Spreading of Virus Watched Closely By Health Service

At least one SIU student has been hospitalized because of an unidentified virus spreading among students.

About 350 cases of the virus have been reported at the Health Service in the last two weeks, according to Dr. Joseph E. Clarke, acting director.

Although not usually serious, the virus has highly intense stages, Dr. Clarke said.

Its effects are nausea, vomiting, cramping and dizziness. The effects last from two to three days.

There are no practical measures that one can take to cure the disease. Ordinarily, however, the student simply waits for the aches and pains to go away, he said.

The Health Service also reported several cases of hepatitis in the last two weeks.

The early symptoms of hepatitis are synonymous with the effects of the virus. "For this reason, we have asked, "are we paying careful attention to the virus outbreak."

The Egyptian regrets any embarrassment the data may have caused Gold. He pointed out that although liberals and conservatives do not agree about many things, they both have faith in the 20th century American political system. What's important, they both want to preserve the system and work within it.

On the other hand, he said, left- and right-wing extremist groups are being upon destroying the system.

The left wing is dedicated to "disorderly, disruptive and revolutionary change," Hall said. Its members want to rip out the government and put Marxism or Leninism in its place. The left seeks reform as being like putting a band-aid on a cancerous growth, he said.

"The right wing is the super-patriotic segment of the population," Hall said. Its members have much of the same ideology as that of the good American in that they make bitter attacks on all minority groups, Hall said. However, because the left is labeled as "luking America more and understanding it less," Hall pointed out that, according to their thinking, they are super-patriots, thus they do not want a democratic government. Instead, they advocate authoritarian rule by either the right or the left.

As an example of a current far-left movement, Hall called attention to a flag draped over the podium. It was red half and blue half, with a five-pointed star in the middle.

Hall identified it as a Viet Cong flag. He explained that an organization called the United States Committee to Support the National Liberation Front in South Vietnam was selling the flags for $10.

Proceeds from the sale of the flags are being sent to the Vietnamese with the hopes that U.S. troops will realize that they are fighting against a non-American movement.

Missouri Writer To Address University Women's Club
Mrs. Jean Bell Mosley, a southeast Missouri writer, will be the guest speaker at a breakfast meeting of the University Women's Club at 9:15 a.m. Wednesday at the University Center.

A native of Missouri, Mrs. Mosley's writing reflects the influence of the area. She has published over 200 short stories and pieces of non-fiction in national magazines, including Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal, Woman's Day, Farm Journal and Reader's Digest.

Her first book, "The Miss Mandalyn Piano," won the Missouri Writers Guild Award and her second book, "Wide Meadows," was an American Ambassador Book chosen for overseas reading.

Mrs. Mosley is coauthor of a weekly newspaper column, "From Dawn to Dark." Published in several southeast Missouri weeklies, it is "all the small, jig-saw bits of everyday joys put together that make one big picture of happiness, not the scattered big pictures, happening too far apart," Mrs. Mosley said.

"EVE WANTS TO SLEEP"
How to Avoid Killing Yourself

Larry and Kathy Lindauer's letter to the editor in the Nov. 4, 1965, issue of the Chronicle prompted me to write this letter.

Several cycle clubs have recently formed on campus, and most of these are run by one of them. Most of the clubs are not interested in organizing cycle recreational events and to promote cycle awareness, safety, and hunting for one another. The only possible purpose seems to be serving first, second, third, and so on, within the cycle club scene. Furthermore, the Metropolitan University situation on campus and, consequently, the letter to the editor is a result of the two recent fatal accidents, which could elect to do away with motorcycle activities.

The Security Office put out a booklet, entitled "Motorcycle Regulations and Safety Suggestions," that every student cyclist should read carefully. The latest issue of Exquire magazine contains three very interesting articles that tell the history of motorcycles and "bike" fans from the Madras to Torrance, Honda. Particularly interesting is their growing popularity among Madison Avenue types and college students. The third article is recommended reading for anyone who operates a cycle in the Carbondale area. It is called "How to Avoid Killing Yourself," and deals with the motorcycle's special problems of vulnerability and relative invisibility.

The Chronicle has no reason to tell, but it will always be up to the individual cyclist to take the responsibility that he can handle his vehicle with responsibility.

How We Must Fight 'Cong' to Preserve Freedom

May I first say to Mr. Schilpp that he must be a very wise and learned man. He knows more about what is right, and more about the Viet Nam situation, than any Viet Nam-er, than any Viet Nam than, to use his words, "almost 250 million Americans." I second this letter item by item.

1. Mr. Schilpp, for the entire university would be ab-folly we agreed on the following:

a. We supported Castro but he, if you will, "stuck a Knife in our backs." Because of the Communists, with whom we cannot actually know what a party is good or bad unless you are tried.

b. The North Vietnamese simply "will not allow free elections Mr. Schilpp. That is clearly what the North Vietnamese believe.

c. Can the "learned and wise" Mr. Schilpp tell us why the Viet Cong were not originally Communist? The United States government does not reason to believe otherwise.

4. My dear Mr. Schilpp, the Communists, he believes that there is no such thing as anything else, are bent on world domination. If you will let us, Mr. Schilpp, you can see what happens when we allow our country to be invaded by other view, Mr. Khrushchev was leaning towards peace for the existence and he was removed from power.

5. Mr. Schilpp, it is the North Vietnamese who have had no UN, supervision rights, and more, and more about the Viet Nam situation, than any Viet Nam-er, than any Viet Nam-er, than any Viet Nam-er, than any Viet Nam-er, than any Viet Nam-er, than any Viet Nam-er.

But What We Need is One-sided Teach-Ins!

Vietnam Forum II,Nov. 7, at 9 a.m., in the Student Center. SDS pulled the blunder of all time by sponsoring the biggest Teach-Ins ever. It could have partially redeemed itself by sponsoring the next one, or by listing Mr. Shiro and sending him back to Chicago. But, it didn't.

Most of the speakers were ill-prepared to discuss the war, with logical or coherent themes. The pro-war side seemed to dominate the Department releases, Penta- gon releases and Time Magazine; the American walking down the road, and the Viet Cong, they say, "are better American than we are."

We must do away with the Viet Cong, they say, and they keep pretty much the same view.

Annual Book Fair

Set for Children

The annual children's book fair, sponsored by the American Association of University Women, will be Nov. 16-20. Nearly $1,000 worth of books ranging from picture books for youngsters to mysteries for teen-agers will be for sale. SIU students will help children in choosing books and will tell stories to the youngsters.

The fair will be at the Unitarian Meeting House at the corner of Elm Street and University Avenue. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily and 9:30 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

Story time will be 4 p.m., daily and 10 a.m. Saturdays. Family Night will be Nov. 19 when the meeting house will be open until 9:30 p.m.

Rhodesian Government Declares Independence

SALESBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia’s white-minority government, acting on its own, declared its independence Thursday and swiftly ran into a buzzsaw of British wrath and international condemnation.

Britain in effect outlawed the independent nation, the African nations were ready to strike against Rhodesia if all else failed.

One of Rhodesia’s neighbors, South Africa, approved the whites’ action, but another, black-ruled Zambia, took the opposite tack, Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda, charged that white Rhodesian troops were building up along the frontier and said Zambia will meet force with force if necessary. He declared a state of emergency.

Prime Minister Ian Smith’s proclamation cutting ties with the mother country echoed phrases of the U.S. Declaration of Independence. It was the first unilateral split away from the British since the American Colonies broke with King George III in 1776.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson’s own, Britain in effect outlawed Rhodesia. Britain in effect outlawed Rhodesia.

Rhodesian’s declaration of independence from Britain swept aside the government as anathema.

The breakdown that led to the Rhodesian declaration stemmed from the white regime’s refusal to meet British demands for insuring the possibility of eventual rule by the colony’s black majority. Britain reacted severely, imposing a boycott designed to hit Rhodesia’s economy, and taking the issue to the United Nations. Friday, the U.N. Security Council will hear Michael Steward, British foreign secretary, on what Britain terms “this illegal action.”

At Prime Minister Harold Wilson’s urging, Britain’s G.C. Humphrey Gibbs suspended Smith and all his ministers for “an unconstitutional act of independence.”

But by his own declaration, Smith swept aside the governor’s authority.

Reaction was harsh, particularly in Black Africa, where Rhodesia’s white government is anathema.

Rhodesia faced diplomatic isolation from many countries. Norway and Sweden blacklisted the regime.

The United States expects to back the British diplomatically and economically, although U.S. trade with Rhodesia is so small.

Bolster 160,000-Man Force

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson Thursday authorized the sending of additional U.S. troops to fight in South Viet Nam and sterner criticized Rhodesia’s declaration of independence.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Johnson instructed him to meet the requests of U.S. commanders in Viet Nam for additional personnel.

McNamara did not estimate how many more troops would be sent to augment the 160,000 already there, saying this country does not want to tip off the Communists in advance of what forces they would face in the future.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called the independence bid of the white minority government in Rhodesia an “illegal seizure of power.”

Rusk and McNamara relayed the President’s views to newsmen after they and other top-level advisers had conferred for hours with Johnson at his ranch near here on a wide variety of world events.

Doctors Closely Watching Ike

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — The medical team treating Dwight D. Eisenhower raised a possibility Thursday that a "full-blown heart attack" might develop from chest pains suffered by the former President.

They said through a spokesman that doctors have been treating him as if he had had another heart attack — he had a severe one in 1955 — since he suffered an angina pectoris attack early Tuesday morning, followed by more pain Wednesday.

But even with these disruptive elements, the physicians said at noon that the 75-year-old five-time general was in generally satisfactory condition. Later they reported he was a "comparably good" day and reading and visiting with Mrs. Eisenhower for hours. He accepted his brother Milton, and members of his staff.

It was at the noon briefing that the physicians’ words, "We are not worried," served to underscore their concern. They said: "It is not uncommon for patients with known coronary disease to experience repeated episodes of chest pain which may or may not progress to a full-blown heart attack (coronary thrombosis or myocardial infarction).

"In the meantime we will continue the accepted therapy and prevention which is to treat the patient with these threatening attacks, as if he had suffered a heart attack..."

The retirement announcement, delivered to Harrison at 10 a.m. Wednesday, and accepted by the governor Thursday, marked the end of an era in Virginia politics and plainly shook the state’s political structure.

Series of Botany Interviews Arranged for Harrisburg TV

Robert H. Mohlenbrock, chairman of the Department of Botany, was interviewed Tuesday by Jim Cox on the television program. This was the first in a series of interviews arranged by William D. Gray, professor of botany at SIU, and WHL-TV in Harrisburg. The following members of the Department of Botany will be interviewed by Jim Cox on "The Hour," 4 p.m. on Channel 3:

- On Nov. 23, Jacob Verduin, an aquatic physiologist, will discuss small plant life in lakes.
- On Nov. 30, William C. Ashley, a woodlands ecologist, will discuss the interrelations of plants with each other and with their environment.
- On Dec. 7, John W. Voigt, a graminoids ecologist, will discuss range and pasture management.
- On Dec. 14, Walter B. Welch, an economic botanist, will speak on the uses man makes of plants and plant parts.
- On Dec. 21, William M. Marberry, associated with the Physical Plant in landscaping and planting matters, will talk on the use of Christmas greens for decoration.

On Jan. 4, Walter E. Schmidt will speak on the mineral nutrition of plants.

On Jan. 11, Lawrence C. Martin, a paleobotanist, will discuss fossil plants such as coal.

Shroyer Again to Field Sophomore Lineup

It's fairly obvious from the season's records that Ball State (8-0) and Southern (1-7) don't play the same type of football. Ball State has used a well-balanced running and passing attack to amass its eight straight victories, while the Salukis have used little of either in their seven straight defeats.

The Salukis won't be able to catch the Cardinals by surprise in the Saturday afternoon contest. Ball State is anxious to end its season unbeaten. If they win, the Cardinals could be invited to play in a small college bowl, probably the Grandtand Rice or the Pecan.

Adding to Coach Don Shroyer's long list of woes is the condition of his quarterback, Jim Hart. Hart, who has been plagued with injuries most of the season, injured his left knee again in last week's game against Northern Michigan University. If Hart can't go, Shroyer will use Doug Mougy, who played most of last week's game.

Shroyer is expected once again to start 10 sophomores in the Ball State offensive line-up with the quarterback position the only exception. In last week's game against Northern Michigan, Bill Blanchard and John Pernoco, who needs one catch to set an NCAA receiving record, will be the ends, Ralph Galloway and Ted Coningham the tackles, Jon Cameron and Al Egli the guards and Edon Ewan center.

This Season Can't Match 3 Years Without Victories

One encouraging aspect to the already tragic football season is that no matter how badly the Saluki play in their final two games, they are already assured of not finishing with the worst record in the school's history.

In 1925, 1939 and 1951 Southern did not win a game. The school's record before this season read 177 won, 200 lost and 25 ties. The last tie occurred in 1953.

According to information released by the athletic departments at Northern Michigan and Ball State universities, both will be playing both schools again in 1966.

SIU... "is the HONDA capital of the world."

This has become an almost undisputed fact in the last year.

Honda is the biggest seller in the world and at Southern. Why?
Cause nothing catches on like the fun of owning a Honda.

Go where the action is, the cycle king in the capital...
