Political officials: Bush in, Dole out

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

George Bush has apologized for Super Tuesday. Bush bagged victories in all 15 Republican primaries on March 3.

Bush's closest opponent, senator Joe Lieberman, is a Democrat. Lieberman's campaign's presidential candidates in this election are not yet known.

Dole's campaign is looking for happy hour among 25 delegates that separate him from Bush, Roy Doerr, Jackson County Republican Central Committee chairman, said.

"I never thought Dole could capture the (Super Tuesday) states," Doerr said.

Dole has the horsepower to close the gap of 33 delegates.

"They'll make a turn off if Bush is not done," Doerr said.

"We're hoping to get the votes," Doerr said. "Dole is just a step."}

Human error possible in crash, official says

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (UPI) - Two Army UH-60 Black Hawk helicopters collided in-flight at 80 mph and crashed in flames during a night training mission of the 101st Airborne Division, killing all 15 soldiers aboard, officials said Wednesday.

The cause of the Tuesday night crash was being investigated by the Army Air Safety Center at Fort Rucker, Ala., but an Army official in Washington who asked not to be identified said there is "evidence accumulating" of human error.

Army spokesman Maj. Randy Schoel of the 101st Airborne said: "There have been 55 incidents involving military helicopters in 1989; out of these, 12 were human error." He added: "We have 55 accidents a year. That's why there are 55 accidents a year. If there had been 20, that would be an improvement." Schoel said the crash was "a major setback for the Army." Prineas wants more jobs

Democrats failed to put S. Illinois in working shape

By Dana DeLascoume
Staff Writer

Editor's note: This is the first of two stories profiling the candidates for the Republicans' nomination for the 22nd Congressional District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Peter Prineas says he wants to bring jobs and industry to Southern Illinois.

Prineas, who is vying to represent the 22nd District in Congress, said he will bring jobs to the area the only way it can be done — by bringing industry to Southern Illinois.

"I'm (POSHARD) just don't realize the unemployment rate," Prineas said.

He felt the local legislators' offices are used for campaigning, not to serve constituents. Prineas said he would use them to bring industries here.

"If you wait for industries to get to Southern Illinois, it won't get here," Prineas said.

People at the office would research industries that might help subsidize the operations. The office workers would then make proposals to bring the industries here, Prineas said.

Researchers would then create cost-benefit analyses for the companies, Prineas added.

RIGHT NOW, high-tech industries are paying through the nose in Silicon Valley," Prineas said. "We'll prove to them that they'll be better off here.

Local Republicans say Prineas, 60, and his opponent, Patrick Kelly, are alike in most respects. They are both conservative — they oppose higher taxes and they are against abortion.

Democrats have held the 22nd seat in the House of Representatives since 1863. Prineas challenged Paul Simon, who is now a senator, for the seat in 1976 and 1982 but lost both times.

SOME REPUBLICAN PARTY officials and local officeholders say Prineas' unsuccessful challenges weren't a total failure because they gave him wide name recognition among voters.

State Sen. Ralph Dunn, R-Du Quoin, said Prineas enjoys more name recognition than Kelly.

Tripped and BAS: not the same issue

THERE HAS BEEN a reasonably large outcry in support of social work professor Luke Tripp’s quest for tenure and for the salvation of the Black American Studies program. Most people seem to believe that Tripp’s tenure and the fate of the BAS program are somehow commissarily intertwined. But this is not the case. The BAS program is a very valuable program and must be brought back at least to the level at which it operated five years ago. In order to do this, the two faculty members who were let go since 1983 must be replaced and two general education courses that have been cut must be reinstated.

But granting Tripp tenure is not necessary to save the BAS program. Tripp must be subject to the same requirements for tenure that every other faculty member is. It is up to his colleagues and superiors to decide if he should be so honored.

It is highly unlikely that any of the students who have come out in support of Tripp’s tenure have any idea what the requirements for tenure are, or if Tripp has fulfilled them.

If the administration decided to support the BAS program, the Tripp program would be staffed by qualified professors, whether Tripp is one of them or not. The real goal of protesters should be to gain University support for BAS, not for Tripp.

Martial arts dispute mainly hurts students

MARTIAL ARTS ARE supposed to teach self discipline — both physical and mental — but the behavior of some of SIU-C’s martial arts club’s leaders is any indication, they haven’t learned much.

For the past year or so, the function of the University Martial Arts Club and of the Aikido Club — namely, to teach students martial arts — has been lost in a battle of egos and dirty politics on the part of the club’s leaders and custodial faculty employees, the clubs in trying to get or maintain status as official sport clubs has ranged from childish to downright malicious.

Both clubs claim they’ve been cheated in one way or another by the Recreation Center administration. But the real losers who really have been cheated are the students of SIU-C who have been denied the opportunity to learn martial arts.

Letters

History packed with gay warriors

Troy Arseneau’s letter about gays and the military is so misinformed and bigoted that I am amazed he was able to get it published. Arseneau compares gays to murderers, drug pushers, child abusers, etc., and claims that gays cannot live up to the Army’s high moral standards.

Mr. Arseneau is entitled to his opinion, but the facts are not on his side. Psychological research over the past thirty years has found that gays and lesbians are just as mentally healthy as anyone else. Unlike the groups Arseneau lumped gays together with, gays are not criminal nor is homosexuality illegal.

Arseneau criticizes the editors of the Daily Egyptian for their lack of military knowledge, but his own knowledge of military history seems pretty slim. For example, Mr. Arseneau is aware that the Spartans of ancient Greece, the best soldiers in the world for hundreds of years, were mostly gay? The Spartans never lost a battle until about 570 B.C. when they were defeated by the Sacred Band of Thebes. Unlike the Spartans, who were mostly gay, the Sacred Band was entirely explicitly gay, being composed exclusively of monogamous gay couples.

The Trojan Band, in turn, went undefeated for about fifty years. At this point they were destroyed by Alexander the Great, who was also gay, and whose lover Hephaestion fought by his side.

I could go on and on listing notable gay soldiers and generals, such as Julius Caesar (bisexual) or Frederick the Great of Germany (interesting how many of history’s ‘Greats’ were gay). The point is that given the great number of outstanding gay military men, it’s absurd to claim that gays can’t make good soldiers.

Indeed, the case discussed in the DE editorial concerned a soldier with an impeccable record and professional decorations. The Army itself doesn’t claim gays aren’t good soldiers, just that they are vulnerable to blackmail. Of course, they wouldn’t be vulnerable to blackmail if the Army didn’t have anti-gay policy.

Mr. Arseneau claims that the army needs “high caliber individuals who work together in a highly professional manner.” I absolutely agree. That is why the Army would be well advised to welcome lesbians and gay men, but to ban racists, homophobes, and all other bigots. — Michael C. Bock, graduate, counseling psychology.

Blacks responsible for their own situations

In high school and went on to college, I probably would have been more comparable to that of whites. I don’t see the same problem in schools that are primarily black and those that are primarily white. Blacks can blame what happens to them, the same way we would be considered racist. Maybe April should be called Black April, not Black History Month. — Sean Peache, Jr., campus, business administration.

Saliuki Patrol dislikes smart-aleck satire

Saliuki Patrol dislikes the cartoon by Tyrone Williams where the main characters are blacks who are considered either bad men, etc.

My letter is in regard to the recent cartoon by Jod Prest satirizing the Saluki Patrol. The Saluki Patrol is an organization that monitors the activities of students on the campus. Hey Jef, if you don’t like the cartoon, tell the legislators. If you don’t know the law, ask the legislators. It’s really bad to see an attitude like yours expressed publicly.

Most, if not all of the Saluki Patrol members are preparing for a professional law-enforcement career. To be referred to as “pseudo-cops” is very degrading. Does this make you feel like a pseudo-cartoonist working for a pseudo-newspaper? — Steve Bryja, junior, law-enforcement.

Haircuts, Elvis and the Kennedys: subtle forces affect campaign '88

After Super Tuesday's primary voting, the pundits are pondering what it all means. For quite some time, the Kennedys were seen as much to be feared as to be revered. It's pretty easy to see how it's all going to turn out.

George Bush: He was the big winner. Now nobody will ever again be mentioned as the Republican for minorities. It's probably as it should be, since he's the most traditional Republican of all the Republicans, well-behaved socially, prominent and a dazzling figure in tennis legs.

A true prediction: At the conclusion of the campaign, there will be an acceptance speech that will be the story of our history's cardinal.

Robert Dale: He was born in the late '40s, one of the last members of the first century as a nation, politicians dueling with pistols, called each other names, lying, she-worepfied unfriendly editors and scowled for their portraits. They were permitted to have a "dead hand" side, such as Abe Lincoln, who was given to periods of depression. Not many of us want to see if you have to have an aw-shucks grin like Reagan or an apple-for-the-middle smile like Bush. But Dale's misfortune that he looks like he just evicted a widow.

Pat Robertson: There will be many theories offered for Robertson's campaign. Maybe God changed his mind. Or it was a good year for the devil. But most Republicans don't speak in tongues and aren'tbald. The most important factor was Elvis. Presley. Just when Robertson was beginning to peak, a wave of Elvis nostalgia appeared on TV. Elvis: Is he really still alive? Does his spirit make him a bigger voter, a bigger Democrat? Fraser talked about it. It's not exciting, he looks like he just evicted a widow.

Harralson said it is normal combat procedure for helicopters to fly in formation at night, but added he did not know if that was the case when the two choppers collided at 90 mph.

School said the pilots “were flying visually — with night visual goggles — which amplify existing starlight and moonlight.”

Weather conditions at the time of the crash were good. The National Weather Service said skies were overcast with 5-7 miles visibility of about 7 miles, and winds of 10 mph.

In Washington, Pentagon Army spokesman Maj. Phil Soucy said there were 10 passengers and four crew members on one helicopter and three crew members on the other. Each Black Hawk can carry 11 fully equipped soldiers in addition to its normal three-person crew, Soucy said.

The two helicopters and seven crew members were from two companies of the 101st Airborne. The 10 passengers were members of the 2nd Battalion, 502nd Infantry Regiment. All part of the 101st Airborne.

At least that is how we feel." Witness for Peace has a long-term delegation of 25 to 35 people who stay in Nicaragua from eight months to several years and short term delegations that stay for two weeks, she said. "We document Contra attacks and stay in the war zones doing any other minor work that might need to be done," Hartzog said. In 1984 Hartzog was a short-term delegate in Nicaragua. Since the group started sending delegations in 1983, there have been two other kidnappings of group supporters, Hartzog said. One was a boatload of 20 to 25 supporters who were detained overnight. The other was the 1987 kidnapping of Paul Fisher, who was taken by the Contras and held for two weeks. "We see the kidnappings as harassment for our involvement," Hartzog said. The group also lobbied by telephone for Fisher's release, she said. "The kidnappings haven't affected the delegations," she said. "We were only doing two trips and we are now doing three a month." Hill said he doesn't anticipate as many burglaries to occur during spring break as did in December, but added "you never know." Hill said that police patrols will be increased during the break. Ferry said on-campus housing will be regularly checked by University police and housing staff members who remain on duty during the break. "None of these things are a guarantee, but all you can do is minimize the burglars' opportunities," Hill said. "Lights should be left on or "buy a timer for six or seven bucks," Hill said. "Have the post office hold all mail and have newspaper delivery temporarily stopped." Delegate for Kirkpatrick hasn't given up yet

By Susan Curtis

At least one delegate on the Illinois primary ballot admits he is fighting a losing battle.

Carl Schweinfurth of Mount Vernon, is running as a delegate in the Republican primary for former U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick and as the Native American candidate for Illinois Lt. Governor.

Kirkpatrick, a native of Mount Vernon, is running as a delegate for the Illinois primary and as the Native American candidate for Illinois Lt. Governor.

Kirkpatrick decided several months ago not to run for the Republican presidential nomination.

Schweinfurth said Kirkpatrick, who is known for her conservative views on foreign policy, has taught political science at Georgetown University and is currently working for the American Enterprise Institute in Washington, D.C. She also gives lectures and writes a syndicated column for the Los Angeles Times.

Schweinfurth said Kirkpatrick's seven years of experience as a U.N. ambassador and foreign policy adviser to President Reagan has given him a "very realistic approach to the situation in the United States as well as the rest of the world."

Schweinfurth said this is the "first time I've ever run for anything, but I'm just so excited about her and her contributions that I want to keep her before the American people."

Schweinfurth said he has known Kirkpatrick and her family for several years. He said he has done much campaigning because of a recent illness, but said he hopes to encourage people to vote for him by sending out press releases and newsletters.

"One of my biggest disappointments is that I haven't been able to get out and meet voters," he said.

Striking continues for workers at Murphysboro aluminum plant

By Steven Starke
Staff Writer

Striking aluminum workers picketed the Penn Aluminum International plant in Murphysboro for a second day on Wednesday.

Members of the United Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 712 voted unanimously to strike after contract negotiations with a federal mediator broke down on Tuesday. The strike has idled the workers.

Richard Ramsey, a member of the union’s arbitration committee, said the company was “willing to make good profits but say it’s not enough. They want us to give up so they can call again.”

Representatives for Penn were unavailable for comment.

The union will wait for the appointment of another federal mediator before renewing negotiations. It will probably be about a week before talks resume, Ramsey said.

Despite dropping temperatures Wednesday afternoon, the strikers said they are prepared to stay out as long as it takes and will picket the plant around the clock.

Another striker, Dan Leslie, a packer with the company for more than a year, said Penn “won’t even sit in the same room with us to negotiate.”

The union has the option of filing for arbitration if a decision is not reached through negotiation.

The Board of Trustees will consider today whether to send a grievance to an outside arbitrator.

The board originally was scheduled to hear Charles A. Goben’s case at its February meeting, but board members felt they needed more information before they could make a decision.

According to a news release from the Illinois Education Association, the union representing Goben, Chancellor Lawrence Pettit will recommend that the grievance not be sent to an outside arbitrator.

The union says this is an indication that the chancellor will “never allow any grievance at SIUC to go before an impartial outside arbitrator.”

Pettit has said that he is not opposed to using outside arbitrators. But he said that the merits of such cases need to be considered before a decision can be made on whether to argue the issue before an outside arbitrator.

Goben was denied compensation for work he did after a judicial review by the Illinois Education Association. He has been a part-time professor of computer science.

According to an IEA news release, following the decision, Goben said he was unfairly denied compensation for work performed while he was teaching at SIUC.

Templemeier and then-president Albert Somit said Goben already had received credit for his work.

Also before the board:

— A 3% increase in the Students’ Attorneys Program fee—from $2 to $2.35.

— A 3% increase in the Student Medical Insurance Premium for the summer and fall.

$9 boost for fall and spring. Summer fees would rise to $23.75 and fall and spring fees would rise to $39.50.

— A proposed refund for students at the medical school in Springfield who have been paying for health service benefits, which they do not have access to.

“Switching Channels” has audience turning off plot

Kathleen Turner plays Kristy, a top-notch reporter for a 24-hour news program for which her ex-husband Sulli, played by Burt Reynolds, is the news director.

Predictable story and weak acting make movie dull

By Dana Schulte
Staff Writer

Movie goers looking for a comedy with believable acting and a good script shouldn’t bother seeing “Switching Channels.”

The characters in “Switching Channels” are not convincingly themselves and the story itself is unbelievable and predictable. The only real surprise in the movie is that Burt Reynolds doesn’t play the usual knight in shining armor.

Kathleen Turner plays Kristy, a top-notch reporter for a 24-hour news program for which her ex-husband Sulli, played by Burt Reynolds, is the news director.

The idea of a divorced couple working together and its treatment in the movie is far-fetched, although the movie is based on the successful play and movie, “The Front Page.”

The story opens with Sulli sending Kristy on vacation, to tell her to quit and move to Chicago, where he books all the flights. While she is on the verge of an emotional breakdown, Kristy meets and falls in love with yuppier-than-Neil Blain, played by Burt Reynolds, is sometimes deadpan and sometimes mighty funny. His language often makes his lines worthwhile.

These short-lived humorous moments don’t make up for Reynolds’s generally unconvincing acting. His deadpan face and weak body language often make him seem like he is just going through the motions of his role. Burt also plays a generally flat character, with only one scene ‘in which he shows a spark of personality.

Race to presidency makes pit stop in Illinois

Dole needs win; Jackson, Simon vie for home votes

By United Press International

The presidential spotlight shifted Wednesday to next week's primary in Illinois, where Sen. Robert Dole sought a revival following his Super Tuesday drubbing and Democrat candidates girded for battle.

"We're going to save this campaign in Illinois," Dole said in Chicago. "The issue is recovery state." "We're going to save this campaign in Illinois," Dole said in Chicago. "The issue is recovery state.

But Bush sent Dole a telegram saying, "I respectfully decline" the senator's challenge to a series of Lincoln-Douglas style debates across Illinois. "I believe it is now time to look ahead to the issues that distinguish us from Democrats," he said.

Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis "hit the road running" in the Democratic race with visits to South Carolina, Virginia and New Mexico. "We're going to save this campaign in Illinois," Dole said.

The Senate Republican leader needs to win 15 percent of all Republican National Convention delegates selected from Illinois, along with home state Democratic delegates.

"It's a hotly contested race," said civil rights leader Jesse Jackson Jr of Tennessee predicted a "major battle" Thursday in the Democratic race.

"We're going to save this campaign in Illinois," Dole said.

"It looks like we're on our -- -- that George Bush has a chance to put him above the top," Thompson added, "so as he accepts the nomination at New Orleans and is sworn in as the next president next January, Illinois is in a position to be favorably remembered. I'd like to see that," Thompson said.

THOMPSON SAID he believed the vice president would post a "strong" victory in the preference poll and capture the majority of the 83 Republican delegates at stake in next Tuesday's Illinois primary. "I think the Dole people all but said that if George Bush wins Illinois, that's probably it," Thompson said. "If the news reports are accurate, Senator Dole would have to win 65 percent of all the delegates available from here on out and I just don't think that he can do that.

"He can't do that in Illinois, certainly not in New York -- he's not even on the ballot in half the district's in New York -- and certainly not in Connecticut," the Illinois governor added.

Governor: Illinois has chance to catapult Bush 'over the top'

"Illinois Republicans have a unique opportunity," Thompson, who chairs Bush's Illinois campaign, said. "New Hampshire Republicans brought the Bush campaign back to life. Super Tuesday in the South gave him a strong lead.

"I think the vice president's in good shape, but this is a tough political race -- all political races are tough -- and this is a tough state," he said. "We don't necessarily do what everybody else does.

"I think the vice president's in good shape, but this is a tough political race -- all political races are tough -- and this is a tough state," he said. "We don't necessarily do what everybody else does.

"WE'RE RIGHT next to Iowa and we're also right next to Minnesota and I think with the kind of campaign that George Bush is capable of, he can -- turn the state for the next five years, going to get the job done for him," Thompson said.
Debate team retains No. 1 spot

The SIU-C debate team continued its bid for a third consecutive Cross Examination Debate Association championship with first- and second-place finishes in competitions last weekend.

The team of Mike Korcok and M. Scott Parsons helped the squad maintain the nation’s No.1 spot in the CEDA rankings with a victory over the University of West Florida at Pensacola in the finals at the University of Florida Gainesville Gator Invitational.

The field of 39 teams — representing 17 schools — also saw SIU-C take the top three spots in individual competition. Chris Carey came in second to Illinois Central College of East Peoria. Valerie Suliaro and Bibi Christoff took third in the 14-team event.

In individual competition, Chris Carey took first place, Suliaro took second, and Christoff fifth. The team will travel to Butler University March 18-20 for its last national meet before the CEDA national finals at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., in April.

The field of 39 teams — representing 17 schools — also saw SIU-C take the top three spots in individual competition. Mark West received top honors, while Parsons took second and John Lapham placed third.

He was probably one of the most improved players by the end of the year," Jones said. "Timmy will probably be our fourth starter. He doesn't have great speed but he knows how to set the hitters up. He has patience."

Right-handed starter Chris Bend returns after winning all five decisions with a 4.46 ERA in his freshman season. Senior left-hander Cliff Mcintosh was 2-4 with a 5.70 ERA as a part-time starter last season.

Junior Shane Gooden will again pitch long relief. Last year, the right-hander was 1-1 with a save and a 3.36 ERA.

"Shane Gooden's starting to gain back some of the confidence that I felt he lost last year," Jones said.

The Salukis have added a 6-foot-3, right-handed pitcher to their staff, Rick Shipley, a forward on the basketball court, who will be on the mound on occasion.

Knox also started a tradition for the field hockey team — keeping a dog as a team mascot.

"He had this dog named Shane Timber that she used to bring to practice," Illner said. "He would sit by the fence and chase the batters back around once in a while. Pretty soon the entire team adopted him and he became our first mascot. We've got a new dog just about every year since then."

Knox said Timber is about 12 years old now. "He's got a little arthritis in his hind end, but he's doing pretty good."

In her four-year basketball career at SIU-C from 1973 to 1977, she had 565 rebounds. She is ninth on the all-time list and shares the one-game record of 21 rebounds with Sue Faber. She also had 19- and 20-rebound games.

"I was the type of player who didn't care who we were playing or what the score was," Knox said. "I didn't make mistakes and I didn't do anything to hurt the team and play. I loved the game.

"I never wanted to come out of the game. It was a game I had to sit down," she said.

"I was playing against Illinois State because they had this real big girl, Charlotte Lewis, who I had to go up against. She was about 6-foot-6 and she could dunk the ball, which was something you never saw back then. I usually did well against her though, because she was lazy and I could out-hustle her."

"Kathy was a hard competitor," Illner said. "She played very hard all the time. She also played extremely well. She was a big part of our championship teams in the late seventies.

"She developed a lot over the four years she was here," Illner said. "I thought field hockey was her favorite sport by the time she left."

Knox said: "Yeah, field hockey was a lot of fun. There was a lot less tension than there was in basketball. You could just go out and have fun."

Knox also started a tradition for the field hockey team — keeping a dog as a team mascot.

"She had this dog named Shane Timber that she used to bring to practice," Illner said. "He would sit by the fence and chase the batters back around once in a while. Pretty soon the entire team adopted him and he became our first mascot. We've got a new dog just about every year since then."

Knox said Timber is about 12 years old now. "He's got a little arthritis in his hind end, but he's doing pretty good."

Rec Center sets summer youth camp
By Greg Huber
Staff Writer

Three hundred local youths aged 5 to 16 will be able to enjoy a free sports camp this summer at the Recreation Center.

"It's a camp for economically disadvantaged youths," Intramural Coordinator Buddy Goldammer said. "It's open to youths within a 30-mile radius of Carbondale."

The five-week camp, part of the National Youth Sports Program, will be from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. weekdays from June 13 to July 16.

People interested should sign up at the Recreation Center by June 1.

At the camp, the youths will engage in swimming, basketball, volleyball, soccer, softball, flag football, tennis, racquetball and fitness, graduate student Lori Lynn, the program's activity director, said.

Speakers at the camp will address a variety of topics including personal health nutrition, drug and alcohol awareness, and career opportunities and responsibilities. Lynn said the goal is to have a speaker every day.

"Free lunch will also be served to the kids and we will provide busing for the participants who need it," Goldammer said.

The youths will need to take a free physical. Details on times and where to go for physicals are being worked out, Goldammer said.

The National Youth Sports Organization, in operation since March 1969, added SIU-C and three other schools to its program this year, in addition to 133 other colleges and universities in 40 states already in the program.

Funding comes from "a federal grant tunneled through the NCAA," Goldammer said. A committee of SIU staff members supervise the program.

Ticket increase proposed

A proposal to increase ticket prices for SIU-C athletic events will go to the administrative-professional staff committee Tuesday before it becomes final.

Bruce McCutcheon, assistant athletic director, said this was for an increase on all tickets, which would be a 100-percent increase for students.

The prices would be in effect for the 1988-89 school year.

"When there was an increase several years ago, it was guaranteed that student admission would be kept at $1 for two years," McCutcheon said. "As I see it, that agreement lapsed five years ago.

The student all-sports athletic pass, which entitles admissions to football, men's and women's basketball, gymnastics and volleyball, will be increased from $10 to $20.

"That student all-sports event for pass holders, McCutcheon said.

IAAC member Jay Lewis opposes the increase.

"I just felt that it would be counterproductive in trying to improve student attendance by raising the prices," he said. "But I still felt it was a tremendous bargain."

Maggi Cutcheon, an IACC member who supports the proposal, said, "I understand where Mr. Lewis is coming from. But I think it will be a good deal for those guys stay healthy, it will help our staff."

Senior right-handers Meyer, Beattie and Harry are "counterproductive as I see it," McCutcheon said.

"I haven't thrown as much this season because of injuries," said Meyer, "and Beattie is coming off rotator cuff surgery. Beattie had tendinitis in his pitching arm.

"In 1986, Meyer was 3-4 with a 4.06 ERA. For his career, Meyer has 82 strikeouts in 96 innings. He also issued 81 walks. Also, in two seasons ago, Henley was 8-1 with a 2.77 ERA but plagued by arm problems and was limited to six appearances.

"He seemed like he was coming along real good," Jones said. "Suddenly he ran into a bad day. Henley hasn't had as much pain but he hasn't thrown as hard as Meyer has.

"The key to the Salukis' season could be the comeback of Beattie, who was the stopper out of the bullpen two years ago. He recorded nine saves as the Salukis won the MVC regular season championship and finished at 39-25-2.

"But, the opposite was true this season. In the first 10 games we had big leads in."

"Senior right-hander Dale Hall has played the best of the starting rotation. In the last two seasons, the two-time all-MVC pitcher compiled a 116-4 record with a 3.07 ERA."

"Jones has penciled in Meyer as the second starter with senior-hander Rich Campbell in the third spot. Moved to close games."

Itchy to depend on health of 3 returning pitchers

The Saluki baseball team will go as far as its arms will take it.

"It's going to depend on the arms and how well the arms of Lee Meyer, Dave Hall, and Larry Beattie are," Coach Itchy Jones said.

"If they're healthy, it'll help our staff."

Senior right-handers Meyer, Beattie and Larry are "Itchy to depend on health of 3 returning pitchers.

In the early seventies, John "Mouse" Garrett sold 300 tickets for basketball.

Garrett, 36th on the Salukis' all-time scoring list with 995 points, dazzled the fans from 1970 to 1972 with his passing tactics.

"He was so quick," Saluki teammate Greg Struck said.

"He was a good shooter and an uncanny passer.

Now Garrett is using his tactics as a sales representative for Dunbar Distributors, a wholesaler for Anheuser Busch.

Although Garrett graduated from the University in 1973 with a degree in physical education, he tried out for the Chicago Bulls but didn't make it.

He then wanted to be a teacher and coach. He started out as a junior varsity coach at Redbird. In the late seventies, he started at Dowell.

"I haven't really used my degree (in physical education)"

But I never really regretted it," Garrett said.

Garrett said he first got a love for basketball from his brother Chuck.

His brother, who was Garrett's high school coach, was killed in a car accident.

Garrett said that after that he had to be his own ambition for coaching.

"He'd give me the confidence and knowledge (to play)," Garrett said.

Garrett played two years at Central High School and then transferred to Patokah High School to play for his brother.

While at Patokah, Garrett averaged 20 points per game and his team was 22-3 his senior year. This is when Garrett sold himself on Saluki basketball.

"I went to see SIU and Wichita State," he said. "That was the first time I'd ever been in the Arena. That's when I

Vondrasek still a rebounder

By Steven Welsh
Staff Writer

Kathy "Stretch" Vondrasek, one of SIU-C's top rebounders, is looking for a rebound.

After she received a master's degree in physical education and coaching at SIU-C in 1983, she taught physical education and coached basketball at Colorado Springs, Colo. This job lasted three years.

"I was an assistant coach in the middle of nowhere," she said. "It's a kindergarten through twelfth grade."

She came back to Illinois to coach basketball at Wood River. She was a teacher at Rantoul Junior High until a little more than a year ago.

"I lost my job right around the time my second child was born, so it was great that I got to spend some time at home," she said. "But I haven't been
