The Facts

To date the Egyptian survey on 422 students showed a 97 percent majority in favor of a "no" vote. Add the opposition to the Arab-Israeli conflict to 17 percent, or the Egyptians of the country who are not on campus, and the no vote is between 99 and 100 percent.

The SISU student delegation returned to the United States yesterday after a trip to Egypt. Five members of the delegation worked for three weeks in various aspects of Egyptian political culture. They found the situation in Egypt to be "distorted, generalized, and biased.

The delegation included five students, a faculty member, and a graduate student. They worked with a group of Egyptian students in the city of Alexandria. The delegation visited various universities, museums, and government offices. They were welcomed by the Egyptians and enjoyed their hospitality. The delegation also met with local residents and learned about the local culture.

The delegation found that the Egyptians were very interested in American culture and values. They were also very interested in American political systems and institutions. The Egyptians were very open and friendly and welcomed the delegation with open arms.

Dear Sir:

I feel that I can add to your article on "Negro Students Housing" in The Egyptian. I have gone through experiences both on and off campus and feel that this is important.

While Negroes may not have the same opportunities as whites, they do not lack the ability to develop and succeed. Your article assumes that Negroes are intellectually inferior and that they lack the ability to compete on an equal basis with whites.

I believe that Negroes should be given the same opportunities as whites to develop their abilities. This includes education, employment, and housing. If Negroes are not given these opportunities, they will continue to be held back and will never be able to reach their full potential.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Nothing does it like Seven-Up!

General Electric now has 131 plants in 101 cities, and one problem is common to all: How can the company get people in every community for which it is a good neighbor?

This responsibility is shared by many and stimulated by 30-year-old John T. McCarty, each of the 23,000 college graduates is given the chance to serve in the Student Union from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Yet, in this case, there has been a clear demarcation on how to achieve these goals in a meaningful and productive way.

It is clear that the company must continue to work on these issues, and we must continue to support them with our actions and words.

The World of General Electric

We live in a world where we are all connected, and we must all work together to achieve our goals.

The Future of General Electric

As we look ahead, we must remember that we are all connected, and we must work together to achieve our goals.

The Importance of General Electric

We must continue to support General Electric and its efforts to make the world a better place.

Salukis Split On Road Trip

Southern lost, 69-69, in its 1-5 record Midwest Hancock Tournament game Saturday night at Urban, Ill.

The Salukis played a defensive game but couldn’t square the game as they do the run.

The Salukis held a 19-19 lead after 10 minutes of intense action. With nine minutes left, Illinois’ lead was back to 32-32 when the Hoosiers put in a 10 second play.

The Salukis were playing their best. They shot the fall as the fall as the Southern made 13 out of 10 free throws. Car City Coach Alex Green was high with 13. Kentucky had the Huskies with 35.

Western also won Thursday night, defeating Nebraska 111-105. This clinched the EAG title for the Lumberjacks.

Trade on the game.
