Snow Has Little Effect on Attendance

The recent snowstorm and cold wave added to the difficulties of students in their attempts to attend class. A brief survey of SIU faculty members indicates, however, that the adverse weather conditions haven't had much effect on attendance.

Some students missed classes early in the week because they were snowbound in their hometowns over the weekend.

But those in Carbondale braved the cold winds and icy sidewalks and trudged off to class. One student said he lost a dollar's worth of tuition paid.

How has general classroom attendance been affected by the cold spell? Here are some numbers. "I had a class this morning and about 10 per cent of the students were absent, but that is the only report I have received so far," commented one instructor in chemistry.

In one of my General Studies courses, however, the attendance has been such a flux anyway that I couldn't notice any great number of absences.

Saluki Grid Star Pete Winton

Chosen Student of the Week

Pete Winton, football star, fraternity president, and Sphinx Club member, is this week's Student of the Week. The Activities Development Center of the Office of Student Affairs selected the burly physical education major for his selection.

Winton, a senior who plans a career either in law or personnel work, has managed to divide his time between athletics, campus wide activities and his education since enrolling at SIU in 1954.

A resident fellow in Warren Hall this term, Winton is a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and former president of the group. His activities have ranged from president of the Inter-Fraternity Council to Homecoming, Spring Festival and Greek Week committees.

He was co-captain of the freshman football team and played varsity football for three years. He carries an over-all 3.3 grade average, most active effort to date has been in letters to the editor of the Daily Egyptian.

Moore says, however, that he is considering three possible courses of action in the next phase of his movement.

The first would be the picking of the office of President Delbert W. Morris, or the ROTC building, or both. He said he feels the ROTC department is not directly involved, however, because it merely carries out University policy.

The second possibility is the organization of a boycott of ROTC by all 3,000 members. Moore said this could involve organizational problems.

The third is a public debate on the question between himself and members of the administration. He said he could also be joined by persons who favor his position, and the merits and demerits of the two positions could be debated.

Moore, who is a second-year ROTC man, estimated he has discussed the issue with from 25 to 30 fellow students, and four or five faculty members. He said he was "quite surprised" at the support expressed for his views, and did not find one in favor of compulsory ROTC, although he expects there are a few.

He added that he had heard indirectly that several members of the ROTC department also favor a voluntary program.

Moore cited the recent decision of the University of Illinois trustees in favor of changing to a voluntary program at the end of 1964. He said he wrote for further information about the university's action and received a copy of the official action taken.

Chill Doesn't Effect Health of Students

SIU students just aren't letting this cold spell get them down. A Health Service spokesman noted today.

The number of students receiving treatment for flu and colds is not higher than usual but most of the cases are not very serious.

Most students have been in the ice and suffered minor illnesses. Mrs. Sonja Nash, medical assistant, head nurse at the Health Service, said today. Most illnesses have been sprains and strains, but one SIU coed reportedly broke her arm in a fall and another possibly sustained a serious back injury.
Accreditation Team to Evaluate Doctoral Program Next Week

Charles Tenney, vice president for instruction, has asked staff and faculty members to make themselves available next week should an accreditation evaluation team wish to talk to them. The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is sending a seven-member panel to campus to see whether the doctoral program should receive preliminary accreditation. At present, all SIU degree programs are under the Board of Trustees' full accreditation.

The team will arrive Monday, January 27, for a four-day look at the graduate school operation, as well as an undergraduate schools. The team is expected to devote most of its time to the Carbondale campus where most of the University's 18 doctoral programs are conducted, although some time will be spent at the Edwardsville campus.

Tenney explained that preliminary accreditation is required of all universities granting degrees, seeking approval of a new or recent doctoral program. "If it denotes that a university has been working under the consultation of the North Central Association and has now reached the point where their names are thought to be nearly ready for full accreditation." Tenney said.

The vice president said the team would present its findings to the association for confirmation. Two to five years will elapse before full accreditation is granted.

Tenney said that during this waiting period the University is expected to perfect and improve the program it is seeking to get accredited.

The team is headed by Walter Langsman, president of the University of Cincinnati. Members are Sam Gates, dean of the graduate division, Colorado State College; William Thompson, dean of the Evening School and Summer Session, University of Minnesota; and Margaret Lyons, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, University of Kansas; John Aston, vice president for graduate studies, Indiana University.

Also, John Clark, chairman of the English Department, University of Michigan; Jack Gilchrist, chairman of the English Department, University of Wisconsin; and Thomas Langan, Center for Disease Control, University of Michigan, an observer.

Arabs Hammer Out Demands On River Dispute With Israel

CAIRO -- Thirteen Arab chiefs of state hammered out resolutions challenging Israel's impending diversion of the Jordan River waters and voicing a unified military posture toward the Jewish state, informed sources said Wednesday night.

The leaders of nearly 100 million Arabs called together by President Gamel Abdel Nasser examined the possibilities of diverting the Jordan's headwaters as a response to the Israeli government and urged the machinery of Arab military and political unity, the informants said.

Diversion of the Jordan headwaters could mean a war situation if the Arabs try to carry it out.

However, it appeared the Arab chiefs seemed careful not to commit themselves to what they might not be able to accomplish.

Guided by the dominating figure of Nasser, they appear to have been cautious about creating what might escalate into war.

Meeting in the Nile-side Arab League headquarters, often in secret sessions barring even their closest advisers, the leaders seemed to have completed work by midday.

Loose ends were tied at a last night gathering and the final gathering is expected this morning.

Rice Sale Approved

WASHINGTON--The Commerce Department said Wednesday it would release to the public a record of U.S. rice and $15.5 million worth of U.S. rice and $15.5 million worth of U.S. rice and $15.5 million worth of U.S. rice and $15.5 million worth of U.S. rice and $15.5 million worth.

The new release is expected this morning.

WASHINGTON--The Labor Department has removed Jackson and Monroe counties, Ill., from its list of areas with substantial and persistent unemployment.

The list of on the department's list, the counties must have more than the national unemployment figure for nine of the past 12 months.

The average rate of unemployment in Jackson County in 1962 was 6.9 per cent.

This compares with 5.9 per cent in June.

Senate to Make Public Record Of Baker Financial Dealings

WASHINGTON--Senate investigators said Wednesday they will make public a record of Robert C. Baker's financial worth and holdings, but may not go into his income tax returns.

Nor will the committee ask Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., to testify about his business dealings with the former Sen. Mathews, said Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C.

"We don't need him--we're not investigating senators," Jordan told tonight's Tuesday's Tuesday.

The committee was told Monday that Baker and Sen. S. I. Peck, former administrative assistant to Smathers, had an interest in the senator in a real estate venture in Florida.

Smathers said in a statement late last night he had sold Baker and Peck $18,000 in New York on the land he tried to sell in 1951.

The committee is investigating whether Baker, who resigned on July 2, 1962, is a race for the Senate's Democratic majority, engaged in outside business activities while he was in the Senate.

The next hearing of the committee is tentatively set for next week.

Ted Sorensen Quits as Aide To Johnson

WASHINGTON -- Theodore C. Sorensen, a top aide to the late John F. Kennedy for 11 years has resigned as White House special counsel.

Sorensen briefed President Johnson that he wanted to be out of Washington in about a few months to write a book about the assassinated President.

Johnson, in an exchange of letters, accepted the resignation "reluctantly and regrettfully."

During the last eight weeks, Sorensen has been Johnson's principal speechwriter--a task he also performed for Kennedy.

Indonesia Defiant On U.S. Role in Malaysian Crisis

TOKYO--Indonesia took a defiant stance Thursday as Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy headed for Tokyo to meet with Indonesian President Sukarno on the Malaysian crisis.

Foreign Minister Subandrio Indonesia warned Thursday that any economic action against his nation would bring a complete change in its foreign relations, both in alignment and diplomacy.

Subandrio's statement was in response to economic measures he put forward Tuesday that would be imposed by the British of taking action against Indonesia. But it also would apply to reports that Indonesia risks losing U.S. aid unless it calls off its campaign to wreck the National Security Act.

WASHINGTON--The rate of production of the nation's factories and mines increased slightly in December, the Federal Reserve Board reported.

The rate of industrial production rose to 127.2, compared with 126.7 for November.

Paperbacks' Inroads Scored By Director of SIU's Press

Vernon Sternberg, director of the SIU Press, says he is seriously concerned about overemphasis on paperbacks at the expense of regular hardbound books.

Sternberg gave his views in an article in the December-January issue of The College Store Journal, published by H. E. Scott, director of the American College Book Association.

Declaring that it is apparent, even to such skeptics as I am, or was, that the storm blown up by paperbacks is really big all over the country, Sternberg said some college stores have swung to the extreme of being largely paperback stores.

SIU Grad's Book In Second Edition

A college textbook co-authored by an SIU graduate is now in its second edition.

There has been extensive rewriting of the second edition of the textbook, according to the publisher, which provides a comprehensive survey of the field of finance, both private and public.

Wehans, who resides with his family at 609 McAlpin, Kirkwood, D.C., received his doctorate at Washington University in 1951. He has been a professor of finance since 1956.

Gus Bode would remind us that owning a bike is not a license to run amuck for bicyclists.

Bicycles—and scooter traffic at Southern Illinois University, as at other growing campuses, is proving to be a problem for nimble-footed pedestrians and bicyclists alike. To keep pace with this problem, it is likely that SIU will soon have a bicycle code.

By exercising more care than they occasionally have in the past, bicyclists can influence action. Their consideration for pedestrians will be a demonstration that any future code need not be restrictive. No one says it should be.

Wrestlers Seek Revenge Tomorrow at Bloomsburg
Southern's undefeated wrestling team will be seeking revenge tomorrow, as it swings east for a return engagement at Bloomsburg (Pa.) State College.

The Quakers pulled a big surprise last year as they whipped the Salukis 17-14 before a standing room only crowd. Coach Jim Wilkin­son's squad went into that contest with a 1-1 record and was bogged down with a little rust and a few key injuries. But those alibis held no water as Wilkinson was able to guide his men to the win, "We just ran into a good team."

The Salukis seem to be a little more confident this year, however, and will be trying to extend their three-match winning string against the perennial NAAV champions.

The Salukis scored an impressive victory over Parson College Sunday, collecting what is believed to be a record number of total points for an SIU team as they piled up the Iowaans 37-3.

Five members of Wilkin­son's crew were honored for their individual efforts: University of Illinois' head coach, Tom Cragg, was named the main scoring threat, Indiana's Bill Hartzell, Southern's Steve周年, University of Missouri's Denny McCabe, who was named the most valuable player, and Minnesota's Roy Blythe, who was named the most valuable player.

Defeat of the Salukis In Southern's three games of the season proved to be the deciding factor Monday night before a standing room only crowd. Hartman said following the game, "This proved to be the decision Monday night before a standing room only crowd."
