Busses For Murphysboro Students Set

Students who will be residing in Murphysboro next year may be riding regular busses to classes.

SIU and the Murphysboro Chamber of Commerce have decided to provide $2,000 each to finance a shuttle bus. It will make five or six trips a day to and from SIU's campus. Details have not yet been completed.

L. Clark Davis, dean of student affairs, said the plan will have a joint SIU-chamber committee to work out such things as whether or not there shall be fixed or flexible routes. It is hoped that bids for bus operators will be advertised by August 1.

SIU housing officials and student representatives are to meet with Chamber President R. G. Crispenberry and Marion Nash, executive secretary, at 10 a.m., today at the University Center.

The SIU share may come from various sources as student fees, church funds, alumni and friends of the SIU and Chamber interest on investments.

Foreign study sponsors from New York, will be interested in the program as it will mean lower costs for their students.

The chamber service may help to open student housing in Murphysboro.

Train Children In Good Food Habits
St. Louis Nutritionists Urges Workers

The nation's school lunch program is "big business -- the largest food and food service enterprise in the country," a St. Louis nutritionist said here today.

Some 50 school food service managers and other workers are attending a five-day School Lunch Workshop being held under joint sponsorship of the SIU Agricultural Education Division and the School of Home Economics, with the cooperation of the State School Lunch Division.

Mrs. Dorothy Hudson, nutritionist for the St. Louis Dairy Council, told the group the Federal government contributed $250 million to help finance the school lunch program last year.

"The government furnished $100 million dollars in commodities for the program," she said.

"Do you think we are justified in accepting these commodities at a time when our children need food?" she asked.

"If we do not do some teaching, we will not provide training for school children in sound food habits," she said.

"The Type A school lunch must include the 'Basic Four' nutrients each day," she said.

This means (1) a half-pint of milk, plus other dairy products, "to build bone and teeth"; (2) a serving of meat, fish, or poultry, "to build muscle"; (3) two servings of vegetables, "to provide Vitamin A, strengthening vision and nourishing the blood vessels"; and (4) whole grain cereals or some form of whole grain, "to provide needed vitamins, especially the B vitamins," she said.

The recital is sponsored by the Carbondale Ministerial Alliance. Tickets to the event can be obtained at the door.

Coach Enjoyed His Visit To Russia, But Wouldnt Like To Live There

"It's a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there!"

This is the standard re- mark made by tourists after visiting places such as New York City, but it also is the opinion of one SIU traveler on his return from Russia.

Last summer 16 United States gymnasts, sponsored by the National Athletic Union, toured three Iron Curtain countries -- Russia, Poland, and Czecho-slovakia. One of the athletes was Garland O'Quinn, Jr., assistant gymnastic coach at Southern Illinois University.

A visit to Tbilisi, a small city in southern Russia, re- vealed to the athletes that the Russian people are very much like people everywhere, according to O'Quinn. "They welcomed us with smiles and flowers," reports O'Quinn, "and we soon found that they were as anxious to learn about America as we were to learn about Russia."

The Russian gymnasts amazed many gifts for the Americans as they took them sightseeing and shopping. "We refused to let them buy things for us at first, but they in- stilled until it was evident that they really felt no pressure. We then performed for them."

One of the Russian boys gave Garland his gymnastic trun- sers. "They are quite ex- pensive here so I can imagine what they cost in Russia," he hesitated at first but he in- stilled declaring, "we are brothers!"

According to O'Quinn, a native of Texas and a resident of Southern Illinois, gymnasts as a group are not inhibited. One night the two groups got together around an old piano and saw everyone in the world form. "It was a thrilling sight to see gymnasts from two nations putting on a show just for the pleasure and excitement of it. There was tap dancing, singing, and guitar playing. It was an unfor- gettable evening," he reminisced.

The Russians, after visit- ing an American Plastics Exhibit in Tbilisi, had many questions about the use of US clothes, automobiles, homes and life in America in general.

The most important simi- larity between Americans and Russians is not music or sports but a mutual desire and appreciation for the truth, says the assistant coach. "If more Americans realized that the Russian people do seek and appreciate the truth as something very important in life it would add much to the faith we need to continue our fight for peace."

O'Quinn wanted to bring something home for his wife, Josie, a lecturer in the nurs- ing department, and finally bought some trinkets because there was "nothing in the line of clothes, personal articles or home decoration that an American woman would want in her home."

The gymnasts also found that hotel rooms were sub- standard. Simple but necessary items, such as coat hangers, were missing in most of the rooms and water tem- perature was hard to regulate. "We generally had a few spots that were scaled and a few spots that were frozen before we finished a bath," he laughed.

$476,608 Allotted
For Salary Raises

Some $476,608 was approved by the Board of Trustees recently for improving staff salary levels.

As a result, President Delyte Morris said that salaries increase this year will be "dis- appointingly small." But he added that the best we can do with what we have," he added.

Approximately $690,000 was appropriated a year ago for salary increases.

"The cutback in planned salary increases and in needed additions to the faculty does not represent what we feel is needed in fairness to our faculty and to compete in national bid- ding for faculty," President Morris said.

"Because of the cutback a year ago and the adjusting made necessary, we must face the next legislature and the next biennium with a deficit in national competitive develop- ment for a year, we will need more next biennium than if we had had our original budget this biennium," Dr. Morris said. "If we can't rectify our position in the na- tion-wide competition for teaching talent, the effect will be cumulative."

The SIU budget which had been approved by Gov. Otto Kerner, Jr. and the State Budget Com- mittee was approved by the Illinois Department of Education for the current year.

Line Maintenance
Short Course Opens
On Campus Monday

The first of three week-long short courses for those interested in utility line maintenance in rural electric cooperatives in Illi- nois will open on the VTl campus Monday, June 25.

The unusual training pro- gram has been designed to prepare line maintenance personnel of the cooperatives for safer handling of high volt- age electrical lines. Love Of Animals Leads To Formation Of Jackson County Humane Society

She got down on her hands and knees and crawled cautiously under a cob-webbed porch dodging broken glass, sticks and other rubble and emerged with a litter of whimpering puppies. Her name was Swanhild Grinnell, president of the Jackson County Humane Society and wife of Dr. John E. Grinnell, vice-president of operations at Southern Illinois University.

Some how, such as this are not uncommon for Mrs. Grinnell, who often leaves her housework to answer a call for help when an animal is injured, sick or lost. "If anyone had told me that I would be doing this type of work when I came to Carbondale, I never would have believed them," she laughed. It all began three years ago when she was on her way to the annual tea for faculty women at the home of Mrs. Delyne W. Morris. Four dirty, crying puppies caught her eye.

"They were under one of the barracks on campus. I guess the other woman thought I had lost my mind, but I picked up two of the dogs and carried them. I don't know what happened to the others because I couldn't care for them all. I called the police and found that I had one dead; I gave the dogs a home or have them destroyed. I decided something had to be done so I worked with some other people until we finally organized the shelter," she explained.

Before the shelter, located west on route 13 between Carbondale and Murphysboro, was built the Grinnell's kept the animals at their home. The shelter gets funds from the city, the county raises money and from memberships. A Country Store bazaar is held each fall to help raise funds.

In addition to her work with the Humane Society, Mrs. Grinnell is kept busy with other activities outside her home. "I feel that every woman needs a cause," she declared, "and must have activities outside the home to fill her life with some purpose."

When asked about the 'trapped housewife' who feels that her life has become a drary treadmill of house work, Mrs. Grinnell suggested that such women find an outside interest. "Everyone has a talent and should make use of it. They should try things, like a garden club, until they find what they are suited for. Then they won't have time to be bored. So often it is just a case of not wanting to do something. I think that the solution is to do something for someone else and you problems will take care of themselves."

Mrs. Grinnell follows her own advice by doing volunteer work as a Red Cross Gray Lady at the Veterans Hospital and the Murphysboro nursing home.

Swanes, as she is known to her friends, manages to remain serene and pleasant by arranging her day around a flexible schedule and does "important things first." Much of her housework loses its importance, laundry, is done in the evenings. She likes to cook and bakes all her own bread.

Mr. and Mrs. Grinnell relax by working in the yard and by taking long walks around the campus lake.

"Jack loves to walk the garden after a day of problems at the office. Right now he is feeding with the sparrows trying to keep them out of the martin house. We are trying to make the yard a real jungle for the birds. People are so busy that they are destroying the birds' natural homes," concluded Mrs. Grinnell, once more showing her love and consideration for animals of all kinds.

Insurance Forms Ready

Applications for summer session insurance may be picked up at the University Center information desk or the activities office.

The policy, which covers medical expenses through September 21, 1962, was acquired through the SIU student council and administration.

Crying Pups Start Career

The seventh annual workshop for registered nurses has drawn nurses from 10 states. The 51 nurses, training to be instructors of technical aides, come from New York, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Illinois.

Miss Frances Ginsberg, consultant to asceptic practice at the New England Center for Hospital, Boston, Mass., is director of the workshop. She is being assisted by faculty members of the department of nursing, the College of Liberal Arts, and the College of Education of SIU.

The methods of teaching used by the staff include role playing, films, lectures, general discussion, sub-group discussion, and field trips.

The staff is presenting the concepts of bacteriology, methods of disinfection and sterilization and control of hazards.

The organization of such information for technicians, methods of teaching and supervising are also being discussed.

The workshop is being held on campus from June 18 to June 29.
Man Must Escape Balance
Of Terror, Avoid Atomic Suicide,
    Say Calm Viewers

Nuclear Weapons and the Confluence of Conscience (Charles Scribner's Sons, N.Y. $3.95) as the title indicates, is an exploration of the most crucial issue of our time by seven sincere men who are deeply disturbed not by the shape of things to come but by the shape of things as they are.

Contributors to the thin and sobering volume are: John H. Herz, Professor of Political Science at the City College, N.Y.; Erich Fromm, Peter Drucker Professor of Applied Christianity at Union Theological Seminary; and editor J. Joseph Leonard, President of the Interchurch Center.

The seven are not exactly impartial carapacebearers, professional disturbers of the peace, or licensed purveyors of bonded nihilism. On the contrary, these are honest, desperate men aware of the desperate time.

Herz points out that man has now achieved the horrendous distinction of being able, literally, to shoot himself down; and that present stockpiles have been profitable because of major nations of the earth. (Recognition of mankind as one of the desperate times.

Roger Shinn's concluding chapters, "Faith and the Perilous Future," is truly sad in that he only manages to frighten religiosity and apathy alike with the prediction that man is doomed not malevolently to eye extinction but to living with dangers more terrifying than man has ever known, at least for the foreseeable future.

Robert K. Murray, editor of the dorm, "Peacemaker," says calm viewers are not "doomed malevolently to eye each other indefinitely across a trembling world. We need tighter..." the war plans that are less terrifying, but whose consequences are less catastrophic when defeat falls." A far as this reviewer is concerned, Einsenstadt said it all when he said: "The unleashed power of the atom has changed everything except our way of thinking. Thus we are drifting toward a catastrophe beyond comparison. We shall require a substantially new manner of thinking if man is to survive." See your daily paper for today's odds.

Campus Postal Service
Does Booming Business

Outsells Area Towns In Postage

The campus post office handles mail in greater volume than several cities that surround Carbondale.

Mrs. Katherine McCluckie, director of SIU's post office since 1951, said, "not only is the volume of mail greater, but our sales are higher and besides we have only one-third of the working space that is available in the other post offices."

The actual cash sales of stamps from the campus post office is much higher as compared to towns such as Carbondale, Herrin, Murphysboro and Marion. Mrs. McCluckie displayed statistics of an aggregate yearly income from sales of $40,000 to $55,000 more than these area towns. "Sales to students have increased 58 per cent in the past five years," she said.

The registrar's office sends out the largest amount of mail, and most expensive, "The information service, alumni office and library also distribute an abundance of correspondence. Mrs. McCluckie used November of 1964 as an example of the total pounds of "incoming" and "outgoing" mail. "It amounted to $1,000 pounds for that one month," she said. According to her statistics, in the past five years departmental mail has increased 51 per cent.

Post office employees verify that Christmas, Valentine's Day and Mother's Day are the busiest times of the year. Father's Day has only an average load.

"Our post office does all this," she stated, "with only three full time and twenty-three part-time employees."
Cardinals Sign Mel Patton; Will Play With Winnipeg

Mel Patton, SIU sophomore outfielder from Belleville, signed a major league bonus contract with the St. Louis Cardinals professional baseball club. He was assigned to the Winnipeg, Canada Class C team of the St. Louis organization.

Patton was named to the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference All-Squad announced by the organization. He turned down the offer at the time because he wanted a college education. But after two years of college, the 20-year-old outfielder grabbed the opportunity for a professional baseball career.

The exact amount of Patton's bonus contract is not known but it has been estimated to be in the five-figure range.

Six SIU Baseball Players Placed On 1962 All-Conference Squads

Tucker and Saunders made the second team last spring—Saunders as a first baseman—while Caliendo and Ringel received honorable mention. Three other Saluki baseball players were named to the second team.

Orlofsky Only SIU Athlete To Compete Internationally

Fred Orlofsky is the only SIU athlete that will be competing during the summer months in international events. Orlofsky is one of seven gymnasts who will represent the United States in the World Games in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

The team will also tour Europe. Coach Orlofsky is a native of Chicago, and his team will be in Europe for the summer.

At the present time there is a possibility that SIU's sophomore track star, Jim Dupree will also be competing in an international athletic event.
Benefits Of Democracy Blamed For Criminals

Equal opportunity and the breakdown of class barriers—two benefits of democracy and industrial society—have conspired to produce a new criminal society in America, according to the new president of the American Correctional Association.

Peter Lijens, keynote to the 11th annual Conference on Correctional Education on campus said that crime can be regarded as "innovation and rebellion"—the criminal invents means of reaching otherwise unrealistic goals or he rejects society's goals and substitutes those of his own.

The University of Maryland sociologist added: "In our society, individuals are taught to hope for more than they can actually achieve. Crime in many cases is the result of disappointment, frustration and hostilities arising from impossibly remote goals."

Area Scenic Tour Scheduled Sunday

Giant City State Park, Little Grassy Lake and Devil's Kitchen will be the destinations of the first scenic bus tour, sponsored by the activities development center.

An SIU bus will leave the front of the University Center at 1:30 p.m., Sunday and return at 6 p.m. The trip is free, but students who wish to go must sign up in advance at the activities office in the University Center.

Four more tours are scheduled for July and August: St. Louis Airport and zoo, free of charge, but those wishing to go must sign up in advance at the activities office in the University Center.

Industrial Ed Talk

A public lecture on "Ex- perimentation in the Field of Industrial Education" will be given by Dr. Arthur W. Earl, professor of industrial arts at Montclair State Teachers College, New Jersey, at 8 p.m., Friday, June 22, in the Morris Library Auditorium.

Dr. Earl's lecture is being sponsored by the SIU chapter of the American Industrial Education Professional Honorary Fraternity.

Cricket Club To Play

The SIU Cricket Club will play a match with the Prince Gardner Club team at 10 a.m. Sunday in St. Louis.

Habib Akhter, secretary of the club, said practice sessions for the match will be held today and tomorrow from 5 to 7 p.m. on the practice field near Thompson Point. Members of the club and persons interested in playing with the club are urged to attend practice,Akhter said.

Lijens, whose audience included some 70 prison and correctional officials from the midwest, said "despite our national ideal of equality, American schools are middle-class oriented," and children from lower economic and cultural brackets can't always find acceptance in school settings. Students thus rejected, he said, are likely to become dropouts, seek out others in the same situation, and eventually wind up in a juvenile gang of some kind.

"It is ironic that our very ideal, social classlessness, has been characterized as a factor in criminality," he said.

The conference, attended by some 75 persons, was sponsored by the SIU Center For The Study of Crime, Delinquency and Correction.

"One of the most successful conferences on the subject because of the blending of thoughts of SIU educators and correctional educational practitioners," said Director Myrl E. Alexander.

"Correction education has become more professionalized in the past decade," Alexander said, "it is part of the new wave toward revitalization of correctional programs throughout the nation."

Among the activities of the three-day conference was a tour of the Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard.

The conference will be held at SIU again next year.

Do you like lemonade? If you do, free lemonade will be served every Monday on the University Center Patio, from 10 to 11 a.m.
