Threat To Freedom Seen In Attack On Advertising

ADS Speaker Opposes Legislative Restriction

Attacks on advertising represent "a threat to all of our freedoms of expression," said Lee Fondren, who appeared at the annual meeting of the Alpha Delta Sigma at Glam City City Lodge. Fondren, station manager and director of sales at KLZ Radio, Denver, is national ad director of the Radio Advertising Bureau. He is also vice-chairman of the advertising Federation of America.

He discussed the effects of advertising as an "opportunity" and regulation on advertising and its controls. He said "... something more than just taking dollars out of our advertising coffers. I think this is getting us of our business entirely. We see a threat to all of us as citizens of a democracy where we have the right to think and to talk about speech whether it's on a platform or on an ad to sell a product or an idea."

He recommended a common front of all advertising media toward their basic right to advertise.

Ticket Sale For 'Gentleman' To Start Friday

Season ticket holders for the Spring Playhouse will be able to purchase regular tickets as they become available Thursday. Advance tickets for the play "How Would--Gentleman," which has been popular in other runs, should be mailed at once, according to Jim Bob Thomson, director of the Playhouse, in order that patrons can plan their attendance by the dates and times of performance.

Obelisk Orders Top Last Year's Sales

Advance sales show that 6,255 orders have been taken for the year's calendar, a 13 per cent increase over last year's total of 5,600.

No more orders are being taken this quarter, but during the winter quarter, sales for the 1980-81 calendar should be 13 per cent over last year.-Regular ticket sales for individual seats at the adult performances will begin on the 15th at the box office.

SIU Students Report Devious Ways Of Improving Grades

A survey shows that SIU students believe there are only four courses in which they complete a college education: studying, advertising, political actions and the out-and-out "cous" game, and not necessarily in that order.

More or less, you've got to see for yourself the results of SIU students. Their fin. gov. were to be tabulated and an evaluation made to determine if any valid conclusions could be drawn.

The material the team collected was scanned and, without the need of any ciphers, showed that from first-quarter freshman to P.D. candidates, students at SIU will give cause, resort to the old go-to plan, "fire a professor whose lectures don't penetrate certain thick skulls." Test books, it seems, are for decorations. They make student's abode more collegiate.
Buyers Sought for ‘Search’ - SIU Magazine Of Literature

To date sales of “The Search,” SIU student literary magazine have been slow, said Miss Micki Goldfeather, president of the English Club which sponsors the publication.

Of about 430 copies for sale, fewer than 200 have been sold since the magazine appeared in early October.

“The bookstore is co-operating with a display and the English department is co-operating by selling copies from the office. Copies are also available from English Club members,” she said.

The 50-cent price covers less than half the publication and copyright costs, she added. Publication has been made possible by a special grant from the University.

Gong GOES "WAY OUT!"

Some people call this the space age. Everybody has pizza, planes, spacecraft, boot or some other unmentionable means.

To keep up with the times, we have also decided to try to rhyme their answers and set them to familiar tunes—like, for instance, the stirring "Cowboy March." Notions would not, of course, be changed.

And if the student, loaded not only with science but also with plant and rock and light and weight, will go on to study the aesthetics of space, he will expose himself to a new and different kind of peril.

Loverly, and so forth.

And while you're at it, the physical education officials will be toasting our orbiting spacecraft—simultaneous with the American Astronauts.

Phoebe, who is familiar with Fauna's line but not with Fauna's line.

Mr. Soares found no solution to this inanimate imbalance.

I believe, believe there is one— and a very simple one. It is this: if students of science don't have time to come to the arts, then the arts must come to students of science.

For example, a very easy thing to teach poetry and music right along with physics. Students, instead of being called upon to revere, would instead be expected to rhyme their answers and set them to familiar tunes—like, for instance, the stirring "Cowboy March." Notions would not, of course, be changed.

And if the student, loaded not only with science but also with plant and rock and light and weight, will go on to study the aesthetics of space, he will expose himself to a new and different kind of peril.

Loverly, and so forth.

Russian Spy Charge Holds Yale Professor

MOSCOW

Prof. Frederick Charles Barghoorn, a Yale University Russian specialist who has been visiting the Soviet Union as a tourist, is under arrest on a charge of spying the Soviets announced Tuesday.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Barghoorn, 32, the author of several books critical of the Soviet Union, was picked up "the other day" in Moscow for espionage by state security organs and an investigation is under way.

The Foreign Ministry notified the U.S. Embassy of his detention—the first such case involving an American since the summer thaw in the cold war.

Neither the Foreign Ministry nor Tass disclosed when he was arrested, where he is held or details of the charge. Embassy officials were not permitted to see him.

The arrest provoked astonishment in Western quarters, Doubt was expressed as to the basis for any charge against him, for Barghoorn’s activities were largely on the cultural side and he did not enter any sensitive areas.

A usual Soviet charge against foreign intelligentsia suspected of espionage is photography or unexplained travel in the United States. The third—Professor Barghoorn is said to be a staff member of the United States Information Agency, a diplomat who has contacts with the U.S. government and is permitted to see Embassy officials were not permitted to see him.

Of that group, two Soviet diplomats accredited to the United Nations claimed diplomatic immunity. They were expelled from the United States.

The summer thaw in the cold war brought the Pan American set-up to 29 of three Russians at the U.S. Embassy of New York, N.J., an American electronics engineer.

Barghoorn is a professor in the electronics department and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the Committee for the American Slavic Review.

John LaCost wanted a part in scientific progress

He has it at Western Electric

John LaCost received his B.S.E.E. from the University of Illinois in 1962. One of the factors which influenced him to join Western Electric was a quick manner in which new engineers become operational.

A few short time John has been with us, he has worked in several areas which are vital to the nation’s communications complex. For his future development in mind, John attended one of our Graduate Engineer Training Centers where he studied the fundamental electronics business. He is currently working as a systems equipment engineer on several projects as cross bar switching and line out put.

John’s future at Western Electric looks promising indeed. He knows he will be working with revolutionary and advanced engineering concepts like electronic switching, thin film circuitry, computer-controlled production lines and microwave systems. He is also aware of the continued opportunity for college study through the company paid tuition refund plan, as well as through company training centers.

If you are interested in your future, you see your future? If you have high personal standards and the qualifications we are looking for, we should talk. Opportunities for fast moving careers exist now, not only for electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers, but also for other scientific, liberal arts and business majors.

For more detailed information, get your copy of Western Electric Career Opportunities booklet from your Placement Office. Or write: Western Electric Company, Room 6405, 222 Broadway, New York 38, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a personal interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Estes Refuses To Tell Senators If Influence Swung Deals

WASHINGTON

Texas promoter Billie Sol Estes refused Tuesday to tell Senate investigators whether his influence helped him to swing allegedly illegal farm aid deals made on re-election campaign fortune.

Summoned to a public hearing at the windup of an investigation of his dealings with the Agriculture Department, Estes pleaded that answers to such questions might tend to incriminate him.

He refused, among other things, to tell the Senate investigations subcommittee whether he is going to use his influence to buy or grant licenses to any government officials.

Earlier, the subcommittee estimated Estes had refused to answer similar questions at an hour-long closed hearing.

Both Parties Rally To Senate Leaders

WASHINGTON

Senators of both parties rallied Tuesday behind the Senate’s Democratic and Republican leaders today, according to a source close to Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Several Republicans and Democrats agreed that the sluggish legislative pace in Washington is not causing a major swing to the Kennedy legislative program.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, said individual members rather than the leaders, had to accept responsibility for the delays.

But Wilson saw the picture from the majority leader’s desk as he related a recent statement of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., that Mansfield and Dirksen were not powerful enough as leaders.

“I want to say right now that this Senate never had faier, more capable and more continuous leadership than what we have in Senator Mansfield and Senator Dirksen,” Aiken said.

Douglas-Home To Let Voters Decide British Nuclear Role

LONDON

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, addressing Parliament for the first time as prime minister, promised Tuesday to let the voters decide whether they want Britain to remain an independent nuclear power. He made it plain that this would be a major issue in the next British election due within 12 months.

Sir Alec’s speech to the House of Commons and criticsim of government policy made by Labor party leader Harold Wilson opened a political battle expected to increase in intensity as the months go ahead.

Cheers from his Conservative party followers greeted the prime minister—a nobleman until a month ago—when he took his place at the despatch box in the House of Commons, where he had sat as an estate agent a few years ago.

Assignment: match the performance of our finest automatic drive in a lighter, less expensive version!

Result: a new Ford-built 3-speed torque converter—ideal "traveling companion" for our new, hotter, medium-displacement V-8 engines

A completely new Ford Motor Company 3-speed automatic drive for 1964 delivers improved passing performance... smoother acceleration... fewer startups (up to 35%)... higher torque multiplication in low... more flexible downhill braking... quieter operation in neutral.

With the introduction of this lighter, highly durable and efficient transmission, the new Comet, Fairlaine and Ford models, our engineers have taken another step toward putting extra pep per pound into Ford-built cars.

Simplified gearcase design and a one-piece aluminum casting result in a lighter, more compact transmission—one that has fewer components to repair and is easy to maintain.

Built to precision tolerances akin to those in missile production, the new automatic transmission is truly a product of the space age and is typical of technology progress at Ford.

Another assignment completed; another case of engineering leadership at Ford providing fresh ideas for the American Road.
Full Bread Basket Envisioned For 15 North Atlantic Nations

This relatively short treatise on the problems of agriculture reviews production and prices in the fifteen North Atlantic countries is completely revised and updated. The author has firmly elected the severely divided policy in these countries. The goal he establishes on the basis of its objectives is to create a breadbasket for the world. This breadbasket, he feels, will drive directly and relentlessly toward the achievement of objectives and goals. As one reads, he gains an early and vivid impression that the author had determined where he wanted to go and expends his efforts to communicate his appropriate redesign pointing in that direction.

He considers the agricultural price policies that have been the subject of the deliberations of the members of the European Community. These deliberations are related to the accomplishment of complete economic union within Western Europe. The North Atlantic region which includes the thirteen non-communist states of Europe, Canada and the U.S.A. is full certain that this process is going to go on. He feels that self-sufficiency of food production is not indicated. He has seven countries and increased overproduction, especially of grain, for their population in this region. He would solve this by reducing the number of farmers, by removing support prices or subsidies where they exist and by establishing effective production controls.

A Frustrated Navy

A Frustrated Navy was written by precisely the same people who have been making history since the end of the First World War. There is a good reason why. Now the Navy has emerged from its frustration at last. The Navy is a powerful force in the world today.

In the great flying-saucer controversy, we have been caught between two extremes. One is the delusion that the flying saucers exist, the other is the delusion that they do not. The real problem is the problem of the surplus food production in the world. The solution of this problem lies in the establishment of a new agricultural and economic system.
Frosh Court Squad Best Group To Date

Only 12 players remain on the SIU freshman basketball roster after the first few weeks of practice for the coming season, but these 12 could be welded into the best first-year cage quintet ever of Southern Illinois.

Head Freshman Coach Gene Iubelt has already tabbed his boys "the best we've ever had," and he has reason for such exuberance, after checking out his crew.

Obviously one of the primary reasons for this case of optimism in Walt Frazier, a Georgia recruit who appears well on the way to seeing a starting position by opening day. Frazier stands 6-4 and has no trouble at all hitting the floor from anywhere on the floor.

Iubelt has decided to convert the Atlanta prep star to a guard position this season, where the Salukis will benefit from his quick and accurate range as well as his accuracy from closer range.

Also making a big noise in pre-season drills have been five youngsters from the southern half of the state. The scramble is on for starting slots for the Jan. 6 opener here against the SIU Sophomores.

Belleville's contributions to Saluki cage fortunes are Roger Quinones and Bob Tyler. Although considered a couple of Southern's top recruits, they are being eased into the game by extra efforts by a trio of previous players. Iubelt says the Salukis are "very cautious in their second operation, following by three straight traveling games. The Tuesday through Saturday excursion will pit Southern against Mt. Vernon Jan. 31 and 31, Harrisburg Jr. College on Jan. 23 and Murray State on Jan. 25.

Back on campus at the end of the January holiday will be Bob Johnson, the tree-topper of the squad at 6-7, while half-backs Alan Thompson, Smith and Greer are all listed at 6-4.

In 124 included contests, the Saluki frosh will play eight games, two of them against Southern's junior varsity sophomores. The first game was Nov. 9, and the pre-school skirmishes, on 1-6.

Next up, on Jan. 10, will be Hannibal Lagrange Extension, where, then the Salukis will take the road for a single game at Evansville on Jan. 13.

On Jan. 18, it will be Calhoun against the sophomores in their second operation, following by three straight traveling games. The Tuesday through Saturday excursion will pit Southern against Mt. Vernon Jan. 31 and 31, Harrisburg Jr. College on Jan. 23 and Murray State on Jan. 25.

Back on campus at the end of the January holiday will be Bob Johnson, the tree-topper of the squad at 6-7, while half-backs Alan Thompson, Smith and Greer are all listed at 6-4.

It may seem as if the Saluki football team is on a go-round, and only a few of them are catching that traditional running game.

That's what it looks like, but as the Salukis' stats from week to week, as the same names keep popping up in the same critical departments, the proper perspective for rating their game is to divide the season individual scoring title appears to be going right down the wire, with neither of the three that share the lead willing to cede their hold on the position. When one takes a step forward, the other two repeat close behind.

Southern's "Touchdown Triples" Bob Ross, Shelton, flanker back Harry Bobbitt and end Tom Massey. The last two shared the lead with 24 points each, in the win over North Dakota State, the one that added another touchdown so the lead is now split among these three, with 30 points each.

Robbitt, from Carbondale, has moved well in front of his partners in pace receiving, however, with a school record of 33 catches and 463 yards gained. These eight game totals should help Bobbitt among the top 15 receivers in the nation on the college division level.

Massey has been taking giant strides in an effort to knock off some ground in the past two weeks. After sitting out games on an injury, the Runnemeade, N.J. pass-rusher, has caught nine for 190 yards in the last two games. Against North Dakota State, he scored five for 121, leaving him within striking distance -- 73 yards -- of joining John T. Vernon again on Jan. 22 at Evanston, and Jan. 31 and Murray State Feb. 7. They'll wind up the slate with a pair of games at home and a pair away. The road titlists will be at Evansville on Feb. 8 and Hannibal on Feb. 20. At home it will be Harrisburg on Feb. 11 and Kentucky Wesleyan on Feb. 24 to close out the season.
