Leslie names seven to present report on University goals

Educational and service priorities for SIUC will be reexamined by a seven-member committee appointed by SIU Interim President Hiriam Lesar.

Lesar announced Wednesday the committee has been charged with pooling input from on- and off-campus sources with their own ideas about goals for SIU during the next 10 years. Lesar will present the committee's report to the SIU Board of Trustees as the Carbondale campus area in the SIU system's Master Plan IV (MP IV) statement.

John B. Hawley, professor of Higher Education, was named chairman of the Committee on Goals and Objectives, which will meet for the first time Tuesday. Hawley was not available for comment Wednesday.

New "master plan" statements were ordered by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) from all Illinois public higher education institutions. A master plan is a broad statement of long range mission for the institution.

Gus says he's been forgiving SIU for years.

Hollis Merrert, assistant to Lesar, said Wednesday the committee would examine the MP III document and consider suggestions from campus groups. Input from individuals and groups within and outside the University will be welcomed, he said.

Suggested goals for SIUC in the next 10 years should be directed to Hawley, Merrert said.

Other committee members are: Dorothy R. Davis, professor of physical education; Wendell E. Keeper, former president of SIU-C's School of Agriculture; now retired; Herman R. Lantz, professor of sociology; Howard W. Webb, Jr., professor of English; David T. Kenny, professor of government; and Rex D. Barnes, coordinator of area services in the Office of Development and Services.

Barnes will represent Carbondale community and Southern Illinois area interests. Merrert said Barnes has worked extensively with Southern Illinois Inc., a group promoting the socio-economic development of the Southern Illinois area.

According to Barnes, a Southern Illinois Inc. statement suggesting plan III has been submitted to the advisory committee.

Lesar said he has instructed the committee to prepare at least a preliminary statement by Aug. 1. He plans to relay the report to the SIU board at its August meeting. The Board of Trustees will forward its own MP IV statement to the IBHE sometime in the fall, Lesar projected.

The IBHE is expected to issue its own MP IV statement in the spring of 1975, after considering statements from institutions throughout the state.

Lesar said that IBHE Director Cameron West has indicated IBHE would continue to fund the legal and medical programs.

Sullivan finds 'hectic' pace goes with post

By Bill Layne

Lounging between rock concert posters and stacks of reports and documents, Student Body President Dennis Sullivan characterizes his new situation as "somewhat hectic."

"I've been to quite a few meetings lately, and I've found that it's hard to represent students to the administrators and still have time to meet with the students themselves," Sullivan said Wednesday.

"We, the Student Welfare Union and other organizations, checked around, and the Dead have to be assured of $5,000 before they'll play. This isn't too bad considering I've heard reports that they used to want close to $50,000. June 30 was the only date they had on their present tour, and we didn't have time to coordinate the concert with the arena. I'm pretty confident we'll get them in the fall, though.

"I'm not sure right now about having the concert at the arena, so I'm hopeful it's possible to have a unified student thing" at Dodgoin, Sullivan explained.

Besides promising to bring the Dead to campus, the new president promised to try to get a lawyer to help students with legal problems.

"Right now there is some problem concerning whether we can get a lawyer to hire a lawyer to bring suit against the university, if that occasion should arise.

"I want to have a lawyer available for advice to students, but I don't want him to be a token gesture. He's going to have to have some power."

Concerning the Joint Fee Allocation Board and the recent controversy at the Student Senate over allocations, Sullivan said he is going to study the proposals of the board and compare their proposals to the allocations granted by the Student Senate.

"I'm going to find out if the board has a purpose, and if it isn't functional, I'm going to recommend getting rid of it."

The board makes student funding recommendations to the Student Senate, and the senate then decides on the amount to be allocated to the various organizations.

The new president is also in the process of "re-doing" the student constitution because he doesn't believe students haven't been relating to the candidates in their areas.

Forgiveness gets students out of SIU

By Kenneth Pilarski
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A low grade point average no longer need prevent an SIU student from graduating, thanks to the adoption of a grade forgiveness policy.

The policy was approved last August by the SIU Board of Trustees and will be available for students graduating at the end of summer quarter.

The new policy will allow a student to graduate with a grade point average below the required 3.0 if the average can be improved by one of two methods:

- One allows for the removal of up to 10 hours of D, E or fail grades earned outside the student's major field and before the last 60 hours of credit were earned.

- The second method will affect only the student's final 60 hours of credit. If these hours average 3.1 or better, the student will be allowed to graduate even though his overall average is below the required 3.0.

Since the policy's adoption, few students have taken advantage of it. Sue Eberhart, assistant to the registrar, said, "I doubt if we've had 10 students qualify under the first method and no one has qualified under the second."

Exact figures were not available.

All grades excluded by either method will appear on the student's transcript and the credit hours will count toward the number required for graduation.

In adopting a forgiveness policy, SIU is following a trend that is becoming widespread. "It's the popular thing to do," Ms. Eberhart said, "but our policy is fairly conservative in comparison to some of the other schools."

Under the forgiveness policy, appeals may be initiated through the student's academic unit and verified by the Office of Admission and Records.

"I want to have elections on the basis of departments or academic majors, not where the student lives. That way students would have a better chance of knowing who they're voting for."

"For instance, I feel there is no focal point for East Side non-dorm residents, and if student senators were elected on the basis of their majors, a focal point could be established."

In the past few days Sullivan said he has thrown out "at least 200 pounds" of outdated papers and documents. He hopes to get a full-time secretary for the student government office, and if student senators were elected on the basis of their majors, a focal point could be established."

"We'll have a more efficient student government if we have a full-time secretary. In the past I've come up to the student government office and no one has been here. A full-time secretary would be in a better position to answer students concerning questions they may have," Sullivan said.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The Illinois Senate passed a $106 million appropriation bill on Monday for student loans on an 18-11 vote.

Money to help the total amount available for salaries by eight per cent was included in the budget for the $106 million appropriation bill, with a five per cent pay increase in the Senate added an additional three per cent. The House must agree on the Senate's action on the appropriation bills sent to the governor.

Legislation to give an average of $100 to each student was approved in the Senate on a 117-21 vote.

The legislation would cost the state $104 million estimated, Gov. Dan Walker pointed out, but the House had not included the proposal in the Senate's state budget requests.

Final action on a judge's pay raise bill was postponed when the Senate provided only 77 of the 89 votes requested to pass it.

The bill would raise the salaries of judges throughout the state and, the increase would range from 12 per cent to 17 per cent for associate judges to 27 per cent for Circuit Court judges.

Some lawmakers argued that the judge's pay bill could be considered alone with one to increase the salaries of state legislators.

Rep. Charles Flock, R-Chicago, who sponsored both bills, pointed out he did not want them considered together.

And he said he planned to table his legislative pay raise bill Friday unless Walker promised to sign it.

Flock asked that he be allowed to call the judge's pay bill another time and the matter could come up again later this week.

The tax relief bill would call for refunds for persons over 65 making less than $10,000 a year.

For an elderly couple making $3,000 a year it would mean a refund of $190 for a couple making $6,000, the refund would be $360 and for a couple making $9,000 the refund would also be $360.

The Senate approved $3,000 for operation of the Ds, member commission in the fiscal year starting July 1, to be left up to the governor.

The measure, passed 148-4 and sent to the Senate, had the backing of traditional and political opponents — House Speaker H. Robert Blair, R-Chicago; Republican, and Democratic Gov. Daniel Walker.

A companion measure providing $10,000 for operation of the 30 member commission in the fiscal year starting July 1, was killed up to the governor as well.

The Governor, however, has declined to sign the bill, which was signed by Walker on Wednesday.

He said the commission could coordinate the energy-related efforts of a variety of state departments and agencies.

The commission would keep abreast of federal energy developments, promote the establishment of federal energy projects in Illinois and keep the public aware of how to use energy wisely.

The commission would be made up of the four legislative leaders, as other legislators and nine members selected by the governor and legislative leaders. The governor would serve as chairman and the lieutenant governor as vice-chairman.

2 take polygraph tests
in probe of girl’s death

Two persons, one a suspect and the other a potential witness, were taken to Centralia Wednesday by Carbondale police for polygraphing the detective field in connection with the stabbing death of Pauline McDougal, a Big E College, Apt. R. Carbondale.

Acting Police Chief Edward Hogan declined to release results of the tests or names of suspects involved Sunday.

"We have sent a couple of men to Tennessee and Centralia to search out a couple of leads that developed through the canvassing of the neighborhood," said Hogan.

Miss McDonough's decomposed body was found Monday on a nature trail near Stider Hill cemetery. It was estimated she had been dead for three or four days before the body was found.

Police are still searching for the murder weapon. An autopsy determined that the victim had been stabbed four times in the chest in the area of the heart.

Hogan said that he is hopeful an arrest will be forthcoming.

The hiring of a professional financial consultant to investigate SIU's financial troubles has been authorized by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Trustee William Allen of Bloomington is screening candidates for the job and "there are no specific developments as of yet," according to Chief of Board Staff James Brown.

At its June 13 meeting the board empowered its executive committee to hire a financial consultant before the July board meeting.

The consultant will work with the campus presidents and the chief of board staff to "save the money crisis hanging over the university," according to board chairman Bill Allen. SIU received a $27 million cut from the Board of Trustees for higher education in its 1975 budget.

The SIU board set no salary limitation for the financial consultant.

Negotiations between the Carbondale Community High School (CCHS) Board of Education and the teachers association are proceeding smoothly, Board President Charles Herdman said Wednesday.

"We haven't settled anything, but we're both presenting our lists," Herdman said. "We've set aside the last year's negotiating at this time." Sept. William Mishler and Champaign representative Cecil Hallor, negotiators for the Board, will meet again with the association's bargaining team in an opening session during a meeting of the Board at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Administration building.

Also scheduled for the meeting are receiving of CCHS students' insurance coverage and consideration of the recommendations of the administrative 2003 Series guidelines, set by the board.
TV, sound system will get handcapped in law a break

By Gary Hove

Audio-visual equipment will be installed in the SIU Law School building. The law students, who had been hand-cuffed law student arriving this fall can participate in all the required classes.

The second floor classrooms of the building are not accessible to people in wheelchairs. When Terry Podestal visited the campus, he talked about the problem with Thomas W. Lash, associate dean of the School of Law.

"There was no way to get the second floor, the front desk worked the stairs," said Podestal. "I was able to get up there and talk to the professor." Ready told Podestal that something would be arranged before he comes to Carbondale this fall. The problem was referred to the Learning Resource Center, which came up with the audio-visual ideas.

"It will be hooked up to the second floor, the first floor and the third floor. The room will have a television, a projector, a computer," said Podestal. "This will make it possible for Podestal with a monitor hooked up to him and placed on the instructor's desk. This will enable the instructor and the student to reach each other although they are on different floors of the same building. Microphones and speakers will also link the student with the instructor.

"We watched the system very carefully the first few weeks of fall semester," Podestal said. "We've had to see if he maintains his expected status in his class. We're also going to be getting feedback from him. And we'll see how things go in the future where they're needed.

The learning resource center will delay work on the audio-visual system until the start of the next fiscal year in July. "We need to store," said the center must first make sure the funds are available for the system, he said.

"The equipment will be "comparatively unexpensive," Podestal said. If more disabled students enter the school, the center will install "more sophisticated equipment," he said.

Podestal said the project would not cost more than $250 and will be installed in time for fall semester.

Suspected guerrilla bases in Lebanon hit by Israelis

By The Associated Press

Israeli planes bombed suspected Arab guerrilla encampments in southern Lebanon on Wednesday for the third time in a week. Nixon ended his Middle East peace mission.

"The scorching-earth war is on," with President Nixon's blustering, declared the leftist newspaper Al Liwa in Beirut. Al Liwa and other Arab leftist papers said Nissn, during weekend talks in Jerusalem, had given Israelis "the green light to attack Lebanon." The air strikes, clearly in retaliation for a Palestinian terrorist raid on the Sharm farm settlement, are the third in six days, Nixon's aide, General George W. Sherman, reportedly denounced by Al Fatah guerrillas.

"Six strikes at the guerrillas wherever they are—at their bases and in the headquarters," declared Information Minister Ahaban Yariv.

Monocropia: at what price?

From a speech by Harold B. Steele
Illinois Farm Bureau President

When a housewife buys food she is telling farmers what she wants and is willing to pay for a particular product. The message coming through to farmers producing beef and pork is that eating and buying habits have changed and consumers’ demand for meat is not increasing.

At the present time farmers are losing money on every steer or hog they sell and they cannot continue to produce beef and pork under these circumstances. Farmers are in the same situation they faced in 1919 and 1917 when they were losing money and the result was meat shortages and higher prices in 1922 and 1923.

As practically all food prices have been going up this year, meat prices have been going down. This should be an ideal time for consumers to take advantage of the lower prices found at the meat counters.

Farmers want to farm—but they have to make a profit to stay in business. It isn’t the price that is all important, it’s the profit that’s important. That’s the price he gets for what he sells, times the quantity he sells, minus his costs of production. Therefore, farmers are interested in a combination of prices and economic conditions that will yield a profit.

It is in the very nature of farming that weather, uncertain as it is, is a basic concern of the farmer—but what is more frustrating and confusing to the farmer these days is the bad forecasts and uncertainties which he faces as he tries to make a living by producing food.

During the past year, our position in the world economic system has changed. In the years when we had a balance of trade position brought about mainly by a sharp increase in export sales of American agricultural products, the growing influence and trends toward higher living standards in foreign countries lend strength to the export possibilities for American farm commodities and other goods.

On the domestic farm scene, the outlook is somewhat mixed at the moment. It appears that there will be a substantial production of both corn and soybeans, much of which will make up feed supplies for future livestock and poultry. But serious dollar losses now being suffered by beef and pork producers are tamping their enthusiasm for increasing production unless economic conditions change.

Both the beef and pork markets have been affected by the generally reduced consumer demand for red meat. The coming weeks will largely determine future beef and pork supplies. The build-up of beef and pork supplies in recent months has led retailers to try to increase consumer purchases through special sales.

Should efforts to move present meat supplies into consumption be successful it would tend to encourage livestock producers to increase production. But, farmers won’t increase meat production if they figure the market is not there, just as a farmer who wins $100 on a large bet may not be inclined to risk the same amount of money at the card table.

New wheat production is now arriving on the market and it is clear that all the “scare” talk by baking industry representatives about bread reaching a dollar a loaf was just a “scare.”

Farms with high, aggregated by energy and plant food shortages. The farm costs of corn and wheat have gone up most are those over which the farmer has little control.

Land values are climbing and interest rates for both cash and improvements and operating loans are at record levels.

Unless radical changes take place, farm income in 1974 will be substantially lower than the record 1973 levels. Livestock producers’ net income will be much lower but cash grain producers will not fare so badly, assuming average crop and weather conditions for growing and harvest seasons.

And what about our foreign customers?

Much has been said and written about the sale of American farm products to foreign countries at a time of high domestic food prices. Put another way, there are those who suggest that if we trim farm exports we will have more food and fiber to satisfy the growing needs of our country—and enough production beyond domestic needs to make a significant contribution to our world trade position.

American agriculture produces most efficiently when it operates at near full capacity—and that means it must maintain foreign markets. Since the production from one out of every four harvested acres goes into export, foreign markets represent a sizable chunk of business. Low per unit farm production costs are associated with expanded production. Higher unit costs for farmers mean higher food costs to consumers. And remember, we export corn and soybeans. To us it is food—to our foreign customers it is food.

Therefore, this is not time to talk about restricting farm exports which have become so important not only to American farmers but to the hundreds of thousands of others off the farm whose jobs are related to farming.

Any questions?

Survey takers are thinking of making another study, this one of all sorts of people in making people to answer pollsters’ questions.

The National Science Foundation reports that it’s taking longer to complete many opinion surveys, so much so that their findings may not be as current as they should be.

Not only that, survey organizations say they are getting fewer replies from people in their population samples, despite three or four call-backs. And the costs of polling are rising to the point where some surveys may not be made at all.

In a nation where popular preferences on almost everything from politics to eating habits have been finely calibrated, any souring on surveys can cause problems.

If survey takers cannot readily find out what people are thinking, how are other folks supposed to know what they should be thinking?

Maybe pollsters would come up with some answers to what is, clearly, a basic question: How do people live? What are we doing wrong?”—Philadelphia Bulletin

Crime Doesn’t Pay
By Arthur Hoge

All over the world, various liberation armies are knocking at banks, smashing prominent citizens and putting holes in innocent bystanders in order to liberate blacks, browns, Irishmen, Palestinians, Sympathizer and what not.

No one is more outraged by these developments than Little Caesar of the Mob.

It was a gloomy scene on the night of June 30 as the mob trudged back into their hideout after another abortive attempt to rob the FBI’s New York National Bank. The brains behind the mob, Sara Velle, was waiting anxiously.

Sara Velle: I planned this job down to the last detail. But you didn’t get the hundred grand. What went wrong?

Det. O’Grain: Same as last time. The FBI’s Liberation Army liberated it ten minutes ahead of us in order to protest bombing.

Caesar (grimly): Worse yet, the FBI has taken us off it’s Ten Most Wanted List and I ain’t got my mug in the papers for six months. Listen, yauey guys, these amateurs are giving us honest professionals a bad name.

Sara Velle: It’s like I’ve been telling you, Caesar, you’re behind the times. Nobody cares about decent, hardworking gangsters any more. You’ve got to liberate somebody.

Ma Caroni: What did he do, toss the remains of his sandwich out of his car again?

Da Caroni: No, the remains of that stoolie, Pigeon Potpie.

Sara Velle: Caesar, that’s it! You have just become a feeble-footed opponent of law and order, defending with your life the inalienable rights of the downtrodden to liiter. Death before dishonor.

Caesar: How about one-to-one if I cop a plea?

Sara Velle: You sound like a White House aide. But we call ourselves The Dirty Liberation Army. And you send notes to the radio stations telling them to look under toilet seats where they’ll find free tapes.

Caesar: Hold it: I’m not giving away any tapes free of charge.

Sara Velle: Now you sound like the President. But on the tapes you announce your new name is Ailfie the Hun. He was a great litterer. And you close by saying, “Death to the fascist insects and other anti-litterbugs!”

Caesar: That’s what mean.

Sara Velle: The Hun! Now. Of course, the radio stations are getting so many tapes these days, they may have to charge you for air time. But it’ll be worth it. You’ll be a national hero and believe me, it’s the only way to get back on the FBI’s Ten Most Wanted List.

Peaches Cling (who is seated on Caesar’s lap, her garnet belt showing): Oh, c’mon, Caesar, honey. Don’t be an old fuddy-duddy. I couldn’t go for a man who wasn’t even wanted.

Caesar (sighing): Okay, my professional pride’s at stake. So I’m Ailfie the Hun, head of The Dirty Liberation Army. Now what do we do?

Sara Velle: We go around knocking over banks, snatching prominent government and foreign officials in noxious bystanders, just like always. Only now you’ll be famous again.

Sara Velle (nodding): Not like politics. (Copyright Chronicle Publishing Co. 1974)

Autopsy reveals overdose

PARK RIDGE \(\text{AP}\) — Jeffrey Fuchs, who police believe may have slain four other members of his family, died apparently from a drug overdose, authorities said Wednesday.

Evidence of a large quantity of an unidentified variety of drugs was found in the youth's bloodstream, said George Christopolous, chief toxicologist for the Cook County coroner. Further tests will be conducted to determine the exact amount and the kinds of drugs as well as the time of death.

Authorities have said there is no evidence of a home invasion or a robbery and their investigation, although not conclusive, leads them to the theory that Jeffrey, 17, may have shot his father Raymond, 41, and his sister, Linda, 14, and strangled his mother, Ruth, 48, and his brother, Scott, 16.

Their bodies were found by firemen in the basement of their home Monday. The fire was set deliberately by a crude timing procedure in an attempt to cover up the slayings, said authorities.

Jeffrey's body was found in the kitchen of the home. It bore no external marks of violence, authorities said. He had $150 in his pocket.

All five family members died sometime over the weekend.

The cause of Jeffrey's death may hold the key to the slayings. Park Ridge police said, especially the time of his death in relation to his family's.

Investigators on Tuesday found 22-caliber weapons in the basement of the home—a rifle and a revolver. Fuchs and his daughter were each killed by multiple 22-caliber wounds to the head.

Art exhibit opens

An exhibit of painting, sculpturing and photography by Earl Ripling will open at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Allyn Gallery of the Allyn Fine Arts Building.

The exhibit will run until July 1 and the gallery is open from 1 to 4 p.m. on weekdays.

Mrs. Fuchs was also stabbed and a bloodied knife was found nearby. Residents of Park Ridge, a well-to-do suburb northwest of Chicago, remained somewhat shaken by the incident. The biggest crime problems usually are shoplifting and bicycle theft, said one policeman.

The Daily Egyptian yesterday published most of the changes in faculty-administrative staff approved by the SIU Board of Trustees on June 13. The list of changes concludes here:

Changes of Assignment, Salary, and Terms of Appointment (Previously Approved Base Salary Not Repealed)

- Subleaved Male
  - For the period: July 1, 1974, through December 31, 1974, at full pay.
- L. Delkayen Beckler, associate professor of Psychology, serving also in the Clinical Center. He plans study of community mental health centers in several California cities, and research in community psychology.
- Professional Development Leave
  - Thomas M. Brooks, professor of Family Economics and Management, for the fall semester, 1974, at full pay. He plans research and writing.

Leaves of Absence without Pay

- Jose I. Alvarado, professor in the School of Engineering, for the spring quarter, 1974, for academic work in association with the International Union of Crystallography, Barcelona, Spain.
- Patrick Rettenbeck, associate professor in the School of Art, for the spring quarter, 1974, to satisfy a United States Immigration Office requirement to reside outside of the United States for a period.

SIU honors graduate with academic award

Mary E. Galbreath of Hannibal, Mo., formerly of Mt. Vernon, who completed studies for her bachelor's degree at SIU last December and is now a graduate student and teaching assistant at the University of Missouri, Columbia, has been awarded a 1974 Award for Academic Excellence by the SIU Foundation.

Miss Galbreath was selected for the award as the top woman graduating senior, with a four-year grade point average of 3.00 (straight A). A major in French, she spent 10 months in France, teaching English conversation in a public junior high school during 1972-73. She received the 1972 Prix Mallarme award for the outstanding student in the English Department.

A transfer to SIU from Rend Lake College, she chose speech as a major, was a member of the University's debate team, won the Brin'sman Oratory Contest in 1972, worked with the Calypso Theatre, and was elected to Phi Kappa Delta, national honorary speech fraternity. To help pay for her education she worked one year in the foreign language laboratory.

The University Woman's Club of Hannibal has awarded Miss Galbreath a full Senatorial scholarship for 1973-74 on the basis of her academic work and grade-point average.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Galbreath of Hannibal. Her father is with the Army Corps of Engineers at Hannibal.

Farmers hold back record wheat crop

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP)—A record wheat crop is being har­vested, stored, and sold—but much of it will not reach market until farmers decide the price is right.

Kerner seeks reduced term due to health

CHICAGO—Otto Kerner will seek a reduction in his two-year prison term for reasons of health, one of his attorneys said Wed­nesday.

A hearing was scheduled for July 9 in Chicago before Judge Robert L. Taylor of U.S. District Court in Nashville. Taylor presided at Kerner’s trial last year because of Kerners’ age as a junior partner on the 7th U.S. Court of Appeals.

Attorney Thomas Fulton traveled to Chicago to consult with Kerner after the Supreme Court on Monday refused to review his bribery con­viction. He said there was a race track stock deal while he was Illinois’ governor that Fulton said he asked for an un­delayed medical report from Kerner’s doctors in Los Angeles before any arguments before Judge Taylor.

Kerner, 63, was hospitalized nine days last month for a heart ailment.

Report says states lax in driver testing

CHICAGO (AP)—Laxity by many states in granting a driver’s license testing has permitted various types of unfit drivers to stay on the road, the National Safety Council said Wednesday.

In a report to a conference of state motor vehicle officials, Vincent T. Tiffany, council president, said, “In every state in our states it is entirely possible for the crippled, the blinded and the psychotic to get renewal of their driver’s licenses.”

He urged authorities to comply with the national standard of renewal of driver’s license in every forum.

“Every state must screen out every físically or psychologically handicapped person who receives a driver’s license,” he said.

Tiffany advocated a comprehensive examination to study relationships between the various types of a driver’s perform­ance. Such data could be com­pared from the motor vehicle com­munity, the traffic depart­ment and state police, he said.

Lax enforcement, he said, could be compared with a driver’s violation experience to pinpoint failure on specific test items might in­duce a tendency to commit certain traffic violations.

Grad catalogs are now ready

Copies of the 1974-75 Graduate Catalogues, now ready, are available for pickup at the printer, according to A. B. Mollin, director of University Graphics.

“Each University unit has been allocated a number of copies in proportion to the size of their respective staffs,” Mollin said. “As a convenience in making early distribution arrangements, that departments pick up their catalogs as soon as possible.

He said copies are not picked up until the beginning of the academic year.

Thieves of 100-foot tower leave wheelbarrow behind

EDWARDSVILLE—Floyd Phacker is still trying to figure out how thieves must have gotten to a 100-foot tall tower from his construction company’s office.

At first Phacker thought they had just pulled the lightweight aluminum structure over and pulled it apart. But now he figures, “They probably sent to the top of the tower and used the guided wires and they just probably took it apart in sections and handed it down to each other. This was not detected. It is in the 20-foot sections.”

That was Saturday night.

Curriculum seminar draws over 100 to opening session

More than 100 persons attended the Tuesday morning opening session of the National Curriculum Diffusion Seminar at SIU.

William E. Reynolds, coordinator of the Illinois Professional and Vocational Guidance Unit and a director of the seminar, said the purpose of the three-day event is “to test and evaluate a delivery system for curriculum materials” and “to get new vocational-technical course material to teachers in the field.”

Another objective of the seminar is to present 20 exemplary curricula on such topics as consumer education, allied health occupations and public service careers.

More than 125 persons from 30 states and the U.S. trust territories are expected to attend the seminar at the SIU Student Center. It is being jointly sponsored by the United States Department of Education, Illinois Division of Vocational and Technical Education and the SIU College of Education. Coordinating it is William Applegate, coordinator of state-sponsored educational programs at SIU.

Special guests include Mary Marks, director of the federal National Curriculum Center project, and Dr. Samuel Reynolds, director of the Illinois Board of Vocational Education and Rehabilitation.

The seminar is funded through a grant from the U.S. Office of Education.

Two of the 13 free division programs include "clothing design" and "medicine." A third program, "off-the-job," is also available.

The seminar will be held at the Student Center for four days, Monday through Thursday.

Registation: Mon. thru Fri. 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. Sat. 8:00 to 10:00 a.m. or call 932-8088 evenings.

Senators submit no-knock repeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to repeal narcotics agents’ authority to break into homes without identifying themselves was introduced in the Senate Wednesday.

Sens. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., sponsors of the repeal, said keeping the “no-knock” law on the books breeds an official attitude which places government agents above the law.

The senators, in a letter to colleagues, listed two reasons the no-knock provision should be repealed:

First, they wrote, the authority is unnecessary. They noted that Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson of the District of Columbia said recently that repeal would have no effect on his department.

The law containing no-knock authority grants DEA and U.S. police, as well as federal narcotics agents.

Ag professor retires July 1 after 40 years

Retirement time comes July 1 for Ralph A. Benton, professor of agricultural industries at ISU, after 48 years of service on the ISU faculty and more than 40 years in educational work.

Colleagues and other friends paid tribute to his years of service in agricultural education at a testimonial dinner in the Student Center May 24 for Benton and Mrs. Benton.

Benton is a native of Waterloo, Neb. He received bachelor’s (1939) and master’s (1940) degrees at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and his Ph.D. degree at the University of Illinois (1943). He started his teaching career in 1943 as vocational agriculture teacher in the Beatrice, Neb., high school, remaining there until 1939. After two years with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Cherokee, Iowa, he spent six years as vocational agriculture teacher in the Kewanee High School at Colborn, Neb.

He joined the University of Nebraska staff in 1946 and two years later moved to the Illinois State University agriculture faculty at Normal. In 1956 he came to ISU as supervisor of test farms and associate professor of agricultural extension and the School of Agriculture. However, much of his work at ISU has been concentrated with the agricultural occupations teacher training program in the agricultural education department. Much of his research and journal writing has been in the area of agricultural education. He also has had varied leadership in the National Association of College Teachers of Agriculture.

NEW grants funds to back rehabilitation

A federal grant of $19,498 for a national workshop on rehabilitation of the mentally ill has been received by the SIU Rehabilitation Agency, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The grant will enable the Rehabilitation Institute to plan and conduct a twoday workshop to update the “state-of-the-art” in the field, according to project director Brockman Schumacher, associate professor in the institute.

The grant will assist the INA in giving national emphasis in rehabilitation of the mentally ill. Schumacher said. New approaches and techniques, including community mental health, will be dealt with and formulated into a manual for field workers in the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and other agencies and facilities.

The end product, he said, will be a usable reference manual that will describe techniques, evaluations, facilities and community resources, approaches to counseling, and other developments over the past 10 years. It is expected the workshop will be held early in 1975.

Walker opposes any formula spending

By William C. Wertz
Associated Press Writer

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Gov. Daniel Walker said Wednesday he remains opposed to full funding for a formula that would distribute state aid to public school districts.

He said he is opposed to any sort of formula aid to schools.

"We ought to be looking at the needs of school districts, rather than just pouring it out through a formula," Walker said.

But the governor refused to say what action he planned on the school aid appropriation bill to be heard by the General Assembly.

On Walker's desk is a bill passed by both houses appropriating an additional $50 million to aid districts for the current fiscal year.

The governor said he needs the total amount of state aid to the level called for under a new distribution formula approved by the General Assembly last year.

The legislature has all but completed work on the school aid appropriation for the fiscal year beginning July 1. That amounts to about $24 billion in aid to districts, which is $37 million more than the governor requested.

Walker's comments came at a news conference he called to announce new ideas being taken to revitalize the Hambletonian, the harness racing classic held each summer at DuQuoin.

But it was one of the few news conferences the governor has held during the current legislative session, and he fielded questions on a wide variety of topics.

On other subjects, Walker said:

Hambletonian

He said he was backing a proposal to move the race from Wednesday to Saturday afternoon in 1975 to boost attendance and encourage live network television coverage of the event.

Campaign Ethics

Walker said he preferred the Senate version of a campaign disclosure bill which has been passed by both houses. The Senate measure calls for disclosure of all contributions and expenditures over $100, while the House set the limit at $50. Walker said he would hold a news conference on the subject Thursday.

RТА

The governor said he opposed any proposal which would allow counties to withdraw from the Regional Transportation Authority for metropolitan Chicago. "I would be open to changes that would make the RTA more acceptable in suburban areas, so long as the changes do not jeopardize the RTA itself," he said.

Welfare

Walker said he was troubled by a bill passed by the House calling for mandatory life sentences for drug pushers convicted a second time.

The concept of stiffer sentences for crimes in the hard drug area is one that I support," he said.

School of Music plans performances in Home Ec

By Dave Searns
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The School of Music is moving its performances from the Old Baptist Foundation to the air conditioned Home Economics Auditorium.

Summer plans of associate professor Alan Oldfield include a concert by his jazz ensemble in mid-July, a student composition concert Aug. 6 and an experimental music concert, July 18.

"Last summer, during our experimental music concert the audience walked out," Oldfield recalled. "This summer before that, a lightning bolt hit the auditorium during the performance, and sparks flew across the stage during the piece. This summer, we'll be performing pieces by John Cage, and Bob Charlemagne. Both are professors at Webster College to perform a few pieces.

A similar experimental event, graduate student Phil Lourie will give a cinema-sound recital July 25, when it is announced. We hope to record the singers from the Summer Music Theater to perform music from such operas as Mozart's "The Magic Flute," Bellini's "Norma" and Puccini's "La Boheme."

The program is set for Aug. 4, and will be full length.

Alex Montgomery, who played opposite Jo Ann Hawkins in "Souslain," and had the title role in Mozart's "Don Giovanni" will give a recital gala July 12.

Also, tenor Robin Backer, who has appeared in several Marjorie Lawrence Opera Theater productions, will give a recital gala on Aug. 5.

Three pianos will recitals be given this quarter, including a two-piano performance by faculty member Mary Jane Grizzell and Esther House, wife of School of Music director Robert House. The program, be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in Stryker Auditorium, includes duet compositions by Delia Jean, Dejan, and Klauhauter.

Domnick Antonio Lomowed will give a recital at 8 p.m. June 28, including a program of Poulenc, Brahms, Labo, Bartok and Dussek.

Then on July 2, pianist Sharon Myers and transport John Connolly will give a joint recital performance.

Choral, Dan Pitzer, director of the University Chorale, a program which will be more informal for the summer season, consisting of much sight-reading and the performance of short choral pieces. Robert W. King'shag will work with the University Choir with a possible performance end of the quarter. Both choirs are open to scholastic credit and are looking for members.

The University Chorale will be directed by two graduate students, John Stubb's and Randy Blue. Performance plans will be announced later.

All concerts, presented by the Home Economics Auditorium (unless otherwise noted) are open to the public free of charge.

By day, its ‘A Funny Thing’ by night, ‘Dark of the Moon’

By Michael Hawley
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Members of Summer Playhouse “The Wildcast” waste away The lack of professionally producing two musicals this summer, as part of the course of an eight-week academic quarter for it.

Much of the playhouse company arrived in Carbondale only this past week, the summer’s first two productions, “Dark of the Moon” and “A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum,” were completed on Monday. And while no time for a breath, rehearsals began Tuesday morning.

According to Summer Playhouse Publicity Director Dave Searns, the members of the playhouse will often work all day and rehearse a day, currently, they are rehearsing “A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Moon” by night. Searns said that the "Dark of the Moon” is ready to be performed, rehearsals for "A Wildcast” Wilderness will probably already have begun.

“It’s incredible the amount of concentration needed when you’re working with the same people 14 hours a day over an extended period of time,” said Searns. "I don’t understand how we can write a day’s worth of script when we’re only seeing each other for a few days. We’re here to enjoy the experience.

The summer bill is selected during the winter quarter, and auditions take place at SIU and the Southeastern Theatre Conference. On an acting member of the playhouse, he or she must then go through two additional auditions that determine particular roles for it.

Most of the playhouse actors are not SIU, Searns said. Six SIU students will be in this season’s productions, with the remainder coming from many out of state schools. The majority of the 27 member pit orchestra, the technical and production crew, are comprised of SIU students, Searns said.

Besides gaining valuable theatre experience, members of the playhouse either receive Graduate Assistantship stipend pay, a $15.00 stipend paid by the summer, a tuition waiver or up to nine credit hours, all based upon position and experience. Summer Playhouse is financially supported by office sales and subsidy from the Southeastern Theatre Conference and Fine Arts, Searns said.

The directors of this summer’s productions are all from SIU, Searns said. "Dark of the Moon" is being directed by Professor of Theatre Dr. William Grizzell, and Professor of Professor of Theatre Dr. Archibald Horn. The two musical producers, "Cabaret" and "A Funny Thing Happened" are both also being directed by Associate Professor of Theatre Darvin Payne.

Summer Playhouse has had a reputation for producing the best shows seen on the SIU campus.

In 1973, Summer Playhouse consist of two separate groups, Summer Music Theatre and Summer Theatre. Summer Music Theatre opened the SIU Department of Music, and the group produced four musicals during the course of the summer. At the same time, Summer Theatre would produce four non-musicals.

Because of budget cutbacks, the number of shows each group did was reduced to three in 1972. Last summer, further fund reductions forced the cancellation of one show on Summer Playhouse which produced the two musicals and two non-musicals.

According to Dornan, this merger has come in demands upon its participants.

When the two groups were separate, someone who couldn’t see a show or dance could get along in the non-musical group. But now, members of the company must be able to sing, dance and art for the same group of approximately 30 people perform in all four productions.

Tickets for the four productions are "Dark of the Moon," July 5, and 7. "A Funny Thing Happened" July 12, 13, 14, and 15. "Wildcast" on July 30, 27 and 28 and "Cabaret" August 2, 3, 4, 9, and 10.

Tickets for Summer Playhouse 74 may be purchased individually or in season-ticket books. Students must purchase a season's ticket book for $2, and is made up of one admission ticket to each of the show for musicals and non-musicals will be sold to students at $17.50. Single admission tickets for non-musicals are $3.75 for each musical and $5.25 for each non-musical.

Tickets are now being sold at the University Theatre box office in the Communications Building and the University Theatre in the Student Center from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Tickets may also be obtained at the University Theatre box office at 7 p.m. on Saturdays and from 7 p.m. on performances. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. in the University Theatre.

Campus offices begin shuffle

The Board of Trustees is on the move.

So are inhabitants of the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, Liberal Arts and Sciences advisement, the English and history departments and a number of other offices and departments on campus.

The board staff began moving Wednesday into Small Group Housing 111 from their offices in Forest Hall. Other offices in Forrest Hall should be vacated by June 30. David Grobe, coordinator, facilities planning and Wednesday.

The departments of English and History and LAS advisement should be moved out of Woody Hall and into Foster Hall by mid-July, Grobe said.

He said Computer Sciences, Sociology, Linguistics, Anthropology, Geography, the Center for English as a Second Language, and the University Museum are expected to begin moving into Foster in the fall.

"The building will be filled by Christmas time," Grobe said.

Rino Banelli, director of construction and facilities planning, said fraternities originally announced as being moved out of Small Group Housing will be able to stay "as long as they stay healthy."

Bianchi said the fraternities were going to be moved because they were unable to pay the rent on the buildings.

Now, he said, the fraternities feel they are going to increase their membership and be able to keep up with the building payments.

Banelli said the fraternities may be moved to another building, but the university has no intention of moving them out of Small Group Housing.

Ford-UAW continue talks

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, (AP) - Negotiators for Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers bargained around the clock Wednesday in an effort to end a week-old strike at the firm's Chicago Heights stamping plant.

A Ford spokesman declined to say where the negotiations were meeting or if anything has been accomplished.

They went into bargaining at 1 p.m. Tuesday, continued through the night and Wednesday.

Second phase of renovation will begin at Life Sciences

By John Russell
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Remodeling and renovation of classrooms in Life Science I and II will begin next week, according to Rino Bianchi, director of construction and facilities planning.

A total of $324,705 will be spent on construction costs of two classrooms in LS I and on classrooms and restrooms on the first and second floors of LS I. Bianchi said Wednesday the remodeling will be done as the second stage of a $1 million project to prepare the LS buildings for use by the School of Medicine.

The first construction stage provided instructional space on the second and third floors for a class of 24 medical students. Bianchi said. The cost of the first stage totaled almost $900,000, he said.

The federal government in providing most of the $1 million cost of the project, Bianchi said.

Bids for the second stage of the project originally totaled $335,370-$5,786 over the $329,705 budgeted for the second stage.

Bianchi said the Board of Trustees, at their June 13 meeting in Edwardsville, "look advantage of deductive alternatives" to pare down the cost to $324,705.

The board decided to leave out some of the materials and work originally planned for the LS buildings in order to come closer to the $399,000 figure, he said. Bianchi said painting of walls and wainscoting of floors will not be done in some parts of the buildings and cheaper materials will be used in place of more expensive ones.

The contracts were awarded to:

- J.L. Simmons Company, for general construction work, $93,735.
- Blaine Inc. Centralia, for plumbing, $46,200, and $26,840 for paging work.
- Bianchi said construction should be completed within four months.

Gilbert elected search chairman

Gilbert was appointed to the committee by the Chamber of Commerce and will head the 11-member search committee.

Thomas Ellison, residence dean and a counselor at the Carbondale Work Release Center, was elected vice chairman and Mae Nelson, appointed by the Citizens Advisory Committee, was elected secretary.

Robert Henderson and Estelle Chappel are representing the S.U. Student body on the police chief screening committee.

The committee has received 12 applications including two from the Carbondale police department. July 15 has been set as a cutoff date for accepting applications.

City Manager Carroll Fry said the committee hopes to make three recommendations by Aug. 1. Fry will make the final selection. "We definitely want a new chief by the time school at S.U. starts and sooner if possible," Fry said.

Capt. Edward Hogan is the acting police chief until a permanent one is selected. Hogan took over duties July 1 after Police Chief Joe Dalon resigned.

Pre-registration appointments for Fall semester in General Studies are now being issued. Advisement appointments may be picked up in the Advisement Office, Woody Hall C, for continuing students and re-entry students.

Advisement appointments for new students will be mailed from the Admissions Office.
To halt sex discrimination

HEW announces sports regulations

By Tom Seagy
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON—The federal government on Tuesday unveiled its proposed regulation to prohibit sexual discrimination in intercollegiate athletics and to broaden the opportunities for women in competitive sports.

Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the proposed regulations "would neither exempt nor disrupt intercollegiate athletics as some have feared; rather, the regulation moves in the direction of insuring better opportunities for women in athletic competition."

The regulations, implementing Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, permit universities to have separate teams for males and females or a single team open to both sexes.

However, if separate teams are offered, the school may not discriminate on the basis of sex in providing the equipment and supplies, "or in any other way, but equal aggregate expenditures are not required."

The goal of the regulation on competitive athletics, according to HEW, is to secure equal opportunity for males and females while allowing schools and universities flexibility in determining how best to provide such opportunities.

The proposed regulations, to be published in the Federal Register on Thursday, are more general than the ones circulated last January.

The original proposals said specifically that schools could not discriminate on sex "in the selection of sports or levels of competition, provision of equipment or supplies, scheduling of games and practice times, travel and per diem allowance, award of athletic scholarships, opportunity to receive coaching and instruction, use of locker rooms and stadiums, provision of medical and training facilities and services, publicity, or otherwise."

The National College Athletic Association vigorously opposed the regulations as being unrealistic and unreasonably and lobbied, apparently unsuccessfully, to eliminate them from sports.

Weinberger said the regulations would not force universities to spend equal amounts of money on men and women's athletics, but would require schools to have an equal number of scholarships, two of the fears expressed by the NCA.

As an example, he cited a case where the women's basketball team was flown by plane but the women's field hockey team had to hold a bake sale to raise money for uniforms.

"That's the kind of discrimination we want to end," he said.

Under the regulations, institutions must offer women's sports in the same position, in what sports students desire to participate in.

Five Saluki baseball players involved in pro contract negotiations

By Mark Tupper
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Five SIU baseball players have either already signed or are currently negotiating professional contracts with major league teams. Four of the Salukis were picked in the recent professional baseball free agent draft and one has signed as a free agent.

Scott Waltemate, senior right-handed pitcher from Steeleville has signed a free agent contract with the Montreal Expos of the National League. After a 10-3 season with the Salukis in which he set a record for most career wins by an SIU pitcher.

Waltemate will leave Thursday for Kingston, N.C. to play for Montreal's Class A minor league team, "He talked like I would possibly start Sunday," Waltemate said.

"I was real surprised and disappointed about not being drafted," Waltemate said, "but I think it turned out better than I would have if I'd have been a real low draft choice."

Junior first baseman Mike Wilkins has signed a contract with the San Francisco Giants and left Wednesday to join the minor league Decatur Commodores. Wilkins was drafted by the Giants in the 12th round and reportedly received a bonus of about $6,000.

Saluki shortstop Sam Mann, who went in the fourth round of the American League Cleveland Indians, still remains unsigned. From his home in Altus, Mo. Wednesday, Mann said that he and Cleveland scouts have not yet agreed on terms to his contract.

"I'm not being unreasonable but if they won't give me what I want I won't sign," Mann stated. "I think they want to sign me for as little as possible, maybe because I'm a senior and they don't think I have any other choice."

However, Mann said that if he cannot come to terms with Cleveland he will play summer baseball in Virginia and wait until the January draft, allowing other major league teams to pick up his draft rights. If Mann does sign, he will be playing at Chicago's AA team in San Antonio, Tex.

Senior Rob Kraus, drafted by the Boston Red Sox in the sixth round and rightfielder Claude Cockrell, tabbed in the fifth round by the St. Louis Cardinals also remain unsigned. Both have indicated they will probably be signing sometime during the summer. Klass is a senior and Cockrell a junior.

Cubs victim of one-hitter

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Tolan scored an unearned run in the third inning and rookie Dan Spilifier made it stand up with IM umpire meetings set to discuss rules

SIU students interested in umpiring intramural softball games should attend softball rule interpretation meetings prior to the start of the season.

The meetings are scheduled for 5:15 p.m. Thursday, June 20 and 5:15 p.m. Monday, June 24 in Room 121 of the SIU Arena.

Uniforms are paid $2 for the team and are required to have a current ACT Family financial statement on file at the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office.

Slow pitch 12 and 16 games will be played.

For additional information contact the Office of Recreation and Intramurals in Room 128 of the SIU Arena or call 453-3719.

Newman named all-tournament at World Series

Bert Newman, SIU's designated hitter, was the only Saluki named to the all- tournament College World Series team. Last month, Newman was the only unanimous choice to the all-District IV team.

In the College World Series, Newman batted .348 getting eight hits in 23 at bats. He also had two runs batted in, scored two runs, and had one double and one triple. His two stolen bases against Miami set a single season record in disposing of Miami in the semifinals.

Newman finished the season hitting .365 and led the team in runs scored (35) and was second in doubles (2). He began the year as Saluki's third baseman, but was switched to designated hitter when Jim Loomis was hurt in a fall.

Of the 12 players named to the all- tournament team, six were from champion Southern Cal, three were runner up Miami and one from Texas.

Turning pro

Mike Wilkins (left), Scott Waltemate (center) and Stan Mann (right) are all currently involved with professional baseball careers. Wilkins has signed with the San Francisco Giants, Waltemate with the Montreal Expos and Mann is negotiating with the Cleveland Indians.
