Intramural Games Sited in Arena

Five intramural basketball games are scheduled tonight in the Arena.

Darwin Payne, associate director of the Opera Workshop and instructor in opera production, has found a challenge in the production of Gounod’s "Faust."

This challenge developed when the traditional Middle Ages setting was changed to the 20th century. The actors and singers will be clothed in World War II garments and will speak 20th-century English instead of German.

The concept for this completely modern treatment of "Faust" is the brain-child of Katherine Dunham, internationally recognized dancer and choreographer currently an artist-in-residence at SIU, who is director of dance for the production.

"Faust," produced by Mark Morris, will be staged Friday thru Sunday at the Carbondale Campus and Wednesday in the Edwardsville Campus area.

Payne also served as stage director and designer for "Madame Butterfly" and "The Marriage of Figaro" at SIU.

A graduate of SIU with the bachelor's degree in theater arts and both the master of science and the master of arts in design, Payne has completed one year toward his doctoral degree.

He has had extensive experience in designing stage sets for summer theaters, including the Camden Hills (Maine) Theater, the Shepherd of the Hills Theater at Branson, Mo., the Kito Hollow Theater, Petersburg, Ill., the Boothbay Playhouse at Boothbay, Maine, and the Bushkill Playhouse, Bushkill, Penn. In the summers of 1962, 1963 and 1964 he was artistic director and head designer for the SIU summer theater company.

For two years he was designer for all productions of the University theater and instructor in stage design. The following year he served as artistic director of the University Theater at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, Canada and of the Frederic Wood Theater, a professional repertory company working in association with the University.

He then spent nine months as designer and artistic director for Le Petit Theatre at Vancouver. Since then, he has worked with the executive art director of CBS-TV in New York City, followed that work with six months as assistant to the executive art director of CBS-TV in New York City.

Methodist Families To Open Homes

A plan is under way at the International Student Center to have some families from the Grace Methodist Church entertain international students in their homes.

Arrangements are being made with the center by Robert L. Anderson, chairman of the Social Concerns Committee of the Church.

International students who would enjoy home hospitality with some of the church families should contact the center in the next few weeks.

Sectioning Center Urging Students To Leave Cards

Marion B. Trees, head of the Sectioning Center, announced that his office is now encouraging students to leave their cards to be processed at a future time.

If the student chooses to leave his cards, he needs only go through a quick check to assure that he has no class conflicts.

After this check, the student states his preference for a night or a day sectioning line.

Last week about 900 students elected to take this option rather than wait in the sectioning line.

UNIVERSITY PLAZA
By Whose Definition?
The usurpation that arose last week over the unwillingness of a group of students at the University of Chicago to read James Baldwin's "An Noble Ape" was unnecessary and regrettable.

According to news releases, she was not required to read the book. Baldwin has been said to be offensive by reading certain books which the students said would be offensive to them.

Illinois legislators, including leaders from both parties, used this incident to propagate on campus literature in our schools. Obviously this was done mainly for political reasons.

However, this unfortunate action is not the crux of the problem. The question is, which books should be absented from the campus by a policy of non-inclusion? The problem is that some books are more offensive than others and it is the students' right to decide what books are more offensive than others, and it is the students' right to decide what books are to be read in the school.

If young men and women on the college campus, which is more intellectual and liberating than an ordinary town or neighborhood, cannot choose what books they read, then we have nowhere near here is one right which is being overlooked in our democracy.

We are not advocating an all-out rush to provide smutty material, but we feel that the individual should have the choice of whether or not he wants to read material which he believes should be required to do so. We are not condoning the availability of material in a better sense. We do not say that some books are more controversial than others or that some books should not be banned or regulated except by the student himself.

Thoughts About People

Abe and the Little People

"They do not want much, and they are not saying they know how I would feel in the place where they are," wrote Abraham Lincoln's character, Abe. "They do not want much, and they are not saying they know how I would feel in the place where they are," wrote Abraham Lincoln's character, Abe.

Thus Abraham Lincoln once spoke of the humble and the lowly, the tenant farmer, the freed slave. The Mark Twain, the meek. They were the "little people." They were such a large group of people that they were often treated quite lightly over the carpeting of the White House.

The was young. He signed the ticket and went to inaugural addresses every but she says. "I think I'll see, I think I'll see." Maude.

"Abe and the Little People" was that Abe recognized the needs of the people and he spoke of them in his speeches. "And in turn the "little people" liked Abe. It might be that Abe was the recipient of a letter received by Lincoln immediately after the war, when the nation was attempting to piece itself together again. Abe was the recipient of a little village, Hamilton, Mass.

"I'm thinking about it in Washington, where they make a noise on the town. They have got the best of us if you had been in this little spot of the town and had heard the soft, sweet music of unseen bells rippling through the morning silence from every quarter of the far-off horizon, you would have better known what your name is to the nation." Mike Schwebel

Robert M. Hutchins

The official unemployment rate among teenagers is 15 per cent. This is almost three times the official rate for the labor force as a whole. The official rates are fictitious, in the sense that they do not include those who have never applied for work or who have given up, I have heard estimate of their numbers ranging from 300,000 to 5 million. Whatever the actual figure is, it is large.

The favorite age for trying to get into the work force is 16 or 19. In 1965 the number of 18 and 19 year olds will increase more than it did in the entire decade of the 1950s.

Thinking About Manhood

Goal of Our Society: Greater Manhood

By Robert M. Hutchins

It seems wholly unrealistic to suppose that the problem of the unemployment of youth can be solved by economic measures. Do we suppose that the budget, to monetary policy, to taxes or to public works? Technology and the growth of the population will defeat you. Modern society is producing more and more goods with fewer and fewer people—and at the same time producing more and more people.

It is also unrealistic to suppose that the problem of the unemployment of youth can be solved by training programs, however far-flung or elaborate. Such programs will of course keep young people occupied while they are being trained, but they serve no purpose beyond that unless they are job-ready at the end of the line. The technology and the growth of the population mean that this prospect is dim.

Perhaps we should make a resolution on somewhat more fundamental than usual. Instead of resolving for the 40th year to save unemployment and cut less, we might, in view of the undisputed facts we see around us, determine to reconsider our view of what life and society are about.

The prevailing view of life and society in that we are about manpower. If we all turn ourselves into manpower, our country will become rich, powerful and happy. For example, if you ask any American what the aim of education is, he will tell you that it is to get ahead in life, and this turns out to mean raising yourself to a more lucrative level of manhood.

But suppose that life and society are about manhood. Then we would have to ask ourselves how we could all become as human as possible. When talking about educa- tion, I think we need to ask what re- quire what contribution it could make in assisting us in this effort. I believe we would conclude that the special task of education was to help us learn to be more human.

We would then see the eco- nomic system, the economic state, and education in a new and perhaps a better light. Instead of the be-all of economic measures, we would think about how they can be re- garding full employment as the aim of the state and work as we all live, and our lives, would reduce those employments which are for the sake of man's development. We would expand leisure and release human creative energy in the performance of the requirements of work.

Let us vote for manhood.

Top U.S. Strategists Discuss Response to Newest Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson called an emergency National Security Council meeting Wednesday afternoon, but gave no clues afterward on what the U.S. response—if any—will be to a new wave of Communist attacks in South Viet Nam.

The President summoned his top strategists to the White House for a 13/4-hour session following word of a terrorist blast destroying a U.S. entailed men's billet in Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Defense Department said one U.S. serviceman is known dead and an estimated 25 are missing in the bombing. An additional 14 were injured, three of them critically. A spokesman said 20 others assign to the billet escaped uninjured. Indications are that all are Army personnel.

A Viet Cong mortar barrage at Pleiku Sunday killed 8 Americans and wounded 146, triggering U.S.-South Vietnamese reprisal air strikes on Communist North Viet Nam.

Dispatches from Saigon Wednesday told of further sizable Red guerrilla offensives throughout South Viet Nam. Johnson came outside after the council meeting and walked around the White House front yard in relaxed fashion. He declined to go beyond Press Secretary George E. Reedy's statement that the Viet Nam situation "is receiving the closest attention."

There was speculation that the President might order further U.S. retaliation, or a dispatch of U.S. security forces to South Viet Nam to guard Americans there, or a speedup in the evacuation of U.S. dependents, now under way.

Reedy declined to give backing to any of these lines of speculation. In fact he replied "no" when asked if a speedup was planned in the removal of dependents.

He said the President was meeting with the cabinet this afternoon, but that the session was scheduled before the latest turn of events in Viet Nam.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff met twice Wednesday, in the morning and again in the afternoon, but gave no clues afterward on what the U.S. response—if any—will be to the new wave of Communist attacks in South Viet Nam.

The source said this was their regular meeting day.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey told newsmen he was in no position to anticipate what decisions the United States might make.

But there were strong indications from other officials that the United States would take reprisal action.

The White House noted last Sunday in announcing U.S. air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam that they were "in response to provocations ordered and directed by the Hanoi regime."

Meanwhile, the State Department once again doused cold water on French President Charles de Gaulle's proposal for reconvening the Geneva conference in Indochina with the aim of negotiating a settlement.

A French spokesman issued a statement in Paris giving De Gaulle's view that the Southeast Asia conflict cannot be settled by armies.

U. S. Officials Consider Effect Of Soviet Aid to Red Viet Nam

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Soviet pledge of assistance to Communist North Viet Nam could change the course of the struggle between Communist and American-backed forces in Southeast Asia, but U.S. officials are not sure in what direction.

The agreement announced by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin left Hanoi to return to Moscow in line with what the Johnson administration expected the Soviet Union to do. Kosygin promised to strengthen the "defense potential" of North Viet Nam.

U.S. officials said they think the Soviet Union will give the Vietnamese Communists more or some kind of antiaircraft missiles and perhaps a number of long-range fighter planes. Other equipment and money may also begin to flow from Moscow.

Generally, however, U.S. authorities do not expect the Soviet Union will provide essentially offensive equipment at this point, such as bombers or longer-range missiles for striking into South Viet Nam.

Ticket Scalping Curbs Proposed

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - Legislation aimed at cracking down on ticket scalping was introduced Wednesday in the Illinois House.

Two bills by Reps. Edward A. Warman, D-Chicago, and Robert Woodward, R-Chicago, proposed that persons who re-sell tickets must be licensed and furnish bond.

Licenses would be required to keep records of all tickets bought and sold and the selling prices. The bills would make it unlawful for anyone to pay a gratuity in connection with ticket sales.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson imposed steel locks abroad, effective at once, and urged Congress to reduce to $50, retail value, the duty-free exemption for home-coming American travelers. The tax on bank loans is the same penalty tax—the "interest equalization tax"—imposed on Americans' purchases of foreign stocks and bonds. Johnson called for a two-year extension of the levy.

But the biggest saving—"well over $1 billion," by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon's estimate—is expected to come from Johnson's request for a concerted clampdown by the U.S. banking industry on long-term and short-term open market loans in Western Europe.

Antitrust immunity for the cooperating bankers was asked by the President, a device last used in the Korean War.

Similar restraint—without specific antitrust immunity—was asked by Johnson of industry leaders, to check the rising flow of direct investment in European plants.

 Favorable responses came quickly from top businessmen, and the reaction of congressional leaders was almost wholly favorable.

Abel Gains Edge In Steel Voting

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Shooting for a big upset, T.W. Abel grabbed a slim unofficial lead Wednesday over incumbent David J. McDonald in steelworkers' balloting for a president.

An Associated Press tabulation gave Abel a 3,000-vote edge with 2,184 of the union's 3,300 local reporting.

Abel's headquarters gave him a much bigger lead. McDonald's camp claimed their man was ahead.

The vote was close enough to make steelmakers shudder, fearful that the election might wind up in a court battle and delay resumption of basic steel contract talks.

With some big locals still unreported, Abel held a 1,540 to 178,762 advantage in the AP tabulation. It was based on results from 176 of the union's 293 districts.

Panel Appointed For Dock Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appointed an informal three-member committee Wednesday to recommend by Friday a "just and equitable disposition" of remaining issues in the East and Gulf Coast dock strike.

Johnson directed Secretary of Labor Willard W. Wirtz, Secretary of Commerce John P. McGory and Gen. Westmoreland, D.D.S., to meet with longshoremen and shippers from the western Gulf and southern Atlantic areas and come up with suggestions for resolving differences.

Ban on Young Marriage

Proposed as Illinois Law

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A ban on marriages of girls under 18 and young men under 21 was proposed Wednesday in the Illinois Legislature.

Rep. Ralph Smith, R-Alton, who offered the bill, said his purpose was to attack the divorce problem.

"Getting married too young is one of the best ways of ending up in a divorce court," he said. "Getting married under the shotgun does not tend to create a good marriage."

The bill would eliminate the parental consent provision which now enables girls 16 and over and males 18 and over to get married.

Mandatory retirement of state employees at age 65, effective Jan. 1, 1967, was sought in a bill submitted by Rep. James Carrigan, D-Peoria. He said there are "too many old people" on the state payroll.

The measure, supported by Gov. Otto Kerner and the State Personnel Department, would allow an employee to stay on the job after 65 until 70 with consent of a department head. The bill had an amendment offered by Carrigan to establish a permanent legislative commission with supervision over reapportionment of counties, cities and other local governments. The commission, consisting of legislative, public and local government members, would give advisory opinions on reapportionment and make recommendations to the legislature.

Bill Would Limit Penalty of Death

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A bill to abolish the death penalty except for treason won approval of the Illinois House Judiciary Committee Wednesday. The vote was 23-4.

Rep. Robert Canfield, R-Rockford, principal sponsor, predicted passage by the House, but foresaw trouble in the Senate.

Rep. Francis Mahoney, D-Freeport, who lost an attempt in committee to retain the death penalty for killing a prison guard or for murder while committing a forcible felony, indicated he would make another attempt on the House floor.

City Council Gives Approval To Nickel Hike in Cab Fares

Carbondale’s two taxi companies have been given permission by the City Council to hike fares five cents. They had asked for 10 cents but the Council voted five cents upon the recommendation of Gene Ramsey, public safety commissioner and chairman of the committee appointed to study the proposed raise.

The Yellow Cab Co. and Campus Cab Co. requested the fare increase last November.

As a result of the Council’s action, taxi’s are now permitted to charge 45 cents for the first fare they pick up instead of 40 cents. The firms also requested to increase rates for the second party picked up by the same cab from 20 to 25 cents. They also wanted to charge 15 cents each for any additional fare beyond two.

However, the Council turned down both these requests.

Other action at the meeting included:

- A group of residents living in an area bounded by Cherry, Walnut, Poplar and Forest presented a petition asking for rezoning in order to stop construction of dormitories in the area. One of the major objections to the large amount of construction in the area is the lowering of property values and destroying the beauty of the neighborhood.
- A letter to the council asking that parking on Main be discontinued to relieve traffic problems in the commercial area was presented by the League of Women Voters.

Basketball Chief’s Wife Caged a Real Winner

By Stan Nicpon

If one had to guess the one thing that might be around the Hartman residence, one would probably say a basketball hoop. Actually there is not one to be found.

Jack Hartman, Saluki basketball coach, rarely has the time to shoot a few hoops with his busy coaching schedule.

“My husband is like a business executive. He leaves his work at the office. When my husband comes home, he asks, ‘Who’s Coming?’

Swimming and Gymnastics Mix

For Tumbling Champ Schmitz

Do gymnastics and swimming mix? Frank Schmitz believes so, and what’s more, he’s out to prove it.

Schmitz, who just won the World’s Tumbling Championship in London, is a big point man on Coach Bill Meade’s gymnastics team. What’s more, he is also swimming Coach Ralph Casey’s best diver.

Schmitz has been active in sports since childhood. He wanted most to play high school football and basketball, but a motorcycle accident, which fractured his skull, prevented him from competing in any combative sports.

Since he was already a good swimmer, Schmitz was forced to turn to gymnastics to provide him with a challenging pastime. By this time he was a freshman in high school, and although he started slowly, he soon became literally a one-man team for his Lafayette (Il.) High School.

“Gymnastics wasn’t a big sport in my high school and I was the only one to try out for the team.”

Lafayette’s one-man team became successful, finishing third in state competition during Schmitz’s junior year. His best events were tumbling, the trampoline and the long horse, but being the only team member he received enough experience in the other events to become better than average. He earned many awards in high school gymnastic competition, some of which were:

– Three-time Louisiana State High School trampoline champion, 1960-62;

He was also the Southern AAU Diving Champion in 1962.

With these top gymnastic awards in his possession, it’s no wonder Meade wanted him to come to Southern.

Actually Meade had to do very little persuading, since Schmitz had his mind made up to participate for the best gymnastic team in the country, which he felt was Southern.

Now, only a sophomore, Schmitz has already succeeded in filling Southern’s only weak spot last season, the trampoline. He is unbeaten in dual meets this season on the trampoline.

Besides his trampoline duties, Schmitz works free exercise and the long horse. He is undefeated in free exercise and has lost but one time on the long horse.

Since he has been at Southern, Schmitz has added more awards to his already long list. Awards he has won include:

– Two-time East-West Trampoline Champion, 1963-64.

South African Games Trampoline Champion, 1963;
– World Tumbling Champion, 1965;

Besides these gymnastic accomplishments Schmitz finished first in diving at the SIU University of Cincinnati meet and finished second in the Nebraska meet.

Schmitz’s other interests include playing the piano, guitar, harmonica and organ. Schmitz claims to be just an average musician but has played in a number of bands.

Although his list of awards is staggering, Schmitz has his mind set on winning another one. He wants to become the NCAA free exercise, trampoline and vaulting champion. He will get his chance this April when the finals of the NCAA gymnastic championships are held in the Arena.

Saluki Swimmers Aim at Meeting Southwestern In Pool With Seat Capacity of 2,500

SIU’s swimmers will be competing in a pool with a seat capacity of 2,500 in what's probably the largest seating capacity in the United States when they meet Southwestern Methodist University swimmers in Pool on Saturday.

The SWU pool is located in the town of Trinidad, about 15 miles from the southwest corner of the state. It has seating for about 2,500.

Jack McGuire, Illinois State swimming coach, whose team lost to the Salukis here last Saturday, in praising his opponent. He added that the 75-by-50-foot pool is the best he’s seen short of that in Indiana.

Both Indiana and Southwestern are among the top teams in the country, in fact, in the American Swimmer magazine's annual poll Indiana was ranked the No. 1 team in the country and Michigan State was No. 6.

Salukis Swimmers Are Aiming For Record Streak

George McNeil, the high-scoring guard of the basketball team, is nearing a new record for free throw accuracy. The existing mark of 803 was set by Charlie Vaughn in 1961-62 when he sank 41 of 51 attempts. McNeil is currently shooting 87.8% from the foul line by making 65 of 74 shots so far this season.

The 6-2 junior from St. Louis has hit 26 of 28 free throws in home games for a remarkable 93.6 percent.

McNeil is also doing well from the field where he leads the team in field goal shooting with a .497 percentage.

High in consecutive victories for Coach Jack Hartman. The longest string for Harriman in his first two years has been seven.

The Saluki cagers' victory over Kentucky Wesleyan marked the first time in the history of the rivalry that Southern has won both games in a season. It was also the second straight victory by a large margin. Only six schools have bettered Wesleyan by more than 25 points in the last ten years, but the Salukis almost did it twice in one year. The Salukis won the first meeting 100-75 and the second 94-70.

Southern seems to have taken one step forward and another step backward in the Arena after their first eight home contests. The Salukis are ahead of the opposition in every department in picking up eight strong victories in their new home.

Whitey Ford's Pitching Hand Won't Sweat

NEW YORK (AP)—This will come as a great shock to Al Lopez. Whitey Ford is worried about his left hand being too dry

When Ford pitches against Al's Chicago White Sox, Lopez often claims the New York Yankee left-hander has too much moisture on that left hand. In fact, Lopez comes right out in the open and says Whitey is throwing a spitball.

Ford, however, talked recently with reporters in the dugout of the New York Stadium. Lopez dropped a record-breaking 21 rebounds Tuesday night in the final stages of the half to cut Southern's lead to 42-32 at intermission.

Ford went to Houston in November for an operation to remove an arthritic blockage in his left forearm.

do a thorough job. He has, however, talked and written to tavern owners, urging them to observe the law.

"The solution will have to come from the tavern operators themselves," Hazel said, "even if it means checking everybody coming in the door."

Some taverns do check at the door or while they are serving their customers, he said. Others will go "half and half" with enforcement for a while, but relax later. The problem is hampered, Hazel said, because "there's no law saying a person can't go in a tavern and dance and drink cocktails."

He feels the legislature would go a long way toward securing enforcement of present liquor statutes if it would pass a law prohibiting minors from going into the smoking or non-smoking areas of a tavern. Or, he became a law, lowering the age to 18?" Yes, said Hazel. "If a man is old enough to go into the service he should be old enough to drink. But as long as the present law is on the books it has to be enforced."

San Francisco Finds SIU No Golden Gate

By Bob Reincke

Southern's surging Salukis, led by the scoring of Whitey Ford and the rebounding of Boyd O'Neal, swamped the Southern Illinois State 90-57 Wednesday night in the Arena. Ford pumped in a record-breaking 21 rebounds past the outclassed Californians.

The visitors inched ahead in a row for Coach Jack Hartman's Salukis, who are now 13-4 on the season. The setback was the ninth of the season for Southern Illinois State, 13-4, who are now at the .500 mark after 18 games.

"My left leg hurts, but not my forehead, hand, arm or body on the left side," said Ford. "I have small hands. I really need a little moisture on the hand."

He shrugged his shoulders and smiled. "I guess I'll have to rub my left hand, or eat something."

Son for the Golden Gators, who are now at the .500 mark after 18 games.

Whitey Ford got off on the wrong foot at the start; they scored his first four free throws, no field goal. But Frazier soon caught fire to pump in five points to start the game at 5-3. Then Frisco's Jon Crawford dropped in a free throw to put Frisco ahead back in the lead in the last minute of the half but it was short lived, as Craig's big left hook shot to put Southern ahead to stay.

Southern made several attempts to pull away during the second half but could maintain the momentum to build up a substantial margin over the weakly Cal. The Salukis' biggest lead in the half was a 13-point one when the score was 29-16 midway through the first 20 minutes. The Golden Gators battled back to the lead in the final stages of the half to cut Southern's lead to 42-32 at intermission.

Frazier, McNeill and Joe Ramsey sparked Southern's offense for the first half as they pumped in 11, 10 and 8 points each. O'Neal pulled down nine of his record total of rebounds in the initial half, and played a fine defensive game. The Salukis got off to a better start in the second half as they started clicking offensively to widen their margin.

The fired-up Southern five received off a 10-point pump early in the half to build up a 58-38 lead with 12:44 left in the game. The Salukis' enthusiasm seemed to spill over into the stands as they received a rousing standing ovation from the crowd when they came off the court for a time out with 8:43 remaining.

Coach Hartman brought the second five into duty with Southern ahead 78-51, and the reserves came through to add 12 points to the Salukis' total in the last three minutes.

Southern outscored the Golden Gators 48-25 in the second half as they tightened the defense and pulled away behind some hot shooting from the field. After making 16 of 40 field goal attempts in the first half, the Salukis upped their percentage in the second half to 26 of 60 shooting a blistering .433 from the field. Frazier was one of the main reasons for the second half surge as he connected on seven of nine attempts in the final half.

Frazier's 25 points topped all scorers for the game. The sophomore standout was followed by teammates McNeill and Ramsey who also were in double figures with 15 and 14 points respectively. O'Neal scored nine points in the game, but his rebounding was the important factor. The 6-6 junior total of 21 broke the old mark of 20 which was set by Charlie Vaughns in 1951 and tied by Ed Spila in 1962.

O'Neal also made a fine defensive effort when he blocked seven shots and batted down several passes.

Joe Galbo led the scoring for the visitors with 15 points. He was followed by Lewis with 13 and Everett with 10. Adams' 20-point effort was well below his season's average of 19 a game.

Southern's ability to control the boards played a big role in the victory as the Salukis pulled down 60 rebounds to Frisco's 33. Southern also
