Ibsen Play
Next On Bill
At Playhouse

Heinrich Ibsen’s “Rosmersholm”, the fourth play of the Southwestern Players Summer Stock company, will open Wednesday in the Southern Playhouse.

The play, described as pure tragedy, represents the struggle between ancient moral traditions and modern intellectual trends.

Clifford Halalp is the director.

A total of 19 in the production will be filled by James Symons who will play Rosmer, the clergyman, and Barbara Eberbardt as Rebecca.

Others in the cast, all members of the summer stock group drawn from colleges and universities throughout the country, are Gary Moore as Kroll, Rosmer’s brother-in-law; Carol Plonkey as Mrs. Helseth, the housekeeper for Rosmer; Charles Fischer as Ulrich Brendel; and William Lindstrom as Peter Mortensgard.

The play, which will run at the southern Playhouse through the 21, has been translated from the original Norwegian by Al Janicke.

The setting is designed by Darwin Payne, and the technical direction is by Charles Zeckler.

The final play of the summer season will be “Rashomon,” by Kurosawa. It will be presented July 24-28.

For tickets to the remaining shows, box office is open weekdays 10-11 a.m. and 3-4 p.m.

On show nights, it opens at 7:30 p.m.

After the final performance in the southern Playhouse, members of the summer stock company will take various parts in the southern Opera Workshop production of “The Music Man.”

Japanese Posters On Exhibit

An exhibit of Japanese posters from the permanent collection of the Library of Congress will be exhibited in the Mitchell Gallery in the Home Economics Building Monday to August 12, according to Benjamin Watkins, acting curator.

Watkins, who is conducting a class this summer in Oriental art, will present a lecture concerning the posters in the Mitchell Gallery July 22 at 3 p.m. Showing of the Japanese posters at SIU was arranged by Watkins and is sponsored by the Committee for Asian Studies.

Watkins said Japanese poster art, an ancient means of expression, has reached an amazing height of perfection in modern Japan. Some of the posters are intended as magazine covers, some as advertising aids and some as teaching aids.

“The Japanese posters are examples of imaginative use of spatial relations, line, color, and form,” Watkins said.

Visiting Irish Editor Discusses New York, UN And His Country

Irish editor Liam Bergin arrived on the SIU campus this week and set out to prove his admission that he and his people are “never short of words.”

In a few minutes he commented on New York and its people, transportation and scenery, the United Nations, Ireland and Ireland’s place in the world, Irish nationalism and Great Britain and, finally, his own country.

Bergin is here to deliver the annual Sigma Delta Chi lecture which will highlight the International Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors opening Sunday at Pere Marquette State Park.

The bus service to Carbondale churches is operating on the same schedule and route this summer as during the other terms, according to Rev. John Powers of the bus committee of the Carbondale Ministerial Association.

Starting times for the various runs remain at 9 a.m., 9:30 a.m., 10 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. However, he said only one bus is being operated during the summer so the return trips may be slightly later than usual.

Pickup starts at Thompson Point and other stops are made at Small Group Housing and Woody Hall. The bus will also stop to pick up students at other points along its route.

The churches the bus stops at, in order of stops, are Episcopal, Epiphany Lutheran, United Baptist, Church of the Good Shepherd, Western Heights Christian, Church of Christ, Our Saviour Lutheran, Nazarene, Unitarian, Christian Science, First Presbyterian, Walnut Street Baptist, First Christian, First Baptist, First Methodist, Bethel A.M.E., Rock Hill Baptist, and Grace Methodist.

Bergin chose a bus for travel from New York to Carbondale in order to meet people and view the scenery. While his people, because of their small island, aren’t accustomed to long motor trips, the editor said travel was comfortable because of the turpignikes. His suggestion: “Charge a little more and provide more space for the passengers.”

classes in Swahili Prepare Broads For American Students

A lecturer in the SIU Center for International Studies, Dr. Hazel Chung, is studying Swahili this summer to better qualify the center in its role as a training location for Agency for International Development programs in crime and penology.

Robert J. Brooks is at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, studying Swahili. He is recognized as one of the most universal of African languages.

The need for a lecturer with the ability to speak Swahili came about after the U.S. State Department chose Southern Illinois University's Center as the nationwide training location.

Mr. E. Alexander, Center director, said it is expected that an increasing number of African nationals will come to SIU under AID sponsorship, and communication at the Center will present a challenge. While many of the Africans speak English, Swahili is more likely to be common.

Those studying at the Center this summer include three worker priests from the Republic of Somalia, one of the news African areas. One speaks very little English, Alexander said, but does speak Swahili.

So far the Center has been host to more than 30 cor, some of whom are returned students. One is especially good in teaching and they represent from 13 countries, their visits ranging from short tours and conferences to nine months of formal classwork.

Want A Snack?

Try Carrots, Eggs

Are your snacks full of empty calories?

If you find that you're still hungry after a snack, chances are that you've given your body a false calorie count, using the minerals and vitamins needed.

Just as Harper, associate professor in the food and nutrition department, explained, these "empty" calories give extra energy momentarily but do not supply the proper body nutrition.

Most of our calories come from fats and carbohydrates, "and fat has 2 1/4 times the calories contained in fats, proteins or starches of the same weight."

For example, breakfast consisting of an egg, 75 calories, and toast, 50 calories, yields 25 calories, and is called a sweet roll with a sweet roll totaling 350 calories.

Common fats consumed by college students include soft contemplation, such as candy, sweet rolls, and beer. Bread and soft drinks contain approximately 100 to 106 calories per serving. Being able to eat proper foods when snacking is to give the body what it needs. It is important for girls, who someday will be wives and mothers, and for boys, who need extra energy but may tire easily.

Dr. Harper said that the following are especially good snacks: milk, a milkshake; a hamburger, a milkshake; a hot dog, and tomato, and fresh fruit with milk, and a sandwich. Students are to eat carrots and celery instead of cookies, and to think about the difference between a sweet roll instead of a sweet roll.

"The Irish," he said, "are the most literate of all the nations of the world except the United States, which have been most successful in training the masses to read." He added that he's managed to put together a barber shop quartet that "sounds quite good as a love-sacred head face him."

CAMBRIDGE, Md.

Fixed bayonets were ordered for National Guardmen recalled to duty in embattled Cambridge.

The 400 Guardmen started entering the city Friday on the heels of an outbreak of violence and racial terror described as a "warfare." Six white persons, including three off-duty Guardmen, were wounded by gunfire and by roving bands of gunmen Thursday night and early Friday.

"We faced the darkness so frequently that State Police Maj. George E. Davidson exclaimed, 'It's shooting all over the city--almost on the scale of warfare.'"

The troops had been pulled out of Cambridge only Monday after a 23-day stay to cope with previous violence. They were under orders to clamp down stricter controls than before and to carry fixed bayonets to quash any further outbreaks.

The new restrictions were described as "modified martial law" and included a 9 p.m. curfew, 7 p.m. store closings, no sale of intoxicants, no carrying of guns, and all vehicles subject to stop and search.

Cambridge is a focal point of Negroes to desegregate lunch rooms, hotels and other public accommodations, integrate the schools fully, and obtain better opportunities in employment and housing.

SAIGON, Viet Nam

The Buddhists have scheduled another potentially explosive funeral procession through Saigon's streets today.

The procession is for South Viet Manh, a leading Buddhist who killed himself Sunday in protest against alleged government persecution and the second protest suicide in Saigon in less than a month. The government meanwhile, is involving western newcomers in the dispute. A statement accused some of them, in effect, of aiding and abetting the Buddhists in their struggle with police. U.S. Embassy officials have described the suicides as shocked by the Viennamese charges.

President Kennedy's special fact-finding committee met for an hour Friday and agreed to consult Monday with rail and union representatives involved in the railroad labor dispute.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, chairman, told newsmen he expects all six members of the panel to be present for the first time, April 23.

Wirtz said representatives of the carriers and the unions involved in the four-year-long dispute will be questioned on their exact position on various issues.

The secretary has said previously that many people are not aware of the many facets of the dispute, thinking merely that it is just a question of dismisments. He said his firm whose jobs are regarded by the carriers as "crude.

The rail and union representatives are expected to be free to give their views.

The committee, holding its first meeting Thursday and continuing today, ironed out its operational procedures and lined up a staff of about a half dozen specialists from the Labor and Commerce Department to aid in assembling the facts of the dispute for Kennedy.

Wirtz said that only the staff will continue work through the weekend.

In addition to meetings with the two sides in the dispute on Monday and again on Tuesday, Wirtz said the six-member panel will hold afternoon meetings of its own these two days.

There was no sign that any opportunity for actual mediation in the dispute by individual members of the panel had opened up.

It was agreed in Thursday's initial meeting that there is nothing to bar such talks if the opportunity arises, even though the only presidentially-assigned post factum is finding

MOSCOW - The world watched the external signs of the Russian-Chinese ideological battle, while official silence cloaked the actual high-level meeting between the two parties.

Premier Khrushchev, who completely ignored the Chinese delegation when it arrived, pulled out all stops Wednesday to pay conspicuous honor to Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar.

But Peking radio, for the first time, asserted full equality placed Peking in even more open opposition to Moscow.

The televised Khrushchev-Kadar unity session made no mention of the showdown battle to progress in the Chinese-Russian talks in Lenin Hills, outside Moscow.

WASHINGTON - The Senate gave second reading today to a compromise revision of the $73 million Philippine war claims bill designed to eliminate any fees for John A. O'Donnell, Washington lawyer-laborer.

Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said it is hopeful the House will accept the proposal. MOSCOW - The Soviet minister of communications ordered completion of the Moscow-Washington "hot line" by Sept. 1, according to the Soviet news agency Tass.

Tass said the emergency White House-Kremlin communications system had "great political significance," and added what was considered a jab at the Chinese Communists who reject Premier Khrushchev's insistence on negotiations to prevent war.

The Russian and Chinese delegations to the Moscow party-line talks recessed their meeting Tuesday without explanation.

The Chinese Communists failed to show up for the day's session after the Russians fired new charges at Red China and warned of "dangerous consequences."

The Russian group accused the Chinese of deliberately aggravating Soviet-Chinese relations at a time when the two countries are discussing ideological differences.

SIU Teammates Become Friendly Enemies This Summer

Vincent, Siebel Play on Opposing Teams

In College Summer League

During the school year Gene Vincent and John Siebel are friendly teammates on SIU's baseball team but this summer they are friendly enemies. Vincent plays for Champaign-Urbana and Siebel for Springfield in the college summer league.

Earlier this week Siebel scored the only run of the game for Springfield to beat Vincent and Champaign 1-0. But the whole evening was not lost to Vincent. He threw a one-hitter at Springfield and the hit came in the last inning with two men out and two strikes on the hitter. Siebel drew a walk from Vincent, then stole second and third and later scored on a wild pitch for the only run of the game.

Vincent and Siebel have been doing well this summer in the league for their respective teams. Vincent sports a 2-1 record for Champaign and Siebel is the starting centerfielder for Springfield.

The league is operating on an experimental basis in hopes to stop the raiding on college and university ball players by the major leagues.

The 1-0 loss was Vincent's first in the league and was a little disheartening. "It was a well-played game," the 19-year-old pitcher from Rockport, Ind., wrote. "It was my fault that I lost the game. The wild pitch scored the run without that Springfield would not have scored with four minutes left. I don't know if we still could be playing." "There's a funny feeling when you are pitching and a former teammate of yours is on base," he added. "I kept throwing to first base to keep Siebel close because I knew he had good speed but that wasn't enough he still was able to steal second and third. His running unnerved me a little and that probably was responsible for the wild pitch."

"Even if I had got the no-hit game, it would not have meant too much to me if I had lost the game," he said. "I only hope that these close games are few and far between because the pressure is great. But I enjoyed every minute of it."

Vincent was one of SIU's top three pitchers last spring.

SIU's Jerry Qualls Bats .288 For Lakeland Team

Jerry Qualls, former SIU infielder who signed an $11,000 bonus contract with the Detroit Tigers, was hitting .288 through last Sunday's games. He has 15 hits in 52 times at bat for the .288 average. He has four doubles and has driven in nine runs for the Lakeland (Fla.) team of the Georgia-Florida Class A League.

Qualls has yet to hit his first home run in organized baseball. He is playing third base regularly and is enjoying the season to date. "It has been real interesting and a real experience to play every day for an organized team," Qualls wrote. "One can not begin to imagine the difference between playing five and six times a week instead of the usual two or three for college."

"Professional baseball is real experience and I am glad that I decided to give up college for a chance at the big-time," he said.

Qualls led SIU's baseball team in hitting last spring with a .419 batting average. He has also led the Salukis in total hits, doubles, home runs and runs-batted-in.

This year, Qualls average ranks fifth among SIU's all-time hitters, In 1954 tops the Salukis all-time hitters.

Cornell Faces Top Milers At Toronto This Weekend

Bill Cornell, SIU miler, will run in Toronto, Canada this evening against some of the nation's top milers.

Cornell will be pitted against Tom O'Hara, Jim Greile, and Jim Beatty in the mile, O'Hara finished second, Beatty fourth and Greile fifth in the recent AAU track and Field meet mile run.

Cornell will be running the mile for only the fourth time this season. He ran the mile against Kansas, Western Michigan and the two weeks ago in Canada where he placed second.

Cornell is one of two British distance stars who run under the SIU colors during the regular school year. He came to Southern in April of 1961.

He has turned in a 4:00.5 time in the mile and his coach, Lew Hartung, feels the younger is capable of breaking the four-minute mile.

Perhaps tonight will be the time because he is in fast company. All three—Greile, Beatty and O'Hara have broken four minutes.

Cornell left Thursday for Toronto and wasn't sure if he was in as good shape as he should have been for the race. He has been running in the hot weather here and perhaps the cooler weather in Canada will suit the needs of the trackman better than the climate here.
THE ABOVE MAP SHOWS THE PERCENTAGE OF TOTALITY THAT EACH STATE WILL EXPERIENCE DURING THE JULY 20 ECLIPSE.

Eclipse Of Sun Will Be Visible In Carbondale For Two Hours July 20

If you see weird, moving shapes and shadows floating on the ground beneath the trees on campus, July 20, don't see an omen or a sign. It will be the result of an eclipse of the sun, according to Miss Charlotte Zimmerachied, assistant professor of physics and astronomy.

The unusual shadows will be the result of the leaves acting like small holes, which is one way to cast an image of the eclipse on the ground.

The "pen holes" formed by the leaves allow the corona of the sun to create mysterious shapes at the time of total eclipse, Miss Zimmerachied said. The eclipse will also cause an unusual darkness. The eclipse will occur at 2:25 to 4:45 Carbondale time and last only a few minutes. The darkness caused by the eclipse will be comparable to an overcast sky. This will last only a few moments.

A total eclipse will occur in Canada, Alaska, and Maine. The other parts of the continent will receive only partial eclipse.

Miss Zimmerachied gave a special warning to those who would like to view the eclipse. She said not to gaze directly into the sun because this could cause blindness by burning the retina.

"Eye damage has been widespread in the past, because of the high interest in the eclipse. A telescope can be used by focusing it on the sun and projecting the image on a piece of paper or a wall. Do not look through the telescope to focus it. If not using a telescope, exposed developed film can be doubled and used to cover the eyes; also a pen hole in a cardboard will produce the shadow band type of observation previously mentioned.

Types of protection that light-absorbing enough to be effective are: smoke glass, sun glasses, and colored glass. Telescopes and binoculars magnify the light intensity and should not be used. SIU will not actively be engaged in research on the July 20th eclipse, but the University of Illinois has received a grant from the National Science Foundation to experiment with day-night changes in the ionosphere so it will effect long distance radio communications.

The research will be headed by the Department of Electrical Engineering. It is expected to take one year for the analytical results of the research. Five stations will be set up to receive the radio signals; one in Alaska, two in Canada, one in the state of Washington, and one near Danville, Ill.

A solar eclipse occurs when the moon passes directly between the sun and the earth. The eclipse is actually the moon's shadow being cast on the earth. This occurs at least twice a year, and scientists travel thousands of miles to view them.

Three SIU Deans Look Inside New Federal Prison, Three SIU deans toured the new $12 million maximum security prison at Marion Thursday and got a glimpse of the challenges and opportunities offered the university by such an institution.

Included in the tour were Willis G. Swartz, dean of the graduate school; Raymond H. Dey, dean of extension and summer session; Wessell E. Kepper, dean of the school of agriculture; and Myrl E. Alexander, director of the SIU crime and corrections center.

The tour lasted three hours and included lunch with Ward- den J.T. Willingham, during which a program for cooperation between the university and the prison was discussed.

Alexander, who served as tour guide, said that one of the primary reasons Marion was chosen for the site of the new prison was its proximity to SIU.

Alexander explained that the advantage of having university and prison facilities so close together—"a policy, incidentally, of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons—was to facilitate the sharing of resources.

He further explained that the university has tremendous research facilities which the staff of the prison may wish to utilize and that the prison offers ample opportunities for vocational training in university graduate specialty fields.

"A mutual commitment is of benefit to both," he said. He made no mention of plans for offering college level courses to Marion inmates as is done by SIU faculty for inmates of Menard State Prison in Chester.

II2 Youthful Musicians Attend Summer Workshop

Enrollment in the second annual music workshop for high school students, "Music and Youth at Southern," totals 112 pupils, Melvin Steiner, SIU associate professor and workshop director, announced.

The workshop continues through July 20 and includes performing and classroom work in theory, sight reading, music appreciation, and fundamentals.
