Drug-testing policy burns administrator
By John Baldwin

University officials say they will not cooperate with a Department of Corrections policy that would require drug tests of faculty members who teach courses at Southern Illinois prisons.

Because there is no drug-testing policy in the University's contract with the Department of Corrections, faculty members should not be tested, said Benjamin Shepherd, acting vice president for academic affairs.

"My position is firm that we will not subject our employees to drug testing," he said.

Faculty members are University employees and not employees of the Department of Corrections, Shepherd added.

Bush takes South; 3 Democrats close
By United Press International

Vice President George Bush marched through the South with a string of Super Tuesday victories, and Democrat Michael Dukakis scored a delegate-rich Florida with rivals Jesse Jackson and Albert Gore Jr. scrapping for Dixie delegates.

Among Republicans at 8:40 p.m., Bush was winning 34 states and the District of Columbia.

Dukakis was winning 9 states, Florida and the District of Columbia.

Dole was winning a total of 235 delegates for a total of 322.

Dukakis was winning 256 for a total of 324 and Rep. Richard Gephardt of Missouri was winning 39 for a total of 143. 2,682 delegates are needed for nomination.

Among Democrats, Gore was winning 209 delegates for a total of 209, Jackson was winning 209 for a total of 322. Dukakis was winning 256 for a total of 324.

"It is a very close race," said Benjamin Bode, director of the Department of Corrections.

"We are working very closely with the Federal government to ensure that we are meeting the terms of the agreement," he added.

It was the first time that the federal government had released funding to the Illinois prisons.

"We are pleased that the federal government has finally released the funding," said Benjamin Bode. "This will allow us to continue our efforts to improve the conditions in the prisons.

Candidates opt for low drinking fines
By Dana DeBeaumont

Democratic candidates for Jackson County state's attorney said they would like to see fines for first offense underage drinkers.

Carbondale contender W. Charles Grace said he would prosecute first offense underage drinkers but not in the pocketbooks. Grace Stron, of Murphy'sbor, said fines of $50 to $75 are sufficient.

One of the two will be selected out of the race Tuesday when Democrats choose a candidate to run against Republican William Mauricio.

Grace said he understands what has been happening with students in Jackson County.

"As a public defender, he said, 26 percent of the people he represented were underage, adding, most underage drinking violations are handled in Carbondale courts.

"If you fine, it won't come from the students," Grace said. "It will come from mom and dad and no one is going to learn anything."

Fines for first offense underage drinkers shouldn't exceed $100 if the offender doesn't resist arrest, fight or aggravate situations surrounding the violation, Grace said.

Strong said underage drinking laws must be enforced, but fines of $50 to $75 are enough to take a substantial dent out of students' spending money and to teach violators a lesson.

Big ditch funding uncertain
Money depends on city
By Phyllis Coon

The director of the railroad relocation project said he doesn't know if the Federal Highway Administration will release the rest of nearly $4 million in funds for the Carbondale project.

The $14 million released by the highway administration will be used for either the construction of temporary tracks or the building of railroad office spaces.

"If everything, including funding, goes according to schedule, we could begin construction of the actual ditch in 18 months," Jeff Doberty, director of the project, said. The five- to six-year project is estimated to cost $26 million. Of the total, 12 percent of the city's Carbondale will pay 2.25 percent.

The federal government is funding 66 percent of the cost of the project, but the highway administration refused to release two years of funding until the city secured its own funds for the project. Rep. Kenneth Gray, D-West Franklin, announced the release of the funding for the project Monday.

"The release leaves $3.5 million still frozen from the past two years. But Doberty said, "See DITCH, Page 5"

Panamanian ambassador faces ouster from London

LONDON (UPI) — The Foreign Office asked Panama's ambassador Tuesday to waive his diplomatic immunity to face possible prosecution for hiring seven private security men who stormed the Panamanian consulate and Ambassador Carmen Cabello, new chief of mission, was recalled last week to back up his country's ousted president. British government sources said authorities were determining whether to withdraw Ambassador Guillermo Vega was involved in illegal activity.

Aquino sets date to discuss fate of U.S. bases

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — A soldier admitted four years ago he was the triggerman in the assassination of President Corazon Aquino's husband but the confession was suppressed, a former military investigator testified Tuesday. President Aquino's government Tuesday set a March 23 date for negotiations in Manila on the future of U.S. installations in the country.

Spanish weapons cache tied to IRA partisans

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Police found 141 pounds of cocaine made explosives in southern Spain Tuesday and linked it to three Irish Republican Army guerrillas who were killed by British commandos in Gibraltar, authorities said. Police had been hunting for the explosives since Sunday, when British commandos shot dead three unarmed IRA guerrillas allegedly on a terrorist mission in Gibraltar.

Argentina oversees Falklands maneuvers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentina is carefully monitoring the start of British naval maneuvers in the Falkland Islands, an Argentine official said Tuesday. Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Adolfo Gass said Foreign Minister Daniel Capito will brief the Senate today on the maneuvers, which began Tuesday. A defense ministry spokesman said Argentine warships and airplanes were patrolling the 200-mile maritime economic zone as usual.

Coast Guard seeks money for war on drugs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The commandant of the Coast Guard said Tuesday he needs more money for drug enforcement and did not direct involvement by the Army, Air Force and Navy — to combat drug smugglers. Testifying before a House subcommittee, Adm. James M. Stockdale said the drug war was not a federal war, but a war between land, air and sea.

FBI initiates commuter airline investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following a series of deadly commuter plane crashes, the government said Tuesday it is investigating the fast-growing commuter airline industry and its compliance with federal safety standards. Allan McNair, who administers the Federal Aviation Administration, said the special investigation was prompted by a sudden worsening of the commuter airline industry safety record.

Dukakis' son to hit Simon's turf; hopes to drum up votes for dad

By Dana DeBeaumont

Presidential candidate Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis is sending his son to campaign in Southern Illinois. Said John Dukakis will hold a press conference tentatively scheduled for noon Thursday at Dukakis' Carbondale headquarters at 611 S. Illinois Ave.

Dukakis' son will campaign in Carbondale instead of his father, said Mansky, because Simon's homebase is one of the toughest areas Dukakis faces in the Illinois primary race.

Dukakis will spend most of his homebase is one of the toughest areas Dukakis faces in the Illinois primary race.

Tuesday could help Dukakis win Illinois.

"If he has enough momentum, there could be a good vote in Chicago (for Dukakis)," said Davis. "People in the state may think it's worth going to the polls to vote for Dukakis if they see him as a candidate who could win the nomination."

The plan is part of a campaign by the program, called Self Over Substance, to educate and support students who wish to lead drug-free lifestyles, Baker said.

Baker said SOS, which was established in October by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education, will begin training volunteer counselors at the end of March. Volunteer counselors will supervise anti-drug peer groups.

"We want to support people who decide to be drug and alcohol free," Baker said. "The volunteers will provide information about alcohol and drugs."

Volunteer counselors will undergo a four and one half hour training program. Baker said SOS will emphasize education and establish a resource library that will distribute information and learning materials to community groups.

"We do not want to be judgmental," Baker said. "We want students to be thoughtful."

"It's not a matter of 'don't do this, it's bad for you,'" Baker said. "Our objective is to present information out as we can and let people decide for themselves."

The program's media campaign includes "Dr. Buzz" features in the student newspaper and advertisements in Wednesday editions of the Daily Egyptian.

Guyon plucks tax hike

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer

Students concerned about the need for a state tax increase for higher education should encourage their parents to contact state legislators back home, President John C. Guyon said at the faculty senate meeting Tuesday.

A resolution supporting a tax increase was passed Tuesday by the faculty senate. The action symbolism campuswide concern for the lack of higher education funding.

The faculty senate voted on the record during its February meeting with a show of its support for a tax increase. The resolution formalizes the senate's general opinion.

While the resolution does not specify the amount the increase should be, local law makers have said they support a 6.5 percent increase, which would raise $500 million.

Members of the faculty senate and other campus governmental bodies have been encouraged to write their to local legislators to push for a tax increase, while Gov. James R. Thompson has encouraged students to visit local legislators in their district offices and voice support for the tax increase.

The senate's status and welfare committee also presented its review of the SIU-C master statement draft, finding the document "poorly written, poorly proofed and poorly done."

The committee's review found the drafted statement generally ambiguous, containing too much jargon and having no emphasis on the University's future objectives.
Have a “safe” trip this spring break

SOME THINGS TO watch out for on your spring break trips:
- Drunk driving, sexually transmitted diseases, sunburn, drowning, falling off balconies, overdosing, alcohol poisoning, heat stroke from dehydration by alcohol and heat, and injuries from grease drizzled on the brains of people not wearing a hat.
- O-D-ing, rednecks, hurricanes, alligators, Elvis impersonators, fat drag queens, tight-junta-grown gangrene of the feet and lower legs, broken glass in the sand, exhaustion, bad hangovers, drunken-shaper-induced tattoos, girls named Buffy and guys called Trent.
- Greek geeks in Bermuda shorts, fascists, Jehovahs witnesses knocking on the door of your condo at 7 in the morning, free giveaways, peroxide-damage to your hair, driving mopeds without a helmet (okay, so you look like a goon, at least you’re alive), giving your address to someone you never want to see again, fat girls in miniskirts and flabby guys in muscle T-shirts, Elvis porte-potties (they won’t let you carry them home on the plane), imbeciles on skateboards.

HOTELS THAT CHARGE by the hour: “special” tour trips to Nicaragua, assholes with Illinoi T-shirts on, total idiots with Spuds McKenzie sweatshirts, Spuds himself, Mounties in that brand, 30-year-old men in polyester suits who claim to be Hollywood movie producers, gay bikers on acid, dry counties with Republican sheriffs, guys in sunglasses who think they’re on the beach and Luke Duke, greasy guys trying to put Spanish Fly in your can of ice cold Schaefer Light.

Miami Beach’s refrain from red hot chilli or cold pork and heads, headbangers with Judas Priest armbands on, gas station bathrooms (watch out for two-way mirrors), one-sized hotel on the beach, shockers tricking you not to drink with pineapple tokens, people who actually study while lying on the beach, named Muhammad with mustaches that tick, Australians (sure, they’ve got great accents, but they’re not quite as innocent as they sound), girls who offer to pierce your ear at 4 in the morning, fastfarians selling “authentic” Rolex watches on the beach.

EVERCLEAR PUNCH, TRANSESTITES in wet T-shirt contests, playing beach volleyball for money against Porsche beach.

NOWAYS, the number of people learning Japanese as a foreign language is increasing rapidly. The learner’s population is estimated at 600,000 and is steadily on the rise. This is related to the United States ranks second among Japanese-learning countries (37,441 in 1963).

Japanese is often called one of the most difficult languages in the world, but this is prejudice. I deliberately sysnpathize with Americans who have gotten over the prejudice and have begun mastery of Japanese in earnest.

However, I must point out that students of Japanese at SIU-C are not in a favorable study environment. For example, in language learning, students must master some grammar and vocabulary, it is absolutely indispensable to read books and newspapers written in the Japanese language. In this sense, I must say that SIU-C is short of materials.

The SIU-C Library subscribes to newspapers from all over the world. This makes it possible for one to know international happenings in various languages, such as French, Chinese, Russian, Korean, etc. Despite the many Japanese students attending SIU-C, Japanese newspapers are left out. On what earth does this mean? Are they imitating the Japanese language is less important than the Korean language, if so, this is obviously discrimination.

I tried to find how many Japanese books they have in the library. The result was far less satisfactory - less than 16. Furthermore, these books were written in old-fashioned language. Their study hardly contribute to the learning of living Japanese.

I do not say these things only because I’m Japanese. No one can dispute the fact that Japanese economic power and advanced technology has increasingly made it a significant nation in the international community. Japanese is sure to become an important international language in years to come.

Besides, Japanese is becoming increasingly interwoven with SIU-C, as evidenced by the SIU-C branch opening up in Japan this year. They should not ignore these objective facts. If one wants to know Japan, learning Japanese is the first step. Does the school have a right to deprive promising American students of opportunities to learn Japanese? - Takehisa, graduate, linguistics

Blacks deserve special treatment

After reading the article, “Blacks ask for too much special treatment,” we feel it is our duty to respond to Kuri Sicilia.

First of all, Mr. Sicilia, no one cares if you are tired of reading articles on black issues. As we follow through the Daily Egyptian, we notice a steady decline in coverage of blacks, overlaying our stomachs while lying on the beach, sharks, fried brains from not wearing a hat, guys named Muhammad while lying on the beach, girls named Buffy and guys called Trent.

You are not black, never have been black and never will be black. Therefore, you will never experience what Blacks go through in life. Do not despair - you can always enroll in a Black American Studies class next semester, if it is still around. While involving yourself in the ABS program, you may broaden your own horizons, enhance your own understanding of your race as well as ours and, most importantly, learn the truth.

Just in case you have not noticed, Japanese is not treated as equal. If we were, the ABS program would not be in the process of being eliminated and we would not need a United Negro College Fund.

Why not write a letter to members of your own race in the United States government, like Mr. Ronald Reagan, and let them know you want to be treated as equals. Maybe you will need to wake up and shut up! The world does not revolve around your feelings, and writing an article like you did only displays your ignorance or stupidity, if you knew better.

A LETTER TO THE ELDERS
No suspects in U. of I. murder

CHICAGO (UPI) — Maria Caleel, the 21-year-old veterinary medicine student found slain at her off-campus apartment at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign Urbana over the weekend, came from a prominent suburban Chicago family, though friends said one would have been "shocked" had they known.

Neighbors in Urbana are still without a motive, murder weapon or suspects in the early Saturday morning stabbing death. A $1,000 reward has been offered by the University of Illinois Crime Stoppers for any information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

The Caleels, whose world travels have frequently been reported in the news and who have explored the Amazon, tracked gorillas in Africa and taken a winter vacation 100 miles below the Arctic Circle. They also are known for their exotic art pieces, collected from throughout the world. The couple had been scheduled to fly to Argentina next week so Dr. Caleel could play polo there.

Caleel was a straight-A student at the veterinary medicine school. She also was a straight-A student at Lyons Township High School and an honors graduate at 18 from Brown University. She wanted to become an equine surgeon.

A fellow student, Joseph Bodewen, described Caleel as "an amazing person. She was always happy. You would never know she was rich. She always wore jeans and the newest shoes. She walked with a sense of purpose and a grace that never failed to impress." Caleel was found bleeding from a stab wound to her abdomen early Sunday morning after she crawled from her third-floor apartment and cried for help.

USO to vote on fee increase

Medical benefit fee hike proposed

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

The Undergraduate Student Organization will vote tonight on whether to approve an increase in the student medical benefit fee from $6 to $7.50 at its 7 p.m. meeting in Student Center Ballroom E.

The fee covers insurance for off-campus emergencies. Blue Cross, the underwriter, is raising its premiums by 20 percent.

The fee would be raised $1 beginning this summer and $9 for next year. This would raise summer fees from $14 to $23.50 and spring fees from $50 to $99.50.

At the last USO meeting, senators decided to postpone a vote to get students' opinions on the fee increase.

In other business, senators will vote on a $5-per-semester fee to fund a student and citywide mass transit system.

Martial arts groups get sports club status

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer

Following the recommendation of its executive committee, the Sports Club Council voted Tuesday to grant sports club status to the University Martial Arts Club and the University Aikido Club.

Kathy Rankin, fiscal sponsor for sports clubs, said she felt the vote wasn't representative of the council's opinion since all of its members were not present. There are 24 sports club representatives, but only 11 were present.

"It seems that the students are apathetic about the martial arts club matter, she said.

The clubs had been denied sports club status because they did not have a national affiliate. Student sporting organizations receive credit as a sports club to use the Recreation Center and have access to student funds.

Both clubs now have a national affiliation. However, the Aikido Club's status was granted under the stipulation that they provide properly signed documentation of the affiliation.

Documents proving the Aikido Club's affiliation were presented on March 1 to the council. However, they were rejected because they lacked the signatures of national representative of the Aikido Schools of Unsho.

If documentation isn't presented by April 1, the Aikido Club will return to probationary status.

Aikido Club president Ken Antonoff said the stipulation was "a little screwy." He said the club documentation had been signed by the national office, lacking only a title designation. He said the Recreation Center administration was harassing his club.

UMAC's status also was granted under a stipulation. The club must advertise that it certifies its students under a special academic program off campus. The ammendment would set aside a certain amount of money for the program each year. The program is currently funded by funds left over at the end of each year.

Simon lobbies for Illinois votes

He repeated, trying to convinces that in a live television interview states Tuesday.

"I think Mike Dukakis will win voting, Jesse Jackson will win a few votes, Al Gore will win the vote, and Dick Gephardt will win the delegate vote," Simon told WGN-TV.

Alluding to the unfavorable difficulties that have plagued his campaign, Simon added, "I'm a dollar per delegate, I ought to be able to claim victory."

Simon said he expected to do well in Illinois next Tuesday and be "very much part of the action" in Illinois.

During a lunch hour visit to the State of Illinois Center, Simon visited a women's history fair set up in the lobby, then flew to Madison, Wis., where he told a joint session of the legislature that the greatest problem facing the next president would be to find ways to move away from the nuclear arms race.

There is no great reality that the next president faces, Simon said, packed Senate Assembly Chambers. "We should always seize and create opportunities to move away from the arms race."

Simon said Wisconsin voters have a very important role in this election. Democratic name will appear on the final presidential ballot in November.

"Three of us are going to go all the way to the convention," said Gore, who staked all on a strong showing in his native turf and was in a desperate struggle with Dole for the favor of white Southern moderate and conservative voters.

In Texas - the biggest delegate prize of all - Dole regained his status as the Democratic Gore and Jackson were locked in a battle for second place with Gephardt trailing.

When she won Virginia, the one-time Cradle of the Confederacy, Jackson was adding to his solid base of black supporters with an estimated 18 percent of the vote in the Deep South. He was second to Dukakis in Florida.

Dole conceded defeat in a speech to supporters in Chicago and said his wounded candidacy is "on the road to recovery" with the next battleground in Illinois ahead.

The Senate Republican leader said he had sent a congratulatory telegram to Bush and said he's had an "excellent good day." He'll probably sleep better tonight than he would have to take turns."

An exhibit at Associated Artists Gallery proves metal and wood can serve a purpose in the clothing industry. Many University students and area artists have competed for awards and now have their winning "wearable art" on display at the gallery, 213 S. Illinois, until March 28.

The competition was open to artists within a 200-mile radius of Carbondale. About 50 artists competed for more than $1,500 in rewards given by area businesses, Sally Hill, gallery member who helped organize the wearable exhibit, said.

Among the 50 pieces of art selected for display are: A bronze "Red" suit by University student Elizabeth Akamatsu, which received the Vogler Ford, Lincoln-Mercury Purchase Prize of $400; hats by Cynthia Small of Carbondale, one of which received $50 from First Bank and Trust of Murphysboro, and a set of gold pins by Brent Kington, director of art.

These "sculpture" displays are unlike any other the gallery has ever had, because they can be worn - with the exception of a tar suitcoat.

"When you think about what people wear out on the street, they aren't too far out," Hill said.

Artists submitted slides of their art piece, which were judged in December. Kathleen Browne of Charleston made the final judgements after viewing the actual pieces, Hill said.

About half the exhibits are made of fibers. The other half feature different metals, including bronze, aluminum and silver.

Items range from the conservative and traditional to the very unusual. "It (the exhibit) is a means for raising interest and excitement, because it's something different," Hill said.

All the items are unique, and many of them could easily and fashionably be worn. Such items include two woven jackets by Barbara Simon, two rain jackets by Marjorie Hoeltzel, and a quilted Tibetan robe by Lorelle LaBarge.

The jackets are pretty and practical. Raincoats are colorful with pieces of dyed silk. One coat has various gems sewn between layers of vinyl and plastic.

But not all the items are practical. Robert Martin, master's candidate in fibers, created a tar layered suitcoat. Although original, the coat didn't appear to be mobile or flexible in any way.

Jewelry covered the fashion scene with pins, PINS, necklaces and bracelets. Some of the jewelry stayed within the traditional metal casts of houses, while others took on a space-age look. Each had its own outstanding, clever characteristic, but many seemed either too bulky or fragile to actually be worn.

"Most of the items people would wear out in public," Hill said.

An exhibit standout is a drape made of prints of painted leaves on a large piece of silk by Joan Lintault, associate professor of art. Spacing gives the impression of individually gathered leaves. The drape hangs in the front display window, and is quite a feature to draw spectators.

One of the most unusual entries is a dress entitled "The Worms Ran Away" by Michele Wise, a student at Murray State University in Kentucky. The dress is blue with green and silver highlights and a large, stuffed, worm-like piece that circles the body.

New York Theatre Ballet to present recital

The New York Theatre Ballet will present a recital Wednesday, March 2, at 8 p.m. at Shryock Auditorium.

The New York Theatre Ballet performs. 7th and 8th century works that depend on emotion, style and precision. Famous for "Le Spectre de la Rose" and "La Caravane," "Firebird" and "Nutcracker." The troupe also will perform recent works such as "Dancing Woman." "The Eccentric Beauty" and "The Saskatchewan Exhale." Artist-director Diana Byer creates costumes and stage designs that adhere as nearly possible to their original.

When J.M. Barrie asked in 1929 that all royalties from his classic fairy tale be awarded to London's Great Ormond Street Hospital for children, he hardly realized British law eventually would overturn his request.

But did, Barrie died in 1937 and, under law, the copyright expired 50 years after his death—at the end of 1987.

For one and one-half months, the hospital that treats desperately ill children has been without the large cash funds provided by the books and productions of the story of the boy who refuses to grow up.

Former Prime Minister James Callaghan on Thursday won some amendment to the Copyright, Designs and Patents bill in the House of Lords that would allow the royalties from "Peter Pan" to go to the hospital forever.

"It has very considerable support on all sides of the House," Lord Callaghan said. He said he expects it to be enacted into law in two to three months.

"Most people are touched," Callahan said. "I find that around the country people are writing to me and saying how delighted they are." "Peter Pan" was first performed as a play in 1904 and was not put into book form until 1911. Barrie assigned all royalties to the children's hospital by deed in 1929 and reconfirmed it in his will. "Clearly he was very fond of children and no doubt thought this was a very good way of helping them," said Robert Pike.
Panama: U.S. Army maneuvers 'threatening'

Police quell rioters with guns, gas

U.S.-backed Panama: "against Panama," Abadia said

"They have just announced the most shameless aggression against Panama," Abadia said of the U.S. exercises. "WE ARE NOT in agreement with these maneuvers," Abadia said. "We can only interpret them as a prelude to armed invasion of Panamanian territory.

"In Washington, the Pentagon said the maneuvers were planned earlier and approved by the Panamanian Defense Forces, which had no objection," a spokesman said.

"Perlgato spokesman Dan Howand denied the maneuvers were a signal of U.S. dissatisfaction with military strongman Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega's rule and said, "The only signal I could see getting out of Caracas was that we were to terminate these things, we would be intimidated in some way."

The exercise by 680 troops of the U.S. Southern Command, to which 10,000 U.S. military personnel are attached, will continue through Thursday, the Pentagon said.

IN ADDITION, two 650-man National Guard units — one from Florida and another from Puerto Rico — will be conducting smaller maneuvers in the Panama Canal Zone from Saturday to Tuesday. The U.S. military will spend two weeks in Panama, she said.

Also in Washington, White House spokesman Martin Friedan said, assuming "the inevitability" of U.S. action to topple Noriega through" maneuvers.

The United States views Noriega's rule illegal and supports ousted President Arturo Delvalle, who was dismissed after he tried to fire the military chief Feb. 25.

MAL. DANIEL Delgado, a military officer and the Foreign Ministry's Panama Canal expert, said the U.S. military had not followed proper channels to gain Panamanian approval for the exercise.

He said they violated provisions of the treaty signed by President George Bush and Panamanian strongman Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

The United States views Noriega's rule illegal and supports ousted President Arturo Delvalle, who was dismissed after he tried to fire the military chief Feb. 25.

A U.S. OFFICIAL said earlier this week the "Total Warrior" exercises were aimed at enhancing the ability of U.S. forces to defend the canal.

In the aborted street demonstration, witnesses said U.S. marines captured Christian Crusade, a coalition of opposition business groups that has been repeatedly beaten and arrested by police.

About 50 Crusade supporters ran for cover, from the site where the demonstration was to have begun as police chased them through the streets of a fashionable shopping down- town, spraying them with tear gas and water from truck-mounted cannons.

Panama security tightened

BALBOA HEIGHTS, Panama (UPI) — Panama Canal officials said maneuvers were planned by the United States and Panama Canal Zone officials to intimidate Panamanians and violate the Panama Canal Treaty.

"They have just announced the most shameless aggression against Panama," Abadia said of the U.S. exercises.

"We have increased protection around the strategic waterway's entrance and departure traffic was affected by Panama Canal and financial turmoil."

"One of the main reasons for this," McAluf said reporters at a news conference in the commission's administration building that overlooks the Pacific Ocean entrance to the canal from a hill on the city limits.

In the first news conference held by the U.S. administrator since Panama's political crisis, McAluf addressed increased concentrations of U.S. military and political crisis and the closing of Main Bank's last week affected traffic in the canal that carries 100,000 shipping trade route through the Panamanian isthmus.

"There are no slowdowns in the canal. There have been no work stoppages in the canal," McAluf said.

"The Panama Canal has operated normally this week and all of last week."

Iraqi planes attack tanker off Iranian coast

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Missiles rained on Tehran and Baghdad again Tuesday and Iraqi warplanes attacked a tanker off the Persian Gulf coast on Tuesday, the first reported strike on a Persian Gulf merchant vessel near a military vessel in nearly a month.

Iran fired a missile into a Baghdad neighborhood shortly after midnight and launched rockets on the northern Iraqi city of Mosul and the southern town of Al Amarah. Iraq said several people were killed and wounded in the attacks.

State Iranian radio said a long-range Iranian missile struck Tehran early Tuesday, and Iraq said it fired a second missile at Tehran at 4 p.m. Iran’s official Islamic Republic News Agency reported that 12 people died in the attacks.

Iraq fired a missile into the holy city of Qom, the spiritual base of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini’s religious rule 100 miles south of Tehran, and at the city of Isfahan 350 miles south of the Iranian capital. Iraq did not report any casualties in the attacks.

Iran has fired 44 missiles into Tehran since Feb. 29 and four into Qom in an attempt to force Iran to accept a cease-fire. Iran has fired 22 rockets into Baghdad.

In New Delhi, the Indian government announced that preparations are under way to evacuate the families of Indian diplomats based in Tehran because of the threat to their lives from Iraqi missile attacks.

Nabih Babu, minister of state for external affairs, told lawmakers that a special aircraft would be dispatched to the Iranian capital Sunday to retrieve Indian diplomatic dependents.

Singh did not say how many people would be evacuated. He said some civilians and their family members would also be allowed on the flight.

The round of strike and revenge is the worst since Iran and Iraq, at war for 7 and one-half years, began preying on civilians in 1983.

Death toll up in West Bank

Palestinians slay Arab policeman in refugee camp

JERUSALEM, Israel — Palestinians in a refugee camp Tuesday killed an Arab policeman suspected of cooperating with Israeli authorities, the second such slaying in the 3-month-old anti-Israeli uprising, Palestinian sources said.

The death of the officer, who was stabbed and beaten, and of another Arab shot in the West Bank town Tuesday brought to 53 the number of people killed in the Palestinian revolt in the West Bank and Gaza since the start of the uprising.

Palestinians said a refugee and an Israeli civilian during a demonstration outside the West Bank town of Nabi Saleh.

Also Tuesday, the army sentenced four officers to 35 days in a military stockade for cooper­ating with Israeli authorities, the second such sentence in nearly a month.

Liberation Organization. The investigation also was under way on how the guerrillas fired a second missile into Baghdad.

national — a radical Palestinian group fired two hostages Tuesday, a British relief worker and a Lebanese colleague purportedly seized for taking photographs inside a refugee camp in southern Lebanon.

Briton Peter Coleridge, 45, Middle East coordinator for the British Oxfam relief agency, and Omar Trebabsi, 31, the agency’s representative in Lebanon, were abducted March 3.

“I was shot at by the Israeli soldiers before I saw the guerrillas. I was then shot in the head and shoulders, and I fell to the ground,” Coleridge said in Arabic.

The three Israeli victims in the－the guerrillas had slipped across the border from Egypt.

Taha El-Farnawani, chief of the Palestine desk at the Foreign Ministry, said the allegations were not true because of the threat to their lives.

Tehran again Tuesday and the 3-month-old war since Feb. 29, and four into Qom in an attempt to force Iran to accept a cease-fire.

An army spokesman confirmed residents of the Asphalt Jarar Palestinian refugee camp outside the West Bank town of Jericho killed an Arab police officer, but said a motive had not been established.

Cause of death of actor ‘Divine’ undetermined

Star of bizarre films as kind, gentle man by friend

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An autopsy Tuesday failed to determine the cause of death of actor "Divine," a woman known for playing campy women in cult films such as "Pink Flamingos" and "Multiple Maniacs." The body was sent to the coroner's office to try to find out how Divine died.

Deidre Jay, Divine's close friend and manager for 10 years, said he found the actor in his hotel room Tuesday morning by Bernard Jay, a friend and business associate. Deidre was told by Bernadette that Divine had died of a heart attack.

Coroner's spokesman Bob Werden told media Divine apparently died of asphyxiation. Divine was "not on drugs" and "never drank alcohol," Jay said, blaming his friend's death on his excessive weight.

Survivors include his parents Francis and Harris Divine of Florida, who on Monday traveled to Baltimore, where Divine grew up, to make funeral arrangements. The body was to be taken to Baltimore as soon as the coroner's investigation was concluded.

"I am deeply saddened and shocked by the death of my long-time close friend," Waters said Tuesday. "Not only did I respect him as the best actor I have ever worked with, I knew him personally as a kid and gentle man."

Divine first achieved notoriety for his role as Bob Johnson in "Pink Flamingos."

Oscar producers urge writers not to strike Academy Awards

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences on Tuesday issued a plea to the Writers Guild of America to avoid a strike that would cut the start of the fall television season and, more immediately, disrupt production of daytime serials and late-night shows.

"That's my initiative — to get them talking again," Farrell said shortly before meeting with negotiators for the striking Writers Guild of America and representatives of the Alliance of Motion Picture and Television Producers, which acts as the go-between for about 300 companies.

Contract negotiations collapsed Sunday as the two sides failed to reach agreement on a minimum demand for rollbacks of TV residuals and other issues.

The two sides failed to reach agreement on a minimum demand for rollbacks of TV residuals and other issues.

"Historically, the unions have made it possible to continue in this manner," Farrell said. "It's up to the (guild's) board of directors, and we haven't gotten a response yet."

Writers were hesitant to express any confidence that the talks could be resumed, and Farrell said it would be a "long shot" to restart.

"We're prepared for a long strike," Farrell said.

The three major TV networks, which produce a total of 12 daytime serials, all have said they had enough scripts in hand to keep soap operas on the air for several weeks.

Author indicted for killing his new wife

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The author of the book "Nightmare in Israel" was indicted Tuesday on charges he killed his bride by throwing her over the side of a cruise ship during their honeymoon at sea last month.

Steven Roston, 36, of Santa Monica, initially told investigators his wife, Karen, 26, had committed suicide, but later said she had been strangled and thrown into the ocean about 30 miles southwest of San Diego, where the ship was docked.

When the ship docked in Long Beach, Roston was held on an arrest warrant by the Bahaman, where the ship was registered. The Dade County coroner later determined that Roston's wife of 19 days had been choked and thrown into the water, where she drowned.

The indictment stated Roston "with malice aforethought, unlawfully, deliberately and intentionally killed his wife, Karen Waltz Roston, by beating her, strangling her and throwing her overboard into the sea to drown."

Roston was to be arraigned on the murder charge March 14. He was ordered held without bail pending a March 11 detention hearing.

CBS' Paley released from hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS founder William Paley was released from New York's Presbyterian Medical Center on Feb. 6.

Hospital spokeswoman Myrna Manner said Paley was "remarkably improved" from a stroke he suffered early last month.

"I hope to return to normal life as quickly as possible, but I don't know when," he had said at the time. "It will take time."

Paley stepped aside as chairman in 1963, remaining on the 14-member board of directors. Three years later he again became chairman, teaming with Lawrence Tisch.
"I'm very proud of holding the NCAA free-throw record," Starrick, said. "I think it's a lot of luck. I think it's a lot of practice, I think it's a lot of shooting. I just took a lot of pride in it. There are many days where you miss and you feel like you're not hitting."

"When I left the court, I knew I was leaving the court," he said. "It was a tremendous feeling to play in the Arena. I could never imagine that play. I was so happy."

"Through the years I've stayed away from basketball, but I still go to the arena," he said. "I still love it, you know. I still love going to the games."

Starrick, who took a majority of his shots from the outside, said. "I think it's relatively three-point rule. "I like the three-point shot, but I think it's time to make it a little bit harder. We need to move to 5 balls. I think the rule is going to change."

Such a rule, combined with the year of eligibility being lost at Kentucky, may have the Starrick on top of the all-time scoring list. But he really isn't concerned about the records. "Records are meant to be broken," he said. "I'm sure my record will be broken."
Softball doubleheader canceled

Tuesday's softball doubleheader at St. Louis University was canceled because the diamond was flooded and more rain was expected.

Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said it is unlikely the games will be made up.

This was the second time this season a game has been canceled. After a 4-2 victory over Austin Peay on Saturday, the second game with the Governors was called off because of darkness.

Brechtelsbauer has scheduled informal scrimmages to keep the team in shape.

"It’s not unusual to not have played before our spring trip," Brechtelsbauer said. "We’ll just keep practicing, work on some situations and try to have some scrimmages."

The team practiced Tuesday and has three more days of practice time left before leaving Saturday for the spring trip at Tallahassee, Fla.

The first date of the spring trip will be March 15, when the Salukis play Virginia in a doubleheader. They also will play Florida State, Florida A&M and take part in the Seminole Invitational.

Itchy: Selections mean zilch; team ready to prove it

By Dave Miller

Saluki baseball coach Itchy Jones is expecting the team to improve this season, which begins Friday on the team's annual spring trip to Miami, Fla.

"Baseball America" magazine has tabbed the Salukis to finish fifth among the six teams in the Missouri Valley. Wichita State was picked first. The Salukis also finished fifth last season.

"Selections don't do anything. You have to prove yourself. I think we're a better ballclub than that. I think we're a little more mature," Jones said.

The Salukis are a veteran team this season. Eight returning starters hit better than .300 last season. Four returning outfielders Steve Shields, Chuck Locke and either Chuck Locke or Lockie will be first base.

Against left-handers, Joe Hall (3, 20, 3, 2 HR) will pitch and either Chuck Locke (3, 2, 3, 2 HR) or Chuck Verschoore would pitch. Finley and Charlie Hillemann are ready to take over the catching duties.

"We'd like for Joe Hall to play third," Jones said. "It gives us more quickness in the infield. If Giegling has difficulty catching and we can't throw runners out, then we may have to move Joe Hall behind the plate.

"Despite the daily wears of catching, Hall was perfect in 13 steal attempts last season. Giegling was successful in 12 of 13 tries."

Centerfielder Doug Shields and either Rick Gaebe (.275, 23 RBI, 1 HR) or Rick Gaebe will be first base. Gaebe, a junior college transfer, had nine miscues in 207 chances last season.

The two provide the Salukis with a solid defense in the middle. In their first season, Wrona, a freshman, committed 22 errors in 253 chances and Gaebe, a junior college transfer, had nine miscues in 207 chances.

"They should be a little better," Jones said. "Wrona and Gaebe should be a little more familiar with each other after a year ago."

Olympia Gold
Panthers to battle Redbirds for Gateway championship

By Troy Taylor

Going into tonight's Gateway Conference championship against Illinois State, Eastern basketball team was on high alert. "Our kids remember, they want to be back there, win it and be one of the 40 teams that get to the NCAAs," coach Jill Hutchison said.

"It (last year's loss to SIU-C) was a real heartbreaker. We had the lead and didn't hang on. Our kids remember, they want to be back there, win it and be one of the 40 teams that get to the NCAAs."

SIU-C came back from a 27-18 halftime deficit to defeat Eastern Illinois 56-51 on a 2-foot desperation shot by Dana Fitzgerald.

"It was a real heartbreaker," Hickie said. "We had the lead and it was gone. We lost it tonight. Our kids remember, they want to be back there, win it and be one of the 40 teams that get to the NCAAs."

The game will be at 8 p.m. at Hinton Field House in Normal. It will be broadcast by Chicago-based SportsVision.

Eastern Illinois (21-7) has never won a Division I NCAA appearance in any women's sport. The Panthers have been a Division I school for six years.

In the two meetings this season, both won the game at home. Eastern Illinois won 81-61 on Jan. 21 and Illinois State won 70-69 Feb. 16.

Illinois State is 11-3 on its home court. "I don't see that we can't beat this team with our offensive strategy," coach Jill Hutchison said. "We're playing with a lot of intensity right now. We're not making a lot of mistakes."

Illinois State is led by conference Player of the Year Susan Weilman, who is averaging 17.1 points per game and 8.5 rebounds. Other top Illinois State players are LaAnn Robinson (10.3 ppg), Pam Tanner (9.9 ppg), Leslie Ferrell (9.4 ppg), Amber Lindbeck (7.8 ppg) and reserve Cindy Kaufmann, who had 10 points in the 86-54 semifinal win over Drake.

"We'll have to crank up our defense," Hickie said. "We'll need more consistency, especially Barb Perkes, a 5-9 sophomore guard, is Eastern Illinois' leading scorer at 10.9 ppg. She had a career-high 31 points the last time Illinois State faced Illinois State."

Sheryl Renfert (11.6 ppg), Linda Tyler (10.3 ppg) and Laura Mull (9.9 ppg) will start for Eastern Illinois along with Ann Brown, a 6-2 center averaging 6.9 rebounds. "I feel like Eastern's guards are extremely good," Hutchison said. "We have to take away their inside game and contain their guards."

SIU-C women's basketball coach Cindy Scott, who guided the Salukis to the Gateway Conference tournament crown and NCAA tournament appearances in 1996 and 1997, made her observations on tonight's title game.

"It's been an interesting race because of the parity," Scott said. "I don't know who is going to win. They are two fairly equal teams."

What Eastern Illinois must do to win: "Eastern has to contain (Susan) Weilman and (Leslie) Ferrell. Especially Weilman. When she gets going, she's tough."

What Illinois State must do to win: "(EIU's) Perkes can't be hot. She's unstoppable when she's on. SIU must have great perimeter shooting."

Former LSU basketball star Redden dies in home at 24

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Fatigue — Louisiana State basketball star Don Redden, whose blue-collar style propelled the Tigers into the 1986 Final Four, died Tuesday of a heart attack. LSU officials said. He was 24.

Anne L'Heureux, public affairs director at Baton Rouge General Medical Center, said Redden died on arrival about 7:59 a.m. Tuesday, but the hospital was listing the apparent cause of death.

"He came in dead, she said. "They found him this morning (at his house) just not breathing."

L'Heureux said Redden's body was transferred to Earl K. Long Hospital in Baton Rouge for an autopsy.

"The word we're getting is that it was an apparent heart attack," LSU athletic department information director Jamie Kimbrough said.

Kimbrough labeled Redden "one of the finest people I have ever met."

Redden's death was a tragic loss. He said Redden was to begin work this week with an insurance and financial planning firm in Baton Rouge.

LSU Athletic Director Joe Dean said the university was "heartbroken over the loss of a tremendous young man as Don Redden."

"Not only was he one of our greatest basketball players, but he was one of our very fine young people who made such outstanding contributions on and off the court," Dean said.

"Our hearts are heavy that we should lose such a great player and such a great person."

Threat moves

N.J. high school basketball game

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — A threat of violence forced officials to move Tuesday's basketball playoff game between Atlantic City and Camden high schools to a secret location and bar all spectators, police and school officials said.

"It's a black mark in the history of sports in New Jersey," said Richard Lattrell, athletics director at Willingboro High School, the originally scheduled site of the New Jersey State Inter-Scholastic Athletic Association South Jersey Group IV championship game.

Although Atlantic City police and school officials said the alleged threat had been blown out of proportion, everyone involved decided to cancel the contest at Willingboro and move it to an unnamed site.

Atlantic City police Inspector Nicholas Rielo said.

Pinckneyville
rolls over
No. 14 Carmi
By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

Pinckneyville, the state's top-ranked Class A boys basketball team, defeated No. 14 Carmi 53-43 in Tuesday's super-sectional at the Arena. Pinckneyville, 30-2, played Watseka, 28-2, Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Assembly Hall in Champaign. Watseka beat Stanford Olympia 74-42 in Normal.

Carmi, which finishes its season at 24-7, got within five points twice in the fourth quarter before Pinckneyville sank seven free throws to hold on.

Pinckneyville scored 12 unanswered points to start the third quarter and take a 37-23 lead.

"Fortunately for us, the shots fell in the third quarter," Pinckneyville coach Dick Corn said. "Those were the only outstanding four or five minutes of the game for us."

Barry Gruszewski's running jumper put Pinckneyville up by 14 at 3:44 in the third. Gruszewski and Shay Hagel led the 20-2 Panthers with 12 points each.

Danny Harriss came off the bench and scored 10 points and hauled down seven rebounds for Pinckneyville.

"We knew in the second half it had to fall for us," Harriss said.

Carmi, which grabbed a 19-9 lead in the first quarter, trailed by a basket, 25-23, at halftime.

Starrick: A true fan of the game
By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

In 1972, Greg Starrick owned the basketball court. In 1986, he owns a company.

Starrick, who is seventh on the Saluki all-time scoring list, is president of J.S. Sales of Johnston City.

Starrick also works as a color analyst at Saluki men's basketball games for WCIL-FM.

"I'm a true fan of the game," he said. "I don't think I'll ever get basketball out of my system. I just love the game."

His love for the game began at home with his father when he was 5. His father coached high school basketball and Starrick traveled with his dad and spent hours in the gym with him.

The hard work paid off for Starrick, who still holds the NCAAs record for career free-throw shooting.

Bradley routs Illinois State for Valley crown
PEORIA (UPI) — Guard Hersey Hawkins, the tournament Most Valuable Player, poured in 26 points while center Luke Jackson scored 16 to lead No. 12 Bradley to a 63-59 victory over Illinois State in the Missouri Valley Conference tournament championship game Tuesday.

Bradley, which won the MVC in 1980, will take a 26-4 overall record into the NCAA tournament. The Redbirds, 18-12, are looking for an National Invitational Tournament bid.

Bradley forced Illinois State into turnovers on its first three possessions and took a 9-4 lead and never trailed. Illinois State was led by forward Tony Hollfield with 29 points.

Hoffman works to keep juveniles out of court
By Steven Walsh
Staff Writer

Jeri Hoffman might have considered some of her opponents rough, but now every day she faces hardened teenage criminals in Los Angeles.

From 1975 to 1979, Hoffman was a standout forward on the woman's basketball team, known for her aggressive style of play and her accurate outside shot.

Today Hoffman works as a youth counselor and supervisor for the California Youth Authority in L.A. The Authority handles teenagers from the inner-city who have become wards of the state, most of whom are members of L.A. street gangs.

"These kids aren't just simply juvenile delinquents," Hoffman said. "These are kids with serious troubles. They've been involved in murder, armed robbery — you name it."

"Most of the crimes are drug-related, whether it's selling drugs or stealing money to buy drugs."

The teens receive diagnostic testing and small group counseling at the clinic, where they remain for about eight months. Hoffman works with 11 to 15 teens at a time. Although most of the teens Hoffman works with are 14 or 15, some are as young as 12.

"Basically, we try to teach..."
