Student Cast To Give Play

An all-student production of "Ernest in Love" will be presented Feb. 23 and March 3 in the University Center Ballroom. According to Dennis McKee, director of the show, and an SIU student majoring in theatre.

The musical adaptation of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Ernest" will be staged in a three-quarter round setting, with seats on three sides of the stage. The production will have a minimum of props and scenery, according to McKee. Larry Johnson, Judy Sink, Jefri Gilliam, Beverly Todd and Michael Carroll. They and the other eight members of the cast began rehearsals last month.

Sponsored through the Student Activities Office, the musical concerns two young men who love the same girl. They believe she wants to marry a man named Ernest or to lose interest. To help assure the name of Ernest, hoping to win her favor.

"There are few outlets of any kind for student direction. I hope that SIU students will find and found some other people too," Imnel said.

Questions for students who will be working on the show include Nathan Courrier, lighting, Robert Courrier, sound, assistant producer; director; and members of the quartet of the six-piece orchestra.

To initiate the center an open house will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 4 in the new center, located in T-42, formerly used as the College of Education's Department of Language and Supervision, will sponsor six-week courses in the fundamentals of English.

Teaching will be conducted in both classroom and laboratory. Each class is limited to 10 students and meets about six hours daily. After the instruction period is completed, students are assigned to University classes on the basis of their performance on written and oral examinations.

The new ESL language center will be in the SIU-Center. Included also on the staff in George Gregory, director of courses.

Beware of Virginia Woolf

SIU Students Get Hot Ride, Bus Burns on St. Louis Trip

Okay, so no one is afraid of Virginia Woolf, but a group of SIU students is looking askance at a flaming University bus that had no fire extinguisher or first-aid kit.

The University Center Programming Board's service committee, under the supervision of Jane Szuta and Alan Hoxon, took a bus to St. Louis Saturday to allow students to see Edward Albee's play, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Miss Szutu said that Friday night she called the American Theater for ticket reservations, but when the modern and two chaperones arrived for the matinee, there were no reservations. She said that all those aboard the bus were able to buy tickets, however.

The chaperones arranged for everyone to meet in front of the theater at 10 p.m. for the return trip. Miss Szuta says that when she arrived she found only two students waiting. Soon, eight more joined the group. About 20 minutes later the bus showed up with all the rest of the students.

At that time it was noticed that the bus was leaking gasoline. The driver, Alan Ashbrook, tried to find a place to get the malfunction fixed. Miss Szuta said that mechanics at an East St. Louis garage worked on the bus and pronounced it capable of getting the students back to Carbondale.

Sitting up on the other side of the city, the bus stalled because gasoline was not getting to the carburetor. Hoxon went for help and brought back two mechanics. After a half-hour, the students in the bus were getting cold, so the chaperones called the bus and informed the students could be transported to a restaurant to sit out the time spent in repairing the bus.

Miss Szuta also called SIU authorities to arrange for the notification of homeowners for the girls who would be late. By this time it was about 1:30 a.m.

The East St. Louis Police Department sent cruisers to the bus and took the students to a restaurant. A half-hour later the bus pulled out outside.

Once more the students boarded the bus and headed for Carbondale.

Miss Szuta said, "In Freeport, in the middle of the highway, the driver slammed on the brakes, turned and quickly announced that the bus was on fire." The students evacuated the vehicle.

If Trend Lasts, Corps Will Top Recruiting Goal

If Monday morning activity at the Peace Corps information booth in the University Center is a legitimate criteria for success or failure, recruiting success at Southern Illinois University will be impressive.

Jim Gibbon, assistant director of recruiting from Washington, has set a target of 150 to 200 Southern volunteers.

Before midday yesterday, more than 40 hopeful Peace Corps prospects filed out of the activities of the Model National Peace Corps "International Night" last weekend at the University Center. Thousands of interested students mobbed the information area of the University Center, checked out the requirements, res data, times, career science.

Of several students questioned about their expectations from and for the Peace Corps, most reflected a prudent desire to serve their country in undeveloped nations around the world.

However, that the Peace Corps would afford them an opportunity to visit and work in other volunteer nations, simultaneously broadening their scope in a way not otherwise attainable.

Southerners will be seen repeatedly in activities around the world.

D. L. Trueblood Rites Today; Professor Led SIU Self-Study

A faculty member credited with making "a significant contribution" to the SIU graduate program is dead at the age of 38.

Funeral services for Dennis Lee Trueblood, St. chairmen of the Department of Gild will be held at 1:30 p.m. today at the First Pres­byterian Church.

Clifford D. Camman, acting dean of the Graduate School, said Professor Trueblood led a significant SIU through his work on the University's graduate program.

This was not only through his position in the Department of Guidance, he was professor of higher education and guidance, but in his key role in preparation for the North Central Association's accreditation study of SIU in January, Dean Hickman said.

Professor Trueblood was in charge of the "self-study" program in preparation for the second joint visit to the SIU.

Broken Window Brings $50 Fine

Robert Law, 22, a freshman from Palos Heights, was fined $30 plus $5 costs Friday after pleading guilty before Judge Robert Schwartz to destruction of private property.

The Office of Student Affairs placed Law on disciplinary probation through the spring quarter and warned him that any further irregular behavior involving alcohol would make him subject to suspension from the university.

An office spokesman said Law told authorities he was drinking on the street recently and took a cab home. Near the spot where the drinking was taking place a window was broken in a barber shop. Police traced Law through the taxicab driver who remembered that he had taken a person home with a badly cut finger.

Law told authorities he did not remember breaking the window and pleaded guilty because of the strong circumstantial evidence, the Office of Student Affairs reported. He paid for the window.

Cast Sparkles in Brecht 'Epic,' But Audience Is Bewildered

By Ric Cox

Berts Brecht's Epic theory has succeeded in removing from drama the spectacle, action, illusion, emotion and the curtain. In all, he has yanked entertainment from the stage and replaced it with an 'animated lecture.'

The sole remains of conventional drama which survived his sweeping innovations were the talents of the Southern Players. They, alone, remained to remind the audience they were in a theater.

By usual standards, the current production of "The Good Woman of Setzuan" is a tremendous success. The stageings...

Students' Trip to St. Louis Turns Into Eventful Weekend

Ashbrook stayed abroad and tried to beat the fire out with his trench coat. Meanwhile, Miss Suto and Hanson called the Freeburg Volunteer Fire Department from a nearby house. The firemen responded in 5 minutes, within minutes, Miss Suto said, and finished extinguishing the blaze.

She said there was no fire extinguisher aboard the bus, nor was there a first-aid kit. Ashbrook suffered a slight headache and had a slight shock.

The students were taken aboard the fire truck to the fire station where a group of women had made coffee for them. Ashbrook's injuries were treated. Miss Suto again called SIU authorities.

Final Action Near On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON—The House cleared the last big hurdle Monday on its way to passing a strong civil rights bill by approving a section aimed at improving Negro job opportunities.

By a vote of 213 to 73, the House rejected a three minor sections remaining to be acted on late Monday afternoon before the forces opposing the bill clinched their victory with a roll-call vote. The struggle will then shift to the Senate.

The job section would create an equal employment opportunity commission empowered to investigate complaints of discrimination in employment practices because of race, religion, national origin or sex.

The civil rights coalition defeated other efforts to change the section and also rammed through 211-73 to mor­tion limiting debate on the section. The aim was to in­sure a final vote on the bill some time late Monday.

But foes of the bill, chiefly southern congressmen, still see­cause difficulties and delay in reaching a final roll-call vote.

The House met early and was prepared to sit late in an effort to get the 10-part bill to a final vote.

The bill’s supporters lost no time demonstrating that they had the votes to beat any major changes in the section.

By morning, when 213-86 they defeated an amend­ment by Rep. Robert E. L. Fink, Calif., which had limited the life of the new equal employment opportuni­ties commission to four years.

The bill would make the commission a permanent body with authority to pick the job equality title of the measure.

Harpischord Rented for SIU Opera Production

SIU's Music Department has rented a harpsichord for the Opera Workshop production of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro."

"The Marriage of Figaro," which opens Wednesday night, is performed by the harpsichord workshop under the direction of Susan Caldwell.

"The harpsichord was much used before the invention of the piano, which it resembles in shape. While it does not have the great capacity for expression that the piano does, its color of sound fits the elegant music of the Classical period, such as Mozart, Bach and Scarlatti. The sound is produced by plucking the strings with quills rather than striking them with hammers."

Robert E. Mueller, chairman of the Music Department, said the harpsichord was a welcome instrument at SIU and he hopes that in the next few years, the department can afford to buy one rather than rent.

Marjorie Lawrence Finds Student Opera Rewarding

By Judy Realess

The theater lights will dim in Shryock Auditorium Wednesday night. The orchestra will swing into the opening scene of the Mozart opera, "The Marriage of Figaro.

"The opera is charming. It has some of the most beautiful music ever written," Miss Lawrence added. "Although it is basically a comedy, Figaro has a very involved plot and many difficult parts.

In adapting Figaro for use at SIU, only the traditional cuts were made to shorten the opera. The finished production as it will be seen Wednesday night will be about 2 1/2 hours long.

The Mozart opera has given Miss Lawrence a chance to cast many young voices in singing roles. She said that while Figaro roles are difficult, they do not require the mature voices which previous opera presentations have demanded. They do not require "heroic" voices. The opera is an all day, every day job for Miss Lawrence and close to that for the students. But all students siring in or working on "The Marriage of Figaro."
Freedom's War Still Fought

"Set the slaves free? Absurd, sir. Would it become our cotton industry without any of those darkies tending the fields?"

"And, sir, who will cook our meals and care for our children, and clean our houses?"

"Our very livelihood depends on keeping the slaves. They are a part of our standard of living. We need them, and—what's more—they need us!"

"Yes, sir. them darkies wouldn't last a day on their own. Can you imagine one trying to pay his own way? They don't have enough common sense to come in out of the rain?"

New Challenge in Peace Corps

"As young Americans realize how unglamorous and unromantic the work of developing nations can be, will they be tricked into believing it is otherwise?"

This is the problem facing the Peace Corps in its third year. Its director, J. Sargeant Shriver, outlined it at the National Student Assn. Congress in Indiana last summer.

It is a problem that has also gained increasing attention in the Peace Corps Washington offices as returning volunteers report that their greatest resistances in the field were not the humanitarian challenges they expected, but rather less tangible personal vexations they did not expect, such as boredom, loneliness and a sense of futility. And some second-wave volunteers will also lack the pioneering sensation of having been first in an area.

The Peace Corps is meeting this situation head-on, however, and the subtle change in Peace Corps emphasis indicates it will use less prosaic second-wave volunteers through disillusionment, Peace Corps recruiting material is forthright about the difficulties of service, but it also points out that returning volunteers find the intensity of the Peace Corps experience invaluable. A volunteer is placed in a situation where there is no one to rely on but himself, and thus develops more maturity and self-reliance than he might in 7 or 10 years in the United States.

This forthright approach of the Peace Corps is all to its advantage, of course, for the Corps could not use volunteers unable to face boredom and loneliness—and this realism is not detracting from the challenge of the Corps, but replacing first-wave with second-wave (and less glamorous) challenges.

We will be expecting this same realistic approach from the Peace Corps personnel who will be on campus next week. We also expect that Minnesota students will be a significant portion of the 7,000 volunteers the Corps hopes to recruit by the end of the year.

Voters Don't Seem to Care

What Happens to That $3.15

The results of the Health Center-Correcation Building referendum are out and they show that about $2 per cent of the SIU students don't care what happens to their money. We do need a new Health Center, but do we have to give Council an extra $3.15 per term per student to put to any use they want? Did the students who voted "yes" wonder where this $3.15 is going? By where the new Health Center is to be located? It could be put half a mile south of the new field house, or out at VT!

How big will the Health Center be? How long will the students have to pay $4 to $8 per quarter to pay for this Health Center, not to mention the Correcation building? All this should have come out before the referendum was put to the students.

The Council has a feather in its cap, a white mark on its record for 1963-4, and over $100,000 in its pocket. What now? The University Center is "a" from complete. Part of this $100,000 could be put toward further development in the Center. The fate of our money is in the hands of the Student Council.

James D. Templeton

The $3.15 Mr. Templeton refers to is the amount per student per term which Student Council set aside from this year's activity fund for student health insurance. If the Board of Trustees approved and publishing a new Medical Benefit Fund which. Student Council proposed and voters approved by an 146 to 719 vote on Jan. 29, this $3.15 per term would go toward other activities. The new fee would be $4 per quarter in September and $8 per quarter beginning in 1966.

Even Shelley Couldn't Make Grade Here

The SIU student is often required to write themes, short stories and to make other efforts at writing. These efforts are often harshly marked, giving the student little chance to succeed at writing.

Since I once refused to believe this, I brought a paragraph to the English department. The following description of Plato:

"Plato exhibits the rare union of logic and subtile logic with the Pythagorean enthusiasm of poetry, melted by the splendor and harmony of physical ideas into one irresistible stream of musical impressions which hurry the gratifications onward as in a breathless career."

The above description was actually critized by a member of the English faculty. It was described by the faculty member as saying nothing, trying too hard to be impressive and coming out badly and sentimental. The faculty member stated that it had been turned in as an assignment for English 101, it would have been given an E.

The above sentence was written by none other than the immortal British poet, Shelley. I'm sure that Shelley could only laugh to discover that one of his venerable efforts would have received a C- in freshman English at SIU.

If a poet of the stature of Shelley would have written a falling grade, what would be the opportunity open to the freshman student? I feel that the questionable chance is well demonstrated by the severe criticism of poor Mr. Shelley, who might better have been left to rest in peace.

Beaten in Evansville, SIU Plots Revenge

By Alan Goldfarb

"We'll be back next month." That was the consensus of the 400 Southern fans as they watched Saluki's take it on the chin from a classy Evansville team, 94-73, at Roberto Stadium in Evansville Saturday night.

The Saluki fans, almost immediately forgetting about the beating their team took, looked to the future—measured the possibility of Southern being back in Evansville next month for the NCAA finals.

SIU followers remembered the Salukis were blanked by Evansville's Purple Aces in the Aces' own tournament last year, but this year, the Salukis came back to knock the Aces clean of the NCAA quarterfinals.

A close to capacity crowd of nearly 13,000 watched Butler Briley kill SIU's zone defense for the second half of Southern's 94-73 loss Saturday night's game.

Briley's 6-4 forward, couldn't miss a shot from the outside in the second half as he cracked the Saluki zone with 24 points.晚餐 corner. Briley hit on seven of 10 shots, the zone covered 19 points in the second half to lead all scorers with 30 points.

The Salukis were literally tried as they played their second game in two days, couldn't run with the Aces, who were just too strong on the bench. Coach Al Cuchan, clad in his traditional red sack, tie and belt, substituted freely as Meade turned in a yoman service.

Jerry Szczepan, the man of the Ace lineup, sat out a good deal of the second half, but Meade's 6-7, 230-pounder was too much for the Salukis.

Trackmen Bow To Kansas U.

The University of Kansas scored an easy victory in a track meet played earlier this year against Southern and Pittsburgh (Kan.) Saturday night in Lawrence.

The Jayhawks scored 82 points against Pittsburgh's 34 as the three teams see four meet records and tied another.

Bill Cornell of Southern, nipped Tony Coane of Kansas with a 60.69 mile to set a meet record.

SIU shot putter George Woodall, won his event with a toss of 37 feet, 11 1/4 inches. Southern's mile relay team of Bob Woodlief, Bill Lindsey, Jack Petras and Gary Carr won in 3:35.7. Carr also tied for first in the 440 with Tom Wright of Kansas in 53.9.

Southern's freshman squad was edged by the Jayhawk fencers, 3-4. Bob Ingstad, a prep sensation from Valley City, N.D., won his event with Southern tying with times of 7.8 and 7.4 respectively.

Salukis Trounce Big 8 Swimmers

Southern's undefeated swimming team captured its fifth straight dual meet victory of the season Saturday by defeating Oklahoma's Defending Big Eight champions 65-40.

The impressive Saluki squad took five of nine first places in individual events and split the two relays to coast to an easy victory before a capacity home crowd.

The impressive Saluki squad took five of nine first places in individual events and split the two relays to coast to an easy victory before a capacity home crowd.

Sloan and Southern's Dave Longs were the only duo that were former teammates at McLeansboro. The dual was declared a stalemate as both Longs scored 12 points apiece.

The Salukis missed co-captain Paul Henry, who saw his right knee to surgery because he still bothered by the ankle he injured last week. Coach Jack Harrison named Gary Neill in Henry's place for the second time.

Harrison, angered by what he considered to be poor officiating, had a technical foul called on him late in the game when he called a fouled Southern player back to the line.

Coach Eddie Matthew's mainstays are 6-3 guard Butch Marshall, last year's leading scorer and rebounder. But the Bear's most pleasant sur­prise this year has been freshman Danny Bolden who Leads the squad with almost a 14 point average.

The Salukis go after their 12th victory of the year against eight setbacks.

Southern's freshman squad also tied for first in the 440 yard relay and took second in the 400-yard medley.

The Bearcats scored 90-66 to get victory number 11 to the game against the Buckeyes.

The three teams turned a tie in the tumbling event against Ball State with a near perfect 65.0 score.

Dean Hickman pointed out. He called this "an exhaustive and time-consuming analytical" of the entire SIU program including the graduate programs.

This involved over 18 months' work and a report of over 1,000 pages, Dean Hickman said.

The self study was the factual and analytical basis for the accreditation visit, he added.

Professor Trueblood died Saturday in St. Luke's Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago after open heart surgery.

He had been associate professor of guidance from December, 1957, until July, 1960, and had been department chairman since Aug. 31.

Frosh Divide Weekend Tilts, Entertain Harrisburg Tonight

The SIU freshmen cagers saw a reversal of earlier season fortunes last weekend as they beat Murray State Friday night and lost to Evansville the following night.

The Salukis avenged an earlier season loss to Murray State as they tripped the Thoroughbreds 77-58. The Salukis had dropped an earlier contest 90-88 in overtime.

Southern's yearlings will be in action again tonight, when they entertain Harrisburg Junior College in the Men's Gym.

In Saturday night's contest the Evansville freshmen turned the tables on the Salukis and handed them a 69-55 defeat. Southern had beaten the Aces 79-72 only a week before.

Frazier, the Salukis high-scoring guard, is now only nine points away from breaking Frank Lender's season scoring record for the freshman of 753 points.
