Our Opinions

"Sleep That Knits"

People are beginning to get fed up with the constant stream of books, radio, TV and movies. It seems like there's something wrong with everything. The other evening a friend of mine was coming to see the latest Kerner picture, but said he didn't have it because they moved it from its usual spot. When I asked for the reason, he said that he had had a few dreams about having children, and that the picture he had selected was already too long. He said he had only been dreaming about it for a few minutes, but it seemed like he was dreaming about it for hours. We ended up going to a different movie, which was shorter and not quite as long as the one he had been dreaming about. I think it's important for people to understand the dangers of having children, and to be careful not to dream about them too often. It's also important to be cautious about what we dream about. If we dream about things that are too long and boring, we may not have time to do anything else. It's also important to be aware of the dangers of having children, and to be careful not to dream about them too often. It's also important to be cautious about what we dream about. If we dream about things that are too long and boring, we may not have time to do anything else.

U. S. Student Views Soviet School System

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles by Doan Siebert, editor of the University of Missouri Daily Critic, on various aspects of the Soviet educational system.)

Don Siebert is a student at the University of Missouri in Columbia, Missouri. He is a member of the Missouri Student Association and is a member of the editorial board of the Missouri Daily Critic.

The 32-year-old student-teacher, who is currently at the University of Missouri, said that he had been to the United States recently and that he had had the opportunity to observe the educational system at several universities. He said that he had been impressed by the quality of education at the universities he had visited, and that he had been especially impressed by the quality of education at the University of Missouri.

Citizens and letter writers alike have echoed the sentiments of individual study makes-a good point in this regard. The University of Missouri is one of the top 10 in the United States in terms of the number of students who take courses in the arts and sciences.

Alum Writes Another Joke: No Dangerous Comment This Time

By Jim Allen

The Department of English at Southern Illinois University is planning to replace its current English Professor, Dr. Lewis Taylor, with a new professor. Dr. Taylor, who has been at the university for the past 20 years, is well-respected by his colleagues and students. He has been a source of inspiration for many students who have taken his classes.

Dr. Taylor has been a member of the English Department for the past 20 years and has been widely acclaimed for his teaching abilities. His courses have been popular with students and have been consistently well-attended. He has been a source of inspiration for many students who have taken his classes.

Salukis Parade Early

In Wrestling Meet, 31-3

By Dee Hulstar

A visiting eastern team, led by a fresh-scratched head coach, took the mat in an early Saturday matinee as the Salukis edged Southern Illinois University 31-3. The meet, held in the Recreation Center, was a preview of the season to come for the Salukis.

Jack Green, a senior wrestler, sparked the Salukis to victory with his decisive win over Eastern's Jim Rogers in the 177-pound class. Green's win was the only one for the Salukis, as Eastern's three mainstays, Mark Menke, Dan McCollum, and Steve Finley, emerged victorious.

The Eastern team, led by coach Gene Gias, showed that they have not lost their edge. With three out of four wins, the Easterners proved that they are a force to be reckoned with this season.
