Salukis Face 'Cat And Dog' Fight Tonight

April 7, 1963

Lincoln Tiger Use Free Substitution

The key word, or words, tonight when SIU football takes the local sports spotlight, will be "free substitution." These words take on high-borne significance, at least on the Saluki defense, because they mean a reprieve for the Salakie that could help them salvage the season.

Tonight's game with Lincoln University is one of at least two on the SIU schedule this year that will let fans see what is fact becoming a novelty in the college sport. Rule changes concerning substitution have been changed and changed again in recent years, and it's been several years since complete freedom was enjoyed by all schools.

Lincoln, however, plays all of its games with free substitution, and Southern officials have expressed a desire for a College Bowl Show On Two Channels SIU's G.E. College Bowl team can be seen twice Sunday evening.

The quiz program in which four of SIU's top student schoolers meet to match knowledge with a team from Fairf ield University will be seen first at 4:30 on Channel Five.

The program will be seen on Channel Six at 5:30 p.m. (Continued on Page 4)

Voting Irregularities Force Rescheduling Of Election

Campus elections on Friday hit so many snags by noon that the Student Government election commissioner said the ballots having to be done again.

Official and unofficial protests included alleged violation of voting requirements and failure to get all candidates names on the ballots.

FRED RAUCH, election commissioner, set Wednesday to hold the new elections with the possible exception of the Homecoming Queen and her attendants. Ballots for these all-university offices would be counted and the four finalates named, he said.

"We had many, many problems," Rauch said.

Foremost among them was the new requirement that each voter present his fee-statement card as well as his activity card before receiving his ballot for senator.

According to Rauch, three senators, Dave Davis, Terry Cook and Bob Quail made official protests.

Among other "problems," Rauch said the ballots were not delivered to the polls until 10 a.m. with the voting scheduled to start at 8 a.m.

Student Body President Dick Moore said he was in favor of destroying the ballots cast Friday if the election commissioner wanted it done. In his opinion, the decision was "just."

Moore agreed the biggest problem was the requirement of voters to present their fee statement cards.

Rauch said "it was apparent," poll personnel were allowing students to pick up their ballots without present­ing these cards, using in some cases, nothing more than their names.

The requirement for presenting fee-statement cards was based on the need to establish the academic unit of each voter so that he would vote only for the senator in his own department, school or college.

Confusion was increased when freshmen in some cases did not know what their academic unit was and some fee statements, when presented, did not show this classification.

Tickets Available For Game Tonight

Anyone who hasn't purchased a ticket for tonight's football game which pits Southern against Lincoln University can still get one.

According to Neoma Kinsey, Athletic Department secre­tary, there are still "plenty of tickets available." They can be bought at the ticket office or at the gate tonight.

800 High School Choristers Will Harmonize Here Today

Eighthundred students from 30 area high schools will participate in the Southern Illinois Choral Clinic here today.

Guest conductor will be George Howerton, dean of the School of Music of Northwestern University.

The Choral Clinic is an annual event sponsored by the SIU Music Department under the chairmanship of Robert Kingsbury, SIU choral director.

The program will include a luncheon in honor of the guest conductor and a special workshop for the visiting cordors directed by Howerton with the assistance of the University Choral Center.

Pigcine has chosen sophomore Jim Hart of Morton Grove as his starting quarterback as the Saluki seek their second straight victory.

Hart fired his second touchdown pass of the season last night. He completed 13 of 28 this year, for 207 yards.

Harry Bobbitt, Carbondale, has the nod at right halfback, and Richard Weber, who sparkled against Louisville, will go again at left halfback.

Pullback may not be decided until just last game time, with a battle being waged by Jerry Frrickens, Overland, Mo., and Iris Rhodes, Ronco, Pa.

Few changes are anticipated in the small but powerful line that humbled the chunky Ball State front four.

Tigers will miss several starters, said Rauch, they will get a share of the duty.

Larry Wagner, a real thorn in the side of Louisville's All-American tackle Ken Korstae last Saturday, Jim Min­

Here's Southern's G.E. College Bowl Team

Mind Over Muscle Squabble Disturbs Noel Schanen

"If you earn your reputation with your mind instead of your muscles you are put in a sort of glass cage by your fellow students," Noel Schanen, a widely respected member of the Southern Illinois University College Bowl team, says.

This is the complaint filed by Noel Schanen, member of the SIU College Bowl team, on the problems of being academically oriented.

Schanen, a 21-year-old senior from Evanston, feels he is even more on display as a result of being selected as one of the six students who will travel to New York to participate in the telecast this Sunday afternoon.

The slightly disheveled dealing with his specialty. This major leads to answering the questions put forth by the SIU Students.

Schanen said that he is a person who can't be bothered with people who don't like him. He doesn't find interesting.

Schanen is so involved with answering the questions put to him in quiz sessions that he has no trouble with his nerves. When he is on camera he claims that the audience and television equipment cease to exist.

The bespeckled team member is interested in the outdoors and works at the Cooperative Research Fisheries Laboratory, which is right in line with his major, biological sciences.

This major leads Schanen to be considered the science expert by his fellow team members. He is expected to answer most of the questions dealing with his specialty.

He hopes to continue his studies by going directly into his doctorate work and then teaching college level courses. He claims that by teaching others, he is, in turn, taught.

Schanen claims he must work hard to maintain his four-point grade index, and reads the textbooks for his courses three or four times. Another pet peeve of his is the way others look at a student who asks questions in class. "I have had instructors laugh at some of the questions I have asked," claimed Schanen. "I want to learn and know."

Schanen shows a fine knowledge of edge of areas other than his specialty. He has an uncanny ability to appreciate a complex passage of music while concentrating on an involved technical reading.

The most popular kind of music is ethnic folk music and he admits that he plays the guitar in his spare time.

The modest young man, whose hands are constantly in motion, giving their own interpretation and punctuation to his conversation, feels that the College Bowl team has a truly fine coach in Kenneth Traunt.

Principal of the speech department, He believes that the team will be a credit to Southern.

William Lingle Likes Reading, Writing, Answering Questions

William Lingle enjoys reading, writing, singing and answering questions.

He obviously will get a chance to do the latter on Sunday when he appears with three SIU teammates on the G.E. College Bowl program.

When asked what he thought of this honor, Lingle replied, "I think of it as my responsibility to SIU and not as a personal benefit."

He went on to say that he would like to surprise Fairfield University and further the cause of SIU by making a respectable showing.

The Columbia Encyclopedia, a treasury of quotations, and various texts in the fields of literature, music, history and current events are the books Lingle will use in preparing for this contest. Lingle said he enjoyed studying. His four-point plus grade average proves this.

Lingle admits that he is not very athletic. He likes to watch even though he has no desire to participate. Music seems to hold his interest more. He enjoy operas and country music, "Country music is enjoyable and amusing," he remarked.

One of Lingle's oddities is a driving urge to correct punctuation and spelling. He also admitted that sometimes, when he is concentrating, he doesn't pay attention to what people say to him.

Although Lingle said that he was excited and perhaps a little nervous about the program, this thin six foot young man appeared to be very calm when interviewed.

Douglas Trautt Got A Late Start

But He's Still An Expert In Art

A nonchalant junior from Wood River will attempt to field any questions about art that are tossed at the SIU College Bowl team Sunday.

You know Douglas Trautt, a 19-year-old art major at the Alton branch, is something of a "Johnny-Come-Lately" to the field of field training.

Altogether became interested in art at the age of 13. Trautt never actually took an art course while he was in college. But even that short time has been enough to give him strong opinions about the field.

"Non-objective and non-figurative art is the most monumental box he ever perverted," Trautt remarked. "Figuration is necessary."

Douglas Trautt is a professional artist when he graduates.

In addition to painting, Trautt has an avid interest in politics. Taking a drag on a cigarette precariously perched at the end of a four-tined fork, Trautt said he neither a Republican nor a Democrat. What then?

"A radical for capitalism," he replied forcefully.

Then he added that he feels that under the current policies of both the Republican and Democrat parties that this country within 30 years will be "sunk in a morass of a collective slave state."

But he's a little more hopeful for the chances of the SIU team on the G.E. College Bowl than he is for the future of the nation.

"I hope for the best," he replied when asked if he felt the team might run the full five-week period on the show.

Ted Reynolds' Favorite Companion Is A Book—He Has 2,000 Of Them

If you could discuss at length the plots and characters in Shakespearean plays, could quote verbatim from Shakespeare, or discuss the plot and characters in an opera, what would you be?

Well, you wouldn't be the butt of jokes among the sumo wrestlers, or the handicapper or perhaps even a typical SIU student, but you might be and you are Ted Reynolds, an SIU sophomore at the Edwardsville campus.

Reynolds is one of four specially selected students who will represent the university on NBC's G.E. College Bowl series next Sunday afternoon.

Currently carrying a better than 4 point overall average as a humanities major, Reynolds according to team strategy, should be best qualified to answer questions relating to the fields of art, literature, history, and mathematics.

Reynolds has acquired this knowledge primarily through his reading of books. A portion of his free time is spent in libraries or at home with his favorite companions—books.

For hobbies, Reynolds plays chess and collects all types of paperback books—he presently owns more than 2,000 of them. He also is interested in Broadway shows and in movie productions.

When asked the proverbial question, "do you have a girl?," 19-year-old Reynolds exclaimed, "I'm a happy, contented, old bachelor."

Offered as a "quotation" by Reynolds and his teammates is the following:

"It is our opinion that it is the morality of altruism which must be rejected if the country is to escape the slavery of collectivism"
Southern Hills Council Meets
Tuesday To Elect Officers

Outgoing officers of the Southern Hills Council have invited all residents of Southern Hills to come to the first fall meeting at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in the basement of Building 128.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Judi Mc Corndale, outgoing secretary-treasurer, is to elect new officers.

Several of the active participants in the Council last year have left the area, and responsible people are being sought to take their places.

The parking problem tops the agenda in the way of university business along with the completion of playgronds, the establishment of a nursery school and the possibility of clothes lines behind certain buildings.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Rusk Protests Red Blockade of Convoy

WASHINGTON

Secretary of State Dean Rusk met with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin for seven minutes Friday to lodge a strong protest against Soviet delay of American troops traveling through East Germany to Berlin.

A convoy of 18 American vehicles and 61 men was delayed for 16 hours Thursday at the West German entrance to the Autobahn and for a second time Friday as it approached West Berlin.

State Department officials said Rusk "firmly expressed the concern with which we view this unjustifiable action."

Press officer Robert J. McGlashey told newsmen later that "we have no reason to think that the Soviets will not reconsider" and allow the troops to pass.

Meanwhile, Undersecretary of State George Ball said the Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko professed "to be unaware" of the halting of the convoy. Gromyko also met with Rusk and with President Kennedy Thursday over the incident.

Byron Salinger, White House Press Secretary, refused to comment on the blockade except to say, "the President is being kept abreast of the developments."

Kennedy met with top military and diplomatic advisers for 45 minutes Friday to discuss the halting, Salinger said the President met with Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, an expert on Soviet affairs and former U.S. ambassador to Moscow.

An official protest was also made at Potsdam, at the headquarters of the Soviet commander of Russian forces in East Germany.

BLACKPOOL, England

A group of senior lawmakers moved into the Conservative party leadership crisis today with a bid to draft Foreign Secretary Lord Home as successor to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

This development followed the comparative failure of one of the contenders in the succession contest—Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling—to make any kind of resounding impact on the annual conference of the party here.

WASHINGTON

A Detroit police official tested a theory, which claims six or seven layers of "insulation" between the bookmaking and numbers racket and the top "Don" of the Mafia in Detroit.

Commissioner George C. Edwards used this term to describe how the racketeers money filters up from the bottom, but the top gangsters are never directly implicated.

In another testimony, Chicago Police Superintendent O. W. Wilson testified that killers for Chicago area mobs have mowed down 976 victims since 1919, and only two of these murders have been solved to the point of arrest and conviction of the slayers.

"In short," Wilson told the Senate Investigations subcommittee, "gangland executives seem to enjoy odds of 500 to 1 against being caught and convicted."

Two specialists cried out Friday against doctors who advise daily baths and cold fresh air for babies.

Writing in the British medical journal, the Lancet, Drs. Margaret Kerr and Gavin C. Armitage said: "'Daily bathing is useless,'" said their article. "'It should be condemned in cold weather unless a steady room temperature of at least 70 degrees can be maintained."

Adenauer Resigns

Effective Tuesday

BONN, Germany

Konrad Adenauer submitted his resignation Friday from the West German chancellorship he has held for 14 years.

The resignation takes effect next Tuesday, on the eve of the Federal government's election of Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard as the new chancellor, chosen by the Christian Democrats.

Adenauer's departure of the changover had been planned long in advance.

Wednesday, Adenauer, 87, presented a note to President Heinrich Luebbe at the president's office.

Parliament meets Wednesday to elect Erhard, 66, Erhard is to be sworn in that afternoon and present his new Cabinet to Luebbe the following day.

During the few hours between Adenauer's resignation and Erhard's election, Adenauer will serve as acting chancellor.

Adenauer's choice of Friday for tendering his resignation took Bonn by surprise, but only because it was expected to be delayed until next week. Adenauer promised his help to the new government.

Wednesday, were on the ballot."

Moore said on this point, that some petitions for candidacy may not have been taken from the Information Desk to the Student Government office on time.

On the other hand, one candidate for senator from Liberal Arts and Sciences, Charles Rahe, said he turned in his petition for election the day before the election but his name was not on the ballot.

An opponent, Jim R. Stander, said he believed Rahe had fulfilled the requirements and his name should have been on the ballot.

Rauch said the election commission would make every effort to clear up these questions and present ballots again to the student body on Wednesday.

Voting was carried on through the day although it was understood the ballots for all but the Queen and attendant elections would not be counted. Rauch said this procedure was adopted so that there might be a representative vote for these important positions.

Other offices to be filled when the election is called again are, Mr. and Miss Freshman, Spring Festival chairman and senators from the various academic units.
Council Meet Reviews Problems Of Meters, Bikes, NSA, Lighting

Bicycles, the NSA, street lights, parking meters and "The Search" were among topics of discussion at a two-hour-plus meeting of the Student Council Thursday night. Problems which have resulted from the great increase in bicycles on the campus will be studied by a committee composed of Terry Cook, Waukegan junior and out-town senator; and Bill Wade, LaGrange junior and Southern Acres senator.

Dick Moore, student body president, noted that the theft of bicycles is increasing and suggested that registration of bicycles might be considered.

A Council committee will study the question of whether student senators remain a member of the National Students Association. Howard Benson, Weyerhauser, Waukegan junior and commuter senator; Ilene James, Evanston junior and Woody Hall senator; Ray Land, senior and married students' senator; and Barbara Rensing, Collinsville senior and sorority senator, were named to the committee.

There are too many parking meters on South University Avenue, according to several senators. They proposed that a delegation talk to city officials about the parking restrictions near the campus. Cook, Benson and David Davis, Bloomingston senior and out-town senator, were appointed, Southern's literary magazine, "The Search" was praised in a Council resolution describing the publication as "an outstanding literary work."

Special problems of handicapped students were discussed. A particular case noted was the difficulty girls in wheelchairs have in getting into dormitories where there are stairs. Moore was delegated to bring up the problem with University officials.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's approval of the sale of wheat to Russia was accompanied this week by signs of renewed interest in former foreign trade policy.

The approval itself opened the way for sales to Eastern bloc countries. Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Hungary have asked for wheat worth about $40 million.

At the same time, the President told his news conference that the Soviet Union is interested in the sale of American surplus livestock feed grains and other farm products.

The sale of wheat to the Russians does not represent a change in American trade policy, the President said. The Soviet, was just being treated "like any other customer in the world market."

But on Wednesday, a few hours before the President's statement, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee agreed to review the U.S. trade policy with a view to expansion of exports to the Soviet and satellite countries.

Chairman Fulbright said that "considerable dissatisfaction" over current restrictions that penalize nations interested in American surplus livestock feed grains and other farm products.

Fulbright also said that the "continuing criticism of the Senate minority group that the Administration has not been consistent in its foreign policy.

Wisdom Debated

While the President's wisdom in approving the wheat sale was being debated by politicians and voters across the nation, former Vice President Nixon gave his clear answer in a television interview.

"TO SAVE MANPOWER. RESOURCES AND, MAY I ADD, DEMOCRATS!

"I think that this will turn out to be the major foreign policy mistake of the Nixon administration, and a more serious than fouling up the Bay of Pigs (attempted invasion of Cuba).

"What we're doing is subsidizing Khrushchev at a time that he's in deep economic trouble. This will allow him to bring economic pressure on his satellites...and to divert the Russian economy into space...and into military activities...."

As far as the voters are concerned, White House sources were reported to believe the sale may result in a net loss on the political balance sheet.

The New York Times observed that once the idea of a sale was broached Kennedy was bound to suffer political damage regardless of his decision. The decision in favor of the sale, The Times said, may cost him politically on these counts:

Conservatives may criticize him for "trading with the enemy."

"A turn for the worse in U.S.-Soviet relations would give ammunition to the argument that the President had been "taken in" by the Reds.

"Some bitterly anti-Communist big-city minority groups are likely to be offended.

"Whatever economic benefit the sale brings to this country will not be apparent to the voter---improved balance of foreign payments, long-term rise in grain prices, a drop in the grain-storage costs.

The day after the President's decision was announced, the Agriculture Department reported that American farmers this season are harvesting the largest volume of crops in the nation's history.

Prestige Symbol

PARIS—An obscure line in a communiqué issued after a cabinet meeting indicated Wednesday, for the first time officially, that France has made a historic shift to nuclear armament.

The communiqué spoke of the withdrawal of French military men from the naval air base at Bizerte, Tunisia, and said this was now possible because of "the creation of new means which the armed forces are beginning to have at their disposal."

Authorities said this meant that France's controversial nuclear strike force had come into being and that supersonic French planes are being armed with atomic bombs.

MIRAGE IV planes rolling off assembly lines are now getting 40-kiloton plutonium atomic bombs. Allied military officials said France now has six of the medium-range Mirage IV bombers in service.

Thus France joined the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain as atomic powers. The nuclear force is President de Gaulle's cherished symbol of military independence and a prestige factor to advance his aim of political leadership in Europe.

OTTAWA--Canada announced its agreement to let the United States supply American and Canadian air defense systems to Canada with nuclear air-to-air weapons.

The agreement, which supplemented a limited pact reached in August, means that nuclear weapons can be stored in Canada for U.S. interceptor aircraft stationed at United States leased bases in Newfoundland.

Students Say It A-Nhu

MINNEAPOLIS -- The Minneapolis Daily, student newspaper at the University of Minnesota, said Friday:

"Every few days our ambassador in Viet Nam Lodges a Nhu protest but the answer always is Nga."

Business Outlook

NEW YORK—Sam Dawson, the AP business news analyst, notes that the opening season has early on the sport of predicting economic trends for 1964.

Most of the predictions, he says, sound suspiciously alike.

Business will be good in the first half of 1964. And if a tax cut is enacted in time to give a tonic to the aging upswing we now are enjoying, business should be good throughout the year.

Those who suspect this may not be necessarily so base their warnings on a number of things. But a chief one just now is that all the predictions sound alike.

In the past a unanimous vote either for an upswing or a downturn has proved strikingly wrong.

The optimistic predictions, however, have much solid backing. The momentum of the current upswing alone could carry it along for a while. But the weaknesses in the economy just now either aren't too apparent, or they've been

BREAKING BREAD TOGETHER?

Fulbright said the dissatisfaction was with the results of certain legacies, not with U.S. exporters while benefiting some of the nation's allies and other recipients of U.S. policy, Fulbright specifically be referred to the Johnson Act of 1954 that prohibits loans as commercial credits to countries in default on debts to this country.

Many times, he said, Canada and other friendly nations have financed their exports to Communist countries through New York banks, which aren't available for the purpose to U.S. shippers.

Rusk went before the committee with David E. Bell, International Development Administrator, mainly to discuss the administration's $4.5 billion aid program.

"As it turned out, Fulbright said, "Most of the questions concerned trade policy and the fact that we've been financing the trade of our friends with the Communist bloc for years."

Fulbright said the session was "the beginning of a movement in somewhat different direction" than the nation had followed in the recent past.

Committee members indicated "considerable dissatisfaction with our export policy," Fulbright said.

"They apparently felt that we should be dealing directly with the Communist bloc ourselves. We tend to pursue the subject and re-examine it with the State Department."

'TO SAVE MANPOWER, RESOURCES AND, MAY I ADD, DEMOCRATS!

"I think that this will turn out to be the major foreign policy mistake of the Nixon administration, and a more serious than fouling up the Bay of Pigs (attempted invasion of Cuba).

"What we're doing is subsidizing Khrushchev at a time that he's in deep economic trouble. This will allow him to bring economic pressure on his satellites...and to divert the Russian economy into space...and into military activities...."

As far as the voters are concerned, White House sources were reported to believe the sale may result in a net loss on the political balance sheet.

The New York Times observed that once the idea of a sale was broached Kennedy was bound to suffer political damage regardless of his decision. The decision in favor of the sale, The Times said, may cost him politically on these counts:

Conservatives may criticize him for "trading with the enemy."

"A turn for the worse in U.S.-Soviet relations would give ammunition to the argument that the President had been "taken in" by the Reds.

"Some bitterly anti-Communist big-city minority groups are likely to be offended.

"Whatever economic benefit the sale brings to this country will not be apparent to the voter---improved balance of foreign payments, long-term rise in grain prices, a drop in the grain-storage costs.

The day after the President's decision was announced, the Agriculture Department reported that American farmers this season are harvesting the largest volume of crops in the nation's history.

Prestige Symbol

PARIS—An obscure line in a communiqué issued after a cabinet meeting indicated Wednesday, for the first time officially, that France has made a historic shift to nuclear armament.

The communiqué spoke of the withdrawal of French military men from the naval air base at Bizerte, Tunisia, and said this was now possible because of "the creation of new means which the armed forces are beginning to have at their disposal."

 Authorities said this meant that France's controversial nuclear strike force had come into being and that supersonic French planes are being armed with atomic bombs.

MIRAGE IV planes rolling off assembly lines are now getting 40-kiloton plutonium atomic bombs. Allied military officials said France now has six of the medium-range Mirage IV bombers in service.

Thus France joined the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain as atomic powers. The nuclear force is President de Gaulle's cherished symbol of military independence and a prestige factor to advance his aim of political leadership in Europe.

OTTAWA--Canada announced its agreement to let the United States supply American and Canadian air defense systems to Canada with nuclear air-to-air weapons.

The agreement, which supplemented a limited pact reached in August, means that nuclear weapons can be stored in Canada for U.S. interceptor aircraft stationed at United States leased bases in Newfoundland.

MINNEAPOLIS--The Minnesota Daily, student newspaper at the University of Minnesota, said Friday:

"Every few days our ambassador in Viet Nam Lodges a Nhu protest but the answer always is Nga."

'S A FEDERAL ENHACEMENT, I DON'T CARE HOW MUCH GOOD IT DOES!

around so long as it seem no harm done now than in the past few months.

The nagging worry around some economy is based first on the age of the present upturn and second on past experience, which shows that current strength usually hides any underlying weakness.

1963 Disasters:

Toll Of 30,000

Ten major natural disasters this year together have killed more than 25,000 persons. Other rampages, with fewer fatalities, send this toll to nearly 30,000, almost as many deaths as the United States suffered on the battlefields of Korea.

One calamity alone—a cyclone and tidal wave May 26 in the Bay of Bengal—killed 15,000 persons in Pakistan, nearly double the combined U.S. battle deaths of the Revolutionaries, 1812, Mexican and Spanish-American wars.

The nation even now lies into a dammed reservoir in italy Wednesday midnight appeared to be the third worst natural catastrophe of 1963 in loss of life.

You the Pakistan disaster and Hurricane Flora, which has killed an estimated 3,500 in Haiti and Cuba, surpass it.
Saluki Frosh To Use Tested Lineup

Play Washington In Game Monday

With one victory already on record behind them, the Saluki freshman footballers will take the road next Monday in their second outing of the season.

The Saluki frosh, 14-0 winners over Southeast Missouri State in their opener here this week, will travel to St. Louis on Monday for a skirmish with Washington University.

Head Freshman Coach Frank Sovich will probably stick to his tested and proved lineup of the opening game, which produced no injuries on the Saluki squad.

Starting back for the Southern yearlings will be Jerry Jones, a 6-2, 180-pounder from Starkville, Miss. Jones directed Sovich's pro-type offense to the solid opening victory.

Graduate Study:

Deadlines On Fellowships Set For Wilson, Danforth Awards

Deadline for nomination of a Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship by a faculty member is Oct. 31, according to Dean Kenney, assistant dean of the SIU Graduate School. Forms sent to candidates upon nomination must be filled out by Nov. 20. Nominations for the Danforth Fellowships, to be made by the school's liaison officer, Dean Kenney, will be closed Nov. 1. Application forms sent to nominees are due Nov. 24.

Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships are awarded each year to 1,000 prospective first-year graduate students, both men and women. The stipend is $1,800 for one academic year for single fellows or married fellows and $2,000 for each additional child.

The Danforth Fellowship award is based on individual needs. It is for one year and normally renewable for a total of four academic years of graduate study.

Annual limits are $1,500 for a single man and $2,500 for a married student plus dependency allowances for children.

Information about fellowship offers is available from Dean Kenney.
