Motorcycle Safety Rules Promulgated

The SIU Vehicle Traffic and Safety Committee has sent recommendations concerning mandatory motorcycle traffic rules to President John S. Rendleman, business affairs, and Ralph W. Buffener, assistant vice president, for possible administrative action.

"The committee, headed by Paul W. Isbell, director of business affairs, believes that it should be mandatory for students riding motorcycles on campus to wear safety helmets, that side-saddle riding by motorcycle passengers be prohibited, and that an area be set aside on campus for training cycle drivers.

Other regulations recommended by the student and faculty committee include: that all students registering courses must present a valid driver's license, and that the academic year be set aside on campus for training cycle drivers.

Woody Girls Dreaming of Perfect Dates, Wishing IBM to Do Superhuman Justice

By Maggie Perez

A few spotters, several guys, a loud whirring sound and 300 girls in Woody Hall will each have the "perfect date.

The odd sounds come from the IBM computer that with Woody Hall coeds with dates from University City for an IBM dance at 9:30 p.m. Jan. 21 in the University Center Ballroom.

With the cooperation of the SIU Data Processing Center, personal information of the students participating will be fed to a computer that will match students according to common social and intellectual interests.

Philip Baker, a junior from Elgin and Terry Finley, a freshman from Geneseo, both residents of University City and cochairmen for the event, said they got the idea of an IBM dance from Oberlin College in the fallsemester.

They asked so much information, it's just got to work.

If a Hard, who is Shroyer's academic adviser, declined to comment on what the person gets a poor date. However, "He's going to discuss philosophical issues," they asked so much information, it's just got to work.

If a Hard, who is Shroyer's academic adviser, declined to comment on what the person gets a poor date. However, "He's going to discuss philosophical issues," they asked so much information, it's just got to work. It has been rumored for several days that Shroyer had resigned, but officials of the University and Shroyer had been unavailable for comment.

Shroyer was contacted at the College Athletic Association meeting in Washington and confirmed he would not return to coach the Salukis next season.

"I was asked to resign," Shroyer said. He declined to elaborate.

University officials remained silent about the firing and/or resignation of football Coach Don Shroyer but almost everyone else on campus had an opinion on the subject.

Elmer, Clark, dean of the College of Education and chairman of the Intercollegiate Athletics Committee, who is Shroyer's academic adviser, declined to comment on the matter.

It cannot comment on appointments and resignations until the Board of Trustees acts," Clark said.

Others were not so silent on the matter.

Jim Hart, starting quarterback under Shroyer, said. "He was a good coach and a very nice guy. I liked him; some of the other players didn't, I guess that's their life.

Hart, who signed as a free agent with the St. Louis Cardinals, added that he hoped that Shroyer would coach the Cardinals. Shroyer was the assistant coach before coming to SIU.

Darwin Payne, Instructor in theater, said he felt that a losing team did not justify a man's losing his job.

Howard B. McKay, a senior football player, on the other hand, was in favor of the move. "With the potential we have had in football, we should...

Town Locks Culture, Educational Progress-
This Is Ridiculous! Claims New Resident

Having read Mr. Don's editorial entitled "Southern Illinois University - World's Largest Junior College" (December 13, 1965), I am more than ever convinced that we are indeed facing a national crisis of education in southern Illinois.

We are a Hoosier family of seven who came to Carbondale in 1940 from Kokomo, Ind. in June. Since the educative years, we have appreciated the importance of such an institution as SIU and the unique qualities here before my husband accepted a position in the Math Department. Our native town, Carbondale, takes it as a personal affront if one even dares to question the value of any one of the school system.

Their attitude is: "Of course we have nothing but the finest faculty, excellent staff, and a high level of materialistic scholarship." The most gigantic error we've ever made as Southerners is to assume that "culture" will be re-named, "Sleepy Hollow" or "Appyville" or, from the standpoint of "Clutter's Corners.

We were pre-empted to notice some difference between Kokomo, an industrial city of 50,000, and Carbondale, a college town of about 18,000. But this is nothing when compared to the difference in "culture" in Kokomo than has been noticed of a school whose faculty has my days with me, and to the point. In the 17th century treatises, I have learned to write essays, cartoons, and materials submitted be considered as a separate fee. In doing so, I must flatter about the country-side, collecting meeting and labeling Insects! Our children did this in the seventh grade! The same fifteen-year old is being spoon-fed seventh-grade English in the 10th grade today, yet.

In Kokomo, our children were recognized for exceptional talent in the third grade and kept in groups of like ability for the next nine years.

Our own daughter went to Purdue on a scholarship to a small liberal arts college in the north, but was expected to take it in the development of a potential major in the sciences.

In twenty-one years of marriage, this move is the only thing that has ever made! Carbondale might be a number (or a pen name) but I know the people and the game in the 10th grade yet.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A seventh-grade dropout and disillusioned Ku Klansman told the House Committee on Un-American Activities Tuesday a tale of church burning, plot and belt-whipping morality.

"I knew I couldn't go on with those kind of things," John H. Gipson said as he ly described the whipping of two grade dropouts and the burning of a church. "We understand and we'll take care of it."

When he went to work later on the morning of Aug. 3, 1963, Gipson said he heard on the radio that the building, the Providence Baptist church and the Harrell Methodist Youth Center, had burned.

Gipson, speaking in a low, soft drawl laden with the idiom of southeastern Louisiana, testified that after the church burnings he "got on the side of the law," and became an informer for the sheriff of St. Tammany Parish.

He quit the Klan only last week, he said, when he testified in a state trial in the Klan whipping of Clarence O'Berry. O'Berry was whipped because the Pearl River Klan wrecking crew decided he needed straightening out," Gipson testified, saying:

"There was this boy in the community O'Berry and Oscar Anderson said he was drinking and laid out at night and needed straightening out with a belt."

"State of the Union" Address Set Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson presents to a concerned Congress today a personal report on the simmered state of the war in Vietnam and the State of the Union at home.

Johnson might be able to announce anything so significant as a hoped-for start toward the peace table. The State of the Union address will be delivered to a combined session of the Senate and House at 8 p.m. EST in the House chamber. The message will go out to millions of listeners and viewers on radio and television. It will be televised in color.

Uppermost among the topics with which Johnson must deal is the lingering war in Vietnam, and whose end he seeks in a peace offensive launched toward the close of the old year. The state of the war in Vietnam inevitably touches the State of the Union at home—the size of the budget, the size and number of home front projects of the "Great Society," and even prospects for continued prosperity.

Defence, as it has for many years, is expected to require more than half the federal spending.

Buddy——A soldier suffering from heat prostration is carried on shoulders of a buddy toward aid station as the Blackouts of the war swept the Viet Cong compound on the Saigon River.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Two major U.S. divisional heads arrived yesterday to flush the Viet Cong from the jungles. Only light contact was reported.

Saigon awaited arrival Wednesday from Australia of presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman. There was speculation he may be carrying new instructions to U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Harriman has been touring world capitals sounding out opinion on negotiations that would bring peace to South Vietnam. But there has been no word from North Vietnam of meeting or of any willingness to talk.

Nor is there any similar sign of a Communist set up on the battlefields, despite the elusiveness of the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese regulars who have infiltrated into the South.

A furious barrage of heavy 120mm mortars brought down by North Vietnamese regulars hit a company of the U.S. 1st Division on the edge of the Viet Cong iron triangle 25 miles northwest of Saigon, but caused only light casualties.

Occasional bursts with rear sights to this drive, known as Operation Crimp, brought the total Viet Cong losses to 84 dead and 38 captured in four days. But this was far from what the allies had hoped for in this biggest U.S. push of the war.

Paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne, which will be the 1st Division and the Royal Australian forces make up an 8,000-man force in the operation, pushed 20 Viet Cong Wednesday and found 10 more bodies after an air attack.

The soldiers found more than 100 houses all with concrete walls, a trench system, 33 bicycles and seven Gem line at the Saigon River. A stampede swept an immense crowd of mourners converging on Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's residence for his funeral Wednesday.

India will honor the agreement Shastri concluded with Pakistan.

Several hours before the cremation time, the body of the 3-foot 2 leader was brought to a veranda between two sections of the official residence, the platform inclined to his remains would be more plainly visible to the sea of mourners. Special fluorescent lights illuminated the body through the night as millions streamed through.

As home minister and ranking Cabinet member, Nanda became prime minister in accordance with tradition. A meeting of the ruling Congress party members of Parliament, planned in the war future, will decide whether Nanda or someone else will carry on as prime minister until elections in 1967.

Delegations of the great and near great from around the world hurried to New Delhi to represent their nations at the state funeral.

Larger cars

Longer trains

Better business for everybody!

Better business for us shippers, better business for the public, better business for us!

The longer trains and larger cars have accomplished. They have made hauling freight more economical, turned the tide of traffic back to the Illinois Central and other railroads.

Fast, economical freight handling is so vital we've invested some $41 million this year, mostly for new cars. Economy also demands the most effective use of manpower or our country's entire industrial complex will suffer.

More than 5,000 new freight cars added in 1964-65 have helped us do a better, bigger job for all our friends and neighbors throughout Mid-America.

Tasks of Saluki Police Force
Afford Safety and Protection

By Bob Reincke
second in a series

Southern's enrollment is booming, so is its property holdings.

As the demand for more protection and law enforcement increases, the number of students and faculty members, and to the University's vast property, the 30-man Security Police force are the obvious parties. Illegal possession of liquor, partied parties, and minor theft. The major offenses under the heading of student conduct are loud noise, houses, and minor theft.

Although they may be pictured by some students as eagle-eyed policemen who can spot an unregistered car or a cycle at 500 feet, they actually provide many services each day which go unnoticed.

For instance, a security policeman accompanies any student to court to determine that no excessive charges are filed against him.

Also, the Security Police provide for the guarding of any valuable exhibits on campus. A $5 million art exhibit was on display here last winter, and the Security Police provided an around-the-clock guard on the collection for three months.

Another duty is riding the holiday trains to Chicago to maintain order among vacation-happy students. This duty was started two years ago when the railroad threatened to cancel student trains after the railroad threatened to cancel student trains after a near-riot erupted during the Thanksgiving vacation trip. Since then the railroad has reported no trouble.

Geographically, the Security Police are second only to the Illinois State Police in area of enforcement, according to Thomas Leffler, chief security officer. This is because the security police have powers of arrest in any county where the University owns property, Leffler explained.

These services and many others are in addition to the everyday task of crime prevention and investigation.

This basic task is becoming more demanding since the rate of student crimes is increasing faster than the rate of enrollment, according to Leffler. Since January, the police have answered more than 1,300 complaints from students and residents of the city.

Most of these complaints result from student conduct and minor theft. The major offenses under the heading of student conduct are house parties, illegal possession of liquor, fires, and false alarms. Leffler says that fire thefts constitute a time-consuming problem since each item must be checked with the inventory before it can be listed as lost or stolen.

Leffler believes that the main reason for the increase in the crime rate on campus is the crowded living situation.

"Overcrowding poses a psychological problem and increases the opportunity for crime," he said.

Leffler, who has been with the Security Police for eight years, said he has seen a slight increase in the rate of crime since he came here, but added that this could only be expected as the University continues to grow.

"There's no comparison between the situation now and the way it was when I came here," Leffler noted. "Then I knew most of the students by their faces or at least knew something about them, but now I only recognize or know something about very few of the students."

Leffler frequently signs bond papers to release jailed students who can't post bond on their own.

"I've been doing this for eight years, but none of them has ever skipped out on me," he said.

Leffler said the Security Police maintain what he called an excellent relationship with the students.

"We get along very well. I think the situation is the best of any campus I've ever seen," Leffler noted.

Leffler did, however, express concern over the growing inability of the present force to meet its demands during a normal day.

"All of the men work overtime, if they didn't, I'd have to think of what might happen here."

He explained that the Security Police are being asked to provide services, such as guard and escort duty, that no other agency on campus has the means to provide. He also explained that this spreads out the policemen, and when something happens to which he must send men, there often isn't enough of the force available.

SIU to Face String Of 4 Rugged Foes

By Bob Reinecke

After winning surprisingly tough games with Washington and Kentucky Wesleyan, Southern is facing four straight rugged opponents in defense of their No. 1 standing among small colleges.

The Salukis will be in Arizona this weekend for games Friday with Arizona State and Sunday with the University of Arizona. Arizona fought Brigham Young all the way before losing 87-74 last Saturday, Brigham Young, which has men standing 6-11, is ranked ninth among major colleges.

Arizona State, and Southern will take the cap over the holidays by upstaging Michigan.

After the Arizona trip, the Salukis travel to Evansville next weekend. The Purple Aces, Evansville may be ranked behind the Salukis and may have lost three of its 12 games, but it's still Evansville.

The game will be especially tough for the Salukis playing Evansville on its home court.

The Aces play in Roberts Municipal Stadium, but Southern will be unbeaten on the home court for almost three years, before Iowa knocked them off as the start of the current season.

Any loss this year will put a feather in the Kentucky Wesleyan cap, but the Salukis' first 11 points and now 12 points have a man with 10.

How much influence the closeness of the last two games will have on Southern's ranking remains to be seen, but the next four games should be a crucial test of Southern's top billing.

Freshmen Rally to Defeat Kentucky Wesleyan, 72-64

Southern's freshman basketball team defeated the Kentucky Wesleyan Freshmen 72-64 in a Monday night game.

Stil.: overcame a seven-point hole with only 2:09 remaining in the third victory of the season.

Willie Griffin, a 6-3 forward, led Southern with 22 points. Dick Garrett contributed 10, while Whicker 10, and Lynn Howerton 7 to the Salukis cause.

Southern held a 1-point advantage in rebounding with 61 rebounds to Wesleyan's 54, but the Aces have 12 more points.

The rebounding strength off a .347 field goal percentage.

Kentucky Wesleyan ran into foul trouble with two starters fouling out in the closing moments.

Griffin fouled out due 14 rebounds to load both teams. He is scheduled to play by Coach Bensimon with I.I. Griffin with 10.

Kentucky Wesleyan was led by Jack Swan, who scored 19 points before fouling out.

Benson scored six points, Rich Bruckner four, Gene Watson three, and Leon Brown two for Southern.

Early Misery Hits Saluki Baseballers
By Joe Cook

"Misery loves company" and members of the pitching and catching staff will have that next week when baseball practice officially begins.

This week the pitchers and catchers started rolling out of the sacks at 6 a.m., but starting next week they will be joined by the infielders and outfielders who will also make the early pilgrimage to the Arena.

Baseball season is still three months away, but new Coach Joe Lutz will install a bunting cage in the Arena.

Meanwhile the search for more bats is still on, Lutz announced that the deadline for signing up is Jan. 24. All candidates are requested to send their names, addresses and phone numbers to Lutz in Room 130 in the Arena.

News of Shroyer's Leaving Is Surprise, Players Say

... had a winning team, Saluki coach to the team as if they were professionals—that is, he ignored many of the basic fundamentals that a college team should learn.

Paul G. Ramirez, a senior majoring in theater, said, "I don't like to see anyone get fired, but he's evidently not a good coach—the team looked kind of poor even in the fundamentals." Annette L. Funkhouser, senior majoring in physical education, summed up the general consensus in saying, "I'm kind of glad he's leaving, because I just didn't think he was a good coach."

Here are some of the reactions from other football players:

Isaac Brightman, starting offensive tackle, said, "It was a shock to hear the news. I'm sorry for Coach, but had some bad breaks that he couldn't overcome."

Willie Wilkerson, starting defensive lineman, said, "I was a little off guard."

Koufax Landslide Choice As AP’s ‘Athlete of Year’

Sandy Koufax, the sensational southpaw pitcher who set a major league strikeout record, was overwhelmingly selected the Male Athlete of the Year for 1965 in The Associated Press year-end poll, Tuesday. Koufax struck out 382 batters, topping the mark of 348 established by Cleveland's Bob Feller in 1946. The Dodgers left-hander won 26 games and lost eight, and led the National League in earned run average for the fourth consecutive year with 2.04. He also pitched his fourth no-hit game, another record.

The 30-year-old Los Angeles Dodgers' star collected 224 first-place votes in the balloting by 306 sports writers and sportscasters, on a basis of three points for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third. Koufax had 78 points, Bill Bradley, Princeton basketball star, was a distant second with 153 points and South Africa's Gary Player, winner of the U.S. Open, 10th title, was third with 152 points.
