Independent Sweetheart Will Be Named At Social Senate All-school Dance

Breaking up the routine of winter term at Southern, the newly-organized Social Senate, in cooperation with the Independent Student Association, is sponsoring an all-school Sweetheart Dance tomorrow night in the women's gym.

There is no admission charge. MUSIC IS TO BE furnished by Tommy Lawson's band and feature attraction of the night is the naming of the Independent Sweetheart.

Last year's ISA Sweetheart was Lu Ann Miller, Herrin.

The Social Senate withheld any further plans until learning student response toward this first dance.

At the Senate's second meeting, which was held Monday, Bill Davis, Carbondale sophomore, was named president of the organization, which is a partially independent committee of the Student Council.

OTHER OFFICERS elected were vice-president, Jack Flynn, Chicago junior, secretary, Willet Smith, Herrin sophomore; treasurer, Bob Cooper, Herrin sophomore.

Funds for events sponsored and aided by the Social Senate will be derived from the former Weekend Social Committee and the social activities treasury.

Dean of Women Leah Farr was appointed local sponsor by the Student Council.

Schwinn, Elliott Win Service To SIU Award

Doris Schwinn and Chuck Elliott were elected for the Service to Southern award Wednesday night to highlight the fourth annual KDA Variety Show. "Twenty of the finest acts on Southern's campus were presented, and after the performance that seemed to be the opinion of the entire audience.

Seldom has a greater array of talent been displayed at Southern. Each of the 21 acts drew great approval from a sell-out audience in Shryock auditorium. The acts ranged from a chorus line of Anthony Hall girls to the Phi Mu Alpha quartet, which closed the show. In between there was singing, dancing, and comedy—all of which made for fine, wholesome entertainment.

THE SERVICE to Southern gold watches were presented to Doris Schwinn of Du Quoin and Chuck Elliott of East St. Louis. Schwinn is active in speech, and is one of the leaders of the debate team. She is also a Little Theatre, Sphinx Club, and was co-chairman of the Carriers Day held at Southern two weeks ago.

Elliott is an active member of Kappa Delta Alpha, and is president of Delta Rho, honorary mathmatics fraternity. He has also been active in homecoming and spring carnival committees. In addition, Elliott's average in his major, math, is 4.6.

PRESENT plans call for the appearance of the Variety Show in a few of the cities in Southern Illinois. An engagement has already been scheduled at Chester, and the troupe intends to entertain at Granite City sometime early in the spring term.

Masters of ceremonies for the show were Jim Kahnmann, Al Spurz and Norm Meuff. Student chairman is Gene Johns of Harrisburg, who also captained the spectac- tacle last year. Following the show, Johns announced that this year's show, "might be the last, due to the present crisis." Many of the organizations on campus may be forced to disband when their membership drops.

THE VARIETY SHOW is the only one of its kind presented at Southern during the school year. The Show originated four years ago, and has become an annual highlight of the winter term. All of the proceeds of the show will be donated to Southern charities.
Our Opinions...

Gambling—a Cagney Problem

“If a person wants to gamble, that’s his business,” is often the remark people make concerning gambling. Perhaps so, but the octopus entanglements of gambling sometime become so large that it can break down law-enforcement, cause suicides and murders—and RUIN A COLLEGE ATHLETIC PROGRAM.

This last item was brought out this week in bold headlines, in the country’s newspapers which read, “Long Island U. Abandons All Its Collegiate Sports.”

THE STORY SADLY begins, “Long Island university, a casualty of basketball’s biggest gambling scandal, has quit all intercollegiate sports.”

“The Brooklyn school,” it continues, “which for many years had one of the nation’s leading basketball teams, said last night that its action also includes the cancellation of this season’s four remaining games, including two at Madison Square Garden.

“L. I. U. President T. W. Metcalfe acted a few hours after three L. I. U. star players and a former team captain were charged with taking $18,000 to throw seven big games, including a National Invitation tournament contest last year.”

IMAGINE HOW the students at ‘Long’ Island must feel. Imagine how all the athletes—nearly all of them honest and having nothing to do with the scandal—feel suddenly having their main pastime taken away from them.

“WHAT’S BEHIND THE SCANDAL? Some shrewd gambler and a few thousand parlay cards.

“BUT GAMBLERS AREN’T INTERESTED IN SOUTHERN.” Judging from long distance telephone calls the Egyptian received from Brooklyn and Hartford, Conn., following a recent home game, Southern must have been listed on a parlay card—perhaps on the same card as Long Island.

“BUT THIS COULD NEVER HAPPEN HERE.” An offer of $500 to be below par in a game or two is a big temptation even to a player with a high regard for honesty. “If a person wants to gamble, that’s his business.” “If a person wants to bet on parlay cards, thereby enabling gamblers to make big bribes to college basketball players, that’s his right.”

We wonder. B. H.

Semi-Weekly vs. Weekly

“In order to give students and faculty faster campus news coverage, the Egyptian this week is going semi-weekly.

“We have often been confronted with the question, ‘Do the students want a semi-weekly?’ We could take a poll, but we think the only real test is to publish semi-weekly on a trial basis to see how successful it is.”

That was what we said back on Oct. 31 when the Egyptian became a semi-weekly newspaper. We now have been publishing twice a week for about four months which should have given students time to decide which they like better.

Elsewhere in today’s paper you will find a ballot on which you can express your views on a semi-weekly vs. a weekly.

We think it only fair before voting to emphasize that the Egyptian’s limited budget would not allow more news to be published in a weekly than a semi-weekly.

The real issue is whether students had rather get their news fresher and twice a week in a tabloid or once a week in a full conventional-size newspaper.

Please help us out by filling out the blank and dropping it in campus mail or in the letters to the editor box in the cross halls of Old Main. You need not sign your name. The Editors.

Tip of the week: Watch for a Southern rebellion here next week.

Need Medical Attention, Counseling or Money?

by Joan Dilliman

Some SIU students wonder what to do or where to go when they need medical attention, counseling loans, this week’s Egyptian, or last year’s Obelisk. Others may seek permission and missing addresses. We could not anticipate all the questions that might possibly be asked, but here are the answers to a few.

Students needing dental attention, eye examinations, or other medical attention will find the answers to their problem at the health service located at 211 W. Harwood. The phone number, which was changed last month, is now City 1415. All illnesses should be reported during the time the student is ill. If he is not able to come to the health service then, he should have his householder report by phone for him.

UNPLACED OR LOST books and other belongings should be sought at the dean of women’s office, 215 W. Harwood. If you are looking for a room to rent, you might go to the same office and obtain a list of vacancies from Mrs. Mabel Pulliam, housing director.

Another service of that office is counseling students who wish to discuss problems about their careers or other personal predicaments.

Women students may confer with Mrs. Claudine Jannes, assistant instructor in the dean of women’s office and men with Robert Ethridge, assistant instructor in the dean of men’s office, 110 W. Harwood.

Students wishing to obtain a student loan or to make application for employment should contact Mrs. Alice Rector, assistant to the student life deans, whose office is also at 110 W. Harwood. She will furnish the necessary applications and other suggestions.

The forgetful few who have not picked up their 1951 Obelisks may still obtain them from the Obelisk office, upstairs in the Student Center building. Office hours are from 3 to 5 p.m. daily. Also seniors may still turn in their list of activities to that office for listing in the 1951 Obelisk.

BY NOW EVERYONE should know where to get his latest copy of the Egyptian. For those who still don’t—they are left each Tuesday and Friday in the crosshalls of Old Main.

Art Dept. Uses Wasp Principal In Making New Type Paper Chairs
By using the same principle the wasp employs in constructing its nest, Kenneth Ervin, instructor in art at Southern, has designed and produced a new type of chair made entirely of paper.

A former New York designer, Ervin began experiments in furniture a few years ago. He found that laminated paper would hold up under use as well as wood or plastic of the same thickness.

FOUR MONTHS AGO he began construction with this material, which is simple paper pulp held together with vegetable glue or flour paste. Today he, and his students, each have a chair of a new and different design which they are now marketing. He began setting up shop and produce them here in Southern Illinois.

Having a typical designer's disgust for conventional, uncomfortable chairs, Ervin decided to work out something new. He took a design class of ten students, excluding the process and asked each student to begin work on a chair. The problem was to work out how to build the equivalent of what can be done by mass production methods, using a minimum of hand tools and materials adapted to the industry of the region.

The students first worked on scale models of their ideas, using small plastic figures on test. "Seatability." Under Ervin's direction, the students were constantly reminded that the design was to progress with function and adaptability.

After one term of work, each student had a well-built, scientifically constructed chair attractive enough to fit nicely into any room. With this, the cost of each chair ran as low as $6.00. Commercially produced chairs of a comparable design sell for a minimum of $12.00.

“For a long time chair design has been thought of as an architectural problem, and anything modern in this line was considered eccentric," Ervin said. "One of the main problems in presenting modern furniture design is to convince the public that the purpose is not to produce something weird or novel, but a piece which is completely functional in every respect.

Assignment Specialist To Survey Markets Of S. Ill. Timber

Keith Hutchison, marketing research specialist with the Central States Forest Experiment station, has been assigned to work with Southern Illinois University preparing a directory of markets for Southern Illinois timber.

Although Illinois ranks as one of the leading wood-using states of the nation, Hutchison points out that less than 10 percent of the wood used in home grown Illinois can supply a much greater share of this industrial wood, he said, and the purpose of the study will be to suggest markets where the Illinois timber may be used.

Hutchison will supervise the compilation of a list of all possible retailers of the Southern Illinois timber. When the list is complete, a letter containing information about the University, will be distributed to the manufacturers and others, interested in wholesale and retail trade with the University.

When completed, the directory will be mailed to all interested in Southern Illinois wood producers.

Southern Applies For AFROTC Unit

Southern officials conferred on Tuesday with a representative of the Air Force Training Corps concerning the establishment of a training unit at SIU according to Clark Davis, dean of men.

Col. O. K. Halderson, AFROTC representative, was here Tuesday to help school officials in the preparation of a supplementary application requesting the establishment of an AFROTC unit at Southern.

The first application had been previously filed.

This supplement contained information concerning Southern's space facilities, faculty, curriculum, enrollment trends, credit that can be given for AFROTC work, and the availability of local air fields.

The decision to apply for the new program was made after a poll was taken of students and faculty in which the majority of both voted in favor of the establishment of the Air Force ROTC unit at Southern.

Student Council Sets Honors Day for May 17

Two days were set aside on the spring calendar for special programs by the Student Council at their meeting Tuesday in the Student Center.

Honors Day program, a highlight of the spring term, was slated for Thursday, May 17. Tom Sloan, Doris Schwin, Bill Turner, and Phyllis Piper were elected to plan the event.

In response to a request from Dean of Men, I. Clark Davis, a Religious Emphasis week assembly was scheduled at 11 a.m. April 5.

SIU Schedules Usual 8-Week Summer Term

Southern will go ahead with an eight-week summer term as usual, university officials said today. There is a possibility that there also will be a four-week term in between the regular summer and fall sessions.

There was discussion on the possibility of having two six-week terms this summer, but this idea was dropped because plans for the eight-week term were too far along.

FOOTBALL COACH Bill Waller, who formerly coached at Cody, Wy., examines a six-shooter formerly owned by W. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody and now part of the museum's collection. Although history is not clear how Cody acquired the gun, it is believed he received it in some kind of presentation.

"Wild Bill's" Gun

In SIU Collection

A heavy "six-shooter" belonging to fabulous Buffalo Bill (William F. Cody) is among the prize items in the firearms collection of Southern Illinois University Museum. The rare gun, along with several others in the collection, has been presented to SIU by Elwood Peithman, former Carbondale resident.

Although it is not known how Cody acquired this particular gun, Museum Curator John W. Allen is of the opinion that it was received in a presentation of some kind, because the gun is extremely ornate and the name, "W. F. Cody," is engraved on the barrel. However, the gun shows evidence of usage, indicating that it was more than a decorative piece.

A cap and ball type which used black powder and hand-cast bullets, the gun in silver plated with hand carved grips. It was fashioned by Rogers and Spencer of Utica, N. Y., at a time before mass production in the manufacture of firearms was used. Each part is stamped with the same serial number, while each part of mass production guns has a different number.

Credit Sales Discontinued

Credit sales under P. L. 16, P. L. 346 and Vocational Rehabilitation will be discontinued for this term at the end of the eleventh week, according to Karl Trushbaugh, manager of the university bookstore.

A Picture Story—Southern Cagers Go on a Road Trip

THE MAROONS LEAVE Southern about 2 p.m. to go to St. Louis. They took the trip by charter C & H bus—the City of St. Louis.

IT'S TIME TO EAT—always one of the best parts of a road trip. The place is The Dutch Girl in Belleville about 4:36 p.m.

IT'S HALF-TIME BLUES for the Maroons as they trail in the contest. The place is the Maroon dressing room.

THERE WAS MUCH happiness among Southern followers after the exciting end of the game. Coach Lynn Holder (center), however, seems to still be living the tense moments of the closing seconds.

COACH LYNN HOLDER sends the Maroons onto the floor to open the second half.

Maroons Present Variety Show En Route to Games
By Jim Kahmann

"Stand up, stand up, stand up Lynn Holder, stand up, stand up." This may sound like unnecessary repetition, but it isn't—it's just the basketball team singing praises for their record coach, Lynn C. Holder, following a basketball game.

The boys had just seated their- selves in the cold bus following their winning cage contest over Washington University. They had just completed an upset victory over the St. Louis Five, and were in nothing but a rip-snorting mood. And as the bus drove through the Washington U. campus and home for home over a snow-covered road, the basketball boys kept singing, and we casual observers kept listening to the fine spirit at the fine face of the athletes.

IF ANYONE WANTED to challenge the fact that athletics supply an unusually close comradeship between players, they should make a trip with an athletic team before rendering their final decision. For here, words so infrequently used in the world today are bywords. Every other word is "bud- dy," "pal," or "mate." Some 30 men were assembled in one group box and there wasn't a cross word among them.

"I never saw so many jokers in my life," said basketball captain Tom Millikan, referring to the traveling squad. "It really relaxes you before a game," he grinned, "cause you can just forget from laughing." LAUGHING IS right. We'd venture to say that the basketball squad could enter an entertaining 28. in the foreground in the Amos and Andy show, portraying all the 10 miracle athletic team, accompanied the SIU teams to De Pauw.

Holder Issues Golfers' Call
Lynn Holder will hold an important meeting Wednesday, Feb. 28, in room 201 in the Men's gym for all boys interested in golf. The meeting is to take place at 3 p.m. Everyone is invited, and anyone with golf experience is particularly welcomed.

FIRST EGYPTIAN
The first Egyptian was published in October, 1916, in the form of a rough-paper pamphlet. The front page illustrated a pyramid and palm tree suggestive of its name.

A public contest was staged to determine the name of the new paper and although Spsiux was suggested by several persons, it was vetoed by President Stryock as being too hard to pronounce. William McAndrew, then director of the physical education department, submitted the winning name.

Jack Theriot Is Former Flora High Athletic Star
By Jim Turpin
Flora High School had won its regional tournament, won the first game of the Sectional, and were up against a better than average Lawrenceville crew in the final to see who would get to go to the Sweet Sixteen of 1950.

It was in this setting that brought about this exciting experience in the athletic career of Jack Theriot, South- ern freshman from Flora.

Throughout the game the Wolves were definitely off. Jim Wright, the captain Lawrenceville and ran over the Flora men with an amazing display of scoring power. The Wolves were slightly bewildered and hopelessly beaten in the fourth period.

THERIOT had been benched because he was taking some fouls and was finally inserted into the game as the fourth stanza started. The following eight minutes were something to behold. The diminutive guard, who had been used chiefly as a playmaker, took things into his own hands, shooting 10 of 16 points, a rate of two points per minute. But the Herculean effort didn't bring Flora's victory, but not before Jack had established himself as the biggest little man in that part of the state.

Jack went out in high school, two in basketball, two in football, three in track, and two in wrestling. He def- initely a half-pint in football loop but in typical Theriot style he was "big" when it counted.

Jack is one of the outstanding defensive men on the squad this year and his ball-handling was a vital factor in last week's win over Washington University.

He has started some fouls and has been kibitzed by several persons, including colleges as a historic contest at Monmouth. This may sound like unnecessary repetition, but against a better than average Southerner, his brilliant way.

Miss Smith was a Southerner. Her brilliant analogies, her vivid word pictures of the Georgian countryside, her felicitous poetic prose, her well developed intensities to speak to the slow stirring emotions and spiritual recesses. At the same time one responds to and absorbs the hard documented facts. She lays bare the shadowy and poverty-making patterns of the South.

The PASSAGE IN which she carries a curious and objective recital of her childhood and her name carries terrific emotional impact. It seems almost that she could not trust herself to write of these things in any other way. "The dread of the unconscious is no respector of classes and—as it is the way of the Argo-Saxon—nearly everyone preferred to keep a safe distance from the profound depths of his own or another's nature." The inherent and exhilarating quality of "Killers of the Dream," its scholarly approach to this great problem, its strength and power, the sheer beauty of the words and rhythm make reading this book a truly significant emotional and intellectual experience.

Gloria Bonali
Sophomore Girl
Stars in Sports

Coach Glenn (Abe) Martin jokingly asked Gloria Bonali, SIU sophomore, to go with the baseball team to New Orleans last spring, and Lynn Holder has said that her brother would have made the first string in basketball if he were as athletically inclined as she.

Gloria, a physical education major didn't get to make the trip to New Orleans, but she managed to get around last summer. She played on an amateur softball team, the Caterpillar Dienesettes at Peoria. An all-around athlete, she rotated in the positions of pitcher, second base and short stop, and played in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Oregon, and Texas.

Gloria Bonali

Gloria Bonali

FIFTEEN WINS and one loss are on her record as a pitcher. Going to three tournaments, the state, regional, and national, she managed to hit a home run at each of them.

All of these things add up to her appointment as short stop on the All-American Amateur Softball Team.

In school, Gloria was the only freshman last year to make the varsity basketball team. She was the only freshman on last year's hockey team and the varsity softball team, playing the position of pitcher. Letters were awarded her for all these sports, and she is one of the few who have ever received awards at Southern for making varsity teams her freshman year.

This WOMAN ATHLETE also participates in tennis, winning the doubles tournament last year and the singles this year. She is also able to hold her own in badminton, volleyball, bowling, speedball, swimming, soccer, and is a member of the modern dance group.

Along with her winning streaks, brown-eyed, dark-haired Gloria, who is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 134, exhibits superior performance in voice and poise.

She plans to make sports her vocation as well as her avocation after graduation from SIU.

Maroons Meet Western In Final Loop Tilt

The cagers of Lynn Holder will take to the road this Saturday, when they travel to Macomb to meet the Western State Leathernecks in their final conference game of the season. Sporting a 5-6 record, the Maroons have no hopes for the other hand, is still in the running.

Nevertheless, the Maroons would like nothing better than to jolt the Leathernecks with an away-from-home victory. Holder's boys beat Western here last month, 60-57, and the Leathernecks have lost 5 in a row since. This week in Macomb, it will be much more difficult to overcome the Leathernecks on their home court. Western lost to Eastern in Charleston, but beat the Panthers on their home court.

Generally, there will be a five-inch center from Western is usually the big scoring cog in the Leatherneck lineup. He is also an adept man on defense, and held Eastern's great center, Tom Kautz, to only eight points on one occasion. In addition, Redman clears the backboards in stellar style. But Redman will have to cope with the rebounding of Tom Millikan and Bob Schwalm of the Maroons. From times once-however, Western has the edge, since their team consists of more students than are the Maroon Holder being used smaller men, such as seventh-string players in recent games, substituting rebounding for speed and ball-handling.

It is generally due to Western's outstanding height, Holder will use Stan Horsch, Chuck Thaie, and Terry Hollom. They also all good rebounders, and might be a big help in the Maroons case. However, Western will have to check out these men's height and strength.

Following the Western game, Southern will meet Culver-Stockton and Illinois Wesleyan in away games.

Martin Looks Toward Bright Baseball Future

By Joan Foley

It's basketball tournament time in most parts of Illinois, but here at Southern Illinois College in Carbondale, many of the sports fans' eyes are turning toward baseball. Coach Glenn (Ace) Martin of the Maroon diamond crew is looking forward to a great season, and possibly the HAC championship.

Coach Martin lost four important lettermen from last year's squad, which placed second in the conference, but he has a host of baseball talent returning, and coupled with the newcomers, he has hopes of turning in his best season.

"I will have an extremely good pitching staff this year," smiled Martin, "which will help me rank as good or better than any other team in the field. I feel we are more than equal to the second-place HAC trophy, which is now on display in the trophy case."

The Maroons lost Captain Bill Bauer from last spring, who led the team in hitting, with a batting average of .416 over .400. Also lost via graduation are Ed Green, third baseman; and pitchers Fred Brunzel and Marion Moore.

But Martin still has a slugging first baseman, Captain Joe Jones, to wield the stick and a few other sluggers to go with him.

The big hoop, the coach is anxious to get past, is the Western game. Staff. Darrell Thompson, the mound mainstay of last year, is a sophomore, and will be Martin's No. 1 hurler again this spring. To go with him, are Reid Linder, Phil Belonge, Jean Kraak, and relief fireman Bill Schimpf. These men should all be top throwers this year, and if they come together as expected, the Maroons' baseballers will be rough to tangle with this season.

Going over a tentative lineup, Martin has Joe Jones at first, Ed Coleman at second, Art Menendez at shortstop, and Chuck Valier at third. In the outfield he's Jim Schimbel in right, and Lynn Campbell, Bob Ems, and Larry Griffin in left. Darby is a third baseman, and Martin sects him in the lineup. Finally, Fred Brunzel at right field hitting prowess. Bill Welcker is back to handle the catching chores.

The Maroons are making a trip through the southern states, and will have their choice of the winter camps, between March 20-29. They will play six games in the south, two each with Southeastern Louisiana, Louisiana State, and Northeastern State. Throughout the season, this team will play 29 games. Last year, playing a similar schedule, the local men went 8-11-1, and Martin hopes to duplicate or better that record this year.

Martin was quick to mention that the diamond positions are not all shoe-fitting, but several outstanding newcomers and other veterans have had a hand in making the regulars consistent. Some of these men are Bob Elliott, Fairfield; Jim Smith, Carbondale; Milt West, Belleville; Don Goebel, Woodlawn. All of these men have had a hand in making and could easily overtake a regular in some position or another.

Whatever the case, fans can be sure that this year's baseball team will give a good account of itself, whoever the opposition may be. These men must hustle, hustling, hitting, running crew—they and they've got power-plus in the pitching department.
