The expression, “That’s just like a woman,” has been reiterared by males all over the world. And yet, we wonder what would happen if we asked the pertinent question, “Just what is a woman like?”

We don’t know. After living for 20 years and realizing firmly that women are basically different than men, we know little more. We have observed a few faults which we believe can be credited to the opposite sex, but occasionally, such as ailments, the bladder is a female organ, and the heart is a male organ.

When your girl friend stands up, that’s just like a woman. When your wife can’t agree with anything you say, that’s just like a woman. And when your English teacher gives you 200 pages to read over night, that’s just like a woman.

In fact, everything unpleasant in this world is just like a woman. But how did the gentle mouse acquire such a lovable reputation? Well, believe me, it wasn’t easy. Ever since Eve handed Adam the apple, women have been doing naughty things. And one reason women are so unpredictable is because they have left no stone unturned to lose the spirit of men. If this can be accomplished only by saying something dumb, by crying, by playing possum, by flirting with other men, by groping, or by living recklessly, then that’s the way they’ll accomplish it.

And so, if women complain because they are referred to as surnabulls, drift, dumbbells, show-offs and teases, it’s all their own fault, they’ve brought it upon themselves.

Taking the popularity question into consideration, we maintain that the only reason the female is popular today is because she is the only other sex.

Maybe someday this dazzling, but unpredictable creature will redeem herself in the eyes of the male world. But until that day, her every thought, word, and action will be described by the saying, “That’s just like a woman.” — J. K.

ENGAGEMENTS

Joan Collett, Delta Sigma Epis-
BASKETBALL, Coach Lynn Holder will be at one time and always gave the best. He had a knack of picking young talent like Coleman, they go, we know that every one! 4:30 slot. He was always in there trying, a student, as a worker, and as a trackman. Joe has excelled. The track, was the spark-plug of the team. A product of Carbonade itself, McLaughlin has long been one of the money runners for Coach "Doc" Coyle. For points at the time when they were needed, it was McLaughlin, the little man with the big heart, that always came through. Joe may have won or lost in his final appearance in the maqoon and white doesn’t matter, because smooth striking Joe won’t be forgotten by track lovers of Southern Illinois.

THE LEATHERNECKS from Macon are now sole possessors of first place in the I. L. A. C. conference. The Western team, which has lost only one conference game thus far, can find itself in a first place tie with the Salukis. This would occur if they lost both ends of their two game series with the Northern Huskies, provided Southern wins both games at Normal.

Do you know that...
