State’s university governance system discussed

By Chris Voitka and Tim Crosby
Staff Writers

A former University President and the president of SIU-C’s faculty union were among several speakers who voiced concerns about the state’s university governance system Monday at the Lesar Law Library Auditorium.

Sotiri Somit, a professor of distinguished service from the political science department and former SIU-C president, presented to the consortium of administrators the problems of the system as he perceived them. Somit also presented two remedies to the Illinois system.

"The system is politically impaired, lacking clout to secure funding," Somit said.

"It’s very important in the good health of SIU and our system works fine," University President John C. Guyon said.

Somit offered two changes to the system. Guyon said that under the current system, would put schools with graduate programs into one system while

Navy declares 48-hour halt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy announced an unmoderated 48-hour halt in operations for all ships, aircraft and shore training facilities Tuesday following a plague of deadly accidents in recent weeks.

Navy Secretary H. Lawrence Carlin and the chief of naval operations, Adm. Carlisle Tousley, ordered the Navy-wide 48-hour "safety stand down" within three days, with the starting time to be decided by individual fleet commanders.

The order directs that a close review of all safety-related issues be conducted, but different ships and facilities will be conducting the reviews at different times, meaning the nation’s naval forces will maintain most of their punch.

Navy spokesman Lt. Cdr. Craig Quigley said there has never been a Navy-wide safety "stand down" order before.

Tousley, making a rare appearance in the Pentagon briefing room later, told reporters he was concerned about the mishaps and ordered the stand down "to take a look at what may have caused this flurry of accidents."

"We’re not an unsafe organization," Tousley said. "We operate on a day-to-day basis in a hazardous environment."

He said the recent rash of accidents, while unexpected, "makes me wonder" if operating or safety procedures could be improved.

Tousley said he does not know if the 48-hour stand down will result in such changes and he will wait to hear back from his fleet commanders after the review is completed.

Pennsylvania Senate passes most restrictive abortion bill

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The state Senate gave final legislative approval Tuesday night to the most restrictive abortion legislation in the country, and Gov. Robert Casey has said he will sign the measure into law.

Senate Minority Leader Robert Mellow, a Democrat, called the measure a "limited pro-choice bill" that reflects mainstream Pennsylvania. It helps protect the rights of the unborn, the sanctity of life.

Over the bitter objections of abortion rights advocates, the Senate voted 33-17 in favor of the most recent measure passed by a state legislature since the Supreme Court in July gave states wider control over abortion.

The abortion legislation, attached as a House amendment to a Senate crime bill, would bar an abortion after the 24th week of pregnancy, except to prevent irreparable harm or death of the mother, and impose a 24-hour waiting period.

It would also require husbands...

Czechoslovakia promises to ease travel restrictions

PRAAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UPI) - Prime Minister Ladislav Adamec said Monday he would not disapprove of the democratic reforms in East Germany, but promised Tuesday to allow citizens of Czechoslovakia to travel to the West without travel visas. The Communist Party newspaper Rudé Pravo, meanwhile, reported that the government is considering granting citizens the right to strike, a sign that the hard-line East bloc nation has begun to crumble under the reforms being implemented in the other Warsaw Pact countries.

Adamec announced the easing of travel rules in a speech to Parliament marking his first anniversary in power.

German speaker call for end of Party rule

BERLIN (UPI) - The newly elected speaker of the East German Parliament said Tuesday he supports raising demands to revoke the Communist Party's monopoly on power. Anti-Communist speaker Maleuda told a meeting of his Democratic Farmers Party faction in Parliament that the Communist Party is to blame for East Germany's economic, social and political problems. Meanwhile, newly elected Premier Hans Modrow began talks with non-communist political parties Tuesday on forming a coalition government. Reformist Modrow met with the four parties of the so-called “demo-crate block.”

Walesa seeks billions of dollars from U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Solidarity founder Lech Walesa, arguing times are tough, asked U.S. businesses Tuesday to send signals to the world by helping to rebuild Poland's economy with billions of dollars in aid and investments. The barly shipyard electrician, who along with Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev has come to symbolize Eastern Europe's drive toward democracy, received a tumultuous welcome as he worked his way through a string of his fellow trade unionists -- the American labor leaders who helped keep Solidarity alive when it was forced underground.

Bush to press Soviets on Central America

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Bush urged the Soviet Union Tuesday to support Central American peace efforts by cutting the flow of arms to the region and promised to press the point with Mikhail Gorbachev at their Mediterranean summit. Bush alleged Moscow has at least an indirect hand in the continuation of conflict in Central America because of its aid to Moscow-led Nicaragua. That implicit charge, which came amid preparations for Bush and Gorbachev to meet Dec. 2-3 on warships off Malta, was prompted by the weekend offensive in El Salvador by leftist rebels.

Senate approves aid for Hungary, Poland

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate, on the eve of an address by Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, unanimously approved Tuesday $750 million in economic aid for Poland and Hungary, sidestepping a battle over American military and missile interests. The surprise vote in the bill were arranged Monday, but its swift passage was threatened until an effort to delete a requirement that 75 percent of surplus American food be shipped aboard U.S.flags was dropped. The Senate, on a 99-0 vote, sent the bill to a conference with the House.

Decatur police find suspect in stabbing death of woman

DECATUR (UPI) - Decatur police say they have a suspect in the stabbing death of a woman found dead in the back of her car. Authorities Monday morning found Mary Ann Kramer, 42, Decatur, dead in her car behind the Portland Inn on South Grand Avenue. UPI was told many times. There was blood on the car window. There is a suspect in the case, but Decatur Sgt. Robert Plessinger said no one has yet been arrested.

L.A. Guns guitarist Mick Cripps jams during "Malaria," one of the band’s most powerful numbers, at the Arena Monday. L.A. Guns played with Tora, Tora and Dangerous Toys.

The band went back to their first album to perform "Sex Action" and then turned the stage and the spotlight over to Cripps. Guns played an extended guitar solo that included riffs from the Rolling Stones' introduction to "Paint It Black." Guns was far and away the best guitarist of the evening and nearly stole the show from the rest of his band on many occasions. The band returned to the stage for "I Wanna Be Your Man." The crowd response was never too noisy, possibly because of the low turnout, but the audience was always enthusiastic and the band seemed impressed.

L.A. Guns closed their show with "One More Reason."

Group examines ways to include minorities

By Sean Hannigan
Staff Writer

A group of faculty, staff and students examined Monday ways course content and structure can be changed to be more inclusive to minorities and women.

Co-sponsored by Women’s Studies and Black American Studies, the discussion concluded this semester’s monthly colloquia that have focused on curriculum transformation. The discussion, held in the Wham building with a group of about 50 people, centered on steps and resources available to people interested in transforming curriculum.

Kathryn Ward, coordinator of Women’s Studies, said, "One of the problems is you don’t know the material and resources that are available. Extensive bibliographies were passed out and two speakers from Morris Library explained the materials available." Betty Glass, coordinator of the new on-line catalog in Morris Library, which is shifting from a card catalog to computer listings, said the new Illinet system would be invaluable in aiding curriculum transformation.

"Illinet is shared with over 800 libraries across the state," Glass said. She said if material was available at any of these sites it could be pinpointed, ordered and shipped to SIU-C through the Illinet system.

Ward said one of the most important aspects in transforming curriculum is keeping abreast of the latest research that is available. "You can not rely on your older lecture notes," she said.

Ward has been adopting and teaching new methods of teaching for the last five years and said, "Information is constantly changing. There’s always something new and so I’m never going to be completely satisfied."

Using the example of women of color, Ward said her methods of teaching have changed throughout the year. "I’ve read everything I can on women of color and people of color."

"Originally I tried to cram everything about women of color in one section and my white students were simply overwhelmed," Ward said.

Now she has the main section on women of color first and then reinforces what was learned by bringing in guest speakers throughout the semester.

Christina Brinkley-Carter, coordinator of Black American Studies, said, "Omission has an impact." She said faculty have to include all aspects of culture in order to reach all students fully.

"We need to adjust the situation for inclusiveness so that we do not lose salons. All of us who have survived the educational system understand this," she said.
New Madrid asleep; awakening to come

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS is experiencing the proverbial calm before a storm, but Gov. James R. Thompson is attempting to keep Illinoisans from being lulled to sleep. After a recent earthquake hit the San Francisco area, Oct. 17, Thompson formed a task force to better ensure the region's safety in the event of an earthquake. Thompson appointed University President John C. Guyon to serve on the task force, as well as School of Medicine Dean Richard Moy, SIU Campus Police Chief Robert Harris and Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS can not be too prepared handle the shocks and aftershocks of a natural disaster. Southern Illinois sits in a dangerous position on the New Madrid fault. Experts say it is inevitable that an earthquake of a magnitude will eventually hit this area.

The region can not sit back and wait for it to happen. Thompson realizes this. This task force is a symbol of the state's commitment to preparing. The task force helps the forces. The well-defined agenda will help the force keep its focus.

Citizens should join the task force to help research public quake site personally.

The task force is a symbol of the state's commitment to quake preparedness. The state's thirst for knowledge on quake preparedness continues.

Quayle joined the task force at its first meeting at Giant City State Park to commend Illinois for taking the initiative on earthquake preparedness. We also should commend our public officials.

Thompson told the committee at the meeting that for a Midwest state, Illinois was well-prepared for an earthquake but not ready for an earthquake. The task force should help put the state in the forefront.

This task force will research public quake preparedness. The task force will research public quake preparedness.

When crowds of Germans overrun a border they are generally wearing helmets.

Charlie Manson just goes a parole. You think I'm being anti-German, don't you? Not a bit of it. Germans make great cars; I wouldn't leave home without one. They also do well with beer and tennis players. But Charlie Manson is a joke. The most mindful of the fact that when the Germans try to reconquer the Fatherland, it is any wonder then, they soon will be.

THE TERRIBLE history of the 20th century is largely the story of a Germany trying to get the German-speaking peoples to its Teutonic breast. And if they get another language group or two mixed in, then accidents happen.

There is hardly a nation in the Western world that has not suffered grievously at the hands of Germany trying to reconquer the Fatherland. It is any wonder then, that the current effort of the seceded snake to pull itself together again is causing a sense of unease behind the Iron Curtain?

THE LEADERS of the world have been quick to assure us that reunification of Germany is not in the cards, or at the very least far in the distance. Perhaps, but once the borders between East and West Germany have opened and once East Germany ceases to be a Communist state — as seems altogether likely now — East Germany becomes a political vacuum. And, in Isaac Newton once said, "Nature abhors a vacuum and that's all the excuse Germany needs." (Or he would have said it, if he'd thought of it.)

President Bush thus far has reacted to what's happening in Eastern Europe with his customary sense of urgency. He sits there in his cane, listing his hand in the water. That's his answer to everything.

I DON'T pretend to know what's going to happen, but I wouldn't be surprised if someone doesn't come up with the Pentagon, or perhaps the CIA, to see how the East German army force at work trying to think up another global menace.

The Communist menace is just about played out. How evil can an empire be when it is everywhere in retreat of its borders? Castro is a pathetic, lonely figure, trapped in a time warp. Ortega is a two-bit drugstore cowboy, Noriega not much more.

You CAN't keep the ordinary Industrial complex humming along at $300 billion a year on threats like that. Not even the American people are that dumb.

Maybe a reunified, rearmed Germany, longing to reclaim its lost Polish lands, is the answer. I certainly hope not, but if that's the way it turns out, remember, you read it here first.

A LETTER TO THE EDITOR

In the post-Communist world, much is being written about the East vs. West conflict.

The German people are divided on the issue of reunification. Some believe it is necessary for the reunification of the country, while others feel that it is a threat to the stability of the country. What do you think about this issue? How would you feel if you were a German citizen and had to choose between supporting reunification or remaining with the East? Is it important for Germany to unify, or should it remain as two separate entities? How can the West and East work together to resolve this issue? Is it possible for Germany to become a united nation without causing more conflict? These are some of the questions that need to be addressed in order to find a solution to the current situation.

SOUTH AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

In response to the recent events, the South American government has announced that they will not support the reunification of Germany. They believe that the reunification of the country will cause further division and instability in the region. What do you think about this, and how does it affect the relationship between Germany and South America?
Cardenbly tries to cancel Halloween, students say they want to keep it on; police say they want it too.

City, University claiming 'victory' in Halloween war

It is true that 95 fewer people were admitted to the hospital over the weekend and that 113 fewer were arrested compared with last year. It is also true that the campus which currently enrolls 70,000 Illinois Avenue was delayed until the bars closed at 1 a.m. Saturday and until 11:30 p.m. the next evening.

AFTER A RELATIVELY small crowd took the steps from police, private property suffered far less than in years past.

University President John C. Guyon summed up the situation. "It's generally agreed by any and all that the measure for the campaigns (against Halloween) was a success."

I walked up to Mayor Neil Dillard shortly after the Friday night crowd had broken through his police force and crossed the steps. He told me he had not been a mistake to try to cancel Halloween and that he was reassured because there was no alcohol being consumed on the street.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON Police Chief Edward Hogan said that he was reassured because there was no alcohol being consumed on the street.

But Hogan added an observation that he could hardly think of facing. He pointed out that the people who were arrested were the same people who are always arrested. Hogan added, "A group decided they wanted to make a point, and they did." But Hogan also added that the people who were arrested were the same people who are always arrested.

"We saw a group coming down the street, but we never saw any alcohol being consumed on the street.

ALTHOUGH DAMAGE to private property was kept to a minimum, the streets in the area and stop lights were a blur with a fire I haven't seen in four Carbondale Halloween. But 91V1 of us were walking on the street Friday night he wasn't unhappy with the outcome of the evening. But he asked the question before 1,000 people began marching through the streets, was there an agreement on when we were going to travel in the streets, or was there an agreement that we were going to travel in the streets, and the city and the government in the personage of the police force.

This letter is in response to Lou Cornell.

First, don't dare call me a "drunk half-wit." The fact is, I don't drink any alcohol and you are incorrect in your assessment of my mental capacities. I was maced for no reason by one of Cardenbly's "finest." At around one of one of Cardenbly's "finest" was a dozen that broke up a party at my house, took my I.D. and never saw it. It was, luckily, found by a fellow block from my house.

"My thanks" to these two "fine police officers.

When I was maced...

I'm afraid that you still continue to operate under the assumption that because they are student they are free to do as much as they please. And that is exactly why the city and the government in the personage of the police force.

State’s attorneys support Burris, despite his absence

By Jackie Spinnor
Staff Writer

Five Southern Illinois state’s attorneys spoke on behalf of comptroller Roland Burris Tuesday at the Student Center, even though Burris was unable to attend or provide personal support. Burris, the democratic candidate for attorney general, was stayed by bad weather in Cook County. Jackson County state’s attorney Charles Graceland said.

Burris was scheduled to attend a new conference late Monday and then attend a fundraiser. Grace said Burris was expected to arrive in time for the fundraiser.

Grace said even though Burris has never prosecuted in Illinois, his administrative abilities make him an effective candidate for attorney general.

The comptroller was expected to discuss his program for dealing with environmental and drug problems facing Illinois. Forty-one state’s attorneys whose jurisdictions represent approximately 70 percent of Illinois felony prosecutions, endorsed Burris for attorney general.

“He is going to be there for the local prosecutor,” Randolph County state’s attorney Darrell Williamson. Alexander, Franklin and Jefferson counties state’s attorneys, endorsed Burris for attorney general at the press conference. “We have seen him put the resources of the office to work,” Mark H. Gillette, Alexander County state’s attorney said. “He has been outstanding in response to the needs of the rural counties.”

Terry Green, Franklin County state’s attorney agreed that Burris would be responsive to the needs of small Southern Illinois counties. “We have seen Roland’s dedication to assist us and his intention to assist us.”

Jefferson County state’s attorney Kathleen Ailing said, “Southern Illinois counties have severe manpower shortfalls in the state’s attorneys’ offices.” Burris, she added would be a blessing to those smaller offices.

The 1979 University graduate is looking for the office of attorney general after serving comptroller of the state since 1976. As comptroller, Burris was the first African American to serve in an Illinois constitutional office. His bid for attorney general is not the first, as he dropped in 1986 to seek re-election as comptroller.

The governor was expected to put the measure today. If he does not sign or veto it within 10 days, it will become law automatically. Casey has said he would sign the bill, provided any amendments did not threaten its constitutionality. The legislation made its way through lengthy debates in both the House and the Senate.

Media analyst will discuss battle of St. Louis papers

By Marlo Millikin
Staff Writer

Media analyst Michael Kupinski, of A.G. Edwards & Sons Inc., will be on the SIU campus today to lecture on the battle between the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the St. Louis Sun at 4 p.m. in Lawson 231.

Kupinski, the senior securities analyst of the St. Louis-based national brokerage firm, is responsible for following and analyzing media companies. "It (A.G. Edwards) is one of the largest (brokerage firms) in the country," Roben Spellman, faculty member in journalism, said.

Spellman said Kupinski's experience with the stock market and Wall Street investments will give students a unique perspective usually not available to them.

Kupinski works for one of the largest brokerage firms in the country.

Kupinski's visit, co-sponsored by the Society of Professional Journalists and the American Advertising Federation, involves both the new/industrial and advertising specialties in the School of Journalism.

In addition to the public lecture, Kupinski will address an editorial writing and advertising principles class about advertising and the newspaper industry.

"(The advertising industry) has been one of the fastest growing industries since the post World War II period," Kupinski said. Prior to joining the firm in 1983, Kupinski attended St. Louis University, where he received a bachelor's degree in management sciences as well as a certificate degree in computer sciences. He also earned a master's of business administration degree with a specialization in finance.

Kupinski said he was introduced to the stock market after receiving some stocks as part of a business award from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and Merrill Lynch for his work in his high school's Junior Achievement program.

Kupinski's coverage of the cable television, broadcasting and publishing industries frequently are found in business magazines and newspapers across the nation. He also is the author of a monthly column for The Pulse of Radio, a broadcast trade magazine.

Pacemaker recipient back at work

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Armad Hammer, the 91-year-old chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp., who was given a pacemaker in a hospital last week, returned to work Tuesday, spokesman said.

"Dr. Hammer is in his office and conducting business as usual," said Frank Ashley. "He feels great and looks great."

Hammer spent four days at UCLA Medical Center last week and had a pacemaker inserted. He was released Sunday and conducted business from his home Monday.

Occidental stock jumped $3 a share to $51 on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.
GM holds annual Auto Expo; tuition awards part of event

By Tony Mancuso
Staff Writer

Students walking by the Recreation Center are getting an eyeful of 11 new cars packed in the building's parking lot. These students curious enough to stop by also get a chance to win a tuition award.

Herman Williams, coordinator of Intramural Recreational Sports and coordinator of the event, said General Motors is holding its fourth annual Auto Expo as part of a GM College Program. This is the first year the University has been involved in the program.

He said the Auto Expo attracted a fairly large turnout Tuesday.

Williams said a drawing, which will be held at 2:55 p.m. today outside the center, is the culmination of the two-day event.

"Two tuition awards of $500 each will be drawn. Anyone is eligible to enter, and there is no entry fee," Williams said.

The awards, which will be provided by GM and GM Acceptance Corp. Financial Services, will be drawn by Undergraduate Student Government President Tim Hildebrand and Graduate and Professional Student Council President Charlie Ramsey.

Williams said the Auto Expo is displaying 1990 model cars that represent all GM divisions.

Chevrolet, Pinnacle, Oldsmobile, Buick, Cadillac and GMC Trucks have at least one model representing each division.

Labyk said a variety of dog breeds will be on display, including collies, cocker spaniels, and sugarless gum to chew on.

He said people looking at the cars are allowed to sit in them and are encouraged to ask questions about the different models. GM representatives are on hand to answer any questions.

In addition, GMAC Financial Services has sent representatives to answer questions on car financing.

Williams said GM also is supporting intramural recreation and student volunteerism.

The GM Volunteer Spirit Award is another part of the GM program. Students are nominated for the award and the winner is chosen by a University selection committee, based upon volunteer service on campus and in the community, he said.

"The award is a plaque signed by the University president and the GM chairman of the board," Williams said. "The winner also receives three shares of GM common stock."

Police Blotter

Carbondale Police reported an auto burglary that occurred at 704 N. Carico St. between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mark Combs, 28, told police that someone had broken into his locked car and stole clothing. Police said the loss was estimated in excess of $600.

An SIU-C student was arrested and charged with obstructing an officer Monday night at the SIU Arena during the L.A. Guns concert. University police said Scott D. Borek, 21, 708 E. College St., was escort from the SIU Arena for causing a disturbance. Carbondale police said he re-entered and was escorted out of the SIU Arena two or three times before police arrested him. The police said he resisted officers who attempted to place handcuffs on him.

Borek posted $30 bond and is scheduled to appear in Jackson County Court Nov. 29.

Ensemble
to get jazzy at Shryock

By Carrie Pomeroy
Entertainment Editor

The SIU Jazz Ensemble will open the Shryock Auditorium swing to the sounds of jazz masters as 8 p.m. Thursday. Admission is $2 for the general public and $1 for students. Proceeds will support the School of Music Scholarship funds.

The program will include works by Herbie Hancock, Tommy Hilfiger and Hoagy Carmichael and jazz standards like "Georgia on My Mind" and "I'm in the Mood for Love." A half-time performance by the students will be featured.

"I have nothing so much as I have. Anybody in everybody. There's a wide range of music, which is good for an educational standpoint," Robert Allam, director of the jazz ensemble, said.

Allison said he chooses works ranging from style to swing to funk to allow the students to explore the jazz tradition in depth.

"In terms of nuances of style, the students have a lot of experience," he said.

"I don't have a jazz book out of a book," he said.

Beethoven Society to host weekend

By Katherine Lydon
Staff Writer

The Beethoven Society for Pianists will sponsor a weekend of Beethoven-based activities including recitals, a competition, and a study program.

A performance by Pianist Fernando Laires will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Hiram H. Leese Law Building Auditorium and a recital/lecture by pianist/teacher Maurice Hinson will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Old Baptist Foundation recital hall.

"Music is about expressing the human experience in sound and I have never heard anybody do that better than Fernando Laires," Donald Beattie, founder and director of the society and faculty member in music, said.

Laires, who has given performances in five countries, will play a selection of Beethoven sonatas.

"He's one of the greats," Beattie said. "He's so excited to come here."

Hinson, chairman of the keyboard division and professor of piano in the School of Church Music at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., will play some of Beethoven's early compositions and talk about Beethoven as a young man.

"Hinson is a wonderful person and a prolific writer," Beattie said. "Many artists give concerts and leave."

"He compared their visit to a highlight of their career," Beattie said. He said that it will be a relaxed and enjoyable evening.

Laires will address the development of motifs in Beethoven's piano music and lead a question-answer session on his concert performance the previous evening.

Hinson will discuss and play some of Beethoven's less known pieces and will lecture on women who influenced Beethoven's work.

The study program also will highlight student pianists in ensemble performance of the first movements of Beethoven's String Quartet Number one and will conclude with a short memorial performance by pianist Konrad Wolff, last year's first-place winner, who died Oct. 23 at the age of 23.

The study program is sponsored by Laires and Hinson and will commence from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Old Baptist Foundation Recital Hall, although the awards for the students range from $25 to $250 and awards for the students who were not chosen as semi-finalists include cassette tapes courtesy of Disc Jockey in the University Mall, and piano music scores.

Moldavia demands government ouster

KISHINEV, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Nationalists demanded the ouster of the Moldavian republic's government and called for a general strike on Wednesday if the leadership failed to resign by then, a newspaper reported Tuesday.

On the eve of the threatened work stoppage, the streets were nearly empty in Kishinev, the capital of Moldavia, the smallest of the Soviet Union's 15 republics.

Two thousand Interior Ministry troops were rushed to tiny Moldavia, which is sandwiched between the Ukraine and Romania, after riots Friday left 215 people injured, including at least 142 police officers. Four police officers were reported in critical condition Monday.

"A civil committee including (nationalist) Popular Front leaders was set up Sunday," said the official Soviet army newspaper Kramnaya Zvezda. "The committee issued an ultimatum: if the republic's government fails to resign by Wednesday, a republic-wide strike will begin.

Popular Front activists Monday night distributed leaflets demanding the resignation of the government and the ruling bureau of the Moldavian Communist Party, Radio Moscow said.

But Zveda said "some Popular Front leaders met with local party and government officials and tried to dissociate themselves from the events, saying their actions were a blunder."

In a sign of more unrest, members of the ethnic Russian Interfront organization were forming special units in Kishinev and other Moldavian cities, the newspaper said.

Moldavians make up 63.9 percent of the republic's 4.2 million people, while Russians represent 12.8 percent, according to the 1979 census, the last year for which official statistics are available.

Poland, West Germany sign cooperation act

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki and West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, meeting on the 50th anniversary of the German attack on Poland and amid sweeping reforms in the East bloc, Tuesday signed a joint declaration of cooperation between the members of Western and Eastern military alliances.

Mazowiecki described the declaration as "a vital step in relations between our nations." The document calls for the two countries to cooperate in many areas, including industry, agriculture and environmental protection.

Before flying home aboard a special Luftwaffe Boeing aircraft later Tuesday at the end of a six-day official visit, Kohl met for 3 1/2 hours with President Gen. Wojsiej Jaruzelski.

But Kohl refused to meet with Communist Party leader Mieczyslaw Rakowski.

The role of the Polish Communist Party has dwindled since its defeat in June parliamentary elections, which paved the way for formation of the first non-Communist government in the East bloc.

Mazowiecki, who was invited to visit West Germany next year, said he will discuss the outcome of Kohl's visit when he visits Moscow next month.

Kohl arrived on his historic visit to Poland last Thursday but interrupted it for 27 hours Friday to attend a rally in West Berlin following East Germany's decision to open traffic between the divided city through the Berlin Wall and along the frontier border between the two Germanies.

The Polish-West German declaration lists 11 agreements signed during Kohl's visit with emphasis on the economic and financial cooperation "as a factor consolidating and stimulating the overall relationship."

The value of West Germany's overall economic assistance to Poland is estimated at $1.5 billion.

Death toll rises to 400

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Leftist rebels declared several rural areas "liberated territory" Tuesday and said they would set up regional governments in their battle for power that officials said has left more than 400 people dead since the drive began Saturday.

Excessive machine-gun fire and several large explosions rang out early Tuesday in San Salvador, a city of 1.5 million people that has become a battle zone. Officials declared a 24-hour curfew in a section of the capital.

Col. Rene Emilio Ponce, chief of staff of the Salvadoran armed forces, said in a radio broadcast that government troops will are in control of the situation, despite the reports of renewed fighting.

Military spokesman Col. Arto Lopez told a news conference Tuesday the total official casualty toll since Saturday was 43 killed and 477 wounded. He said 309 rebels were killed, 160 wounded and 60 were captured, while 106 soldiers were killed and 231 wounded. He said 17 civilians were killed and 86 wounded.

One civilian killed was an American teacher, Christopher Babcock, 25, of Spokane, Wash., who taught wealthy Salvadoran children. U.S. Embassy sources said he was killed by a grenade explosion.

Rebels of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, known as the FMLN, reported over in clandestine radio broadcasts Wednesday night that rebel forces had inflicted 655 casualties on government troops, without specifying the number dead and wounded.

An FMLN statement Tuesday said the guerrillas had control of rural parts of seven central provinces that comprise almost half the Central American nation.

The communists appeared to indicate a shift in strategy from guerrilla warfare — in which rebels attack, then withdraw.

Native Americans criticize decision to keep U of I Indian

CHAMPAIGN (UPI) — The University of Illinois' decision to keep the Indian mascot is "state-sponsored racism," a spokeswoman for a Native American group said.

Charlene Teeters also called for the resignation of U of I Chancellor Morton Weir, who announced the university would continue to feature the "Illini" as part of University Athletic events.

"This is the worst possible response," Teeters said. "Chancellor Weir has wholly and intentionally succumbed to anti-American pressure."

The university will correct any Indian imagery that was not dignified and positive, Weir said.

"I have listened to the debate and have heard no compelling arguments for any logo regarding symbol is demeaning," Weir said. "We have no intention of ending this year's games."

Chief Illiniwek is portrayed by a student in an Indian costume and has been part of various athletic events. He performs dances, stands in the middle of the playing area and is identified as "Chief Illiniwek's face." He was created to retain its role, does not speak unless he is being honored or honored.

"The fact they would have ever tolerated "I" is an indication of their insensitivity," UI student Robert Hong said. "I have led the early part of the fight against the mascot."

"We have identified and received willing cooperation on eliminating some of these, such as the Roman letter "I" on Chief Illiniwek's face," Weir said.

Student representatives of the Sun-Times endorsed the mascot's removal, saying that the mascot is an "inappropriate and offensive" symbol.

"We have identified and received willing cooperation on eliminating some of these," the newspaper quoted one Roman letter "I" as a "symbol of our insensitivity."

"To do this is state-sponsored racism," the editor said.

The chancellor called on critics to focus on larger social problems. "As a place of ideas, thought and debate, the campus is an appropriate place for examining the questions of injustice, racism, sexism, anti-Semitism and other problems plaguing society," Weir said. "I urge you all to join in additional discussion."

Sun-Times hires editor of L.A. Times

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dennis A. Britton, deputy managing editor of the Los Angeles Times, Tuesday, was named editor of the Chicago Sun-Times and said he will reverse circulation decline by making the newspaper "compelling" reading.

Britton, 49, replaces Kenneth Thomas, who was reassigned. "It is not as compelling as it should be," Britton said of the Sun-Times. By being a "compelling" print," he said, "we mean something you have to read. You will not be compellable if you have not finished reading the Sun-Times."

He said the newspaper under his direction will focus on the neighborhood, the city, the suburbs and the state.

"We're going to be a (Rupert) Murdoch paper and we're not going to be a (Los Angeles) Times," Britton said at a news conference. "We're going to build on the strengths we have — sharply focus them."

In a prepared statement, Britton said his immediate challenge at the Sun-Times will be "to bring some soreness into the newspaper so our reporters and editors can come on doing its jobs."

"We have a core of reporters and editors who are among the best in the business and we want to create an environment in which they can do what they do best — create a newsprint daily report on Chicago and the surrounding communities," he said.

The Sun-Times was sold in 1984 by Field Enterprises to Australian media baron Rupert Murdoch. Murdoch later sold the newspaper to a New York-based investment group Copley and advertising revenue has dropped since the 1984 sale. Circulation was 583,864 daily and 564,488 Sunday, according to the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Several of the newspaper's most visible editorial personnel left after Murdoch bought the Sun-Times, including: columnist Mike Royko, who moved to the competing Chicago Tribune.

Britton is one of several Los Angeles Times editors who returned to replace Editor William Thomas, who retired.

The Sun-Times was sold in 1984 by Field Enterprises to Australian media baron Rupert Murdoch. Murdoch later sold the newspaper to a New York-based investment group Copley and advertising revenue has dropped since the 1984 sale. Circulation was 583,864 daily and 564,488 Sunday, according to the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Former basketball standout joins Saluki coaching staff

By Greg Scott

Middleton in third behind Charlie "Chico" Vaughn and Mike Glenn on the all-time career scor­­ing list with 1710 points. His aver­aged 25.4 points and 6.4 rebounds per game his senior year and was named the Outstanding Male Athlete at SIU-C in 1988. The Saluki women's coaching staff hopes Middleton's successes can carry over into the coaching ranks.

"We feel that Steve can add an extra dimension that the rest of us can't," Saluki coach Cindy Scott said. "Being a star on the men's team himself, he could give us some helpful input."

The former Saluki star said he always has kept tabs on the Saluki women's team.

"My girlfriend Regina Banks played two years under Coach Scott," Middleton said. "I have always been interested in women's basketball here."

Middleton said he has not seen any major differences in coaching men and women's basketball.

"Coaching is coaching," Middleton said. "I think adjusting to coaching the women's team made me become a coach quicker."

Middleton said his initial plans may have been to become an assistant for the men's team. But once he got around the women's coaching staff, his thoughts changed.

"Coach Scott enjoys the fact that I had success and my opinion is respected because the players know I'm speaking through experience," Middleton said. "Some of the older players saw my play and that helps me relate to them. I have a lot of respect for the men's basketball program here, but I think I'll have more input with the women's team."

"The first process starts back in our spring evaluation period in the month of May," Young said. "The coaches go out in their geographic areas and meet with the high school coaches and get their opinions on upcoming seniors." Geographically the coaches are currently blanketing the Midwest as well as the South and Western parts of the country.

Smith, a graduate of Bradley and former high school coach in Peoria and assistant coach at the University of Illinois, has left for Southeast Missouri. Smith should be familiar with the area after spending four years as head coach of SEMO (1984-87). He also will recruit from the California area.

Defensive back coach Stanley will recruit in Atlanta, Birmingham, Ala., and Los Angeles.

Offensive coordinator Bill Callahan, a 1978 graduate of Illinois Benedictine, left for Chicago after the Salukis' season-ending loss to Northern Iowa. He then will travel to California and Florida.

Phil Meyer, offensive line coach and a 1979 graduate of Illinois State, will spend most of his time recruiting in Mississippi.

Receivers coach Sam Venuto will cover the Iowa junior colleges while defensive coordinator Dave Hart, a 1957 graduate of the University and former head coach of Illinois State, will recruit in Western Kentucky.

Young currently is seeking recruits in Kansas and Oklahoma. Though traveling around the United States, Young said Illinois is the primary target area for attracting student-athletes to the University.

"There are probably more Illinois high school coaches willing to tell us about talent than there has been in a long time," Young, a 1969 grad of the University, said. "The reason is that it's the team we have to build on." The Saluki coaches also subscribe to a number of recruiting services that allow them to build a base of talent from which to scout.

Young said once a base is established the next step in the process is ready to begin.

"From the base we try and follow with letters of introduction from the University and allow the student athlete to better understand the University," Young said.

"The next step is reading about the different prospects through newspaper articles and correspondence from their high school coaches and personally talking to the kid on the phone until Nov. 1," Young said.

"On Nov. 1 our second evaluation period starts," Young said. "We are not able to meet face-to-face with prospective student athletes until Dec. 1. By then we are very hopeful that our evaluation phase is wrapped up.

It is during this period coaches are allowed to make up to three personal visits to a recruit's home. Coaches are also allowed to visit the athletes' high school three times but only once per week. A coach may, however, visit the high school as often as he likes to view film.

"Then we go to the task of selecting," Young said. "Along the way during the spring practice and the fall season we need to establish a needs list. The needs list is probably the most important thing we need to follow through with.

Brackins, Shulte henrich put marks in spiker record book

By Tracy Sargeant

The 1989 season was a time to shatter some old volleyball records and set some new ones for senior middle blocker Nina Brackins and sophomore setter Terri Shulte henrich.

Brackins, the Salukis' only senior, set three block assist records, with numbers down in the SUU-C record books — and she is not yet finished.

Last weekend at the Memphis State Invitational, Brackins passed both "Nicholson's and Darlene Hogue's single season kill highs.

Nicholson, in 1985, climbed to the top with 448 kills and Hogue, also in 1985, placed a distant second with 418. Brackins shattered their records with a whopping 491 single season kills through Nov. 10 to take over the No. 1 spot.

Brackins has moved in line with Charlotte's five years and also 41 more kills. Brackins shattered her own season kill record set on Nov. 10. Brackins shattered "(Brackins) loves to do everything just because she enjoys it. She is a very quiet person, she hardly gets upset.

" —Patti Hagemeyer

Brackins very long, she says that Nina is usually quiet and reserved.

"She loves to do everything just because she enjoys doing it. " —Hagemeyer said. "She is a very quiet person, she hardly gets upset.

In the single season solo block department, Brackins is close to moving into the No. 3 spot. Currently she ranks third with 32 solo blocks, but is right on the tail of Locke's record of 33. Jan Hagemeyer and Patt Hick, also in 1985, are tied in the third and fourth spots, with 17 solo blocks each. With the conference tournament looming ahead, Brackins only needs six more solo blocks to secure the third spot, but she is a long way off from Deanna Buchanan's second place of 51 blocks.

For career solo blocks, Brackins ranks fourth with 84 behind Nicholson's 112, Tromblay's 130 and Locker's 135.

Brackins, with 2,655 career spike attempts chalks up to the No. 3 spot behind Nicholson, 3,034, and Maxwell's 3,314 attempts.

Sophomore setter Terri Shulte henrich also is in the midst of breaking some standing records at SUU. She made it to the No. 1 spot by her senior year is not impossible.

"Shulte henrich said she was shocked to find out that she had broken two school records.

"I hope I can take that the way to the top," Shulte henrich said. "It is something to look for ward to.

Shulte henrich ranks fourth in career assists with 1,210. She is notched only by Dawn Tompson (1985-88) 1,325, Sue Sinclair (1982-85) 2,041, and Cummins (1982-85) with 3,249 assists.

This season, Shulte henrich has propelled herself into the No. 2 position of single season assists with 1,150. Hagemeyer said she expects Shulte henrich to continue on her winning path if she keeps up the hard work.

"She is a good setter," Hagemeyer said. "She is the one out there that can bring that team home."

"Whereas Nina uses her physical ability to advantage by hitting, Terri uses hard work," Hagemeyer said. "(Shulte henrich) and Nina (Brackins) are the two biggest reasons we are doing so well this 1989." Hagemeyer said, "The team needs to be able to do it with out them."

The Saluki volleyball team will have two more games at the Gateway Conference Championships this weekend in Normal.

Subtract student-athletes who transfer to another school in good standing, or who took more than five years to graduate and 25 fig­ ures are left, only one under 50. As compared to 38 percent for the general student population at the University of Illinois.

During that same period, using adjusted rates, 60 percent of male athletes graduated as compared to 81 percent for the women's pro­ gram.

The women's volleyball, golf and tennis teams all hit 100 percent with the adjusted graduation rate.

"It will be pretty constant on the academics side of it."

"They're going to have an acad­ emic portion of their life which is the most important part," Smith said. "If all else fails, their aca­ demica is what is going to carry them through."

"If any part of their life gets shot, it's going to be the social part of their life," Smith said. "There will be times when they can spend more time with the social aspects, but hopefully it won't be at the expense of aca­ demics or athletics."

Smith said the coaches must answer the primary concerns of high school seniors. He said a part of majors, curriculum, physical set­ ting of the university, size of enrollment, job opportunities after graduation are asked from the academ­ica standpoint. Questions regarding projected positions, play­ ing time and returning starters are primary concerns for recruits.

Assistant coach Sam Weaver said he also expresses a balanced view of the student-athlete's education.

"A student has to be involved in more than just academics," Weaver said. "You don't get a full feeling into what's happening at SIU all at once unless you are totally involved with organizations and activities."

"I tell kids all the time, 'If you're used to going to church on Sunday, you need to find a church in Carbondale,'" Weaver said. "That helps to fulfill the routine that you need to have at home. They need to try and fulfill that routine in Carbondale as much as they can."

The women's track program was at its spring season high with 13 students out of 27 graduating, or 45 percent.

Although the men's gymnastics team was dropped in spring 1989, it carried a 91 percent adjusted graduation rate during the length of the study and the men's swimming program came in sec­ ond at 80 percent.

The lowest totals out of the men's program was recorded for the basketball team, which gradu­ated only three out of 12 players in four years. All of the players were recruited before current head coach Rich Herris took over.

Jim Hart, athletics director, announced the men's and women's basketball programs will be moved into one complex in Lingle Hall by the start of the spring semester. The rooms 119 and 121 will be turned into the basketball complex.

This is the first step in Hart's plan to move all women's pro­ gram into Lingle Hall where the men's programs currently reside. Hart gave no specific details on when other moves would be made in regard to other programs.

Athletes’ graduation rates released

By Kevin Simpson
Staff Writer

Saluki student-athlete graduation rates were released by Charlotte West, associate athletics director, at the Intercollegiate Athletic Advisory Committee on Tuesday afternoon in Anthony Hall.

The studies are in accord with a plan by Sen. Bill Bradley, D-NJ., who has been a strong proponent of the NCAA’s efforts to calculate graduation rates for student-athletes and other schools. Students who take more than five years to graduate also drops the overall percentage.

Along with the NCAA calculations, SIU-C has included adjusted graduation rates which take these differences into account and do not count over or against the overall calculations.

When it comes to recruiting, a solid program, honesty and a strong emphasis on academics is a winning combination for the Saluki men’s basketball program.

Assistant men’s basketball coach Ron Smith said a winning program is a main ingredient for drawing students to any University.

There is no substitute for winning," Smith said. "Winning games and having a quality team will get you into a lot of schools."

After serving as an assistant under head coach Rich Herrin at Northern Iowa with Herrin to SIUC five years ago. The quality of the program and athletics has increased every year.

Smith said the best athletes are the most heavily recruited and therefore the most difficult to obtain.

"We try and get enough back-ground information and personal conversations from them to find out if we have a legitimate chance to recruit them," Smith said. "You have to take it is as a step as a team. The final step is offering an official campus visit. If they accept, that's an indication you're in the top five,"

Smith said academics is a top thing stressed in trying to sell the University on the program.

One of our best selling points from day one, has been our academic emphasis. The quality of the program and athletics has increased every year.

The Saluki football coaches will have an added tool to use when heading into recruiting next fall. Head coach Bob Smith called it his "offensive resume.”

Numerous individual and team records fell or were tied in the Saluki 2-9 season, Smith said he never expected anything like this to occur.

"If someone would have told me we would break every record last spring I would have said that person didn’t know much about football," Smith said.

"What those records show is we are going to play exciting football," Smith said.

Smith said when the coaches are out recruiting offensive personnel, they will be able to point to the records and show that the Saluki offense will work.

"The records are great if you are a receiver," Smith said. "Especially when we talk about our fan base, we just graduated." Wesley Yates is the flanker which Smith is referring to.

Yates was responsible for breaking two Saluki individual records and tying another.

During the season the record for most yards in a single game with 199 set against Southwest Missouri State on Oct. 21. During that game Yates tied another record catching a pass from quarterback Prenger and taking it 87 yards for a touchdown.

The second record Yates broke was receiving yards in a season with 655.

Smith said since Yates has graduated from the football program a new recruit can look at his records and see how he would gain plenty of playing time.

Smith said "We are going to take advantage of his (Yates) ability and we are going to try and get enough back-ground information and personal conversations from them to find out if we have a legitimate chance to recruit them."
