Farewell party for quarter system begins today

By Bill Layne
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The beginning of the end starts Tuesday at 8 a.m.
That's when summer quarter, the final quarter before the semester system officially begins. Although complete enrollment figures are not yet available, Assistant Provost John Baker expects fewer students this summer.

"It will be 10 days into the quarter before the final enrollment figures are available, but I anticipate fewer students this summer than last," Baker said.

Monday was the first day of registration for new students who did not pre-register during spring quarter. A student worker at the registration center said the flow of students was steady and "kept them (student workers) busier than normal.

The worker at the center said that more than 300 photographs were taken Monday for new student IDs. He compared this figure to the 20 or 30 photographs taken daily during pre-registration.

A clerk at the Amtrak depot in Carbondale estimated that about 150 students arrived Monday afternoon and more students were expected on the train arriving late Monday night.

Joseph Gasser, assistant director of university housing, said Monday that 567 students had signed contracts for summer quarter. Gasser said only Neeley Hall would be used this summer, while Thompson Point and Brush Towers would be closed.

Only a single, eight-week term will be held this summer. Final exams are scheduled for July 7.

The only holidays during the quarter will be July 4 and 5.

All departments of the university will be operating this summer.

Trustees order study of System Council

By Jeff Jouett
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The SIU Board of Trustees has acted to investigate possibilities of making SIU-Carbondale and SIU-Edwardsville campuses "more autonomous.

Constituency groups at both campuses were ordered by the board June 13 to name members to a 20-member committee charged with revising SIU's System Council document by September.

Board Chairman Ivan Elliot will convene the committee of 10 members from each campus "sometime after the first of July," according to James Brown, chief of board staff.

The committee will then select its own chairman and operate independently of the board, Brown said.

Instructed to "establish a procedure to suggest revisions in the basic system council document deemed necessary to insure maximum autonomy for each university within the SIU system," the committee was approved with one dissenting vote.

Elliot voted against the motion, arguing that the search for a new SIU-C permanent president would be hindered and that "autonomy" was possible within the system council framework.

The system council consists of the chief of board staff and the presidents of both SIU campuses. Under the current system council document the chief of board staff is empowered to interpret board policy to both presidents when the board is not in session.

Almost all of the 14 constituency groups invited to evaluate the performance of the system council since its Jan. 19 establishment said it was ineffective.

Alternative suggestions by constituencies for SIU governance ranged from complete separation of campuses with separate boards of trustees to establishing a "system president" with subordinate chancellors at each campus.

SIU-C interim president Hiram Lesar said Monday he agrees that SIU campuses should "develop independently as long as they stay within the present system.

"I don't favor two boards of trustees," he continued. "And it is my reading that the board will not feel comfortable without someone coordinating their policy between campuses.

SIU-E President John Rendlemann reported he favors "autonomy" for the campuses because "the universities at Edwardsville and Carbondale serve entirely different functions.

Willis Malone, chairman of the SIU-C president search committee, told the board a delay in determining SIU administrative structure would hurt the recruitment of a new president for SIU-C.

"What we need at this point is at least temporary certainty," Malone said.

Malone, who said he has narrowed the search down to "around 18" potential presidential candidates, told the board that if they chose to adopt the system president suggestions he would have to start all over again.

"If I'm looking for a chancellor I have a hand full of smoke," he said.

Leasure retains academic position

By Jeff Jost
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Keith Leasure was reappointed SIU vice president for academic affairs and provost by a vote of 5-2 after a mild debate at the SIU Board of Trustees meeting June 13.

The Faculty Senate had requested that SIU Interim President Hiram Leasure not recommended Leasure for reappointment. Leasure had postponed making his recommendation at the May board meeting at the request of the senate.

Leasure’s change in appointment from term to continuing appointment was considered separately from other faculty-administrative payroll matters.

Trustees Willis Moore and Margaret Blackshear voted against Leasure’s reappointment, along with SIU-student trustee Matthew Bash and SIU-E student trustee Donald L. Hastings, Jr. Student trustee votes are for the record only, and have no weight in determining policy.

Allen said that criticisms of Leasure focused on implementation of the 104 terminations and involved Leasure carrying out board policy.

Allen said the board’s disagreement with the faculty should not be interpreted as disregard.

Garage proposal tabled by council

By Charlotte Jones
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council voted unanimously Monday night to table a proposed ordinance which would have created a special services district for a downtown parking garage.

At the informal meeting June 10 a petition in favor of the proposed parking garage was presented with 27 names from the district.

The council voted to pass the ordinance by $1 per cent of the property owners in the district and table the petition in favor of the ordinance.

At least five homes may have to be destroyed in order to widen the streets and build sidewalks in the area.

The threecouncil members believe that the proposed parking garage is in an area between Walnut and Monroe and between Illinois and University streets.

The three-level structure would provide 204 parking spaces, almost triple the number of parking spaces now available in the proposed site of the garage.

The council also held a public hearing on the reconstruction of Williams Street, the southeast section of Carbondale. Two professional appraisers are to be release assessments by July 1 of the land to be purchased by the city for the reconstruction.

The lowered prices will be in effect August 1. Current decal prices are valid until October 1974.

Parked cars in favor of the reconstruction will be courted and appraised by the parking and traffic ticket board. The seven-member panel, which worked voluntarily on a part-time basis, has met with complaints of failure to show up at hearings and for inconsistent judgments, according to T.R. Richard Major, vice president for development and services.

The board revised bicycle registration guidelines to allow registration of bikes that will last indefinitely. Previously the $1 fee for bicycle registration applied for one year only.

Continued use of Doctors Memorial Hospital emergency room to treat student emergency health cases when University emergency service is not in operation, was approved by the board. SIU will pay the City of Carbondale for the emergency health service for one year. The payment is based upon an estimated 2,300 student visits per year and can be adjusted.

SIU’s Health Service also agreed to supply Carbondale with emergency ambulance service at $60 per ambulance run.

Programs for an M.D. degree in the SIUC School of Medicine, aman Doctor degree in the School of Law, and undergraduate degrees in linguistics and religion, studies were unanimously approved by the board.

Included in the approval was an M.D. degree was the board’s agreement to forward a request for an additional $3.1 million for the School of Medicine. The request is to cover fiscal year 1976 and will be forwarded to the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The board also agreed to continue funding SIUC’s undergraduate degree program in computer science.

In other action, the board approved a proposal for Evergreen Terrace Apartments. Rates will be raised to $25 per month for two-bedroom apartments and $336 for one-bedroom apartments.

Evergreen Terrace is University-owned married student housing two miles east of campus. Previous rates were $117 and $130 respectively.

The board also approved spending $60,000 to replace all water pipes in the Evergreen Terrace complex.

The resolution says high mineral content of water in Carbondale built up within the pipes has caused corrosion and breakage.

The resolution said SIU was forced to use galvanized piping, instead of copper tubing which was unavailable as a result of the Korean War. Netty Hall is a 17-story dorm that houses 66 students and was “activated” in 1960.

Funds for placing the nine miles of copper tubing will come from the Repair and Replacement Reserve account in the Dormitory Revenue Fund of University Park Residents.

The weather: Partly cloudy

Tuesday: Partly cloudy and warmer with the high temperature in the upper 70s to lower 80s. Precipitation probabilities will be five per cent during the morning and increasing throughout the day. The wind will be south to southwest at 6 mph. Relative humidity 80 per cent.

Tuesday night: Partly cloudy and warmer with the low temperature in the 50s to mid 60s. Precipitation probabilities will be 30 per cent tonight and 40 per cent tomorrow.

Wednesday: Increasing cloudiness and continued warm with the high around 80.

Monday’s high on campus 72, 2 p.m., low 54, 5 a.m.

Information supplied by SIU Geology Department weather station.

All things whole again

From the political debacle which is Watergate, to the economic chaos which is the fiber of day-to-day living, to the conflict between interests which is the atmosphere of our university environment; then we are lacking a very vital element which is necessary for the preservation of anything living. It is love. The basic vibrators prerequisite for the harmony of existence. Without exception, every single atom in the universe of Creation thirsts for that harmony. After Creation, after the energy conceived of the Creator developed form, after form took the shape of life, and after life took a handle on us, humankind took life beyond the harmony of love into the symbolic illustration of the logic of reason. Hatred was an offspring. As was ethnocentrism. And the misappropriation of Capitalism, Imperialism, Communism. Racism. Pride. Bureaucracy. Unions. Political parties. Anything which keeps one atom of existence from another atom, with hesitation, is counter-evolutionary and a blasphemy against Creation.

Lives which, are an expression of the Divinity of existence, have pointed the way since before the dawning of civilization: "Love is all there is." But as lives transit, so do values, and the unending faith in dogma sets in. Love is lost behind an illusionary curtain of ritual and symbolic belief. Faith replaces the love. Even after hundreds of value sets in, varied interpretations break down even that. What some hail as the Age of Aquarius, others damn as the Dawning of Decadence. Individuality keeps father from son, mother from daughter, sister from sister, brother from brother, and brother from sister. The once sacred institution of marriage becomes diluted by double valuations and hypocrisy. Then, one spring, young people wake up alive!

The youth stretch their souls in love, and are tear-gassed. And clubbed. And jailed. And sent off to fight a war. But some don't fight. With all their hearts, they sing: "NO MORE WAR ANY MORE!" They turn from hatred and choose to love their enemy, instead of MURDERING IT.

Which, by all the reason of the "thinking men", ignores all the realities of 'isms, economics and survival—in a world without love. But the young people are their match and react with their symbolisms and expressions of reality. The vibration of love is without match. It permeates beyond all that is symbolic and transitory and reaches into the life force in every soul. It turns haters into lovers. Warriors into children. Bureaucrats into guardians. "Love makes all things whole again.

Which is wrong with the university, with the nation, with the planet, the galaxy, the universe; all which is wrong with anything, anywhere, is the absence of that which makes all things whole again: LOVE!

Letters

Comment on Carbondale experience

So happy to have heard from the many concerned whites out there who had plenty to say about my first article titled, "Another Shade of Carbondale Experience.

First of all I'm glad Mr. P. Hennessy (DE letter: May 31) found my letter most amusing, always glad to add to your comic amusement, I think I have been doing that for centuries in the field of entertainment.) (smile) You know Mr. Hennessy, it's such a coincidence that Mr. Pearlstein (June 3) had the same problem, and no one bothered to save him either. I got a comment from the sister that was directly involved: "if they didn't see us they certainly could hear us." Now is the west cove of the beach area so far away that so-called dutiful lifeguards are unable to hear a scream for help. If so, why is that area not guarded?

Mr. J. Johnson (May 31), I don't doubt at all the capabilities of your well-trained lifeguards. I am sure they are experts in their field. I merely pointed a finger to an area that seemed to imply something to me. Perhaps the incident had no racial factor at all, I mean after all, they did go out there and retrieve the causal, regardless of who had been in it. Then after they were ashore, the totally innocent and unaware lifeguards asked our wet victims: "Oh you must be the ones whose causal turned over."

To Mr. Steoger (June 5), you're right, I do have a lot of nerve, that's why I wrote the article in the first place. But never once did I mention that the lifeguards were, "...a bunch of bigots", nor did I portray them as... hungry-eyed vultures laying back waiting for a black to drown. Now really Mr. Steoger, that seems to be a little much, and had I meant it that way I would have said so... by all means. Also you mentioned that you have pulled more blacks out of the water than whites, what are you doing keeping track? I thought it made no difference what color you were people...remember? And further more, I will continue to run my mouth as I see fit, using the DE, Urbana SA SA, or any other medium to "grandstand" my opinion in any area where I feel an injustice has been done. I'm sure you have been keeping up with the many, many rebuts in the DE, and some action toward a positive direction has been taken...just the result I wanted!!

To Mr. W.H. Devries I can only say, "I'm sorry, but it just doesn't work" Believe me, I know because I had at one time tried to look at people as a whole and I got stepped on. I think you will agree with me when I say that there is definitely a cultural, physical, mental, etc. difference between us. (and do not trip on that mental difference). Well there is a difference also in the way in which we view other and conflicts between us. For example, you may view a racially mixed group of human beings and see people, we could look at that same group and see blacks and whites. And if a conflict arises between them it immediately becomes a racial conflict whether it is or is not. Unfair? Yes it is, but it's the only way we know how to survive, that is, to fight. It is still in our blood from birth and continues on. And its true, also, that we all made it to college, some harder than others. But we can't just forget the red tape and hassle because there are aspects of life and conflicts that you will never experience that we go through, being white.

To the Rugby Team, so sorry for calling you a "white frat". No, you keep putting up those signs welcoming people to SIU, it is no way offenders. You'll make the headlines of the Chicago Tribune yet, after all the DE is only the beginning.

This writer thanks all concerned people for their rebuts, phone calls (Both pranks and concerned) and public action towards a positive direction. To the lifeguards, I say once again, We are a people of coincidences, we are nearly drown by them, die by them. I used that particular incident to show just that, how we are involved in coincidences that involve heroic endeavors on our part that never seem to make front page, but let us get rowdy at a fee allocations meeting, boy thats right up front. Whether the incident was racial or not remains to be seen, but from the letters of refutation one can draw their own conclusion.

Not to get off the subject, but why do SIU police have nothing better to do than to hassle cyclists for going up the overpass? Is it true that some 400 parking tickets were issued by C- daily last winter? If thats the case, maybe I'd better change my major.

City squeeze play

The proposed Carbondale zoning ordinance seems to be putting the old squeeze play on the SIU student body.

The ordinance would prohibit cooperatives, where members have a financial interest in a dwelling and share expenses, in about 30 percent of the areas where they are now allowed.

City Planning Director James Rayfield said groups of students living together off-campus often cause problems for their neighbors. Among the problems they cited were noise, sanitation, parking congestion and building upkeep.

As students, it is hard to argue with this bit of logic. It is a well established fact that students are filthy, sloppy and enjoy tearing down walls and congesting traffic.

It's only right that the city take proper steps to preserve its beautiful neighborhoods. If this ordinance is successful, perhaps others can be put into effect later which would stall students in a specified corner of the city (if they can stand living with each other). One wonders if students will be permitted to wander down Illinois Avenue to spend their money?

Supreme Court has split vote on use of recreation areas

By W. Dale Nelson
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Segregated schools and private schools cannot be given exclusive use of public recreational facilities, the Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The court in unanimously decided in two cases to override lower federal courts decisions that had divided recreation fields.

Davies plans retirement this summer

Dorothy R. Davies, professor of physical education for women at SIU and chairman of her department for 25 years, will retire in August.

Davies joined the faculty in 1939, served as department chairman from 1944 to 1974, and has held the rank of full professor since 1968.

In 1948, the SIU-C Alumni Association selected her for its Great Teacher Award. She is a Fellow of the Illinois and American associations for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (HPER), and also a Fellow of the American College of Sports Medicine.

Davies has held numerous offices and committee chairmanships in these and other professional organizations, including serving as president of the Midwest Association of Higher Education for Women. She received the bachelor’s degree and the Ed.D. from the University of Cincinnati and her master’s from Teachers College, Columbia University. She formerly taught at the University of Cincinnati and the University of Rhode Island.

In University affairs, she has been a member of some of the institution’s most important committees, as well as having four Council. Her committee work has included lectures and entertainment, curriculum organization of the schools and colleges, planning development and review, and ethics, as well as many committees of the College of Education.

Davies received the silver key medal from the National University and Women’s University. She received the Silver Key from the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois. She received the Distinguished Service Award from the Illinois Women’s Education Association.

Over the years, she has been active in the Illinois women’s education association as well as serving on the university’s board of visitors.

Davies plans to continue teaching part-time and continue her interest in recreation, travel, and other hobbies.

One is whether the segregated schools may use zoos, museums, parks and the like in common with public school students. The second is whether the city can permit the use of public facilities by segregated groups other than schools, such as an all-white softball league.

The court was unanimous in upholding a decision of a federal judge in Alabama that Montgomery officials had created “enclaves of segregation” by allocating recreational facilities to segregated schools.

The court split, however, on how far the decision should go.

Four of the nine justices held that the ban should apply in at least some cases to letting the white-only schools use the facilities even when others are free to do so at the same time.

One justice, Thurgood Marshall, said private organizations other than schools should also be banned from using the facilities.

The majority, however, directed the lower federal court to decide these questions.

By providing stadiums and recreation fields, Justice Harry A. Blackmun wrote for the court, the city "enhanced the attractiveness of segregated private schools, by enabling them to offer complete athletic programs."

But, Blackmun added, "it would be inappropriate to determine at this stage the propriety of further relief in all many and varied situations where facilities are used in common by school facilities or used exclusively or in common by private groups."

In other actions, the court:

—Refused to review the conviction of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner and his state director of revenue, Theodore J. Isaacs, bribery and related charges.

—Ruled 6 to 3 that states may exclude normal pregnancy from the list of conditions for which they pay disability benefits.

—Upheld unanimously the government’s policy of giving preference to Indians in hiring and promotion in the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

TV A head echoes Senator
Jackson raps coal industry

By Stan Benjamin
Associated Press writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The coal industry was criticized Monday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Andre J. Wagner, chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).

Jackson, addressing a convention of the National Coal Association, said the coal industry can afford to reclaim strip-mined land and is kidding itself if it thinks the energy crisis will lead to effective strip mining legislation.

Wagner said the conference coal prices have soared faster than other consumer prices and he questioned whether this increase is justified.

The conference opened two days after U.S. Labor Secretary Carl E. Bagge, charged that a strip mining bill approved by the House Interior Committee would cut out coal production almost in half.

He said its provisions are too rigid on the handling of earth moved during mining and that it requires returning disturbed land to its original contour, a process Bagge said is often impractical.

As the opening speaker, Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, said, "those who believe that existence of an urgent need for coal will somehow forestall effective regulation of strip mining are whistling in the dark."

Wagner spoke as head of a government agency, TVA, which is both a major power producer and a major coal purchaser.

He pointed out that TVA alone burned almost 30 million tons of coal last year.

Wagner sharply rejected the idea that coal should be priced at a level equivalent to competing fuels such as oil or gas, without regard to its lower production cost.

Strike causes new layoffs

By Regis P. Minnich
By The Associated Press

Auto Workers walked out last Tuesday in a dispute centering on working conditions.

Ford said the assembly plants were closed because the flow of parts from the strike-bound Chicago righting factory was cut off. The stamping plant makes car doors, hoods and other parts for autos and trucks assembled around the country.

A spokesman said Ford may have to shut down all domestic assembly operations if the strike continues, but declined to give a timetable.

"They (the stamping plant) make something for every plant," he said.

The spokesman said no talks have been scheduled with local union representatives.

Lynch named new chairman of radio, TV

Charles T. Lynch, a seven-year faculty member, has been named chairman of the department of radio and television at SIU.

He succeeds Charles W. Shilloy who requested a full-time teaching assignment.

Lynch joined the SIU faculty in 1967 as an assistant professor and manager of WSUI-FM, and assistant director of the SIU Broadcasting. He earned his Ph.D. from SIU in June 1972, and since that time as been an associate professor in radio and television.

Lynch is a native of Waterbury Conn. but considers Kalamazoo, and also Ypsilanti, Mich. his home town. He came to Kalamazoo where he had been lecturer for two years at Western Michigan University while studying for his doctorate. He also received his B.A. degree from Western Michigan.

He was program manager of WKZ-AM radio in Waterbury Conn from 1963 to 1967 and before that was program director of WVPQ, Kalamazoo, WRHP in Tallahassee, Fla., and WRYF in Waterbury. He has also worked at WATR in Little Rock, Ariz., and at WJMJ in Lansing, Mich.

Acrylic painting to be displayed on local billboard

In an effort to bring art "out of the museum and into the community," a painting by SIU School of Art graduate student William Boyer will be displayed on a billboard at the junction of Old Route 13 and Route 127.

The airbrush acrylic painting will be displayed starting Thursday and will remain on the billboard through June 30, as the introduction of the Third Street Gallery and Museum. The entire painting measures 10 feet by 20 feet, and consists of alternating, regular bands of red and green paralellograms.

Boyer is currently a resident of Evansville, Ill., and did his undergraduate work at the University of Indiana in Bloomington. His billboard painting was supported through a grant from the SIU Graduate School's Graduate Development Fund.

Terrorists bomb Parliament setting historic site ablaze

By Fred Coleman
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Irish terrorists exploded a bomb in the Houses of Parliament early Monday, setting fire to Britain's most historic building for the first time since Hitler's World War II blitz, officials said. Eleven people were injured.

Rioters temporarily placed red tape over the Big Ben clock tower.

The extremists succeeded where all earlier sabotage attempts had failed, including the above groundpowder plot by Guy Fawkes who tried to blow up Parliament in 1605.

Monday's bomb damaged the 900-year-old Westminster Hall, the only part of Parliament to survive fires down through the centuries.

Robert Mellish, Labor government official in the House of Commons, denounced the bombers as “bastards.” Other lawmakers demanded a return of the death penalty for terrorists.

Their outrage reflected the emotion long associated with Westminster Hall as a national shrine.

During the World War II bombing blitz, Sir Winston Churchill was informed that both Westminster Hall and the House of Commons were on fire.

He informed fire chiefs that if only one building could be saved, it should be Westminster Hall. The hall was saved but the Commons burned and was restored after the war.

The 80-yard-long great hall, famed for its hammer-beamed ceiling, was built in 1097 by King William Rufus, son of William the Conqueror. It was the scene of coronation feasts, state occasions, and great trials, including the trial that ordered the beheading of King Charles I. Churchill lay in state in the vast hall in 1965.

Police said only the early timing of the blast—at 8:30 a.m.—kept the casualties from reaching into the hundreds. Most lawmakers and their staffs had not yet arrived at Parliament when the bomb exploded.

The bomb, estimated by Scotland Yard at between 15 and 20 pounds, was planted in the northwest corner of Westminster Hall, police said, damaging a gas main that burst into flames.

Windows at the front of the hall were blown out. Firemen said 20 per cent of the hall's ground floor and basement had been destroyed.

Only six minutes advance warning of the blast was given by an anonymous caller with an Irish accent who telephoned the British Press Association. He used a secret code word that is part of a tacit agreement with police to distinguish hoaxers from Irish Republican Army terrorists.

Meat suppliers holding for price raise

By Louise Cook
Associated Press Writer

Livestock supplies at Midwestern markets were way below normal Monday as some cattle feeders and hog farmers held out for higher prices.

Bill Marshall, the supervisor of the Kansas City livestock market, said a check of 11 Midwest operations indicated the number of cattle was almost 50 per cent below the total last week.

"Farmers are holding their cattle and hogs off the market," he said.

Marshall said the markets estimated that they would handle 13,000 slaughter steers this Monday, compared to 26,200 last Monday.

Hog receipts also were down. Marshall said, with an estimated total of 29,700 hogs at the 11 markets, compared to 55,100 last week.

The withholding action—which did not have the support of all the cattlemen — came as food industry officials met in Washington, D.C., to try to do something about the problem.

Kenneth Bush, President Nixon's top economic advisor, said after the meeting that "the administration is exploring ways for benefiting the meat industry."

Rush and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said telegrams would be sent to retailers and wholesalers asking them to review their costs and retail prices with the aim of reducing them.

"The real problem is to move this beef we have," Butz said.

Among other actions being discussed were increased government meat purchases and a temporary ban on most imports. The government also is moving to enable farmers to export beef to Canada.

Wholesale prices have been declining in recent months and the cattlemen — particularly the feedlot operators who fatten the cattle for market — say they're selling their animals for less than they paid for them. At the same time, however, retail prices are above last year's levels, causing consumers to complain.

Suppermarts and middlemen say their costs have gone up too and contend that they need higher prices to maintain profits.

The market institute director at the South St. Paul, Minn., livestock market, Steve Leedling, said the cattlemen were playing a waiting game. "Indications are that help is coming from Washington in the form of loans for these cattle feeders."

Park Ridge slayings camouflaged by fire?

By Joseph H. Tyler Associated Press Writer

PARK RIDGE—Five bodies included those of a mother and her four children were found Tuesday after a house fire and officials said the blast was deliberately caused.

Deputy Coroner Anthony Sciarra called the body of a young man was found on the kitchen floor and four other bodies—a man, a boy, a woman, and a girl—were found in the basement wrapped in some kind of bedding. The said he of the victims were identified as Ruth and Lynda Fuchs. Sciarra said the women’s hands were bound to a washtub in the basement and the girl’s body lay nearby. He said the girl appeared to have head wounds but he did not elaborate or speculate on what might have caused the wounds. He said he could not determine the cause of the deaths.

He was asked if he was convinced the woman and her daughter died as a result of the fire and he said “no” The other three bodies found in the basement were that of a man and a woman. Sciarra did not say when the three bodies might be identified.

Neighbors said they had not seen any of the Fuchs family over the weekend, police said.

Fire Chief Norman A. Brown said a bloody knife was found near the bodies in the basement.

Brown said there were gas and oil cans in the basement and the fire appeared to have been set.

Lt. Henry Olsen, acting police chief, said a woman identified only as Mrs. Ruller, granddaughter of the Fuchs’ children, telephoned the home Sunday night and received no answer.

Olsen said Mrs. Ruller was summoned Monday by neighbors who saw smoke come from the house. She walked to the Fuchs’ house from her home about five blocks away and discovered smoke after she opened the door.

Selection of ombudsman expected later this week

A list of the top three candidates for SIU ombudsman was presented to Dean of Students Bruce Swinehart Monday.

The three were selected from a field of 43 applicants by the U-Drive Ombudsman Panel.

The panel expects Swinehart to select one of the top three choices by Friday. A list of candidates will be submitted to the panel on the first day of the term, Barton said. Barton would not name the three.

The new ombudsman probably will assume duties July 1, Barton added. Graduate assistants Art Cernosia and Bob Tate have been operating the office since the resignation of former ombudsman Arndt Hardrich in April.

Cernosia will work with any of the Fuchs family over the weekend, police said.

She immediately called firemen, Olsen said.

Jeff, the eldest son, was scheduled to graduate from high school over the weekend, Olsen said, but neighbors told police he was not at home.

Neighbors said they saw dark smoke Sunday night coming from the chimney of the Fuchs home, a raised, brick ranch house with an attached two-car garage, located on a tree-lined street in Park Ridge, a northern Chicago suburb of Chicago.

The exterior of the house did not appear heavily damaged by the fire.

Olsen said neighbors reported that the Fuchs had limited contacts with neighbors and “kept to themselves.”

Funds provided in continuing ed

The Veterans Administration Hospital in Marion will be the location this fall for a new continuing education program for practicing physicians as part of a seven-year, $100,000 grant to the SIU Medical School and Bend Lake College.

Rep. Kenneth Brook, D-ills., announced the executive committee of the Veterans Affairs Administration and is earmarked generally for educational purposes and primarily assistants and nursing practitioners.

Charles Richardson, associate dean at SIU Medical School, Carbondale, said the money will be used to “rehabilitate the educational system for undergraduate medical students” and to improve ways of keeping practicing physicians up-to-date in their profession. SIU medical students do undergraduate work at the Carbondale campus before moving to Springfield for advanced clinical studies.

The first one-year payment from the grant (July 1) will send $39,465 to SIU and $23,920 to Bend Lake.

The two-year college at this will be sharing in the grant with other members of the Southern Illinois Colleges Common Market, which includes SIU, John A. Logan College, Shawnee Illinois College at Harrisburg, as well as Bend Lake, public educational agencies.

Part of the money will be used to fund a grant cost sharing time VA Hospital physicians so they can work with SIU medical students and the continuing education program.

Part of the hospital will be remodeled as a center where clinicians in the southern III counties of the state can get in-service workshops, correspondence and distance learning television.

Doctors may even stay at the hospital for short-term “on-the-job” courses, Richardson said.

The hospital also hopes to use a clinical setting for practical, off-campus study by SIU medical students.

Metal will be shown at Mitchell

Two SIU graduate students in metalsmelting will hold an open reception for their exhibition at the Art Thesis show from 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday at the Mitchell Building in the Home Economics Building.

Harlan Butt and Vance DeMarinis will exhibit jewelry and other metalwork that will be displayed through June 3. The Mitchell Galleries are open Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and admission is free.

Dr. Martin Leenke has been a teaching assistant at SIU and has received awards at the Sterling Silver Design Competition in Riversdale, Conn., and the Beaux Arts Arts Competition in Cracow, Poland, and the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York City.

Miami players from playing with them during summer baseball in Virginia.

SIU increased their lead to 3-0 in the fourth. Locastro walked in the 11th inning and when firstbaseman Orlando Gonzalez bobbled Williams' bunt, SIU had runners on first and second with no outs. Mann then sacrificed the runners to second and third.

Ken Wolf, who moved into the starting lineup in place of Crockett, placed a two-run single through the left side of the Miami infield into left field that sent Locastro and White flying across the plate.

Derry continued to keep the feet Hurricane baserunners off the bases and survived a tough fourth inning on Mann's sensational backhand stop at short that caught Manny Trujillo overrunning third to end a Miami threat.

But Gonzalez fanned the SIU lead in the seventh when he hammered a high Derry slider 370 feet over the right field fence to tie the game at 2-2. Jones then sent in righthander Jim Bokelmann to relieve Derry, and after a walk, he ended the inning on a groundout back to the mound.

Bokelmann recaptured the lead in the eighth with the aid of a Miami error. Herbst lined a single to left and was replaced at first pinch runner Crockett. Mitchell's grounder down the thirdbase line sent Crockett to second.

Newman, who had an outstanding series as SIU's designated hitter, led off the game by ripping a double over the thirdbase bag. Hoseich followed with a single to center that put Newman on third. Newman was thrown out at the plate on Sharrar's grounder at the thirdbaseman, but Hoseich scored from second on Locastro's 1-for-2 hit.

Dunning took the mound for SIU having started in a 10-2 victory over Minnesota in the District IV playoffs. But this was not to be Dunning's night. He left the game in the first without retiring a batter. Walking two and giving up two wild hits.

Hodges came in relief, but after Locastro's throwing error to the plate and a sacrifice fly by Wolf in right, USC had jumped on the Salukis for five first-inning runs.

The Salukis picked up another run in the fourth when Wilbins scored from third on a wild pitch, but the Trojans came back with a two-run fourth of their own.

Although the Salukis hit the ball as well as this game as they did in any other of the tournament, they could not hit the ball with men on base or with men in scoring position. SIU out-hit the Trojans nine to six.

"I didn't feel that Dunning would have as many problems," a dejected but nonetheless third-in-the-nation Jones said in a solemn SIU dugout. "They got their hits when there was men on base and that something we didn't do all tournament.

"We've got to be pleased to get this far," Jones said looking to the lighter side. "It just seems that USC is tougher than heck to beat out here. It's been a great year. We barely got out of our area and our Districts and we did well when we went to C. M. Meinert pitching.

The SIU team apparently did not dissapoint any of the many Salukis fans who made the trip to Omaha, as a lengthy ovation greeted the team bus at the team hotel.

New U.S. Open champ vows to take time off

By Bob Green
Associated Press Golf Writer

"MARMONECK, N.Y. (AP) - My career can only be enhanced by playing, by playing a lot of tournaments," Hale Irwin said. "I can't do any more good not playing."

"But I am going to take some time off in July," the new U.S. Open Golf champion said. "I am going to go spend some time with my family and with my father and mother, with the people who are important to me. I've never done that before since I've been on the tour and I feel I need it now that I'm on the mound.

And the time off will give him a chance to do some thinking about what time remains of his future may be now that he has captured golf's biggest prize. I will have to make a re-evaluation of my goals," the articulate young man said in the wake of his two-stroke triumph Sunday, a victory that elevated him from the ranks of the faceless tourists who roam the nation's fairways in the top echelion of the game's stars.

"Now that I have achieved a goal - I think it's the goal of all of us on the tour to win the U.S. Open - I have to reconsider my goals."

"I want to go on to something bigger. Two major championships. Still, I need a goal. There's Dick Nicklaus. He's won 14 major championships. How's that for a goal for you? I certainly don't expect to make that, but the goal is there.

But his immediate plans do not necessarily include the British Open July 10-13, the next of the season's four major championships.

"I really don't know whether I'll play or not. He said, "I'll have to talk with my wife about it. She's expecting our second child late this month.

"I'm going home for a couple of days, then I'll play in Akron and the Western at Chicago, but that's not sure to be."

The SIU team apparently did not dissapoint any of the many Salukis fans who made the trip to Omaha, as a lengthy ovation greeted the team bus at the team hotel.

Then I'm gonna go my dad and we're going to Colorado to go fishing."

Irwin, 29, has been a tour regular for seven years. His career has shown steady improvement, with increasing money-winning every year. He won $100,000-plus each of the last two seasons. But he's taken only two titles and, until his victory Sunday, wasn't among the more familiar figures of the game.

Cubs stumble in 13 innings at San Diego

CHICAGO (AP) - Dave Winfield, who had homered in the sixth inning, drove in the game's winning run with a single in the 13th inning Monday to give the San Diego Padres a 7-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday.

John Grabbe opened the inning with a walk on reliever Steve Stone. Winfield, third on first after Derry, and after a walk, he scored on a sacrifice fly by Gonzalez to right.

Winfield started the game 5-4 in the ninth on a run-scoring single by pinch-hitter Bob Gaspar.

Two-run singles by Dave Rosello and pitcher Ken Frailing after an error by shortstop Ric Morales in the third inning had given the Cubs four unearned runs and a 5-4 lead.

The Cubs scored the game's first run on Jose Cardenal's RBI single.

Winfield hit his 11th homer of the season and the Padres added three runs in the seventh.
SIU takes third in World Series

By Mark Tupper
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

"We're going to win this thing one of these days," Saluki Coach Richard "Toby" Jones warned after SIU's first game in the 1974 College World Series in Omaha, Neb. "It may not be this year, but someday we're going to win it all." SIU finished third in the College World Series behind Miami and perennial champion Southern Cal, but five teams left Omaha long before the Salukis. Winning three of five games, the Salukis took home the tournament's third place trophy and ended memories of the 1961 final at the college baseball season.

Eight team's in the country entered the prestigious event, having survived a season of good play and good luck and having captured one of eight District championships held the two weeks prior to the tournament. SIU entered the tournament as the nation's fourth ranked team with a 47-10 record and was scheduled to open play at 8 a.m. Saturday, June 8 in Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium.

SIU, Seton Hall 1

Blowing rain canceled the Salukis' Saturday night meeting with Seton Hall and also rescheduled date for Sunday night, causing the tournament's rules committee to set a third game time for 10 a.m. Monday.

Before the team ever departed for Omaha, probable starter against Seton Hall Ron Hodges said he would have no problems if warm weather was present at game time to keep his arm from getting tight. Clear, sunny, 70 degree weather greeted Hodges as he took the mound against the 30-6-1 District II champs.

Hodges, who hadn't lost a game since the team's spring trip to Florida came on strong, throwing strikes and showing control over the Seton Hall batters. The Salukis got on the board first with a single run in the third inning. With one out, designated hitter Bert Newman laid down a bunt single and a wild throw by third baseman Joe Gallo put Newman on second. District IV MVP Steve Startzner followed with a line single to right to score Newman and give SIU a 1-0 lead.

Another single run in the seventh started when rightfielder Claude Hodges started the inning with a single to right. Crockett stole second and went to third on Marty Caferry's wild pitch. Howie Mitchell then hoisted a deep sacrifice fly to left field that easily scored Crockett.

Hodges continued his mastery over the Salukis hitters, giving up only three singles through the first eight innings and not throwing three balls to a batter until the eighth.

SIU erupted for three more runs in the bottom of the eighth on consecutive singles by Shartzer, Jim Locascio, Mike Dauer and Stan Mann. Crockett's run scoring ground out and Mitchell's two-out base hit, Shartzer, Wilkins and Mann all scored in the inning to give the Salukis a 5-0 lead going into the ninth.

Bert Newman led off the ninth for Seton Hall with a single to right and second baseman John Alford followed with a liner to second. Crockett stole second and, on a strong throw to first, Morris successfully nailed Hodges at the plate.

"I think the home crowd is the only reason that I get Ngọc leaves off the mound," said Hodges modestly after the game. "We're going to lose every game we play. I believe in these kids. I think we will get to see the championship again someday." SIU brought in reliever Bill Dunnilll! as the tying and go-ahead runners were on base. But catcher Ed Putman took a Hul"i rd and' Vocal Trojan dugout心理, and the Salukis came back again with Texas' brilliant hitting Bert Newman.

When the Salukis took the mound, Waltemate faced a two-out jam and held the Trojans, with runners on the corners, to a fly out to end the frame.

By this time, the 5-2 win was secure enough for Waltemate to walk Alford to the plate, but Waltemate only needed one throw to get Wilkins out. Waltemate settled back into his gameplan for short right field that scored two to give SIIU a 5-0 lead in the seventh.

Rob Klass began the game for the Salukis, but had unequal control problems. Hodges, who had his bullpen hopping early, began and two walks loaded the bases and when Klass forced in a run by walking catcher Bob DeMoor, Jones went to freshman starting pitcher Steve Shartzer.

Shartzer yielded a run to Southern Cal's first batter, but then it was all Shartzer all the way. He finished the game on two days' rest to not only win the game, but also give SIU a chance to continue their remarkable week in the College World Series.

The Salukis got on the board first with singles by John Hoscheid, Locascio and two by Steve Shartzer before the runners were forced to score by a wild pitch by starting pitcher Steve Shartzer. The Salukis scored their first run of the game to Oklahoma and then beat the Oklahoma Sooners 4-3.

Stolen bases by John Hoscheid, Locascio and two by Steve Shartzer helped the Salukis to a 4-3 lead. A stolen base for Shartzer in the first inning tied the game, and team and record for three stolen bases in a single game.

Another SIU run came in the sixth when Hoscheid scored from first on Shartzer's triple past the first baseman in rightfield foul territory. Robinson, with third out of a doubleplay, put down the last 13 batters in succession, including a powerful ninth inning that caught two Northern Colorado batters looking at strike outs on the pitch.

"Give the credit to Dewey Robinson," Jones praised in the Saluki dugout after the game. "He's starting to be in command of his own. The pitcher to get his momentum and return to the mound to pitch."

When the argument was finally completed, Mitchell executed the squeeze bunt. Jim Locascio, pinch runner from third for SIU's third run of the inning. Jones didn't want to risk another overthrow as Wilkins had already been thrown out on the play. But catcher Ed Putman took the throw and only stepped on the plate and didn't tag Wilkins, thinking there was an automatic force out at the plate.

Home plate umpire Al Offord signaled Wilkins out, but upon realizing that there was no force reversed his decision and allowed the second SIU run of the inning to stand. However, Deedex of the Trojan dugout thought that Offord could not change his decision and a lengthy discussion with both coaches, all umpires and the rules committee followed near home plate.

In the meantime, Saluki starter Waltemate waited to continue his momentum and return to the mound to pitch.

In the bottom of the eighth inning, Saluki first baseman Steve Shartzer led off with a line single through the left side of the infield. But catcher Ed Putman took a hard throw by catcher John Hoscheid.

"I didn't think he was going to go and make it," Hodges said modestly after the game. "I think the home crowd is the only reason that I get Ngọc leaves off the mound," said Hodges modestly after the game. "We're going to lose every game we play. I believe in these kids. I think we will get to see the championship again someday.
