Survey to Tap Student Body, Faculty Views

A survey questionnaire on campus communications will be sent next week to a cross-section of the student body and faculty.

The questionnaire is designed to gather information on feelings about University policies and procedures and to learn the prevalence of communications problems in the University.

Conducted by James B. Lenzert of the Journalism Research Bureau, the survey is concerned with the flow of information through the campus community. Questions about educational facilities and services, opinions about the activities for and by other groups, types of audiences central at SIU, how SIU compares with other schools, opinions about the role of student government, opinions about administration-student relations and opinions about student protest movements.

The questionnaires are to be sent to 1,280 undergraduates, 100 graduate students and 100 faculty members on Tuesday and Wednesday. Return envelopes will be provided.

Identification of persons answering the questionnaire will be disregarded when the answers are processed by a computer.

In the cross-section recomposing the questionnaires, all types of persons on campus have been chosen to give each type adequate representation.

There is no relationship between this study and the proposed survey by the Commission on Student Rights and Responsibilities.

Prospective New SIU Seal

By John Goodrich

Sue was an attractive sophmore from a moderately wealthy family in the northwest Chicago suburb. She had grades that were high enough to obtain a scholarship, but she didn't need one. Her father gave her an ample allowance to buy clothes and personal articles.

She said she liked SIU, and she felt that people in Southern Illinois were friendly and hospitable.

Sue usually went shopping with two or three friends from her dorm. The other girls knew that Sue had shopped occasionally, because she had told them, but only one of them had anything while with her.

The girls entered a young misses' clothing shop on South Illinois Avenue just before Christmas break. Sue selected several pairs of slacks from a rack, and Sue went into the dressing room and removed all the labels and tags. When Sue came back, she had on the store's slacks.

Her friends, who had been talking to the clerk at the counter, decided that they didn't want anything, and walked with Sue.

When the manager of the store found Sue's old pair of slacks in the dressing room, she reported the matter to the Carbondale police, who took down a description of the three, and notified the University police.

Meanwhile, the girls went into a variety store on the next block and bought a can of hair spray, a pen and a notebook. Sue kept looking at the owner of the store, who was watching her, even though he had his back turned to her. He was watching through the convex mirror that was hanging at the front of the store.

When the owner walked down the aisle that Sue was in, she had to put back the steak knives that she was going to buy and put underneath her blouse. She hurriedly walked out of the store and went to the dormitory house across the street.

Suspicious, the owner of the dime store called his friend at the discount house and told him to keep his eye on the girls.

Sue couldn't figure out why the discount store manager was walking by her all the time. Her boy friend, who had wanted the steak knives for his crailer, had told her that he had once taken a jacket from her and that she shouldn't be so suspicious.

Sue beckoned to her friends, and the two went over to University Avenue, and passed rows of fruit in front of the supermarket there. Evidently they didn't notice the Carbondale police car that was following them down Monroe Street, nor did they recognize the unmarked University police car that was in the parking lot.

The uniformed policeman informed the manager of the store that the girls were suspected shoplifters, and he stayed at the automatic door.

The other three, in plain clothes, pushed shopping carts up each of the aisles to the (Continued on Page 11)

FOOLISH ACT OF SHOPLIFTING MAY LEAVE LIFETIME BLEMISH ON STUDENT'S RECORD

Symbol Includes Both Campuses

By Margaret Perez

A proposal to change the University Seal, Mifflin said, has been presented to the University Council of the University Student Council, the Alumni Board and Faculty Council for endorsement.

In 1961 the vice presidents of SIU commissioned Albert B. Mifflin, assistant counselor of General Publications, to design a seal that would represent both the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses. The current seal bears a picture of the Old Main building of the Carbondale Campus.

The proposed seal is in a sunburst design with the words "Southern Illinois University" and "Order and Light" inscribed around the circumference of a circle.

The words "Order and Light" are taken from the last verse of the statement of the objectives of the University.

"The sunburst design was selected because it symbolizes the energy and the desire to accomplish," Mifflin said. ""The words represent timelessness and the seal will symbolize the University as it is and as it will be.

An emblem, Mifflin said, should be flexible enough to stand up as a permanent symbol that will endure through the University's circle on a sunburst in this case, is hard to distort. It will endure.

Actually three symbols, all in the sunburst circular design, are being considered. If approved, these symbols, a proposed seal, will be available after the official University seal. The other two symbols, a sunburst with capital lettering and a plain circle with SIU inscribed in the middle, will be used for less formal purposes.

The seal possibly goes before the board at its March meeting.

The present seal was designed in 1950 by Ben Waterman, a graduate student in the Department of Art.

Funeral for TP Area Head
Will Be Held in Pennsylvania

Funeral services for Harold M. Banks, 31, Thompson Point area head, will be held in Kane, Pa., either Thursday or Friday.

Banks died late Monday evening in Barnes Hospital at St. Louis where he had been a patient since November. Earlier in the day he had undergone open heart surgery. He joined the SIU staff Sept. 1, 1964, and was assigned to the top post at Thompson Point. He held that position until he entered the hospital for treatment of heart condition.

Banks was born Sept. 29, 1935, in Detroit, Mich., and later moved with his family to Pennsylvania. He received a bachelor's degree in history and education from Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa. He earned a master of education degree from Pennsylvania State University, and had completed all work except his dissertation for a doctorate in psychology from the same university.

Banks is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eliza Banks, and a brother, David, both of Kane.

Kids Can't Win

Too Old at Age 13, David Ramp Sees Opera Role 60 to His (Younger) Sister

At 13, most kids are accustomed to having adults tell them they are too young to do whatever it is they are usually asking their parents for permission to do. But David Ramp faced a reverse situation recently when his family was asked if he could try out for the part of a young boy in Puccini's opera "Gianni Schicchi" which will be presented this weekend.

"Oh, he's too old for the part," his mother said. In his place she offered his kid sister, Susan. She won the role and David was left to puzzle over the mystery of what makes adults tick.

David and Susan are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne S. Ramp. Ramp is an associate professor in the School of Technology and Mrs. Ramp is on the staff of the Advisement Center. Both youngsters played in "The Sound of Music" this summer. "Gianni Schicchi" is one of two short operas which will be staged this weekend by the Opera Workshop. The other is "The Medium," a contemporary tragic opera by Menotti. Marjorie Lawrence, director of the workshop, will sing the title role in the Menotti work.

Cycle Ordinance

Is Now in Effect

Ron Costanzo, SICU cities relation commissioner, reminds SIU students that the new Carbondale motorcycle safety ordinance is now in effect. The ordinance prohibits more than two riders on a cycle and requires that all riders be inside the cycle rather than sidesaddle. He said the city police are now issuing tickets for violations of the ordinance. A second ordinance to regulate motorcycle parking at downtown meters, is currently under consideration.

WALK IN SERVICE

Call 457-4525
Dear Sir:

As I was continuing this letter, I would like to say that its contents reflect only my personal opinions and in no way are intended to represent those of any other person or group.

There has been some controversy over the purpose and coverage of Saluki Sports events (mainly basketball) by WSUI-FM. It seems that certain parties in the Athletics Department, the Student Government, and Vice President and Student Government events (mainly basketball) by and coverage of a fee to participate in the new network are intended to represent partisan interests in the Athletics Department. Its contents reflect only my personal opinions and in no way are intended to represent those of any other person or group.

There appears to be a general consensus about Saluki Sports, but there is still room for improvement.

As a result, the Saluki Sports Network has been set up by an area commercial radio station, which broadcasts Saluki basketball events. This station is selling commercial time for those events and is charging other area stations a fee to participate in the new network.

There is, incidentally, some question among the various SIU officials as to whether the network is to be locally based or is being operated by a professional company. This is a question which will be presented to the following questions which come to mind about this situation.

1. If the Athletics Department was involved in running the coverage of SIU basketball games, why did they not go directly to the local area stations for the existing SIU network, instead of organizing a new set-up outside the University?

2. Why does the Saluki network sportscaster have his equipment hooked up and ready from the basketball games (supposedly while working as the assistant to the Information Director) and then broadcast the games under the employment of a commercial organization?

3. Would area station managers subscribe to a network with questionable sports network at extra cost, when in front of its listeners at games at no cost, with the right to commercial revenue from the WSUI-FM network?

4. Since the area station managers now subscribing to the new network do not have their fee paid, is there a possibility for a conflict of interest?

5. Is professional broadcasting really exemplified by poor grammar, frequent mistakes in names, and scores, inaccurate information, voice distortion due to improper use or indifferent equipment, and regional pronunciation?

Respectfully submitted,

Michael B. Wests.

The VTI Firetrap
by Michi Hanofin

A restaurant in town advertised driving an old-fashioned fire truck around the city, but it has nothing over the University. The brilliance of the old fire truck can be seen, but it is in all of its glory and fire-fighting equipment.

There are approximately 292 single students housed at VTI. They live in barracks which were built in 1945 and were only meant to last for five years. The barracks are still there and still being used.

Of all the buildings at VTI they are in the poorest condition. As a result, there is a rapid turnover of apartments by students. Students are not allowed to live in one of the barracks at the beginning of fall quarter. The 240 men who live in these barracks are told not to bother with any of the three fires, they are to report to the police each floor, or with anything else other. They are cautioned to tell the Resident Fellow if they discover a fire. They are told to get out quickly.

The buildings in which they live are guaranteed to be completed in flames within 12 to 15 minutes.

The dormitories are made completely of cold and fireproofing, and fiber board walls. The staircases from the second floors are wooden. There are holes in the walls put there by students who are knocking on the wall to ask a neighbor to be quiet.

The dormitory reception once a year.

Next door to these dormitories and not more than 50 feet away from them are corn field boardering a federal game reserve. This distance is not far enough to keep flames from jumping some windy night.

If one of these buildings goes up in flames, the result may be the gutting of the whole campus and many may live without their lives.

Today's students are the people who represent our country tomorrow. Their loss may hurt more than their imme- diate privileges. It is not in any one's interest to ask 292 students to live in a death trap.

One University would tear down those dorms when the roof under construction are completed. But they aren't going to do it. They must be able to live on the VTI campus while 292 students are still doomed to live with the possibilities of disaster.

Patrick Hare and I were recently invited to attend the governor's conference of local students who form the Southern Illinois Tutoring Program, which was presided over by the President. We arrived at different times before the meeting and it required each of us to give our own time separately, but at the last minute we decided to sign in as members, and meet the social goals, together as a social group.

Our purpose in coming was to achieve a greater familiarity with the ways in which those people who had the Governor's blessing for industry's money were thinking about those students. It was highly conceivable, we thought, that those present would not reveal themselves to be the social stigma of a tutor to that of the social stigma of a tutor. We were very pleased to find that this is the case.

Others present at the meeting came from the Department of Education, Misegazon, High School, Student Work Office, and the YMCA. Much later the Governor's representative went to the meeting and gave us an opportunity to improve ourselves.

At this meeting, what counted was not that anything radically new or profound was really new idea carried forward, and that one does not receive any more when one is there.

The standard, of course, is that consistent pattern of judgment constructed from and that we can get there in the future. The result was that we make an impact, all that we had to do was tactfully ask an assumption or two and own it.

An example of this occurred when the subject was mentioned.

They, "We've had great success with the marketable school here in Carbondale. The school has received many dropouts and given them opportunities to train themselves for all kinds of jobs."

We, "But gentlemen, there aren't any jobs available."

Their response—good natured laughter—meant that no one in his common frame of mind, even if he know job statistics, felt any need to bring the figures to the floor. A phrase like "common frame of mind" suggests a related point which focused every body even though on the surface they think they have it. We refer to the phrase, "the fact that planning and professionalism were present, including teachers, house­ wives, and other social workers who feel that the plans of the planners made an attempt to bring together a variety of approaches to the dropouts, which was the reverse."

The speech was not achieved with a group of people who represent a variety of groups but whose plans exist for the same social goals, ideals, and ambitions. The unfortunate evidence for this arrived several days later in the form of the social minutes of the meeting did not include those items Pat and I had raised at the conference.
Letters to Morris Reflect on ‘Athletic-Ship’ Proposal

Dear Dr. Morris:

Enclosed is the bill which was presented by the Student Body President, Donald Boydston, to you on January 9. I am sending this letter to you to express my opinion on this matter. Perhaps you at KA World have had your own ideas on this matter. I know that the Student Committee has been meeting regularly to discuss this issue. I would like to contribute my ideas on this matter to you.

Sincerely yours,

Donald N. Boydston

Paluch Not Examining Full Story

Dear Dr. Morris:

We have received a copy of the bill presented by Mr. George Paluch to you on January 9 and have the following comments:

The Athletic Department did not initiate the student move. In 1963, the NAIA scholarship awards at Southern Illinois University were made by a committee consisting of the athletic director, the president, and the head football coach. This committee would operate under the NAIA scholarship regulations. Mr. Paluch was appointed to this committee by the Student Body President.

In 1963-65, approximately $10,000 was spent in the student fee for the purposes of the athletic programs. The Student Body President stated that this amount was the minimum required for the financial support of the athletic programs. The Athletic Department was not responsible for the amount of $10,000.

We were asked about the student athletic fee at Northern Illinois University which was put into effect this year to support NCAAscholarships. The Athletic Department was not involved in this matter. It is the responsibility of the Student Body President and the student governing body to finance as many monetary awards as possible.

Since becoming head of the athletic department in 1963, Mr. Paluch states that many students have been guaranteed scholarships. We have received a copy of the bill presented by Mr. Paluch to you on January 9, and have the following comments:
U.S. Forces Rout Viet Cong With Little Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong's An Lao Valley stronghold fell quietly to the allies Tuesday. So did two Communist stores of food and other supplies built up within a long day's march of Saigon. The guerrillas were campaigning elsewhere.

Thousands of U.S. air cavalrymen and Marines and South Vietnamese airborne troopers swarmed unopposed into the 15-mile-long An Lao Valley, 300 miles northeast of Saigon, in the third phase of a coastal offensive launched last month.

Villagers said the Viet Cong — who vowed to stay, as they had since the 1950s — blew up the valley's chief settlement and pulled out the IS-mile-long An Lao Valley, whatever the Viet Cong to sit at the peace table under certain conditions. In rejecting Johnson's peace moves, North Viet Nam has insisted the Front is the only representative of the South Vietnamese people.

Then Thieu delivered another blow to U.S. policy. He said he would be unwilling to meet with any representative of the Hanoi regime, and the U.S. has discussed with Johnson an increase in the number of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam. There are 201,000 U.S. troops there now and the number will be increased, he said: "I can say the new troops arriving in South Viet Nam are not decided on."
Pope Abolishes Book Ban Body

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has abrogated an agency that for four centuries has banned books considered objectionable on the Roman Catholic faith, as Vatican reported Tuesday.

Paul's action was prompted by the long debate over banning books and the prospect of a vote in the Senate on the bill to legalize for states the right to outlaw union shop contracts.

The abolition did not do away with the index of books forbidden to Catholics, but it marked an important change in methods that many Catholic churchmen denounced as scandalous to the non-Catholic world.

Wiped out was the section for the censure of books. It was a principal feature of the old supreme Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office, the successor of the Inquisition.

Pope Paul ordered the Holy Office reorganized under a new name—the Sacred Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

The change—and the abolition of the book censuring office—were formalized in lists that appeared in the 1960 postfacial yearbook that came out Tuesday.

Dropped along with the book censuring agency was the Office of the Censor, originally called "the Inquisitor."

The cummunion had acted as kind of prosecutor.

Cloture Vote Fails To End Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration forces failed to blant a union shop bill home from the Senate filibuster Tuesday and virtually conceded defeat for this session of Congress.

Opponents of the bill which would give the right of states to outlaw union shop contracts turned back a move to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule.

The vote was 51 for cloture and 46 against, or 15 votes short of the two-thirds—60 votes—required to cut off debate.

Democrat Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who led a sticked to direct the losing fight to get the administration-backed bill before the Senate, carried out a previously anounced intention to set up another cloture vote Thursday. But he all but threw in the sponge by announcing that a military authorization bill for the Vietnam war will be the pending business when the Senate returns next week after a Lincoln Day recess.

The recess is due to begin Thursday after the second cloture vote, Mansfield said the bill is dead for this session if the losses again, he has been U. of I. Gets Loan

For Married Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Admin-stration said Tuesday it has received a $3,100,000 loan for the University of Illinois. The agency said the money would be for building 21 three-story buildings containing 252 apartments for married students.

Faculty Members Will Discuss Operating Papers Preparation

The "operating papers" now being prepared for the various academic units and agencies of SLU will be discussed at the February meeting of the SIU chapter, American Association of University Professors.

It will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Student Christian Foundation.

These operating papers, authorized by the new statutes, will be the embodiment and implementation of the University statutes. As such, they will help to spell out rules in decision-making organizational structure and like matters.

Charles D. Tenney, president for planning and review, and P. Roy Brammell, assistant dean of the College of Education, will lead the discussion on the papers.

A dinner before the meeting will begin at 6:45 p.m. Those wishing to attend the dinner must send reservations to William M. Herr, of the Department of Agricultural Industries, no later than Thursday. Price of the meal is $1.25 a person.

Batgirls Like Baseball, Salukis, School Spirit, and-Oh, Yes, Boys!

Three strikes and you’re out! But Southern’s baseball players won’t need any strikes, should this be the case. On the contrary, they’ll be getting more than their share of sympathy from their staunchest fans—24 pretty batgirls.

Why would 24 pretty girls want to journey down the hill to the baseball field every home game just to supervise the action from the stands? After an interview with the24 spirited females, it became obvious that each girl has her own particular reasons.

For some, like Janet J. Rainwater of Highland Park, Susan Iscoe of Chicago, Mary M. Johnson of Moweaqua, Cynthia L. Nolan of Carbondale and Christy Genn of Pana, it’s the publicity angle that interests them. They hope by their presence they can promote more interest and spirit at the games.

Miss Tighe has even gone as far as giving up her favorite team, the San Francisco Giants, in favor of the Salukis. For Glenda G. Fletcher of University and Marie A. Delaney of HaroCrest, baseball runs in their families. Miss Fletcher’s brother plays for a farm team of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Miss Delney’s brother was asked to tryout by the Baltimore Orioles.

Kathleen E. Henschen of Pana always wanted to be a batgirl for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Diane L. Young of Arlington Heights and Mina L. Reid thought it would be lots of fun. Karen J. Krueger of Crystal Lake thought it would give Joe Lutz’s boys more initiative and spirit.

Joe L. Stahl of Carmi thought being a batgirl would bring her closer to her real two favorite likes—baseball and boys—and not necessarily in that order of importance.

Donna J. Frieboes of Mounds wanted to help encourage students to support baseball as well as they do basketball because she feels the baseball players deserve support, too.

Then there were those like Nancy K. Alles of Waterloo, Jan-Lie A. Flannery of Alton, Janet S. Allen of Harrisburg and Mary L. Edwards of Edisioin, N.J., who were drafted. Miss Alles was the choice of the Daily Egyptian sports staff while the other three girls were selected by Saluki Arma, first floor.

Anita S. Knezevic of Alhion had the most unusual reason for wanting to become a batgirl. She heard that her favorite television personality, Batman, was going to be on the team.

Ex-SIU Matman Wins in Tourney

The Hazel Park Wrestling Tournament’s heavyweight division was won by Larry Kremooff, competing for the Chicago Wrestling Club on Saturday in Detroit.

Kremooff wrestled heavyweight for SIU in 1964 and was a member of the American Olympic team in Japan. Dean Ohi, a 123-pound freshman, finished third in the tournament, losing to Oklahoma State’s Hanz, a 1963 NCAA champion.

Tony Kuzmanoff, an SIU varsity wrestler, must have been tired after the tournament, for he competed in eight matches and finished third in the 152-pound division.

Athletic Facilities To Be Available

Swimming facilities will be open to all students at the University pool, Friday, from 7 to 10:30 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Students should bring their activity cards or their student ID’s.

Weight lifting facilities will be available in Room 103 in the Stadium Monday through Friday from 1 to 3 and 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Basketball and Volleyball facilities will be available in the Arena, Friday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. and Sunday from 8 to 10:30 p.m.

WRA Slates Cage Tourney For Saturday

SIU will be the host for a women’s sectional basketball event on Saturday for 21 teams from eight college conferences.

About 200 players plus officials are expected to participate, according to Charlene West, faculty adviser for the Women’s Recreation Association, affiliated with the Department of Physical Education.

Last year in sectional play, SIU’s No. 4. 200 was undefeated, Miss West said. Thus far SIU has defeated two teams at Principia College, Elsah, and one at Blackburn.

SIU is the clubhouse for all intercollegiate competition scheduling this year. Saturday’s tournament will be held in four locations—the Women’s Recreation Association, University School Gymnasium, the SIU Arena and Lincoln Junior High School Gymnasium, Miss West said.

Schools which will participate are University of Illinois, three teams; Illinois State University, four teams; Eastern Illinois University, four teams; Western Illinois University, three teams; Principia College, two teams; SIU Edwardsville Campus, one team; and the host organization, four teams.

Student leader for WRA basketball is Marilyn Harris of Carbondale, formerly of Paucab, who is SIU’s high scorer.

Forestry Center Plans Under Way

Architects now are working on plans for a new Forestry Research Center to be built on the Carbondale campus.

The building will be situated on land southwest of the campus to be used by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The area designates the building to be used by the Agriculture Building and the new Physical Sciences Building.

SIU also leased 40 acres of land in the southeast of the campus to be used by the U.S. Forest Service. The U.S. Forest Service will build a greenhouse and headhouse on the property for development of a walnut timber research center. Walden is becoming an increasingly scarce hardwood.

SIU also hopes to use this property for a greenhouse for teaching and research, if funds are available.

Hartman: Tiger Loss Was ‘Real Disappointing’

Coach Jack Hartman expressed the team’s feelings Tuesday over its 65-61 loss to Oklahoma in Monday night’s game.

“IT was real disappointing for the boys to lose one like that,” Hartman said. “You would have had to see it to believe it.”

The Salukis were referring to Tennessee State’s 19-point surge in the closing minutes that paved the way for the invaders to come from 15 points down to win.

“We aren’t an impressive team physically, and we rely on drive and effort. The boys were down by 15 the loss, and it’s hard to find words to explain a game like that to them,” he said.

It will now be Hartman’s job to get the Salukis up for Thursday night’s game with the Puerto Rican Olympic team, as well as for the tough upcoming schedule. He said he knew little about the Puerto Rican outfit, but understood that they gave the American Olympic team a good game when they met.

Monday night’s loss on the road was Southern’s fourth in eight games away. This 50-point accomplishment was a 10-0 record on the home court.

But the Salukis play only two more games on the road, and almost every opponent is sure to put up a considerable effort against Southern.

The only other home engagement beside the Puerto Rican Olympians will be the upcoming game, which is at home against Evansville Feb. 20. Although little is known about the Olympians, plenty is known about the Aces. They were beaten soundly by Southern over there last month and are not rated as highly as the Salukis. But when Evansville and Southern take the court, it’s anybody’s game—just as they appear on paper.

Of the four road games, two are against major college opponents, Wichita and Oklahoma State, and the other two are against Southern opposites Indiana State and Kentucky Wesleyan.

Southern upset highly rated Wichita in the Arena over Christmas week, but the Shockers have been playing good ball ever since. They undoubtedly will be very tough on their home court, Oklahoma State had its greatest year ever winning this year, but the Cowboys could be top-notch for their home court. Southern upset the Cowboys in the SIE arena a year ago. In the last two meetings, Indiana State hasn’t been rated as high as the top two either wire service poll yet, but has received some votes. The major difference in the Salukis a real battle here even before the full season, and the Panthers could be even better at home. They are somewhat comparable to Southern and Evansville as far as the boys are concerned. And judging from the earlier Southern–Panther meeting, it’s safe to say the Salukis could be in for a real hassle at Owensboro next Tuesday.

65 Shoplifting Cases Noted
In Carbondale During Year

many thefts in department, where two of the girls had been. Sue looked around to see if anyone was watching, and then turned toward her friend and snuck a 35-cent package of lunch meat from one of the girl’s open purse. The officer to the other half of the purse of caramel that he had in his hand, walked over to the girl and asked them to open their purses.

Sue is not in school this quarter. She is one of the few who have been suspended from school. It was the second time that she had been caught, and she will not be allowed to return to school for a year.

Both girls were given reprimands, and they have received their fines imposed on them for this quarter and the next year.

Sue and her friend are not real, but a composite based on police information about the 65 persons who were caught shoplifting in Carbondale last year.

But local merchants estimate that many more are doing it. In fact, they say their losses to sticky-fingered persons is more than $100,000 a year.

The amount of dollars worth of merchandise annually stolen is an enigma. Clothing to cold tablets are fair game, the merchants say.

You can always tell when one’s been at work,” one store owner said. “And preferably prior to their shifts to avoid empty cartons and packages discarded in the store.”

Thomas W. Zaleski, coordinator of student affairs, said these are similar to cases similar to Sue’s, said, “Basically, there is no need for students to shoplift, that’s why they do it. There are loans available to students who need immediate cash, and there are a variety of jobs on or off campus available to students who need additional income.”

Zaleski said many students have been caught shoplifting ad mit that they didn’t really need the articles. The problem of justifying their shoplifting behavior begins to realize the consequences of such a criminal act.

Thomas L. Leffler, security officer, said the police record that students get when they are involved in shoplifting will be a blemish against them for the rest of their lives. It will appear in job interviews, it may prevent them from becoming an officer in the armed forces, and it may make it difficult to enter professions where a license is required.

Matmen to See Action
In Arizona Invitational

Coach Jim Wilkinson is expecting some tough competition this weekend at the Arizona Intercollegiate Invitational when the wrestling team takes on matmen from Utah, UCLA, Winnington, Idaho, Colorado, Arizona and Arizona State.

In particular, Arizona State is strong in the lightweight categories, while Winnington and Cal Poly are best in the middleweights, and the Utah schools have good heavyweights.

Team balance should pay off for SIU, with most of the weight filled by good men with the chances of success. What will hurt the SIU matmen are the wrestlers who will be going to Phoenix for the Arizona Intercollegiate Invitational, also to be held this weekend.

George McCreery, an outstanding heavyweight, cannot attend as the Illinois State Dual meets last week, and will not be able to miss the invitational.

McCreery's absence will mean keeping him out for at least another week.

At Bulow and at Lipper, both injured this week, will be out for the season. SIU will be missing Bulow's brother, should be back at the end of this month.

The invitational will be a round-robin meet, and each wrestler should get to compete at least three times. Wilkinson is glad to be going.
