," Johnson and Wilson said they recognized the "particular importance of the military effort both of their countries in making up the support of legitimate governments in Southeast Asia, particularly in Malaysia and South Viet Nam, which seek to maintain their independence and to resist subversion."

The communiqué was written in general terms. In keeping with this, the President and prime minister said they agreed their meeting "was a preliminary to further discussions among interested members of the Alliance."

WASH DAY — Freshman Marcha Mink of Lincolnwood smiles as she finishes the last of her weekly wash. Many freshmen, away from home for the first time, have been forced to discover the mechanics of laundromats. Some don’t find it worth smiling about.

Some schools are known as suitcase colleges because of the weekend absences of their students. Harry Clark, a freshman from Madison, is helping to make Southern a suitcase college but in a different way. His parents come to campus on weekends to take a suitcase full of laundry home to be washed, and they return the next week with clean clothes for him.

Many SIU students do their own laundry while at school, but several have ways of escaping drudgery. Don Paulson, a junior from Caledonia, said, “I don’t do my laundry, I have a friend do them for me.” Margaret Wilson, Don’s friend, a sophomore from East Alton, replies, “I take my laundry over to the Lake-on-the-Campus, and beat it on a rock with a stick.”

Tom Schuneman, a sophomore from Sterling, claims that he gets much better results and it looks more ethnic if he hangs his clothes out in the rain. If it doesn’t rain he plans to take advantage of an offer from Pam Taveggia, a sophomore from Cape Girardeau, Mo., and let her wash his clothes by machine.

On 4 Continents

34 Onetime SIU Students Work to Help Bring Peace

Thirty-four former SIU students are working on four continents as part of the nation’s Peace Corps program. The students were carefully tested and selected before being sent to Africa, Asia, South America and Central America. Most have degrees. Working in the field of socio-economic improvement, the volunteers received specialized instruction in community development, agriculture, social work, rural construction, stress training, physical education, public health and teaching English as a foreign language. Intensive training also is given in the native tongue of the country where volunteers will serve.

Formerly at SIU and now in the Peace Corps are Judith Elaine Bean, Alton, Honduras; Stephen A. Olson, Alton, Cameroon, Africa; Floyd R. Sandford, Arcola, Nigeria; Don L. Cappel, Fort Madison, Elmer and Carolyn Kinsman, Carbondale, Peru; Marion C. Luebben, Carbondale, India; Diana K. Kline, Casey; Ronald K. Shafer, Chatsworth, Morocco; Thomas W. Tafel, Chicago, Colombia; and Marcia G. Wilson, Chicago, Brazil.

"How has motorcycling changed my life? I pondered as I absently picked bugwings from between my teeth." "It had changed my life. This was like a water buffalo hunter is looking through woods are great fun after you and your buddies have taken over a small town. Perhaps the greatest change in my life was the development of the persecution complex. Making the transition from looking at cars to see if any of the football players I know are driving them, to the attitude that the driver of each and every car is out to kill me, is not an easy one. It is a necessary one, however, since drivers seem to take the attitude that a little motorcycle will make but a little dent in your car and they drive accordingly. It is also very disconcerting to have someone run me off the road to avoid hitting a dog.

The dirt roads of the little foreign cars are the worst offenders. They too have the same persecution complex since they have, for years, been the smallest things on the road. Now with scores of small motorcycles, they have their chance to get even.

Naturally, motorcyclists have a craving to get even for all the times they have been scarred. And what’s smaller than a motorcyclist? You guessed it—a pedestrian.

You should have seen the guy I scared the other day... caught his heel on my foot as he was running across a cross walk...must have spun 180 degrees before he knew he was still alive...I think it was the same guy who chased that dog in front of the Volkswagens that ran me off the road...."

Channel 8 to Televise Gymnastics Meet Between SIU, Denver University Friday

WSIU-TV will televise Friday's gymnastics meet between the University of Denver and SIU.

The meet, to be held Friday afternoon in the SIU Arena, will be shown on a video tape replay at 6:30 p.m. Friday on WSIU-TV.

Bill Meade, gymnastics coach, will be the announcer. Meade, who guided the Salukis to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's crown last year, will give running comments throughout the event.

Gene Dybvig, operations manager of WSIU-TV, said the 6:30 p.m. time was chosen so that Saluki fans will be able to watch it in their homes before going to the Arena to see the basketball game with Tennessee Tech.

The performers for Southern that merit close observation are seniors Bill Wolf and Tom Cook, junior Mike Boegler and sophomores Larry Lindauer, Rick Tucker, Steve Whitlock and Brent Williams.

Wolf will be performing on the rings, the parallel bars and the high bar. Cook has looked impressive in practice on the rings and will perform in this event.

Boegler, a new comer to the team will be performing on the side horse, the event he finished tenth last week in the Midwest Open at Rockford.

Sophomores Tucker and Lindauer will have a rivalry themselves as both will be performing as all-around men.

Whitlock will do free exercise and work the long horse, and Williams will perform on the trampoline.

Salukis Return to Home Court After Two Defeats on the Road
By Bob Reincke
Southern's basketball team returned home Tuesday to the familiar court of the Arena.

Southern's first game of the season was against the Bears of Illinois State at the State College of Iowa on Saturday night. Despite the fact that the Salukis had not played a game in three weeks, they were able to defeat the Bears by a score of 76-59. The Salukis were led by George McNeill with 18 points, followed by Fellowman with 14 points.

The next game for the Salukis was against the University of Illinois on Monday night. The game was played in front of a large crowd, with the Salukis coming out on top with a score of 78-66. George McNeill once again led the way with 20 points, followed by Fellowman with 15 points.

After two loses on the road, the Salukis were glad to be back at home.

Frost Cagers Play Paducah on Friday

Southern's freshman basketball team makes its first appearance of the season on Friday night when its hosts Paducah College.

The frost are starting the season under two new coaches, Mel Cummins and Jack Louder. Last year's coach, George Lafhill is now an assistant varsity coach.

This year's main problem seems to be a lack of height. "We're real small, and that could hurt us under the boards," said McLaughlin. "We'll be shorter than most of our opponents, and it'll take a good effort from the boys to make up for this. But we have some good shooting and a lot of morale, though," he added.

The frost have some good looking prospects in the back court including six-foot Bobby Jordan, six-foot Steve Schrock, six-foot Ivan Cravena, six-foot John Allwine, five-foot 11-inch from Jeffersonville, Ind., and six-foot Doc Barnard.

Boyd O'Neal's fine performance against Kansas State when he scored 24 points. The 6-5 sophomore for his third appearance as a starter against Kansas State, and came through to lead the Salukis in scoring.

McLaughlin was won 64-58 by scoring the last 14 points in the game to overcome the Salukis 45-47.

Southern will be trying to get back on the better side of the .500 mark this weekend in games here with Tennessee Tech Friday night and State College of Iowa Saturday night.

Even though the record fans at 2-2, Southern holds the edge over its opponents, most in statistics. The Salukis lead the opposition 14-2 in field goals, 41-34 in rebounds and 1159 to 110. Their biggest win was last season when they defeated 6-5 Joe Ramsey last year's leading scorer, in right behind McNeill in the scoring with 56 and 1344 and 14 point average. The 6-5 senior made his best performance against Southwest Missouri when he scored 24 points. Walt Frazzler follows Ramsey with 38 points.

The 6-5 sophomore forward made his first appearance as a starter against Kansas State, and came through to lead the Salukis in scoring.

Last season McNeill was the team's leading scorer after the first four games with a 16-point average for an average of 15 points a game. The 6-2 junior from St. Louis had 23 of the team's 25 goal attempts and 14 of 17 free throws for the leading per centage in both departments.

Joe Ramsey, last year's leading scorer, is right behind McNeill in the scoring with 56 and 14 point average. The 6-5 senior made his best performance against Southwest Missouri when he scored 24 points. Walt Frazzler follows Ramsey with 38 points.

Michigan's powerful, veteran Wolverines, who have romped through three games without major difficulty, dominated results in the Associated Press first regular season basketball poll announced Tuesday, confirming their pre-season selection as the nation's best basketball crew.

The Wolverines, who lost only one regular - from the ranks of third in the nation last year, gained 32 of the 34 first-place votes cast and had a whopping 100-point margin over second-place Wichita.

Michigan, which already has survived two major tests, gained 337 points in the balloting on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. Wichita, winner of only its start this season moved up from third in the pre-season poll to second with 256 points.

A flock of upsets and surprises in the first week prompted a major shuffle in the first weekly rankings from the pre-anal poll, with only top-ranked Michigan and 10th ranked St. John's of New York holding on to the same spots.

Three of the pre-season elite, fourth-place Kansas, No. 7 Syracuse and No. 8 Kansas State, split their two first-week starts and dropped from the top ten. UCLA, the defending-champion, and No. 2 in the pre-season picks, also split, and plummeted to No. 13. Michigan lost to Illinois, 80-83.

Notre Dame Faithful Celebrate At Knute Rockne Awards Ball

CHICAGO (AP) - The needle got stuck and the national banner was preserved, and when it was finally finished some wag said: "The second one was for the Clipper."

It all rather appropriately happened in Chicago, where a 1,200 Irish football followers and alumni on a Sunday night paid tribute to Ara Parseghian, former coach Frank Leahy and others.

The resurgence of the Irish for a magnificent job.

In Top 10 in Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) - Charley Taylor of Washington is the fifth to become the second rookie in National Football League history to finish among the top 10 in both rushing and pass receiving.

The former Arizona State star rates sixth in rushing with 744 yards on 101 carries.

Angels' Dean Chance Wins Pitching Laurels

BOSTON (AP) - Dean Chance, 23-year-old Los Angeles Angels' right-hander, made the lowest average in 11 years in the American League's earned-run championship last season, the official figures disclosed Tuesday.

Chance yielded only 51 earned runs in 278 innings for a 1.64 mark, the best since Syd Chilcatter of the New York Yankees finished with 1.64 in 1943. Chance was named winner of the Cy Young award as the majors' outstanding pitcher in 1964 last month.

The Angels' star also pitched the most innings, 278, the most complete games, 15, and the most shutouts, 11. Five of his 20 victories were by 10 scores, tying a major league record.

Mr. Thomson....please?

Please tell me how you manage to make me look so great on campus.

The only thing I can't see with my eye was the row of three boys. Those vertical stretch pants pass the sleek line of most resistance.

And guarantee the least resistance on campus. Then, total recovery (only the pants, Mr. Thomson, not the boys)

The reflex action of the proportioned stretch pants is second only to the reflex action of that Psych major I've had my eye on.

And the set! Mr. Thomson, please, how did you get them to do so well?

I adore you, Mr. Thomson!
