Senate Asks Morris to ‘Show Cause’

The campus Senate has extended an invitation to President Delye W. Morris to show cause why he should not be censured by the Senate. The Daily Egyptian has incorrectly reported that the Senate had passed a bill censuring the President but instead it had been tabled. A spokesman for the President’s Office told the Senate that Morris has been out of town and upon his return there is an excellent chance the President will attend the next campus Senate meeting. The Senate voted to establish May 18 as the date for the Carbondale City election for the Carbondale Campus elections.

A resolution was adopted by the Senate at its Wednesday night meeting to inform SIU students of their possible right to vote in the forthcoming Carbondale City elections. It was pointed out that many students may have the wrong impression of local voting requirements. One senator had said he talked to Students Attorney Richard E. Richmond who said that as long as students are not registered voters elsewhere, are 21 years old, residents of Illinois for one year, of Jackson County for 90 days, and of the ward for 30 days they may qualify as voters in the city elections.

However, the question of voting eligibility has been a matter of difference of legal opinion.

The Senate voted to submit a plan to the University for installation of additional free telephones in the University Center. Only one free phone exists in the Center now.

City Election Campaign in Home Stretch

Voters to Cast
Ballots Tuesday

By Mike Nauer

As the campaigns for city elections enter their last week, the tempo of coffee hour, phone bank, election mailings, charges and countercharges has been stepped up.

Election day is Tuesday, April 11.

Following the primaries, there has been a perceptible shift in tactics on the part of the Carbondale Citizens for Progress, the group supporting Mayor D. Blaney Miller, Joseph Ragulade, Gene Ramsey, Sidney L. Schoen and Archie Jones.

Direct mail pieces and public appearances have shown a 50-50 zone, with he part of these candidates. The areas has been on individual records and the “place theme” has been played down.

In the mayoral primaries, David Keene, a newcomer to Carbondale politics, polled 79 per cent of the vote and led the pack. It has been praised by Lincoln Eaton, Joseph Ragulade and Archie Jones.

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—President Johnson urged the inter-American summit conference Thursday to follow up words with quick economic action so Latin America may flourish in freedom and dignity.

At the climatic session of the conference, Johnson urged his 18 Latin American colleagues to make this “decade of urgency” in building a better life for their people. “If our rhetoric is not followed by action,” he declared, “we shall fail not only the Americans of this generation but hundreds of millions of others.”

Promising that the United States would be a “true partner” in the effort to raise the standards of living in Latin America, Johnson continued: “The assistance of my nation will be useful only as it re-enforces your determination and builds on your achievements and assists you in the growing unity of our hemisphere.

It appeared the U.S. President, already on record with limited concessions on trade and aid, had gone as far as he could regardless of what Latin America decides.

The shifting winds at the summit conference Thursday appeared to need to go on public record—to be blowing warmer toward the project simply thought that some minor changes in the design for aesthetic reasons were necessary.

For the past six months, four seniors in the SIU Marketing Club have been making decisions for a mock business venture.

Robert L. Van Zandt, from Danville, Rudolph W. Deutchmann, from Lake Forest, Robert B. Martin, from Benton, and John S. Spoehr, from Centralia, are team members participating in the fifth annual National Marketing Competition which will end Saturday at Michigan State University.

According to Kendall A. Adams, associate professor in marketing, the team is actually "playing a game." Developed by Sylvania Products, Inc. to train future marketing executives, the game requires each of the contesting four-man teams, using a computer, to telecope a fiscal year into 12 rounds of business decisions.

When the game began last October, each team submitted a marketing plan which they devised after studying the history of the "company" operations for the previous year. The SIU team has been meeting once a week, submitting various decisions on a monthly basis. These decisions have been judged as they have been received and right now southern's team is in the top 20 per cent.

Marketing clubs from 10 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada are competing in the program.

WHAT A WEEKEND!

A STIRLING, FRANK EXPOSURE OF MORALS

In a week-end of love and passion, it is an extraordinarily vital and unconventional look at young marrieds seven or eight years after the ceremony."

---Arthur Warton, Pat

"HAMLET" is a vast and realistic show of strange cinematographic values. It is a spectacle—a large, mobile, realistic rendering of the melodramatic action of the play—last depends entirely for its impact up a list-based scenery, the physical sweep of its performance and the grand effects that the camera achieves.

A splendid and stirring musical score by Dimitri Shostakovich has great dignity at depth, and an appropriate wildness or becoming levity. The director—who may be remembered, by the way, for his direction of the brilliant "Deux Oiseaux"—is not dependent on aural stimulation. He is concerned with engrossing the eye. And this he does with a fine achievement of pictorial power. His Hamlet is straight from the shoulder, a strong, literal-minded young man who is angry more often than moody.

The actors are excellent—all of them—in their movements, expressions and passionate moods.

Claude Will Have Difficult Time Proving Its Strategy Change

The hardest part of the new national policy on the Central Intelligence Agency will not be to stop its hidden financing of American private voluntary organizations, but to convince the rest of the world that this practice has not been going on only for the past two years. That is, according to the Senate's hearings, the CIA is spending $3,700,000 of funds which were available to it for a single fiscal year of three months, or one-third of the amount of funds which were available to it for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1946.

Private Colleges Need More Help Than State Schools

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner appears to be on some soft opposition on his proposal to build two new senior colleges to meet anticipated higher college needs. The proposal for new tax-supported colleges is the 43-member higher educational section of the state's higher educational order of the state's higher educational section, which has had to come to a decision between the public and the private institutions, and which has been represented since the beginning of the century by the Illinois State Legislature, the majority of whose members are from the state's largest city, Chicago.

Easing Up On Commisses Long Overdue

The Constitution's Bill of Rights, designed from the beginning to protect the individual against the tyranny of the state's higher educational section of the state's higher educational order of the state's higher educational section, has proved strong enough to defend the rights of even the impolitical minority as the members of history, the third generation of American citizens, the United States. That is the real meaning of the Justice Department's refusal to approve the 1950 McCarran Act's unconstitutional provisions for the Communist party and its agents, a requirement that ASTA violated the constitu­ tion and its own moral obligation.

The Communist party was never a major force in American life even at its peak in the 1920s and 1930s. Today it is an evanescent shadow, its small membership composed mostly of a few people trapped by ancient hatreds of better, a handful of young people, some of them children or grandchildren of veteran Americans, and in the intellectual community, where the party did its best, its force is negligible.

The party's denial of its role today is negligible, but its denial of the facts of history in the wake of the recent civil rights and anti-war movements is one of the conditions which paved the way for the party's fall. The party's denial of the facts of history in the wake of the recent civil rights and anti-war movements is one of the conditions which paved the way for the party's fall. The party's denial of the facts of history in the wake of the recent civil rights and anti-war movements is one of the conditions which paved the way for the party's fall.

In history, history has played the role of the party's enemy. The Nazi­ nism that began in the American and the world's two greatest powers, the British and the American, had to come to an end.

It will not be simple, how­ ever, to work out a satisfac­ tory and smoothly running "public-private" mechanism, such a set-up cannot burst full-color into operation. The British method, for example, has been a long time ago, and the result of years of trial and error. Furthermore, any public-private financing even when done openly, must avoid the charge of being merely a somewhat more casual method of interfering in the legal" spirit of the law. President Johnson has said that he can't succeed in being a truly effective leader of American policy.

American democracy can 2-adaptively meet the party's challenges and its many other challenges, but it must do so in the light of day. Somehow, the President must decide that his party is the party of the American people, and that it is the party of the people who have the power to govern the country. He must decide that his party is the party of the American people, and that it is the party of the people who have the power to govern the country. He must decide that his party is the party of the American people, and that it is the party of the people who have the power to govern the country.

Letters to the Editor

Partial Agreement To the editor:

In reply to Virginia Anderson (who approved President Morris's action a few days ago, I would start by agreeing with you. The administration has shown an admirable capability in dealing with these situations, and although I feel that they almost refused to "deal from the hand", I think that their actions were consistent with the administration's general policy. These students have been continuously critical of the administration and his somewhat (I'm being kind) arbitrary rule of the going-on about Campus and Carbondale. And now he was going to "case the blazes" out of the way he solves all disagreements, "whoever is the best" solution.

I think that the real question is: Do you answer criticism by elimination or justification?

I think that "intelligent, constructive criticism" is a real shame. Generally, all that is a real shame. Generally, all that is a real shame.

More on Overpass To the editor:

Students, please don't blame "The Morris Rebellion" for the delay in the University Park overpass. This is the only time I can say that the administration has approved a much-needed student aid. Even the Board of Trustees has passed the plans for the overpass. Only an able panel of four architects failed to agree with the administration plans. Therefore, the last section of the meeting, all plans for the overpass were shown to the students. Rocks and trees do not make a university and neither do dead students. If students must cross the Illinois Central tracks and U.S. 11, they must have an overpass.

Walking Down the Wrong Street May Prove to Be the Right Route

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Once upon a time there was a poor wig-maker by the name of Blodgett who set forth from the corner of Oak and Elm to see a man by the name of Smith who had an office at the far corner of that block, namely at Maple and Juniper. Blodgett had heard that Smith was starting a little factory and might need some wigs.

On foot from Oak and Elm to Maple and Juniper you can, of course, go down Oak to Maple or down Elm to Juniper. Blodgett took the former route but when he got near the corner the stenographer said that Smith had just left, walking up Juniper, the stenographer said that Smith had tried to call Blodgett that morning.

Blodgett hurried up Juniper and when he looked to his left toward the corner of Oak and Elm he saw Smith, who was advertising his small factory by means of another poor wig-maker named Wheeler. When Blodgett finally overtook Smith, Smith said, "I'm sorry, Blodgett, I thought of you but I went to Wheeler, so I'm buying a few wigs from him.

Blodgett was midly disappointed. Now it happened that the Smithfactory became a huge success. Smith bought all of his wigs from Wheeler and Wheeler, who remained the sole wig supplier, had to build a big wig plant to keep the pace. Wheeler became the president of the Diamont Country Club and eventually spent every afternoon at the 19th hole clicking away at the ball. All this made Blodgett increasingly pensive. "If I had only gone down Elm to Juniper..." he thought.

At length Wheeler developed an inordinate taste for the refreshments at the 19th hole and eventually he became a regular fixture in the swimming pool. Blodgett went to the general manager and told him that he was no longer interested in getting his wigs from Wheeler like Wheeler making so much money when he was with Smith.

With the competition of the huge mass production of Wheeler Wigs the Blodgett company had bought a new machine which made better, more interesting wigs. But it created a problem. Blodgett was a connoisseur.

"The question is, Mr. President..." one day Wheeler managed to say,He thought of you but I went to Wheeler, so I'm buying a few wigs from..."

Blovgett shook his head sadly, "There simply won't be enough wigs to go around." To meet this critical shortage, Mr. Xenophilos said that his company has embarked on an ambitious construction plan.

"Fifteen years ago," he said proudly, "we were in business. We were making wigs and building factories. But we were in a recession. We went into business. We were making wigs and building factories. But we were in a recession. We went into business."

"The best statement I have seen on what the communications satellites can do for the world is by Dallas W. Smythe, chairman of the department of journalism at the University of Saskatchewan, Regina, Canada."

The Department of Smythe begins in one that Gen. James M. Gavin has been emphasizing lately: we can now communicate instantly from any point on earth to any other point. Smythe and Gavin reach the same conclusion. We must immediately take steps to establish a global communications systems under international control. If we do this, we shall be moving a giant step toward the family of man to live together in harmony.

"If, on the other hand, we allow the satellites to be used as instruments of national power, we shall not only have chaos in communications, but we shall also increase international jealousies and conflicts. Smythe shows what national communications programs may lead to when they are used as instruments of national power."

"The purpose of the entertainment, infor- mation, and education satellites which are planned is initially to form individuals into audiences which are sold to advertisers for such training." Smythe says, "Our moral:" Smythe says, "Our moral:"

Canines ‘Put on the Dog’ Saturday

What’s a Saluki? Anyone still unsure of the answer to the question can see 18 Salukis among the 608 dogs in the Crab Orchard Kennel Club dog show Saturday at the SIU arena. The show will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., with the Salukis being judged at 1 p.m.

Many of the dogs competing in the show are going on to the Chicago International Show in July, and have been shown at the Madison Square Garden Westminster dog show.

Owners and dogs from all parts of the United States will be at the Arena.

This year’s show has 200 more entries than the 1966 show, making it one of the largest on the Midwest circuit.

The best in show trophy will be presented by John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs for SIU. Eight American Kennel Club licensed judges will make the selections for the show. Judging for the Junior Showmanship competition will be at 4 p.m. for the best dog in group showing at 5 p.m. Selections for the best in show and specialty winners will be at 7 p.m.

Profits earned by the Kennel Club at the show will be used for scholarships for veterinary medicine students. SIU students will be admitted to the show free.

For Cosmetologists

13th Annual School

Set for Mid-August

The 13th annual School of Advanced Cosmetology will be held Aug. 6-16 on the Carbondale campus.

The ten-day school for licensed beauty culturists is offered by the Illinois Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association in cooperation with SIU's Division of Technical and Adult Education. The firm of its kind in the world, it is approved by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

Three years attendance is required for completion of the course, with first, second and third year classes running concurrently during the ten-day period. A post-graduate program is offered August 7-9 for those who have completed the full three-year course.

Guest artist for the school will be Daniel J. O'Brien, a member of the official hair fashion committee of the NHCA. According to Adult Education Director Glenn E. Wills, O'Brien will be assisted by members of the Illinois hair fashion committee. SIU faculty members will teach academic courses.

Students will be housed in Neely Hall.

The culotte-dress has arrived just in time for springtime swings.
177 Americans Killed in Action

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong-Vietnamese fight in the Mekong Delta Thursday night underlined the fact the Saigon government’s armed forces are carrying on afield despite division of troops for pacification work.

Military sources said a government battalion of about 500 infantrymen established heavy battle contact with a larger guerrilla force 130 miles south of Saigon in coastal Ba Xuyen Province. A battalion was reported being rushed in as reinforcements.

A spokesman said 294 Vietnamese were killed in combat, against 211 in the previous week. An unannounced number died along with 10 Americans in battling Communist raiders April 8 at Quang Tri, capital of South Vietnam’s northernmost province.

With 410,000 American service men now directly involved in the war, the U.S. Command said 177 were killed, 1,345 wounded and three missing in action last week. Losses in the week of March 26-April 1 had been 194 killed and 1,679 wounded.

Of the other allies 16 were killed, down two. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead were recorded as 1,478, a sharp drop from the 2,449 of the previous week.

In an unusual procedure, a spokesman for Gen. William C. Westmoreland’s command made a point of announcing American casualty totals for the war. He said 8,931 had been killed and 52,946 wounded in action since 1961. In the past newsmen have kept track of such figures unofficially with week-by-week tabulations.

In addition to battle losses, 18 Americans died last week from accidents and other causes classified as nonhostile. That brought the total for the war in this category to 1,877.

Enemy strength in the south was estimated to remain at 287,000 men, with recruits and infiltrators replacing casualties.

Floating explosives blasted down two of the five spans in a quarter-mile-long road and railway bridge six miles above Da Nang that was guarded by a force of 45 U.S. Marines. Mortar shells knocked out a smaller structure near Quang Tri, 20 miles south of the border.

Water Can Revive Rural Economy

SALEM (AP) — Gene H. Graves, Illinois director of business and economic development, said Thursday water is the one element that can revive the economy of rural areas.

Graves said a $1 billion resource development fund proposed by Gov. Otto Kerner represents a “bold and balanced attack on the state’s critical need for conserving and implementing natural resources.”

Graves spoke at a luncheon following ground breaking ceremonies for construction of a $1 million Midwest Service Center for Simonds Abrasive Division of Wallace-Murray Corp., New York City.

Kerner’s program “holds the key for a much desired and badly needed new direction for balanced growth in Illinois and the nation,” he said.

The program calls for a 12-year expenditure to fight against water and air pollution and for water control and management. It is before the legislature for consideration.

Chemist Says Coppolino’s Wife Died From Drugs in Brain

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — A chemist who probed for signs of homicide in the body of Carmela Coppolino testified Thursday he would say “with reasonable scientific certainty” that she was killed by a drug.

If you injected this drug into a live human, then strangled him or hit him with a baseball bat, I would get the same findings I get in this case,” said Dr. Charles Joseph Umberger.

He returned to the stand for the second day in the murder trial of Dr. Carl Coppolino, an anesthesiologist accused of killing his 32-year-old wife with an injection of the paralyzing drug, succinylcholine.

The witness, chief toxicologist of the city of New York, said he found a concentration of the drug in Carmela’s brain, a smaller amount in the liver and none in the kidneys.

He explained that when the drug is injected it flows in the blood stream from the brain to the other organs and then breaks up into harmless components minutes after entering the body.

Death apparently came for Carmela, he said, before the drug could dissipate, indicating “an acute toxic reaction.”

Bolling May Get Demo Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional ethics and Adam Clayton Powell are giving Rep. Richard Bolling a chance to avoid in the House Democratic leadership.

Some liberal Democrats think the leadership, while winning support for President Johnson’s program, has been slow to react on organizational questions such as Powell and ethics, preferring what one terms “the status quo.”

This has provided an opening for the blunt, outspoken Missouri Democrat, for years one of the most vociferous advocates of congressional reform, to recoup some of the status he lost in recent years.

Bolling, a close adviser of the late speaker, Rayburn, was overwhelmingly defeated by Rep. Carl Albert for the Democratic leadership after Rayburn’s death and has become increasingly a lone wolf critic of the way the House handles its affairs.

The large quantity in the brain, Umberger said, pointed to a sudden death, because if she had lived for some time the drug would have been distributed throughout her body.

Some four months after death, Carmela’s body was taken from its New Jersey grave to the office of Dr. Milton Helpern, New York city’s chief medical examiner.

Helpern performed an autopsy, then turned the vital organs over to Umberger for chemical tests, with special instructions to look for signs of succinylcholine poisoning.

It was the first time he had made such a search, Umberger said, and it was the first time where he had “such a positive finding of probably homicide with the drug.”

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey led Umberger through what he called “this uncharted area” of scientific experimentation.

After Umberger told of his conclusions on the cause of death, Bailey asked him if he didn’t mean only that death from the drug was “possible.”

“Is all fairness,” Bailey asked, “isn’t that about as far as you can go?”

“It is possible,” said Umberger.

Because this was a pilot case, Umberger said he ran the same kind of test on some other brains.

Campaigning Enters Last Week

Kirk and Randall Nelson, an SIU professor of government, received 2,233 and 2,164 votes respectively.

Eaton ran third with 2,056 votes and Ragland followed with 2,041. Both are incumbents. Jones ran fifth with 1,789 and Ramsey was next polling 1,581 votes. Schoen and Lynn Holder ran 7th and 8th with 1,276 and 1,151 votes.

In recent weeks, the two factions, Carbondale Citizens for Progress (CCP) and the Blue Ribbon Slate (Keene, Kirk and Nelson) have clashed during public forums sponsored by SIU student organizations.

Each time, the Keene, Kirk and Nelson group has taken the offensive charging that there is a "lack of leadership in the mayor's office," inadequate administration of liquor laws, a lack of industry in Carbondale, and that the city is dragging its feet in solving municipal problems.

Mayor Miller refuted the charges each time and coun­tercharged "police harassment" occurred during the primaries that election irregularities and also that one of their discred the two candidates receiving the largest number of votes will be elected for four years and the two receiving the next greatest number will be elected for two years.

The next Council election will be held in 1969 and the two candidates elected this year will serve four-year terms.

The reason for staggering the elections of half of the Council members is to main­tain a continuity within the City Council chamber. Sub­sequent council elections will occur every two years.

Each time and council­men will serve four-year terms this and following elections.

The general election will be held from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday. Carbondale voters are not required to register, but they must sign an affidavit swearing they are resi­dents of Carbondale.

Under present municipal voting requirements, a voter must be a resident of the state for one year, the county for 90 days, and his or her precint for 30 days.

In the affidavit, the voter swears he is a bona fide resi­dent, and current interpreta­tion of this ordinance is that the voter must have an "intense of continued residence." It is believed that meeting the time requirements for residency is not enough. The citizen must plan to make Carbondale his or her home.

It is reasoned that this stip­ulation would eliminate stu­dents and faculty members from voting if they do not plan continued residence in Carbondale.

Two of the primary polling places have been changed for the general election Tuesday. Polling places for precincts 8 and 10 have been changed from 413 S. Graham St. (precinct 8), to the Church of God at East College and South Wall Streets and from 400 E. Stoker (pre­cinct 10) to the Grace Metho­dist Church at 601 S. Marion. The remaining polling places are unchanged from the pri­mary elections.

They are as follows: Pre­cinct 1, Swindell Motors, 608 N. Illinois Ave.; Precinct 2, Bown's Grocery, 821 N. Mar­ion St.; Precinct 3, Vogler Motor Co., 301 N. Illinois Ave.; Precinct 4, 427 E. Wil­low St.; Precinct 5, Our Sav­ior Lutheran Church, 301 W. Main St.; Precinct 6, City Hall Fire Station, 222 E. Main St.; Precinct 7, West Side Fire Station, 300 S. Oakland Ave.; Precinct 8, Church of God, at East College and South Wall streets; Precinct 9, St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 604 W. Mill St.; Precinct 10, Grace Methodist Church, 601 S. Marion; Precinct 11, Stu­dent Christian Foundation, 913 S. Illinois Ave.

Tennis Team to Get Stiff Test At Oklahoma City Invitational

SIU's tennis squad should get its first real test of the 1967 regular season when it meets four teams in two days at the Oklahoma City Invitational this weekend.

The Salukis will face one of the top ranked Big Eight schools, Oklahoma, and one of the major independents in the country in Oklahoma City University, in addition to a pair of Missouri Valley teams, North Texas and Wichita State.

SIU Coach Dick LeFevre said he expects Oklahoma City to be the team to beat this year. "They have a pair of freshmen from Australia, who also have a pair of top amateurs around. And they will be eligible to play in this tournament," LeFevre said.

The freshmen are Colin Robertson and Brian Wilkenson. They have won 11 singles and doubles tournaments between them during the past amateur circuit season.

North Texas is the defending champion in the tournament and the Texans will bring a deep, strong team back this year. They are also among the favored teams in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Oklahoma will bring an 8-1 record into the tournament and several of those victories have come against top flight competition. The three southwestern schools also have the advantage of having had more outdoor practice this year, due to weather conditions.

The Salukis will play Wichita State and North Texas today and follow with Oklahoma and Oklahoma City Saturday.

Team matches will be scored on a seven point basis. There will be five singles and two doubles matches to determine the team scores.

Five newcomers join Ryder Cup Team

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) - An American Ryder Cup team featuring five newcomers to the international competition will meet their British opponents at Houston Oct. 20-22.

The American side, announced by President Max Filkin of the PGA of America will include, in order of their point tally over a two-year period: Billy Casper 829.04, Arnold Palmer 667.46, Gay Brewer 660.97, Doug Sanders 483.62, Gene Littler 417.76, Julius Boros 381.44, Bobby Nichols 381.32, Al Geiberger 355.13, Gardner Dickinson Jr., 344.74 and Johnny Pott 308.26 of Illinois, Chicago Circle, Western Illinois University and, of course, SIU.

"It should be a real balanced field. Each club has two outstanding pitchers. Western Illinois and Arkansas have indicated they have strong ballclubs and Eastern has strong pitching but may not have hitting. Chicago Circle beat Northwestern recently," said Saluki Coach Joe Lutz.

The University of Illinois will enter the tourney as the favorite because of its difficult schedule, even though the Illini have only managed a record of 5-7 thus far this season.

The Illini have a team batting average of .304 which includes three .400 hitters. Third baseman Mick Smith is hitting .455 and leads Illinois with 12 in AB's. Catcher Ken Rizzuto isn't far behind Smith with a .429. Reserve first baseman Fred Klemm is the other .400 hitter in the lineup.

The Illini also have second baseman Charles Scherrer with a .382 average, catcher Mike Murawski hitting .367, and leftfielder Tom O'Sullivan with .364 and reserve infielder Jim Reed with .328.

The Illini respect the Salukis, however, as pitcher Rich Pavesich will start in tonight's 8 p.m. contest at Riverside Park in Murphysboro. Binder has a 2-1 won-loss record with a very respectable earned run average of 4.69 after 30 innings. He throws from the left which could hurt two of Southern's leading hitters, Eugene Clark (L35) and Nick Solis (314).

The Salukis received a set back this week when it was learned that Paul Pavesich, the only senior letterman in the starting lineup, may not be back this season. Pavesich injured a knee in the Ball State game. "Pavesich may not be back this season. They are still draining fluid from his knee," said Lutz.

Lutz will start Barry O'Sullivan in left field, Solis in center and either Jim Dykes or Jerry Evans in right field in the tournament.

Western Illinois will enter the tournament with a record of 7-1. Arkansas State has fashioned a 10-4-1 slate so far while the Chicago Circle has a record of 12-3. Eastern Illinois completes the field with a 6-2-2 record.

Saluki Track Squad Will Face Two of Big Eight's Finest

Both teams are powerhouses in the Big Eight. The Sooners were the second best indoor team in the country last season and have great depth, particularly in the sprints. The Sooners will be heavy favorites to take the team award, but the battle for second should be highly contested. Both SIU and Kansas State are projections in long-distance races and should match each other well in most of the other events.

Several of the outstanding performers in the country will be on hand in what SIU Coach Larry Hawting said will be biggest track meet of the season at home for the Salukis. The event will be the initial competition of the season for several Salukis. A big competition mark for the moment for Southern is whether such performers as Al Ackman, Jud Livingston, Bobby Jackson, and Rich Ellis will be ready.

All have either suffered problems with injuries or conditioning problems after injuries. SIU Coach Hawting of Graduation of George, Woods, last year's NCAA shot put titlist, has left a void in the throw events at Southern.

Ackman will have Grove thinking about the discuss and Ralph Galloway the shot.

Chuck Benson will be running in the 440 relay in addition to high jumping. Benson came up with his best jump of the season, 7'07" at Lexington last week.

Benson and Jackson are both basketball players, who joined the track team late, Harroz.

Salukis Beat Missouri; SIU Coach Reports He'll Enter Service for 'Mom'

CHICAGO (AP) - World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says he'll report to the Army that he will enter military service as a reluctant defense of his mother.

Clay, known as Muhammad Ali and a fervent black Muslim, told The Associated Press Thursday he will be ordered to Las Vegas, Nev., Tuesday, for physical examination because "it would break my mother's heart if I didn't go.

In a long explanation of his devotion to the Muslim faith, Clay made it clear that when it came time for his scheduled induction at Houston April 20, he would make a decision between the laws of the U.S., God, and Allah.

"I'll make that decision when the moment comes that I face just one man, Uncle Sam," said Clay.

Towers Tells Press of Confidence in Program

By Tom Wood

Dick Towers opened his first press conference as head football coach at SIU by de­ claring that the football pro­ gram is in good shape and he sees no reason why SIU won't build a winning football tradi­ tion.

Towers said, "I came here as an assistant last year be­ cause I think Southern is a fine institution, where a poten­ tial can get as good an edu­ cation as anywhere else, and SIU hasgreater poten­tial athletics."

Towers said that he was very happy to get the opportu­ nity as head coach and that it was his ambition to have had only after initiating a very suc­ cessful program, which had made much more progress than had been originally antici­ pated at this early stage.

Towers was optimistic about the outlook for next fall's squad, the top notch schedule and the possibili­ ty of a winning season. He said, "My biggest job right now is to develop a winning attitude in the boys. There is no ques­ tion that pride in the team and the institution are prime in­ gredients in molding a foot­ ball team. He pointed out that pride in SIU is one of the big reasons his staff had done the bulk of the recruiting in Southern Illinois.

Towers said that Rains­ berger had done a tremendous job of instilling pride in last year's team.

The most encouraging fac­ tor in the whole shift of posi­tions, Towers said, was that except for Rainsberger the staff would remain together.

Pat Naughton will head the defensive platoon under To­ wers. Working with Naughton will be Bill Mills and Ron Noble. The defense will come under the tutelage of Towers and Ron Manginat.

Towers said he could not have hand picked a finer staff him­ self.

The Salukis will use basi­ cally the same power offense they used last year and will stick to a two-platoon system.

The depth necessary for such a system has been provided through junior college recruiting over the last year and a half.

Among the most encourag­ing transfers are Barry Stein, a quar­ terback from Codyville; Doug Helling, a 158-pound halfback from Nebraska; John Bendokas, a tackle from New Jersey, and two transfers from George Washington, which recently dropped foot­ ball, Bob Rafferty, a sopho­ more quarterback, and Ken Doyan, a 6-4, 230-pound tackle.

Doyan was a starter of the George Washington team last year.

Towers said the quarter­ back position is presently a problem.

Wally Agnew's knee injury has not healed and Towers will be giving Stein, Tim Kel­ ley, Rafferty, Barclay Allan and others a long look.

Spring practice starts April 24 and the team will prac­ tice Monday, Wednesday and Friday and scrimmage on Sat­ urdays.

Towers emphasized the scope of the job he and his staff would have giving all the players they had recruited and redshirred as well as veterans an opportunity to prove themselves.

He said that he would be spending the next few days seeing each of the recruits and their parents to assure them that Southern would have a solid, successful football program next year.

SIU Baseball Team Picks Up 3-2 Victory

SIU stretched its baseball record to 16-3 with an eight inning victory over Moor­ head State in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The 'kakis had defeated seven innings because of darkness.

Gene Hansen, pinch-hitting for Randy Coker, lined a shot over a shallow positioned cen­ ter fielder to score Don Kirk­ land from third base for the winning Saluki run.

John Mason hit his third homer of the year for SIU in the fourth inning with no­
