The Campus Senate Wednesday night established a committee for lower food prices in Carbondale.

The committee, headed by Senator Bill Potter, will work on the student government's campaign against high food prices in Carbondale.

The group is attempting to interest HELP (Housewives Efforts to Lower Prices) in supporting the student government's campaign. Potter and his four-man committee will give an initial report to the Senate in two weeks.

Senators also passed a bill requiring instructors to tell students that final examinations as teaching devices.

In other Senate action, City Relations Commissioner Greg Drinan said that Carbondale residents would not be allowed to ride the student-sponsored buses.

The prohibiting factor lies in the closed contract which stipulates that without Federal recognition of the actions the buses may serve only the students of the University. By serving only the campus community, the bus system does not need FTC approval, Drinan said.

Drug Allergy

Test Inventor To Talk Here

The inventor of an instant penicillin allergy test—to guard those people who can not tolerate the drug—will be a guest speaker here Monday and Tuesday.

Walter B. Dandlaker, director of physical biochemistry at the Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation, La Jolla, Calif., will be presented in two lectures here under joint sponsorship of Sigma Xi, scientific research society, and the American Chemical Society. Both are open to the public.

On Monday night he will speak to the chemical society on "Investigations of Macromolecular Reactions by Fluorescence Polarization," describing his system of determining a person's allergy to penicillin. This lecture will be at 8 p.m. in Room 204, Parkway Laboratory.

The Sigma Xi lecture, 8 p.m. Tuesday in Morris Library auditorium, will be on "The Antigen-antibody Reaction: Chemical and Biological Significance."

Cal Y. Meyers, associate professor of chemistry at SIU, who is a consultant to Dandlaker's research group and visits the Scripps laboratory twice a year, said Dandlaker's fluorescence-polarization method of testing a minute sample of blood from a penicillin-allergic person is very rapid and also indicates how strong the reaction that might be expected from penicillin treatment.

City Allotted $10,515

Illinois Department of Finance has allotted Carbondale $10,515 for its share of the December portion of the natural gas tax that will be distributed to the municipalities March 15. The total for all the municipalities state-wide was $4,557,534.

Book Store Needs More Space -- Now

Certainly, one measure of a University's bookstore is the amount of space it occupies. How well it is stocked and the way it is run is an indication of the University's desire to expedite the educational process.

At the beginning of every term, students are required to check out books in the University Center bookstore. They do an admirable job, considering what they have to work with. In many universities, this situation would have to be endured, and in the case of the University Center bookstore it is sad to note.

During the first few weeks of school the aisles are packed, the stock is understaffed, and it is difficult to check out in any reasonable amount of time.

This is not the fault of the administration or staff of the bookstore. They do an admirable job, working in less than ideal conditions.

The master plan calls for the bookstore being moved into the new building occupied by the Olympic Room.

Why couldn't either the bookstore or the Olympic Room be moved to the space upstairs now?

Doubleplus the student population could undergo the hardship of either playing pool or reading books on an unfilled floor.

If this was done then the stock could be expanded, a wider selection of books offered, check-out facilities improved and breathing space included.

Powell's Acts Too Familiar

We have no admiration for Adam Clayon Powell, and little sympathy with him in his current troubles, but Representative Thomas R. Curtis makes a strong point when he notes that other members of Congress have been doing in various ways, and almost flagrantly, everything Mr. Powell has been accused of doing.

That does not excuse the New York Congressman, of course. But Mr. Curtis is right in insisting that the basic charge against Mr. Powell is alone, but the general laxness of ethical standards, and the failure of both branches of Congress to apply them consistently to their members of which this case is one illustration.

Mr. Curtis says he is "quite despondent" about the "universal rot" that apparently exists. Those are strong words. But he has been in Congress for 16 years, and he ought to know what he is talking about.

Stopping Bombing Called First Step Toward Peace

North of the 17th parallel, especially in the vicinity of Hanoi, the rubbly debris from U.S. bombing raids accumulates and the casualty list of innocent women and children tragically grows. Massive ex- plosives have flattened whole neighborhoods and this continued pounding may have infl uences far beyond the conditions for entering negotiations.

Other pressures have been mounting on the United States. Accounts of burned-out civil l an areas in Hanoi and other North Vietnamese cities have caused some of this nation's warmest allies to become openly critical of U.S. Vietnam policies. The other day West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Demo cratic Party organ reported that world opinion generally was beginning to turn against Washington.

The allies of the United States who live under American protection outside the U.N. have been calling on to make their contribution to peace," said the party organ. "Frank talk to their friends is part of this, as well as their own efforts to ease tension in the world." - daily Egyptian
Argentine Draftees Enjoy Home Life

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina hasn't fought a war in her memory. This year, however, one soldier in every country serves one year in the armed forces.

At age 21, Argentines are called up by special mobilization boards. Before they go, they are given their report from the front by that seasoned combat veteran Mr. Joad of Appalachia, Kentucky. Mr. Joad has been fighting poverty, man and boy, for nigh on 60 years.

"I'm smacked in the thick of it now for sure," Mr. Joad begins proudly. "I never did see so much action ever. Maximum military service. The y earn little, they suffer a lot. The police have given up the war. Not that war. The War on Poverty.

"There's one thing, and one thing alone, that can be done in this war, Maude, 'I keep by you. 'Maude, 'I keep. The army says I ought to save expenses, the military allows its recruits to eat and sleep at home.

"Well, I think about the problem for several seconds, 'in my long experience,' I tell him, 'there's one thing, and one thing alone, that can lick poverty.'

"Money," says he. "Money, I says, putting me on the back, 'you're precisely the kind of poor folk I'm looking for.'

"I put some puts me on the local board and this young fellow comes down from Washington to make us a speech. 'Friends,' he says, 'poverty is a thing you want to lick. I think the problem, come up with a solution and we'll give you hands, too, to lick it.'

"He says, 'Well, I think the problem for several seconds, 'in my long experience,' I tell him, 'there's one thing, and one thing alone, that can lick poverty.'

"'That's when the action got hot. Since then, we fired our executive director three times, to recall the city council. Jn ever knew war was right about that."

"Course, like most women folk, Maude's none too happy about me being away most of the time. To think about the problem, come up with a solution and we'll give you hands, too, to lick it."

"Maude, 'I keep telling her, 'you got to tighten your belt. After all, there's a war on.'

"She's coming around. Just the other day, after hearing about one of our foot-stomping, fast-waving, ten-hour meetings, she said I sure was right about that."

War on Poverty Seems Unwinable, Veteran Declares

By Arthur Hoppe

There appears growing doubt that we'll ever win the war. Not that war. The War on Poverty. To help clear up the situation, they have given us the report from the front by that seasoned combat veteran Mr. Joad of Appalachia, Kentucky. Mr. Joad has been fighting poverty, man and boy, for nigh on 60 years.

Many young draftees get off jobs that require them to be at work between 6 a.m. and 2 p.m. After that, they can continue their schooling in free hours.

Argentina's army numbers only about 90,000, so the one-year recruits make up its greatest majority. Career soldiers here usually come from the ranks of the line, officers from the latter. Among the exceptions in the highest ranks such as army Commander in Chief Gen. Julio Alengayres, whose economist brother, Alengayres, is the United States' ambassador to the United States.

The army also tries to use its recruits in locations near their homes. Few are moved far from home, whether it be in the tropical northern areas of Patagonia, or the more settled and snow-covered plains of Tierra del Fuego.

Argentina's budget for the fiscal year budget, 15 percent goes to the armed forces. Until recently, army recruits were armed with 60-year-old German weapons. How low they found out from light down officer automatic rifles patterned on the Belgian FAL.

According to President Juan Carlos Ongania, a retired army general, much of Argentina's military equipment must be replaced with more modern hardware.

The draftee in Argentina is trained in weapons for four weeks and a preliminary hitch. Most then end up in offices pushing pencils and answering phones.

Many young Argentines think military service is a waste of time. They claim it interrupts their education. The conscription program has started to cut the period of service to six months.

Warren Court's Many Achievements Indicate Guidelines for Lawmakers

By Robert M. Hutchins

The concerned citizen must applaud the noble achievement of the Warren Court. The court has taken the lead in giving civil and political equality to all our citizens. The changes it sponsored were long overdue. The process it initiated is still incomplete. At its last term the court explicitly and repeatedly invited Congress to take up the burden. "Bad boy, tearing up the United States Constitution." The court should not have had to carry it. A legal tribunal is no place to discuss and decide great political issues. When such issues are in practice decided in the courts, it is a sign that the legislative process has broken down.

The relations between the federal government and the states, the treatment of Negroes, the rights of persons suspected or accused of crime, the relative voting strength of the city and the country, the teaching of religion in the public schools—these are all political questions. The answers to these questions, and others of the same rank, are matters of public policy and of public choice we have.

The Founding Fathers did not suppose that the Supreme Court would determine what kind of country we would have. It is not even clear that they intended the court to review the constitutionality of congressional acts. Those who, like Alexander Hamilton, distrusted all popular and representational institutions save for judicial supremacy, but not on grounds that a believer in democracy could adopt today.

The Founding Fathers assumed that the legislative and executive branches, in Washington and the states, would decide what course of action they would take. That question is too important to leave to lawyers.

The value of mineral production in Illinois during 1966 has been estimated at $160 million. The total was about 17 percent of the Board of Natural Resources and Conservation of the Illinois State Geological Survey.

Although this estimate was a slight (1.4 percent) increase over 1965, it compared favorably with the range of the past three years and was within the 1 percent deviation of the all-time peak of $631 million of 1962.

The 1966 value of mineral fuels, coal and crude oil, cement and portland, metals, and sand and gravel, was $408.5 million or approximately 67 percent of the total value of 1965 mineral products.

Coal, the major mineral commodity produced in Illinois in 1966, increased in production by about 3 million tons over 1965. This was an increase of 8.8 percent per year compared to the national output. Coal production amounted to approximately 3 million tons valued at about $234 million.

Aluminum production was a million tons of crude oil production was down by about 3.7 million barrels from 1965, crude oil is the second large source of mineral commodities in Illinois.

Sand products, including crushed and broken limestone and dolomite, cement, and lime, contributed approximately 17 percent of the state’s total mineral production with an estimated value of about $101 million in 1966.

Clay products, including common and face brick, structural, drain, and sewer tile, refractories, pottery and whiteware, accounted for approximately 8 percent of the state’s total mineral production with an estimated value of about $51 million.

Sand and gravel, consisting of common sand and gravel, silica sand, and natural bonded molding sand, furnished approximately 6 percent of Illinois total mineral products with an estimated value of about $37 million.

Flour and petrified, zinc and lead, sand, and gravel, constituted about 2 percent of the state’s mineral production with an estimated value of about $12.4 million.
Student 'Free School' to Begin

First meetings of the student free school are scheduled for next week, according to Charles D. Bauman, student coordinator of the school. The school is set up to give interested students and faculty a chance to study topics of current interest. Students are free to teach, listen to or research the topics as they wish, Bauman said.

The school was organized by members of student government. The idea of a free school rose out of an objection to the present educational system, which is "pretty dead," he said.

Bauman listed smaller classes, total involvement of the student and the opportunity to study current university and world issues as three advantages of the free school. Courses include The Other America, dealing with this country's poor; University Citizenship; International Folk Dancing; Folk Music USA, including a concert as part of the course; philosophy; U.S. World Involvement; Travel in Europe; The Art of Loving, a study of sex as a means of love; and a current events seminar.

The school is open to students and faculty who are interested in learning what they study, instead of merely taking tests, Bauman said. Free school offers no university credit.

The free school steering committee will meet Thursday to determine times and places for the classes.

Persons interested in participating in free school program may register today and Friday in Room 11 of the University Center.

About 50 persons so far have registered for the free school program, according to Bauman.

Graduate Students to Display Art Work in SIU Exhibits

Graduate students' art exhibits in two- and three-man shows will be displayed February through March and May through June.

All of the shows will run for one week in the John Russell Mitchell Gallery in the Home Economics Building. The exhibits will vary from acrylic paintings, sculptures, ceramics, metal works emphasizing jewelry, and graphics to drawings, according to Evert Johnson, curator of the University Galleries.

The shows are partial fulfillment for their master's fine arts degree. A faculty committee will review the exhibits and will select one piece of work from each candidate to be placed in the University Galleries collection, Johnson said.

Other programs scheduled by the University Galleries include a showing of the McNear collection and an exhibit of work of Nicholas Vergette. The McNear collection of Indian and Persian miniature paintings will run from May 4 to June 5, and the Vergette exhibit from March 3-30 will feature ceramic wall reliefs. The University Galleries is now negotiating for a showing of the pop artist Andy Warhol, Johnson added.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was cool to a "not too hasty" attitude Wednesday toward President Johnson's proposal for a 2-per cent income tax surcharge to continue while Vietnam war costs remain high.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said at the moment the House Ways and Means Committee has not changed its plan to give first priority to proposals for Social Security benefit increases.

Majority Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., said he expects the first piece of major legislation actually to reach the House floor will be a catchall appropriation bill to cover government expenditures until July 1. Swollen mainly by war costs, the bill has been projected at $10 billion up.

From the comments, it was apparent Congress will want to know more about several factors before deciding whether to tap individual and corporate incomes for an estimated $4.2 billion more in the first year of a tax increase.

The questions to be examined are:

1. Just how much Johnson proposes to spend on various domestic programs and whether lawmakers are in a mood to hold the line or cut them.

2. Whether the Federal Reserve Board displays willingness, in consideration of the anti-inflationary effect of a tax raise, to move in the direction of cheaper and more abundant money for borrowing. The building industry, especially, could be helped out of a current slump by an easier money policy.

3. Whether the Federal Reserve Board displays willingness, in consideration of the anti-inflationary effect of a tax increase. Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, remarked, "The President certainly didn't present the tax increase with any urgency behind it. He evidently doesn't expect Congress to consider it on a crash basis."

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Peasants took to the roads with their livestock, chickens and household goods in exodus from the Iron Triangle Wednesday while U.S. fighting men pressed a hunt for the Viet Cong.

American armored columns and infantrymen skirmished frequently with small enemy groups in this biggest offensives of the war, 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon, and briefing officers said the four-day tally of enemy dead climbed to 163.

A U.S. helicopter bearing nine U.S. Marines crashed into the South China Sea off the coast near Chu Lai, 340 miles northeast of Saigon, apparently from engine failure. A Marine spokesman said all aboard were presumed killed.

American made B-52 jets from Guam staged saturation bombings. One in the Iron Triangle drive, called Operation Cedar Falls; and the other was one of their rare forays into the Mekong River delta.

Powell Decision Hurts Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats appear to be the most powerful political losers from the decision of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., to quit Congress, even though both parties played important roles in the two-day drama.

The reason is simple: More Negroes consider themselves Democrats than Republicans. Although many congressmen reported their mail indicated a majority of Americans favored punitive action against the controversial Harlem Democrat, the nation's Negro leaders rallied strongly to his side.

And after Tuesday's vote in which the House kept Powell from taking his seat pending investigation, he appeared on the front steps of the Capitol and called on Negroes to consider him a "new independent course of action."

"We might start a third party," he told the crowd and was wildly cheered. Even if the threat to form a third party is not carried out, some Democrats fear the episode may increase Negro dissatisfaction from the national Democratic party.

"If it's one more power base that is jeopardized," Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., said, "He is national chairman of the liberal Americans for Democratic Action.

Edward said many Negroes stayed home election day in California last November because of the troubles, Edmund G. Brown's hard line on Vietnam and his "retreat on open housing."

Some of the speakers in front of the Capitol Tuesday called on President Johnson to save Powell's seat and said they would hold the President responsible for any action against him.

The implication was that they might withhold votes from Johnson in 1968—votes Johnson may well need if he is in close election.

Dismissal Sought

On Baker Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bobby Baker trial hung in the balance Wednesday as his lawyers played an ace card—a charge of unconstitutional snooping by electronics.

For one thing, attorney Edward Bennett Williams and aides said that a government agent with a concealed bugging device attended a meeting with Baker in the plush Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Los Angeles March 26, 1968.

For another, they said, the agent tried to pose as a possible client of theirs to obtain information about Baker, Williams said, they said, interfered with "Baker's constitutional right to counsel."

They said all charges against Baker, including income tax evasion, fraudulent conversion to his own use of campaign funds intended for senators, and conspiracy, be dismissed.

Talk Set on New Scientific Finding

A special lecture on "Protein Synthesis in the Developing Endosperm of High Lysine Corn" will be given at 4 p.m., Tuesday, in Room 204 of the Farison Building by Arthur Dalby of Purdue University. High lysine corn has been described as an important new crop. The discovery by Nelson and Mertz, of Purdue, of a single gene that makes possible the doubling of the lysine and tryptophan content of corn has been called a major scientific breakthrough in man's long struggle to feed himself. Dalby, who received his graduate training in England, since 1964, has been a research associate in the Department of Biochemistry at Purdue. He has been working with Mertz and the group which developed high lysine corn.

Pool Repair Hampers Swim Team

Following the loss to Oklahoma last weekend, Coach Ray Essick and his Saluki swimmers were looking forward to the meet with Cincinnati Jan. 21.

The loss to the Sooners did nothing to thwart the confidence Essick has in his team. The Salukis swam well but just not well enough to defeat a superior Sooners team. The work of Reinhard Westenreider, Mike Miles, Gerry Pearson and Ed Mossotti particularly pleased Essick.

The Salukis did have an intra-squad swimming meet scheduled for this weekend but the swimming pool at the University School is undergoing repairs and the Salukis won't be able to use it for the meet. In fact, the Salukis swim team is barely able to get in the required practice sessions.

The swimming pool facilities have long been a problem for SIU swimming teams, Essick pointed out. The Salukis have managed to record favorable won-lost percentages even though they are restricted in the use of the pool for practice to about one hour a day.

These won-lost achievements have come through dedication on the part of the SIU swimmers and nothing more. They have even taken to waking up at 6 a.m. so that they can get an extra hour of practice each day. Sometimes they even practice at night.

"A school of 18,000 students should have two pools. I am looking at this not only from the athletic standpoint but from the academic standpoint. Swimming pools can be used to teach non-swimmers how to swim. Southern has one pool at its disposal and we have to share it with University High School," Essick commented.

Essick has yet another problem to cope with. He has the meet with the Cincinnati Bearcats, the Missouri Valley champions to worry about. The Salukis handled the Bearcats easily last season, 61-54, but this year the Salukis will meet the Bearcats at Cincinnati. They have a remarkable record at home and will be gunning for the Salukis.

Saluki Defense Stops Cardinals

half. But shortly after this guard Wolf Frazier, the Salukis’ playmaker, went to the sidelines with three fouls and Southern was quickly on the scoreboard. Louisville closed the gap quickly to one point before Creason Miller, a forward,硕士’s replacement, sank a fade away jumper to gain the game back and send Southern into the dressing room ahead 53-50. With Frazier back in the line-up, the Salukis gained quick control of action in the second half and again charged into nine point lead twice. Louisville Coach Peck

Brickman quickly inserted three forwards in the Cardinal line-up to allow the Cards more opportunities to shoot and grab and stop Saluki guard Dick Garren, who led Southern with 18 points.

The Cardinals started working the ball into their big man Unseld and he responded with two layups and a pair of free throws in the closing few minutes. Louisville, pacing their first victory since the last two teams, the
