CCFA injured by budget cuts

Loss of faculty contributes

By Beth Clevin

Poor pay, loss of faculty, no spending and depressed education are all factors behind the College of Communications and Fine Arts.

There are a lot of mixed feelings and opinions among the directors and chairpersons. None of them know for sure what is in store for the upcoming semesters, but all have a good idea: cuts, cuts and more cuts.

One problem affecting each department and the college as a whole is the loss of faculty and staff and not being able to replace them, academic heads said.

The other-than-salary budget, which includes money set aside for mail and telephone use, and general supplies is another problem.

Almost all the college's directors and chairpersons agree that the combination of these problems will have a negative effect on quality of education at SIU-C.

"Which department and the college as a whole is the loss of faculty and staff and not being able to replace them, academic heads said.

I don't think we're providing adequate or quality classes here," Kington said. "I personally believe that if a student pays for an education...

Former Carter advisor endorses Bush

By United Press International

Democrat Michael Dukakis accused George Bush of poor foreign policy judgment Monday, but the governor's attempt to shore up his international affairs credentials was undercut by a former Democratic national security adviser's endorsement of the vice presidential candidate.

In Washington, Bush named a 1:member task force on national security affairs, a for his campaign. Bush's national security campaign that includes Zbigniew Brzezinski, former national security adviser to President Jimmy Carter.

"In my view of the two candidates for the presidency, George Bush is the one who can best fashion an effective bipartisan foreign policy..." - Zbigniew Brzezinski

In addition, Frederic Malek, Bush's choice as deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee, resigned Sunday following a newspaper report he once compiled a list of Jewish employees in a branch of the Labor Department.

In other campaign action:

- A Harris poll commissioned by Business Week showed Dukakis, who led Bush by 17 percent points after the Democratic convention, now trailing by 8 points.

- Republicans vice presidential candidate Dan Quayle received positive applause at a Rotary Club luncheon in Kalamazoo, Mich., where he charged that a vote for Dukakis is a vote for higher taxes.

- Democratic vice presidential candidate Lloyd Bentsen remained in his Senate office in Washington and was not expected to go back out on the campaign trail until Wednesday.

- In Philadelphia, Dukakis ripped Bush for his role as head of a task force on terrorist and participation in the Iran arms initiative, and said the record in both cases points to a question of "the judgment and the steadfastness required in the Oval Office."

Dukakis also challenged Bush to defend the administration's anti-drug efforts, in dealing with Panama Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, and declared, "My friends, we need answers and we need better leadership from the president than we are going to get with George Bush."

Nitz upset over 'intrusion in territory'

By Carrie L. Ferguson and Richard Goldstein

The brother-in-law of accused murderer Richard Nitz testified for the prosecution Monday at the Williamson County Courthouse that Nitz was the leader of the "Trug Club" and was upset because homosexuals were intruding on their territory.

Charles Bookmyer, of Deno, said "Trug territory was a 'place around Crab Orchard Lake' we went to when we rode motorcycles together." The area Nitz called Trug territory, Spillway Road around Crab Orchard Lake, is a gathering place for homosexual men.

Bookmyer said "everyone knows Nitz hated homosexuals."

In opening statements, State's Attorney Charles Garnati alleged Nitz is a "homosexual hate" and murdered Michael D. Miley, who was a practicing homosexual.

Miley's credit cards were used April 7 at the Kentucky Oaks Mall, Paducah, the day after he was reported missing. Sandra Neal, a J.C. Penney employee, did not identify Miley as a homosexual in a photo lineup, but did remember an April 7 sales transaction involving a woman and a man with sunburned hands...

Obelisk scrapped for 1988

By Jackie Spinler
Staff Writer

Graduating seniors will have to look for a new book of memories since plans for a 1988 Obelisk II yearbook have been scrapped.

A delayed 1987 Obelisk II yearbook, however, is expected to be ready for publication in early October, Pat Hart, Obelisk student editor, said.

The Obelisk is now staffed by a graduate assistant and student editor. Instead of many departmental editors, associate editors are now under one student editor.

"Not much has been done in the past six months, so we are busily trying to put the puzzle back together," Shetton said.

"She is looking toward a doctoral degree in higher education."
Hurricane rakes Jamaica with 140 mph wind gusts

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) - Massive and dangerous Hurricane Gilbert raked Jamaica with torrential rains and wind gusts up to 140 mph Monday, blowing down palm trees, sani­ tering windows and causing widespread flooding across the island. Thousands of people fled outlying areas and sought refuge in Kingston's concrete and steel sports arenas and other shelters. Jamaica's weather forecasters said the giant storm caused heavy damage to Kingston's airport and aircraft parked on the field.

Bangladesh president vows to prevent famine

DHAKA, Bangladesh (UPI) - President Hussain Mohammad Ershad said Monday that the millions of dollars pouring into Bangladesh barely put a dent in the suffering caused by the worst floods in 17-year history of the country, but he vowed "there will be no famine." Ershad said parts of the country still were cut off from food and medical supplies and he warned that the threat of epidemics loomed greater as the floodwaters slowly began to recede.

Multi-party elections offered in Burma

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) - Hundreds of thousands of demonstrators spurred a government offer to hold multi-party elections within three months and marched through the capital Monday demanding the Burman regime step down immediately. They were supported by 1,000 students who began a hunger strike Monday to press for the resignation of the Rangoon regime and the establishment of an interim government before any elections are held.

Bomb explodes in New Delhi bus, killing two

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) - A bomb planted by suspected Sikh militants exploded in a bus Monday at a New Delhi bus terminal, killing two people and wounding 12 others, police said. Authorities immediately declared a citywide full security alert in response to the blast and the discovery of three identical devices planted across the Indian capital.

Drought cuts crop production by 31 percent

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Federal Home Loan Bank Board created three subsidiary agencies to avoid federal salary caps and attract executives with illegally created the three agencies as separate entities to attract federal salary caps only modestly due to the months-long drought. Total production in 1988 will be adequate and prices will rise only modestly due to the months-long drought. Total U.S. grain production is forecast at 191 million metric tons, compared to the 277 million tons harvested in 1987.

Bank Board accused of paying illegal salaries

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Federal Home Loan Bank Board created three subsidiary agencies to avoid federal salary caps and attract executives with illegally high salaries, the General Accounting Office said in a report Monday. The bank board created the three agencies as separate entities to attract top-flight talent in its race to close the nation's foundering thrifts and bring down the entire savings and loan industry.

Wildfire in California destroys 30 houses

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) - A 12,000-acre wildfire touched off by an illegal trash burn leapfrogged through northern California's historic Gold Rush country Monday, endangering scores of homes. More than 30 houses had been destroyed. "It's a real devil," spokesman Ralph Rutherford said at the California Department of Forestry command center at the Nevada County Fairgrounds. "With winds up to 30 mph an hour, it's really bouncing around."
Guyon to discuss task force status

President John Guyon said he will speak about the formation of a permanent task force on the status of women on campus Wednesday at a program presented by the Women's Caucus.

The responsibilities of a permanent task force will be discussed, Guyon said.

Pamela Brandt, co-chair of the women's caucus, said that the establishment of a permanent task force was one of the first recommendations by the task force because they didn't feel they had sufficient time to address the issues.

Age doesn’t matter to swimming prof

THE EMERGENCE of a world record holder at a University desiring to shore up the image of its athletic department is good news. When the world record holder is a 73-year-old professor emeritus, the news is astounding.

Ed Shea, a professor emeritus in physical education and a member of the University’s Masters Swimmers Club, not only set his fourth world record two weeks ago, he defeated a former Olympic champion in the process.

Shea simply was able to demonstrate to young athletes the need of looking up to modern-day sports heroes who, at best, last a few seasons before fading in their memories.

SHEA’S NEXT stop will be Brisbane, Australia, where Shea will seek to add to his world titles in the 50-, 100- and 200-meter events at the World Masters Swimming Championships. About 40 swimmers are expected to compete in Shea’s 70- to 74-year-old age division.

We hope Saluki fans give Shea the kind of support and recognition he deserves. We don’t expect many of us will make the flight to Australia, but we can offer him a spiritual pat-on-the-back.

SHEA OBVIOUSLY is not in the games for recognition. He has had an outstanding coaching career and could easily retire with laurels in retirement. What sets Shea apart is his willingness to keep trying, to rise each morning and swim at 6 a.m. at the Rec Center pool, doggedly chasing a dream with the spirit of a much younger man.

Shea caught a piece of that dream two weeks ago in Buffalo. Among those Shea defeated there was Albert Vanderweeghe, the captain of the 1936 Olympic team and Shea’s boyhood hero. Shea’s victory gives everyone a reason to not give up, no matter how great the odds.

THOSE IN THE MEDIA who are quick to criticize Shea’s next move will have to suffer the kind of support and respect Shea desires. In our eyes, Shea is a world class individual, regardless of age.

Hart gets first down

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR Jim Hart surpassed his first goal: He raised more than $86,000 in his first 56 days on the job. He should be commended for his success, but we must keep his achievements in perspective.

He has reached what could be compared to a first down early in a very long and crucial game.

Hart’s $86,000 was raised as least $20,000 to meet the athletics department budget. We hope he accomplishes this fund-raising feat and in the process more money is generated for academics and other endeavors of the University.

HART WAS hired because of the perception that he will be able to raise more money for athletics. We don’t know yet if he is better than past athletics directors at ferrering out the will to donate to Saluki athletics.

At the end of the year, we will be able to see how well Hart has fared, by comparing his total with those of past years.

After several years, we will be able to say whether Hart’s early success was a flash-in-the-pan attributable to the presence of a well-known name in the area, or the result of a comprehensive plan.

We eventually can compare figures and learn if the new funded donors came from a pool of those who might have given to academic programs, had they not chosen to put their resources in athletics.

SO FAR, Hart appears headed in the direction he was hired to go. He came on in a whirlwind and got right to work with a coherent fund-raising plan that appears to appeal to the fans.

Hart has maintained the level of excitement he created with his “First $50,000” campaign.

We continue to generate enthusiasm among donors, we hope alumni and sportspersons of other areas of the University catch the fever too.

New Republican has problem with liberty and justice for all

My conservative friend Grump had a scowl on his face, he just said: "What was bothering you?"

"Don't play the innocent with me, Ed," Shea said.

I don't understand. Now that I have learned that Shea is a former Republican, I had hoped your hospitality would subsided.

Especially with our heroes, Bush and Quayle, leading in the polls.

What's what I mean?" Grump said. "You don't think for a minute that I believe there is any sincerity in your conversion to our Grand Old Party.

But I am sincere, cross my heart, hope to die, Scott's honor.

You weren't a Scot, you were a Democrat.

Well, my brother was a Scot. So I'll use his honor.

"Fiddlersick. I know what you are. You are a make-believer Republican."

Grump's you've seen too many Cold War spy movies. I've seen the light, and it's as simple as that. Come, let us drink the latest polls.

"Well, it's not as easy as that. You're going to have to answer some questions. And you'd better have the right answers."

TRY ME.

"What was Watergate?"

It was just an nickname for burglary. Wasn't all out of proportion just to bring down Richard Nixon.

"Who blew it out of proportion?"

That's easy. The no-good, low-down, dirty media.

"Hmmm, not bad."

Good. Let's have that drink.

"Can't do, sir. Tell me, what was Martin Luther King Jr. really like?"

A troublemaker, a rabble-rouser, stirring people up, making them want to use public washrooms, sit at lunch counters. Why, they were even concerned about the civil rights for black people."

"What was that?"

SORRY, A SLAP, Old habit. I'll be more careful in the future.

"You'd better. Now, who made this country pitifully weak, defenseless, a helpless giant in the eyes of the world?"

That's easy. The desplicable peanut farmer, Jimmy Carter.

"How did he do that?"

By standing by helplessly while our embassy in Iran was in the clutches of the Ayatollah's mob.

"Very, good."

Of course, none of the embassy hostages were killed and he didn't get any of our Marines killed.

"What's that?"

I'm sorry, another slip. Bad habits are hard to break.

You'd better be careful.

Next question: Who made this country strong again, got it moving, made us stand tall and proud and let the world know it can't mess with us?"

EVERYBODY KNOWS that the Gipper. And he made Grenada a decent place to live again.

Of course, our own big cities are falling apart for lack of federal funding, but nobody's perfect.

"Another slip, hey?"

Habit. It's so hard to shake as smoking. But I'm trying.

"And who got the economy back on its feet, brought down inflation, put people back to work?"

Again, the Gipper. Of course, we're printing money like crazy, and Japan now owns Hawaii, but we'll let the kids worry about that when they grow up.

"I'm beginning to doubt your sincerity.

Please, give me a chance. Do you want me to recite the Pledge of Allegiance?"

"Not now. Just tell me who the best man is to keep the Reagan revolution going!"

THAT'D BE GEORGE Bush. He has come into his own, as the wimp image. Or as George Will used to call him — a lap dog. Now he has become so decisive, yet open-minded, tough and aggressive, yet kind and compassionate. Say, how do you think his staff pulled it off? Maybe some brains or dose of gimmes?"

"I can see you, your answers are..."

Grump, give me a chance.

"All right. What has the media engaged in with Dan Quayle?"

A feeding frenzy. Oh, it's terrible. Worse than "Jaws." I thought Sam Donaldson would butchers.

"Not bad. And just what kind of person is Dan Quayle?"

A fine young man, with a loyal wife and wonderful children.

"Good. And what did he honestly and patriotically choose to do?"

TO ENLIST in the branch of service of his choice?

"Very good. There might be hope for you yet.

Yes, and people don't realize what a sacrifice it is for a six hardknapper to give up 30 weekends of a golf month."

"I know it, you're a male."

Please, Grump, you must permit me a bit of levity.

"Try to control it. Now, what will happen if the opposition wins?"

Oh, it will be terrible. We'll be weak, helpless, a pitiful, helpless giant.

"And what is the opposition lacking?"

He lacks foreign policy experience, the little twit. He's never been in the federal government. He's never been a governor of a state. All he's ever been is the governor of a state. Just like Reagan in 1980."

"I'm not going to listen to you, you com-symp."

"Please, Mr. President, think of the children."

"I know, you out, you com-symp."

"Look, I pledge allegiance, to the flag, and a new home in the land is better than two in the bush, and to the..."

KLEINAU SAID he has been dissatisfied with the temporary basis.

David Stevens, former chair of the Department of Theater, said he cut two graduate programs in order to save money and still give undergraduate students an adequate education.

Stevens said that undergraduate students are getting a lot more than they're paying for in terms of education.

Stevens said, "Comparing to the Department of English, we've got some people that specialize in theater, I think SIU gets just as good of an education for a lot less money."

Stevens said it seems every year the budget gets less and less, but the department seems to get by with what they have.

HE SAID the department eliminated four graduate assistant programs to hire another full faculty member.

David Gilmore, chairperson of the Department of Cinema and Photography, said his department is a very expensive one to maintain.

"We're in desperation," Gilmore said. "For instance, in the film department, to replace or repair a movie projectors is almost out of the question."

As for education, Gilmore said, "I think we're on the edge of adequate and good."

Gilmore added, "I'd like to think we're good, because it's very expensive to graduate from our program."

"SOME GRADUATING seniors spend as much as $10,000 on their final films," Gilmore said.

Gene Bruten, chairperson of Communication Disorders and Sciences, didn't comment on the situation, claiming it was "very sticky," but did say now was not the time to be a director or chair of a department.

Overall, the department's associate deans and directors are noticing the same problems and none has a sure way to solve them.

According to Michael Youngblood, associate dean of the CCFA, he and the other deans need to take a closer look at where cuts should be made in each department.

"We have the same budget as in 1987, prior to the reductions," he said.

"ACTUALLY, WE'RE better off. We didn't have to cut what hasn't already been cut," Youngblood said.

We encouraged some cuts, but they weren't as serious as we thought," he added.

"In the future we must manage to be more cost-effective," he said.

April 6 murder of Miley. Miley's decapitated body was found in the trunk of his car near Rockport Road in Union County on April 10 by high school students who were camping.

The students vandalized Miley's car and the trunk popped open, revealing Miley's body.

Miley's head has not been found.

The trial will resume at 9:30 a.m. today.

Robert Rouhos, director.

Rouhos said he sees a reduction in teaching assistants, the operating budget, which included travel, and the budget for the different departments.

"All this cutting will reduce service and performance," Rouhos said. "The school won't be doing as many concerts." Rouhos added, "Performing is learning."

Rouhos said the school did manage to keep the Marching Salukers whole, and first he thought they might have to cut it.

As far as his staff, Rouhos lost two faculty and will be replacing them with three.

Rouhos said the combining of classes won't affect the school very much.

"This school only has one class in common with the other departments," Rouhos said. "That's with the theater department, a class helping to protect the voice." Marvin Klein, chair of the Department of English, Communications, said he'd like to see the University give an exceptional education rather than an adequate one.

Kleinau said, "Right now this institution is providing students with an education that doesn't say, 'Fine, boy, get an education.' But I'd like to see SIU-C provide an exceptional education's."

"IN ORDER to provide an exceptional education," Klein said, "the University has to start paying its instructors more.

"Professors just can't sit around," Klein said. "They have to do research. They have to learn, "Oh, but right now the University isn't paying them to do that, and they're getting restless and leaving this University for others."

When asked about cuts in the department and what's in store for the upcoming semesters, Klein said, "If you don't do have it, you do miss it.

"Yeah, we've been going years without things the department needs," Kleinau added.

HE SAID the department eliminated four graduate assistant programs to hire another full faculty member.

University Farms to provide public tours of new facilities

By Lola Roberson
Staff Writer

The tour of the University Farms at 6:30 tonight is open to the public even though it is a meeting for local farmers, said Elden Shaffner, farm manager.

"Anyone is welcome," Shaffner said. "It's an open house type of format and not just for the farmers.

The two-hour tour will begin at the Physiology Research Center on Union Hill Road at the University Farms and will include tours of the new beef and swine facilities, said Robert Arthur, associate professor of animal science at the College of Agriculture.

Arthur said they will mainly discuss research being conducted at the animal centers and the facilities in general.

There will also be informal talks for farmers about beef and swine production techniques, he said.

Arthur said he will be speaking on the use of wet corn gluten feed for swine.

Wet corn gluten feed is a by-product of the corn wet-milling process, said Arthur. Corporations use the corn-wet-milling process in the production of ethanol and corn sweeteners, and, in the past, have sold the gluten to European countries, he said.

"Now it has turned into a case where production is outstripping utilization because the milling business has become so large," Arthur said. "We're looking for new uses for the wet corn gluten.

These new uses include using the corn gluten as feed in swine, as a substitute in rations for pregnant sows or as finishing rations for cattle, Arthur said. Finishing rations are fed to cattle that are almost ready to go to market, he said.

Farmers would have to buy the corn gluten directly from the milling corporations, Arthur said, and depending on the time of year, it could be less expensive than buying corn for feed.

Also speaking is Anthony W. Young, associate dean for research at the College of Agriculture. Young said he will be discussing the research being conducted at the Beef Center concerning the use of fish oil in beef to reduce heart disease.

Fate of diesel tax uncertain

Farmers and other off-road users seek repeal plan

CHICAGO (UPI) — The fate of a proposal to repeal the tax on diesel fuel used on farms and other off-road purposes remained uncertain Monday.

The tax of 15.1 cents per gallon collected on all diesel fuel sold to the National Highway Fund. Farmers and all off-road users must pay the tax, then apply for a refund.

Rep. Jim Jontz, D-Ind., a member of House Agriculture Committee and one of those pushing for repeal, said in a telephone interview Monday the law requires the government to collect a tax which the farmer doesn't owe because of the exemption for diesel fuel used on the farm.

"The farmer, in essence, is making an interest-free loan to the government and although he gets his money back it's only after a certain period of time and some inconvenience," Jontz said. "The last things farmers need are more forms to fill out and more hoops to jump through. They need the money worse than the government does.

Jontz said there have been recent abuses of the diesel fuel exemption for off-road use, but does not think they were as bad in the agricultural sector as in some other areas.

"I don't think the remedy is appropriate for the crime," he said.

"Obviously, I support proper investigation and prosecution of those who evade their responsibility for paying taxes on fuel that is not tax exempt, but this is like using a sledge hammer to kill a flea and is an unreasonable hassle and expense for the farmer.

Miami vaults ahead in college football poll

Despite not playing this weekend, Miami increased its lead in the Scripps Howard college football poll. Thanks to UCLA's walloping of Nebraska, the Hurricanes received 24 first-place votes and 591 poll points. Last week, Miami had 14 first-place ballots and 573 points. Nebraska fell eight notches to 10th. A week ago the Cornhuskers had 12 first-place votes. Moving up a spot, to second, is UCLA. The Bruins got two firsts and 592 points. Oklahoma's 21-11 victory at North Carolina was good enough for third, up three spots. The Sooners received a first-place vote. Clemson, with two first-place votes, remains fourth.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
Saluki women race to third place at twenty team SIU-E Invitational

By Robert Baxter
Staff Writer

The largest meet of the year so far for the women's cross country team proved to be a successful outing for the Saluki women as they captured third place in the SIU-Edwardsville Invitational.

The top finisher for SIU-C was senior Jane Schumacher, who after placing fourth in last week's triangular in 19:57, came back with a great performance this week finishing third, again with a time of 19:25.

Coach Don DeNoon predicted the top three teams in the tournament would be Dayton, Southeast Missouri and SIU-C, and that's exactly the way it turned out as Dayton came in first with 74 points, followed by Southeast Missouri and SIU-C and SIU-E tied for third at 141.

The Salukis were awarded third place on the basis of their fifth runner placing higher than that of SIU-E.

DeNoon said he was happy with the overall outcome of the race but he still doesn't know where his team truly stands.

"The athletes ran well, but I'm not sure we have identified ourselves yet," he said.

DeNoon said the situation was like a jigsaw puzzle with the Salukis not quite putting all the pieces together yet.

"I don't know whether we are a full grown Saluki dog yet, or just in the puppy stage," DeNoon said, referring to possible untapped potential the team has yet to show.

"Overall, I wasn't pleased with the outcome, especially with the athletes we had running," DeNoon said. "The course is considerably tougher than ours, and we ran well despite not having (No. 1 runner Lisa) Judiscak there."

DeNoon said Judiscak is doing light workouts now, running as much as 1.5 miles. He still does not know when she will return.

But Judiscak was not the only runner the Salukis were missing. Several runners did not compete because of injuries and sophomore Michelle Johnson, placed third last week, did not make the trip. The reason for Scarsino's absence was not disclosed.

DeNoon said a completely healthy team might have given the Salukis the edge they needed to win the meet.

"It definitely diminishes our capabilities when we are not running at full strength." In all, 122 runners finished the race and SIU-C placed three runners in the top 20 and eight in the final 100.

Junior Cathy Brown was 14th, Rosanne Vincent was 18th, Pam Quaaswhite was 22nd and Donna Griffin was 33rd.

Bears' McMahon ailing after win

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — Chicago Bears quarterback Jim McMahon threw for 190 yards and two touchdowns and was selected to the Bears' 17-13 victory over Indianapolis Sunday with assorted bumps and bruises as well as a game ball from Coach Mike Ditka.

"McMahon is a little soar," Ditka said Monday. "He got ripped on three plays. He got ripped on the touchdown pass to Donnie具体. He saw the kick coming all the way, still took the pump, threw the touchdown correctly. He laid it right in and takes that shot. I gave him that shot because he deserved it." McMahon completed 19 of 31 passes for 186 yards and one touchdown but also threw an interception, his first turnover in two regular season games for the Bears after he gave up just 14 in four preseason games.

Ditka said defensive tackle Steve McMichael also received a game ball for the five job he did in help in the rest of the defensive line in holding Eric Dickerson to 95 yards. The Bears have not allowed a 100-yard rushing game against them in the last 26 games.

Ditka said McMahon will be fine for the Bears' upcoming game against the Minnesota Vikings Sunday. He said he had no idea whether defensive line would be available following his hearing this week before NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for failing to take a drug test.

bicycle accident, left a hole that needed to be filled.

"I can't say I was particularly pleased with the outcome," Auld said. "But we haven't been able to practice any doubles, either.

Tough tennis players were not the only obstacle to overcome for the Salukis this weekend as injuries and illness also crept into the picture.

"There's a lot of respiratory problems going around," Auld said. "I had trouble with everything throughout the entire weekend."

Besides defaults from illness, two Salukis, Maria Coch and Lori Edwards, suffered grin pils.

"Hopefully they will be back by Thursday," Auld said. "Dana ought to be back Wednesday, too."

Looking ahead to the next meet this Friday at Indiana, Auld said she isn't worried.

Freshman finishes first as cross country begins season

By Robert Baxter
Staff Writer

The men's cross country team began its season last week with a loss at Kansas on Saturday, but they made their presence known, taking 10th place in the top three at the meet.

The team, led by junior Paul Burkshaw and a surprise first from freshman John Walbley, made some bad qualifying rounds at some time before. The men's team, ranked 15th in the nation for the season, finished third in 27:53.

Cornell said he knew the freshmen would be competitive from the start and their performances really gave him something to smile about.

"He (Dennis) looked awfully good," Cornell said, as Dennis came across the finish line in 26:52. "I am very pleased. The course has ours and it was a hot and humid day."

Cornell said he was proud of overburdened Harry and Mark Stuart, who finished ninth and 11th (28:02) respectively. Burkshaw, who finished third in 27:16, collapsed after crossing the finish line.

"He really showed me what he's made of by rounding himself to a complete stand still during the race and still finishing," Cornell said, adding that it took over an hour for Burkshaw to recover.

Sophomore Mike Kershaw finished a strong 12th with a time of 20:14, which rounded out the scoring for SIU-C. The top five finishers for each team are calculated in the final point-tallies.

Cornell said senior captain David Beaucham had been suffering all week from flu-like symptoms this weekend affected his performance as he finished 18th with a time of 20:30.

Other Saluki finishes were sophomore Dan Evansville, senior Bob Alfrey and junior Rob Garrett in 18th.

"Since we don't have a meet this weekend I plan on running the guys a little harder," Cornell added. "We will have our next meet in action in Sept. 24 at the Kentucky Invitational in Lexington."

Qualifying rounds held for golf teams

Defending conference champ fails cut

By John Wallbey
Staff Writer

The defending Gateway Conference women's golf champ, Julie Shumaker, failed to qualify among the top six players on the team following the first set of qualifying rounds.

Shumaker shot an 87, 89 and 88 for a 54-hole total of 264.

Shumaker was the conference co-medalist with a 54-hole total of 233. She also ranks among the all-time top 10 in several categories.

Women's golf coach Diane Daugherty said Shumaker had some bad rounds and never played well on qualifying during qualifying.

"I hadn't a history of not playing well on qualifying rounds," Daugherty said.

Daugherty said Shumaker will, however, go with the team the remaining two tournaments.

The team will qualify for the Western Illinois Invitational in Normal and complete as an individual. Her score will not count as part of the team totals.

Shumaker will have to wait some time before she has another chance to qualify the team.

The team qualified for the NCAA tournament.

The No. 1 spot on the team was captured by Lisa Merrill, who finished ninth in the conference last season, and shot a three-round total of 256 for the 54-hole quartiler.

The three freshmen recruit finished in the Nos. 2, 3 and 4 spots. They are Debbie Minter, Gina Giacone and Anne Childress.

The No. 3 spot was won by senior Peggy Ellsworth and No. 4 by junior Lisa Johnson.

Daugherty said the 15 schools competing in the tournament over the weekend, SIU-C could finish in the top three.

The men's team opens at the Northern Iowa Golf Classic in Cedar Falls on Friday.

Freshman Dirk Klaprodt shot a team-low average of 75.7 to take the No. 1 spot for the men's team. Four of the remaining seven players filled the roster, including senior Britt Pavelonis, sophomore Brett Pavevinski, sophomore Mark Bellas, freshman Sean Leckrone, and junior Mike Owens.

The three remaining players will not compete in this weekend but will be able to qualify for a position among the top five players later in the year.

Cowan, an all-conference player from four years ago, was in question early in the season because of a knee injury. However, he was able to return to action and play.

Saturaday is a medallist at the Midwest Fall Invitational, but Coach Judy Auld said she isn't too worried. "The fall isn't our main season," she said. "You mainly just want to take a look at everybody. If you can see progress and improvement that's the main thing this fall."

The Invitational Round is the next big event, four of which are in the Big 10.

The level of competition at this tournament was really, really high," Auld said.

"These teams will be finishing high in the top Big Ten," she added.

Notre Dame, Illinois, Purdue, and Indiana were the toughest contenders in the tournament. Notre Dame was included Miami of Ohio and Northern Illinois.

"My players feel good coming away with one or two wins," Auld said. "I'm pleased with the improvements that have been made in the team." Auld said her doubles team has practiced together and were prepared for such stiff competition. The absence of Dana Cherubini, injured last week in a
