Social Senate Still Involved in Debate Over ROTC Cuff-Link Petition; Other Requests OK'd

The cuff-link proposal of the ROTC Military Club, which would have the Social Senate as the final arbiter in tying the club on campus, was defeated by a vote of 21-20. After the regular business meeting on Oct. 18, the Senate was convened to consider the recommendations of the committee appointed by the University Senate to look into the matter of ROTC and its connection with the Rotaract Clubs.

The recommendation of the University Senate was that the Social Senate should make the final determination as to whether or not the ROTC could be tied to the Rotaract Clubs. The Social Senate was not in favor of this recommendation and voted against it.

The Editors' Opinions

Photographic Censorship

There has been much debate and discussion about the treatment of pictures in the press. Is it possible to take pictures without being observed? How many photos can we hide from our readers? What are the rights of photographers? What do they have the right to而不 allow us to see?

The problem is not just one of right versus wrong. It's about how we as photographers and photojournalists treat pictures. One's approach can change the way the world sees pictures.

When I look at a picture, I am always thinking about what the picture means. Is the picture true to life? Is it a reflection of reality? Is it an expression of oneself?

I don't believe in taking pictures that are not true to the story. But I do believe in taking pictures that are not true to the facts. I believe in taking pictures that are not true to the people.

I believe in taking pictures that are not true to the audience. The audience is not always my audience. Sometimes it's my editors. Sometimes it's the government. Sometimes it's the public. Sometimes it's just me.

I believe in taking pictures that are not true to the past. Sometimes it's the future. Sometimes it's the present. Sometimes it's the past.

I believe in taking pictures that are not true to the environment. Sometimes it's the economy. Sometimes it's the environment. Sometimes it's just me.

Blind Student Wrestlers

A Southern Illinois University wrestler is practically a "two for one" deal. When he wins, he not only takes all the points he scores, he also takes the points scored by his opponent.

Locals have been shocked to discover that SIU wrestler George (Doniel) Edmondson has been blind since birth. Now, his wrestling success is even more incredible.

Blindly wrestling with a "braille" mat in his grips and with a "blind" partner, Edmondson has managed to compile a 3-1 record. He has won by pinning his opponent in the first period, and lost by pinning his opponent in the second period.

Edmondson's most recent win was against Missouri's Larry Davis, who is also blind. Davis was taken down in the first period and pinned in the second.

Edmondson's next opponent will be M. L. Davis of the University of Chicago. Davis has a record of 2-1, with one loss to Edmondson.

On Monday, Edmondson will face his toughest opponent yet, a local wrestler who has never lost a match. This match will be held in the gymnasium at 4:00 p.m.

Edmondson is expected to win this match, which will set a new national record for consecutive wins by a blind wrestler.
