The Daily Egyptian, October 13, 1989

Daily Egyptian Staff
House approves bill on flag desecration

Opponents argue proposal will be ineffective

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With Democratic leaders hoping to head off a constitutional amendment, the House gave final congressional approval Thursday to a bill intended to overrule a Supreme Court decision and outlaw desecration of the U.S. flag.

By a 371-43 vote, the House passed the compromise measure and sent it to the White House where President Bush is expected to sign the bill despite his insistence that a new amendment to the Constitution is needed.

The bill was stuck on one side by critics who said it is unnecessary and by others who argued the new law will be ineffective and likely will be overturned by the Supreme Court.

The bill provides for an early review of the law by the court to see if it is constitutional.

In its controversial June 21 ruling in a flag-burning case the Supreme Court overturned a Texas flag-desecration law, saying the law was an infringement on the First Amendment right of free expression. The 5-4 ruling caused a public outcry and members of Congress clamored for legislation to amend federal law and protect the flag.

The House version of the bill, passed on a 380-38 vote Sept. 12, had been narrowly drafted to deal only with physical damage to the flag. The House sought to avoid the matter of an individual’s moral outrage and thereby stay the court’s concerns about free speech.

The Senate, however, adopted an amendment by Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif., barring anyone from defiling the flag. Opponents in both chambers argued the term “defile” suggests expression and that the Wilson amendment will invite an adverse ruling by the Supreme Court.

See [FLAG], Page 7

Bush to help in campaign of Rep. Martin

Bush plans to attend a Nov. 12 lunch in Chicago for Martin, a conservative Rockford Republican who represents a district that will decide a first-term senator, of being too liberal and too politically out-of-step with the people.

Republican Chairman Lee Atwater has indicated assisting Simon, who unsuccessfully ran for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination, is among the GOP’s top priorities.

“I am delighted that the president has agreed to join us for the first major Illinois fundraiser of my campaign,” Atwater said. “It’s also fairly safe to assume you will see him again in Illinois during the next seven weeks.”

Simon seconded Bush’s nomination at the presidency at the 1988 Republican National Convention and is considered among Bush’s closest congressional allies.

Thirsty resigns Board after move out of state

By Tim Crosby

The SIU Board of Trustees officially is looking for a new vice chairman after a 12 year veteran announced his resignation at the Board meeting Thursday.

Carol K. Kimmel, 72, said she was resigning as vice chairman because she and her husband had recently moved from Illinois to Arkansas. Though no state statute requires SIU trustees to live in Illinois, Carol Kimmel Kimmel said she would honor the accepted policy of living in Illinois.

“Everyone is welcome to go to another state,” she said.

Pettit talks about financial aid

"There is a time and a place for everything," Kimmel, a native of Dongola, said. "Our most is deep in Southern Illinois. We have many friends and business interests here. Emotionally, I will not be leaving the Board." "I know of no other board member who has extended himself as much as I have," Kimmel said.

NORML adviser quits; search goes on

By Jeanne Bickler

Mary Lamb, staff adviser for the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, resigned from her position Tuesday.

Lamb had few remarks about her resignation.

She said she believes the leaders of NORML are responsible, dedicated people, but is unsure of the sincerity of some of its members.

"While I believe that the officers of NORML are able to carry on a debate on legitimate topics of inquiry in a rational manner, it is difficult for any organization to control the behavior of all of its constituents," Lamb said.

Lamb said she is concerned about the lack of debate and inquiry on campus about all issues.

"The issue for me is not the legalization of marijuana, but the general increasing tendency for students and faculty to withdraw from debate on any number of topics of even greater social importance," she said.

Kimmel said, "We’re sorry Mary Lamb resigned. We hoped that under her deep and experienced leadership we’d get a lot of positive results."

Goldberger said, "We have a list of possible teachers to get a hold of. I don’t think we’ll make many decisions right away, but I think we should keep an eye on what’s happening."

Last Friday, the Southern Illinois chapter of NORML held a Harvest Fest that was marked with disappointments. The fest was moved from the Free Forum area to 611 Pizza because of rain.

After two reports of marijuana smoking, police went to 611 Pizza and Seasons.

See LAMB, Page 7
Sports Bar and Grill
"The Best Kept Secret In 'Dale"

Friday: 10 oz. NY Strip $7.95

98¢ Margaritas
Score a touchdown with your parents at Time Out!

Open daily at 11a.m. phone 529-3292

Barbour
The best British clothing for the worst British weather

Newswrap

world/nation

Last minute hitches interrupt ratification of agreement

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) - Lebanese lawmakers meeting in Saudi Arabia said Thursday last minute snags forced them to postpone ratification of a compromise national reconciliation package that included greater power for Muslims and a limited Syrian troop withdrawal. The delay appeared linked to pledges in Beirut Thursday from Christian strongman Michel Aoun that he would continue his war to expel all foreign troops from Lebanon regardless of the proposed agreement. Muslims and Christian Lebanese legislators have been meeting for almost two weeks at the Saudi mountain resort of Hell.

Problems continue to plague Mir space station

MOSCOW (UP) - A defect in the docking section for a module addition to the Mir space station has forced the postponement of its launch by at least 40 days in another setback for the Soviet space program, a well placed source said Thursday. The module, the first of two additions to the space station of the 20-30 ton Mir, has been the source of concern within the space station program for more than a year. Delays in its delivery forced the Soviets to leave the Mir unmanned six months ago in the first interruption in more than two years of continuous occupancy of the space station.

Community will not take busing sitting down

DEC17UR, Ga. (UP) - Blacks and whites freed the offices of Georgia's largest school system Thursday with panic calls in response to a federal appeals court ruling that may require forced busing. The 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered the DeKalb County school system to consider redrawing district lines and to busing to achieve more racial integration. The order is expected to cause white doctored changes in the 73,000-student suburban school district east of Atlanta. The action does not involve the city school system. DeKalb County sends black and white children to schools in their neighborhoods.

Telephone survey reflects AIDS phobia persists

BOSTON (UPI) - Most Americans apparently think superstition, cooks denial hystericism and the schools should be barred if their jobs if they are infected with the AIDS virus, a survey released Thursday shows. The nation-wide telephone survey of 2,000 adults also found a significant portion of the believe notes, physicians, teachers and even police officers should be not allowed to work if they were infected with the virus. The findings apparently reflect continuing emotional fear of AIDS, said Barbara Gerbert, a researcher at the University of California-San Francisco who conducted the study.

Trial under way in I-57 death involving 11-pound brick

JOLIET (UPI) - A survivor Thursday described the impact of an 11-pound load of concrete that crushed through the windshield of his pickup truck, killing a companion, as prosecutors began their case against one of two men charged with murder. The victim, Charles Layitt, 57, Chicago, was nearly decapitated by the concrete and his face was crushed. Leon DeRouin, 19, is charged with murder. Two companions will be tried later. Prosecutors charge DeRouin, Kevin DeLorenzo, 20, and Matthew Taylor, 20, all of Steger, tossed the concrete from an Interstate 57 overpass at a prank.

Corrections & Clarifications

The doors open at 11 p.m. Saturday for the Saluki Midnight Shootout. This information was stated incorrectly in Thursday's Daily Egyptian.

Rosetta O'Neal was not a University student. Her interest in genealogy began at an early age, when the inquired about her mother who died when she was 17 months old. This information was incorrectly stated in the Wednesday edition of the Daily Egyptian.

Accuracy Desk

The Daily Egyptian has established an accuracy desk. If readers spot an error, they can call 536-3311, extension 233 or 229.

Last minute hitches interrupt ratification of agreement

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) - Lebanese lawmakers meeting in Saudi Arabia said Thursday last minute snags forced them to postpone ratification of a compromise national reconciliation package that included greater power for Muslims and a limited Syrian troop withdrawal. The delay appeared linked to pledges in Beirut Thursday from Christian strongman Michel Aoun that he would continue his war to expel all foreign troops from Lebanon regardless of the proposed agreement. Muslims and Christian Lebanese legislators have been meeting for almost two weeks at the Saudi mountain resort of Hell.

Problems continue to plague Mir space station

MOSCOW (UP) - A defect in the docking section for a module addition to the Mir space station has forced the postponement of its launch by at least 40 days in another setback for the Soviet space program, a well placed source said Thursday. The module, the first of two additions to the space station of the 20-30 ton Mir, has been the source of concern within the space station program for more than a year. Delays in its delivery forced the Soviets to leave the Mir unmanned six months ago in the first interruption in more than two years of continuous occupancy of the space station.

Community will not take busing sitting down

DEC17UR, Ga. (UP) - Blacks and whites freed the offices of Georgia's largest school system Thursday with panic calls in response to a federal appeals court ruling that may require forced busing. The 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered the DeKalb County school system to consider redrawing district lines and to busing to achieve more racial integration. The order is expected to cause white doctored changes in the 73,000-student suburban school district east of Atlanta. The action does not involve the city school system. DeKalb County sends black and white children to schools in their neighborhoods.

Telephone survey reflects AIDS phobia persists

BOSTON (UPI) - Most Americans apparently think superstition, cooks denial hystericism and the schools should be barred if their jobs if they are infected with the AIDS virus, a survey released Thursday shows. The nation-wide telephone survey of 2,000 adults also found a significant portion of the believe notes, physicians, teachers and even police officers should be not allowed to work if they were infected with the virus. The findings apparently reflect continuing emotional fear of AIDS, said Barbara Gerbert, a researcher at the University of California-San Francisco who conducted the study.

Trial under way in I-57 death involving 11-pound brick

JOLIET (UPI) - A survivor Thursday described the impact of an 11-pound load of concrete that crushed through the windshield of his pickup truck, killing a companion, as prosecutors began their case against one of two men charged with murder. The victim, Charles Layitt, 57, Chicago, was nearly decapitated by the concrete and his face was crushed. Leon DeRouin, 19, is charged with murder. Two companions will be tried later. Prosecutors charge DeRouin, Kevin DeLorenzo, 20, and Matthew Taylor, 20, all of Steger, tossed the concrete from an Interstate 57 overpass at a prank.

Corrections & Clarifications

The doors open at 11 p.m. Saturday for the Saluki Midnight Shootout. This information was stated incorrectly in Thursday's Daily Egyptian.

Rosetta O'Neal was not a University student. Her interest in genealogy began at an early age, when the inquired about her mother who died when she was 17 months old. This information was incorrectly stated in the Wednesday edition of the Daily Egyptian.

Accuracy Desk

The Daily Egyptian has established an accuracy desk. If readers spot an error, they can call 536-3311, extension 233 or 229.
Teacher: no personal items during test

By Phil Pearson
Staff Writer

A visual inspection and a ban on any personal items other than a pencil in the classroom during a concern of some students in GEB 202, is standard procedure, Thomas O. Mitchell, associate professor of psychology and course instructor, said.

"It's just a standard thing," Mitchell said. "Do we nothing new to the academic world."

The concern stems from an announcement made Thursday afternoon in the Introduction to Psychology class by teaching assistant Carolyn Rowley.

John Stinebeck, a student visiting the lectures with Kristen Lague, freshman in business, said Rowley told the class there would be a "search" before the test later that night and no personal items were allowed.

Stinebeck said Rowley said anyone bringing personal items to class would be put in a different room for the duration of the test.

Rod Hughes, Undergraduate Student Government representative, said he would write legislation, to be voted on at the Oct. 25 meeting of the student senate, condemning the so-called search, if it happened before the test.

Rowley said she felt the word search was misinterpreted, because there was to be no physical searching.

Laguey said Rowley did explain there would be no physical search but didn't explain the purpose for the rules.

"We (the executive staff) don't want students bringing personal items to class," Rowley said.

Her explanation was that in the case of an emergency, where students would have to leave the room quickly, "like a tornado or something," it would be difficult to have anyone leave the class without the presence of the test.

She said the purpose of the action was to "protect the students," as it was not revealing the reasons for the rules to the class.

"I gave off the information of what the class needed to know," Rowley said.

Mitchell, who said he made the rules, explained further that, besides the reason Rowley gave, the purpose was to prevent any cheating in the class.

"The rules are the best way to ensure security of the test," Mitchell said.

"We have always been some 'twisted problems' with cheating in the past, but wouldn't elaborate.

Mitchell said students bringing personal belongings to class won't be punished, just put in a separate room for purposes of controlling possible cheating.

He said he feels it is totally within his rights to require the visual inspection and subsequent actions.

"I decided because I'm the instructor of the course..." Mitchell said. "We're... certainly not going to violate anyone's rights."

Hughes doesn't see it that way.

"I have serious doubts about the constitutionality of it," Hughes said. "If it's not a violation of the Fourth Amendment, it's close to it."

Hughes said some students may have to bring personal belongings with them, if they have no place to put them, and that is not fair.

Mitchell said he doesn't think the legislation Hughes is proposing would ever get enacted.

SIU campuses getting their share of aid

Chancellor Pettit said the SIU system as a whole received about $92 million in aid on Thursday. Nearly 43 percent of the SIU students receive financial aid from SIU don't have to pay it back. Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit said.

Figures from a report by the Illinois Board of Higher Education show that more than half the students who attend the four-campus system of SIU receive some type of financial aid and half of those students receive the aid with "no strings attached." Pettit said during the Board of Trustees meeting on Thursday.

Nearly 43 percent of the SIU students receive financial aid in the form of scholarships, grants and tuition waivers, the report said.

"If you give SIU in a place of opportunity through low tuition and through financial aid," Pettit said. "It became said before, we're (SIU) providing a Cadillac education for a Chevy price."

Pettit said he was pleased SIU was able to offer so much aid that did not have to be repaid.

"If one has a significant debt when he graduates, it can affect his future for some time to come," Pettit said.

Pettit said he was surprised to find that the SIU system as a whole received about $92.8 million in financial aid.

"I was pleasantly surprised to find the University was getting so much aid," he said. "I knew we were getting some amount of aid, but I had never seen it translated into a dollar amount," Pettit said.

The report figures show that SIU and the School of Medicine in Springfield distributed almost $74 million in federal, state, University and donor aid during the 1988-89 school year. More than 14,916 undergraduates and 4,487 graduate students benefited from the assistance.

The Edwardsville campus and the School of Dentistry in Alton gave $118.4 million to 4,622 undergraduates and 1,115 graduate students, the report said.

Federal aid allocations to all the SIU campuses amount to more than 25 percent of the total with state contributions accounting for 38 percent of the total and institutional and donor funds making up the rest.

Pettit said a newly completed dissertation by SIU-C graduate John Stephens, who received his doctorate from the College of Education, pointed out that needy students who received financial aid to finish their degrees generally finished at the same rate as those not receiving any aid.

THE FOOTBALL SALUKIS ARE HOME...

OCT. 14 - vs. ILLINOIS STATE, 1:00 PM (Parents' Day)
OCT. 21 - vs. S.W. MISSOURI STATE, 1:30 PM (Homecoming)
OCT. 28 - vs. KENTUCKY STATE, 1:30 PM (Beef Day)

Don't miss Seeing the Salukis In Their Effort To Challenge For Gateway Conference Honors.

For Ticket Information call 453-5319

The $10 Haircut You'll Love!

Hair Performers

The $10 Haircut You'll Love!
College seniors lack basics in education

TIME REVERSED, famous authors never penned a syllable, documents contradicted political theories and U.S. presidents were tossed into different administrations. All made possible by a few strokes on the pencils of seniors.

A recent survey by the Gallup Organization in conjunction with a National Endowment for the Humanities report revealed that college seniors do not know a whole lot about history or literature. The report by NEH called for a core curriculum in colleges that would teach students "basic landmarks of history and the liberal arts." Apparently, the achievement of learning the basics had been passed over somewhere along the way.

In the survey, students were asked 87 multiple choice questions dealing with history and literature. Fifty-five percent of those tested flunked the test, answering fewer than 60 percent of the questions correctly.

Even more horrifying, more than one-third of the questions were taken from a 1980-17-year-olds. And when only the questions that were correctly answered by the majority of 17-year-olds were college seniors, still few.

What it all came down to was that 69.6 percent of students at 67 colleges who participated in the test, 68 percent failed the literature section and 39 percent failed the history section.

Nearly one-fourth of the students unable to identify Franklin Roosevelt as the president during the depression. Students were unable to make dinner, like the president of the U.S. Constitution and "The Tempest." Eighty-three percent did not know that "Eliot" was written by William Shakespeare as the author of "The Tempest."

Based on the results from the testing of college seniors, it would seem that there should be some minimum requirement even before students become college seniors. The basics of students should be taught to students before they ever come near the doors of higher learning institutions.

Orderly to combat the problem on the college level would be to require all entering freshmen to take an entrance exam. But this could leave quite a few students out in the cold because they were not pushed to learn at their high schools and were allowed to squeak by to graduation.

The remedy has to be sought at the primary level where students can be taught the basics and work their way up with each progressive year. Testing at different levels should determine which student on to the next grad. And the testing should be conducted by a credible testing service, not the individual school.

Teaching methods should be reviewed to look at the potential but most of the seniors the "boring" classes, such as history or literature.

If the results of the tests do not make an impact, they should. It is the college students of today that are responsible for tomorrow's history.

Letters

How about some college-age bands instead of metal groups

I read with disgust the Daily Egyptian that L.A. Guns and guns. We all have been looked over by the SIUC-Campus. After all, what do they do? They dictate what entertainers who will appear in this area. They are able to dictate what students and older rock 'n' rollers like myself who wish to drive to St. Louis, Champagne or Chicago frequently to see alternative groups and classic rock artists! What does it take? I personally think we have been inundated with enough teeny-boppers and idolizing the Carbondale area is concerned not only of junior high and high school students. The success of last spring's REM concert and the Spring Hiocock concert attest to that. It is not with off campus, but bands, they have more than their share. There are a large number of people down whose musical needs are not being met. We are basically armed with metal, top 40 b.j. and country groups. After all, this is a college campus. How about some acts that appeal to college-aged people such as alternative, reggae or just plain ol' rock 'n' roll?" - Karen Clayton, Carbondale

"See? Like I say, it's a miscarriage of justice to slam the gates on little Jimmy."

"This guy Noriega. We been after his ass for years. Yes. One of the few heads of state who is also an accused drug dealer."

"Oh, but what if somebody you knew believed him and bought the clunker and then got mad because it didn't fly. And he complained to you. What would you tell him?"

"Well, I figure that anybody who thinks they can buy their way into heaven is about as dumb as anybody believing that a 79 Pontiac can fly. And if they get fenced, they got it coming. If getting to heaven worked that way, why would God do business with a couple of head cases like Jimmy and Tammy, when there are a lot of legit travel agents who'd take a smaller commission?"

"Is that where you're going?"

"But what else has happened?"

"It's our test of seniors and it is a reform school than to Yale."

"This guy Noriega. We been after his nut for years."

"Of course. Since he runs Panama, it's likely he is going to be involved in a decision mode."

"And while Bush and the Saudis are trying to get into the decision mode, the cools runs out of steam and gives up. Then Noriega shoots the poor goof who led the coo. Now, do you think the guys who smashed Hoffa and Spilotro went around to get a decision mode? The only decision made was what kind of car has a big enough trunk to stuff 'em in."

"There is no comparison. Anyone who sits around going 'Himmie' and 'Hummm' and 'Stahhh.' Like they did in the old days, is not in a decision mode."

"But we aren't getting off the snatch. But instead, Bush said his ivory lookers..."

"You mean Ily Leonas. Anyone who is sitting around going 'Himmie,' 'Hummm' and 'Stahhh.' Like they did in the old days, is not in a decision mode."

"And while Bush and the Saudis are trying to get into the decision mode, the cools runs out of steam and gives up. Then Noriega shoots the poor goof who led the coo. Now, do you think the guys who smashed Hoffa and Spilotro went around to get a decision mode? The only decision made was what kind of car has a big enough trunk to stuff 'em in."

"But: you can't compare our President to crime syndicate mob..."

"That's right. In this case, it's an insult to the crime syndicate. It's like that old saying goes."

"What old saying?"

"Never send a Yale wessie to do a mob's job."

"I never heard that before, and I doubt it's an old saying."

"But: I think that before his first term is over, it'll be one of the oldest sayings around."

Quotable Quotes

"Well, what actually happens will have to be what actually happens." — SIUC President John C. Gaynor, when asked about what he thought Halloween would be like this year.

"Just like the one Gorey gets on Father's Day. Be the first in your sector to own one. It's for Tom, Dick, or Yogi." — Kerry Casey, of Carmichael Lynch Advertising, on advertising headlines for American ties marketed in Soviet Union.
Kustra plays on Edwards's team for 1991

By Jackie Spinner
Staff Writer

"As lieutenant governor, I hope to spend much of my time working on the educational agenda of the state."

---Rob Kustra

See SIU-C Grads Make Politics Their Life, Page 6

Sen. Severns committed to her job

By Jackie Spinner
Staff Writer

Sen. Penny Severns, D-Decatur, has graduated from the University in 1974 with a degree in psychology.

Less than 20 years later, she has added much more than a bachelor's degree to her list of accomplishments. "SIU was a fantastic experience. It gave every student the opportunity to pursue their own interests," Severns said.

While attending the University, Severns said she spent much of her time working with the Democratic party.

She served as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1972 and worked as an intern in Sen. Paul Simon's office during her college years.

In 1987, Severns out 10-year incumbent, Sen. Martin Rountree in District 51. "His (Rountree's) problem was that he forgot where he began. He took the district for granted," Severns said. Rountree had served the 51st District since 1977 and was mayor of Decatur for 10 years before Severns obtained his seat.

"The lesson that too many candidates have learned is that hard work and determination make a difference," Severns said.

Severns said she knocked on doors and took a grass roots approach to winning the "well-liked, popular" Rountree.

As senator, Severns said most of her legislation has centered around job retention and job attraction.

Next year, she said, her focus will need to focus on the economy, education, the growing drug problem in Illinois and the abortion issue.

"When I was elected I didn't want to give anyone false hope that I had all the answers. But I think the women's movement does have someone who is committed to finding the answers," Severns said.

Being a female in predominantly male politics hasn't posed a greater challenge, she said.

"I look back on the day when female candidates didn't receive or lose votes because of their sex," she added.

The senator was considered as a candidate with Attorney General Neil Hartigan for lieutenant governor, a consideration she called "unprecedented."

For now, Severns said she is instead on being "the best darn senator in Illinois."

As for her future in Illinois politics, Severns said she will be running for re-election in 1993. After leaving the University in 1974, Severns said she worked in Washington, D.C. at the U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson's reelection campaign.

She worked in Washington's McAlpin Hill until "the money ran out."

From 1973-1976 she served as director of the U.S. House Tax Division in the Senate's Office of the Clerk.

In 1980, Severns ran her first campaign as a Democratic candidate for the 21st Congressional District and lost.

She served as an administrative assistant to the U.S. House Committee on Education and Labor.

See SEVERNS, Page 6

Daily Egyptian, October 13, 1989, Page 5

---
KIMMEL, from Page 1

much as she has,” Harris Rowe said. “She would have been here any time to show her support for education. Her record of service is remarkable.”

A. D. Van Meter, Board chairman, said Kimmel was a perfect Board member.

“She brought an extremely agile mind and sense of reasoning to education,” he said. “She could listen, observe and act.”

Kimmel served as the Board’s secretary from 1979 to 1989, and chaired the academic matters committee since 1984. She lived with her husband, Walter, in the Quad Cities area for more than 20 years.

“I will miss the dedicated people on the Board,” she said.

SIU-C Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit said a replacement for Kimmel had not been chosen.

She became national president in 1975.

ABORTION, from Page 1

She said if Bush vetoes the legislation, abortion could be an issue in the 1992 election.

The measure, which is a combined report from both the House and the Senate, is expected to come before the Senate next week.

Pam Huey, spokeswoman for Sen. Paul Simon, D-Makanda, said the senator supports the House action because he is in favor of Medicaid funding for abortion in cases of rape and incest.

“The senator believes the decision is between the woman and her doctor,” Huey said.

She added that Simon said to deny that right to an abortion through federal funding is to discriminate against poor women.

Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Belleville, could not be reached for comment.

BURRIS, from Page 5

spoke with school superintendents on the subject of education funding.

As comptroller, Burris maintains central accounting of the state's funds, informs citizens and public officials of the state's financial condition, issues state income tax refund checks and writes checKs to pay all state bills.

SEVERNS, from Page 5

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

October 8-14

The Daily Egyptian

PRODUCTION DEPARTMENT

The Daily Egyptian is proud to introduce you to our production staff...the people who typeset, layout, shoot & print the newspaper each day. Their goal is to provide you with the best reproduction possible. Thanks for a job well done!

Lisa Wilber & Danette Cook

Daily Egyptian

CALL 536-3311 FOR MORE INFORMATION
One of the goals of NORML, as defined by members at the beginning of this seminar, is to become a registered student organization. For NORML, losing its advisory means delays in becoming a registered student organization. Registered student organizations are recognized by the Undergraduate Student Government and are able to get funding from USG. Becoming a registered student organization would also allow NORML to rent University property and to use Student Center rooms for its meetings.

At the last USG meeting, President Tim Wflebrandt said NORML was not recognized by the University as a registered student organization, but may be coming to the Senate soon with the necessary papers.

Supreme Court The final version of the bill states, "Whoever knowingly mutilates, defaces, physically defiles, buries, mangles, incinerates, throws upon or ground, or tramples upon any flag of the United States shall be fined not more than one year, or both." In New York City, traveling with President Bush, spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said, "We will give the bill legal review when it goes to the White House. It obviously represents the president's general interest in protecting the flag. However, we continue to believe that only a constitutional amendment would provide adequate protection.

But an administration official, speaking anonymously, said the president is likely to allow the bill to become law without his signature because of constitutional concerns that it will not survive legal challenge.

Democratic leaders of the House and Senate, under pressure from the GOP, have agreed to schedule vote on the proposed constitutional amendment, but they are hoping backers of the amendment will not be able to muster the two-thirds vote needed to send it out to the states for ratification.

The Senate is scheduled to vote on the amendment Monday and the House will vote in November. Shortly before the House voted Thursday Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., acknowledged he was counting on the Senate to reject.

One arrest was made at the store. Police reported a vehicle parked at 2:35 a.m. and cleared the area. Two arrests were made at the fest. One was for unlawful use of a weapon, and one for obstruction of a peace officer.

The fest then moved to Evergreen Park, where it continued with music and speakers. "Potential faculty advisors may be weaned off that student's insurance charge," Goldsberry said. "Hopefully they'll see through it."
Holocaust course to educate students on historical causes

By Dale Walker
Staff Writer

The Wann-See conference decided the fate of millions of people in less than an hour. Do University students know whose fate was sealed? If not, maybe a half-semester course that begins Tuesday would be of interest.

A course on the Holocaust will hold students' interest and inform them about what, how, and why (it the holocaust) happened to make sure it doesn't happen again,” Rabbi Leonard S. Zoll, the course instructor, said.

The Holocaust, the eight-week course, is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursdays.

"The reason (the public) hears about the Holocaust is because we (the Jews) won't let it be forgotten," Zoll said. Otherwise the students in America probably wouldn't know much about it, because "American education is lousy," he said.

It's the students' fault, Zoll said. There are no set history requirements to enter college in Illinois and public schools are not teaching students enough history education, he said.

Zoll said there have been various instances in the 20th century where million people were executed but many people don't know about it.

"In the '30s the Russians killed something like 30 to 40 million people, more than 10 percent of the population in Russia and many students have never heard of that."

Genealogists featured at workshop

Three professional genealogists will be featured at a workshop held by the recently established Little Egypt Chapter of Afro-American Historical and Genealogical Society.

Jean Sam Scott, a founding member and former president of the AAHGS based in Washington, D.C., will give "Beginning an Afro-American Genealogical Pursuit," a handbook for researchers.

Scott also has written numerous genealogical articles for the journal of AAHGS and for other genealogical periodicals.

As a first speaker, Scott will discuss how to begin a genealogical search.

The second speaker, Coy Robbins, has been a researcher and writer about African American genealogy history for the past 13 years.

Robbins is the founder and president of the Indiana AAHGS, which was chartered as a statewide chapter of the national AAHGS last April.

Robbins will discuss research in Afro-American genealogy.

The final speaker, Mildred Pratt is a professor in the Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work at Illinois State University and has received several awards for her writings, including the 1989 Martin Luther King Human Relations award from the town of Normal.

As the final speaker, Pratt will discuss African-American history.

The workshop will also offer resource materials and information on the Little Egypt Chapter, which was installed into the national organization in April. Anyone is welcome to attend the workshop which will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday in the Lawson Library Auditorium.

"In the '30s the Russians killed something like 30 to 40 million people, more than 10 percent of the population in Russia and many students have never heard of that." —Rabbi Leonard S. Zoll leading up to and during the holocaust.

The students taking the course will have to interview 10 students and five instructors to find out how much they know about the Holocaust. Otherwise, the course will center around three texts.

The first part of the course will cover anti-Semitism, before and during the Holocaust. The part for the first part will be "Abandonment of the Jews," Zoll said.

The second part will center on what happened in Europe. Subjects like the Nazi plan to kill off all the Jews will be covered in this section.

The third part in accordance with the last text, "Like a Doctor," will study the doctors who did the actual killing, he said.

Zoll said he has taught the course every fall since 1985. The course was made possible by a grant from the Jewish Chautauqua Society, he said.

"The greatest grants (classes that have to do with Judaism) in a few hundred colleges around the country," he said.

In the summer of 1985, Zoll attended the Yad Vashem, a State of Israel-sponsored institute that specializes on the Holocaust.

Registration for the course is through the Department of Continuing Education. The Wann-See conference took place in 1941 in a Berlin suburb. It was there that "the Nazis decided to kill all the Jews they could, Zoll said.

"Genocide," a movie about the Holocaust, will be shown at 7 p.m. Thursday for the class at the Morris Library Auditorium, Zoll said.
A University researcher said he gets better results from placing nesting boxes for bluebirds on the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge.

"I never expected this to be as successful as soon," Daniel R. Roby, assistant professor at the Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory, said.

He said about 70 percent of the 150 boxes were occupied by breeding pairs of the bright blue birds with red breasts.

In March, Roby, two student workers and nine volunteers set up a trail of bluebird boxes on various parts of the refuge to provide nesting for the birds, Roby said.

The boxes occupied this year produced 575 fledging birds and a few of the females hatched three broods with an average of five eggs in each clutch.

"When given the right conditions, they can be very productive," Roby said.

Another assessment of the use of the boxes shows there is a problem with having five boxes in Southern Illinois, Roby said.

"There are a lot of bluebirds out there looking for a place to nest," Roby said. He said the purpose of the research was to study the effects of the parasitic blowfly, a larva, that Roby described as "pigeon-sized maggots," which suck the blood from the fledging birds.

The boxes occupied this year produced 575 fledging birds and a few of the bright blue birds with red breasts.

He said the English sparrow and the European starling, both imported to North America, are enemies of the bluebird because they bully their way into bluebird nesting areas, often killing the smaller bluebirds.

Roby said this was a real problem in western New York state, where he worked before he came to Southern Illinois two years ago. He said the blowfly is "very rare in Southern Illinois," probably because a blow-sized wasp native to Southern Illinois will kill the blowfly.

Smart said die-nesting opportunities for the birds increase the population, which once amounted to millions across America.

He said the FWS will maintain the boxes after Roby completes his research.

Roby said the purpose of research next year is to measure how energy affects bird reproduction. He said he plans to have 50 more boxes in the fall by then.

He said this research will be done by measuring the body fat of the females in the beginning of the mating season and weighing that data against the number of eggs laid, eggs hatched and fledging.

Roby said anyone interested in blueprints to build their own bluebird box should call the laboratory at 536-7766.
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney, in a strong pitch aimed at Capitol Hill, said Thursday potential budget cuts can put "Star Wars" deployment in serious doubt and cautioned that a defense budget veto is possible.

Cheney said the program has made tremendous strides but could stumble on budget problems.

The House has approved about $3.1 billion in 1990, with $3.8 billion of it for the Pentagon's share of the work and the rest for the Energy Department's part.

The Senate has put the figure at $4.5 billion, with $4.3 billion for the Pentagon. The administration asked for a total of $4.6 billion, and this year the Strategic Defense Initiative program is getting about $4.1 billion.

"There are many compelling reasons why we need SDI and there are no technical reasons why we could not have it," Cheney told the National Security Industrial Association.

"Nevertheless, Congress has put our hopes for deployment at serious doubt," said Cheney. "...Should the Congress produce legislation with inadequate funding levels for SDI, I will recommend to the president that he veto the bill."

The effort to create a defense against missiles and their warheads, he said, "could be the single most important military investment this generation could make to the future."

Cheney said the so-called brilliant pebbles concept has advanced rapidly. Eyed for use in a first phase system, it involves thousands of tiny rockets in space, each able to see, track and knock out a missile or warhead.

As an example of progress, he showed a 5-point infrared camera that a year ago could spot a missile thousands of miles away, and the half-pound model of today, able to do the same thing.

He said he was "very encouraged by the potential contribution" of the brilliant pebbles concept. "It is sound. We can build it. In short, it may well be a winner."

Cheney also urged the program's critics to quit deciding it as unable to provide a total defense.
Skateboards recognized, regulated

By Doug Powell

The Parking and Traffic Committee has recognized skateboarding as a legitimate mode of transportation on campus, but with recognition comes regulations on skateboard use.

Bob Harris, director of University Police, said he hopes the committee, which was approved by the Student Senate on Sept. 18, will slow skateboarding down on Campus.

"We can control the feel day by day have a need to use a skateboard to get to class," Harris said. "That's where we saw a need to have a policy."

"Hey, ride your skateboards, but use them just for transportation," he said. "Don't do tricks and all that stuff."

According to the committee, skateboarding, like all modes of transportation, requires regulations to protect the safety and well-being of the public.

The policy states skateboarding is allowed under the same restrictions as bicycles, but with the following additions:
- Skateboards are to be used strictly as transportation. No stunt or trick riding is allowed, including "wheelies," "handstands," jumping or any other trick activities.
- Skateboards are not allowed on public roads open to motor vehicle traffic. The act of attaching to a moving motor vehicle to "hitch a ride" is prohibited.
- Skateboarders must yield the right of way to all pedestrians and bicycle traffic.
- Skateboards are prohibited from use in all campus buildings, their entrances and wheelchair ramps leading to these buildings.

All areas marked "WALKING" also apply to carrying skateboards. In addition, skateboards must be carried on paths during heavy pedestrian traffic.

Harris said skateboards will be confiscated if a person is caught violating the new policy.

"We are going to send an incident report to the Office of Student Life and will keep the boards at least to the next day," Harris said.

"At this point there will be no tickets issued," he said. "But if we can't control the situation this way, then we'll probably end up with something in the regulations where we will write tickets."

But Harris said he sympathizes with skateboarders who complain that there is no place to ride on campus.

"I went to Mike Dunn, director of intramural recreational sports, and he was very receptive to the problem," Harris said.

"I'm not anti-skateboard," Dunn said. "I have a son who is a skateboarder."

Dunn said his budget doesn't provide for an area where skateboarders can ride without regulation, but could in the future if students indicate the need.

"Students must say this is what we want to have," he said.

Dunn said the only place he believes could be used for skateboardboarding is the one-eighth mile track on the east side of the Recreation Center.

He said the track might be reconceived because of its partial destruction during the addition to the Recreation Center, but was unsure of when a reconstruction could be started.

From January thru Oct. 11, University Police filed 19 reports involving skateboards, according to TheresaNezer, University Police statistical clerk.

Of those 19 incidents, 47 people were involved of which 31 were students.

Apartments back in Dunn's control

Suza Sen, Ralph Dunn, R.-Du Quesne, is back in the apartment business.

Dunn has regained control of the nine-building complex at 250 S. Lewis Lane that he and his brothers, James and Marion, built in the 1970s and operated until 1980.

The complex was sold on a contract for deed and then resold to Walnut Square Limited, a firm from Nashville, Tenn., Dunn said. Walnut Square defiantly offered Dunn his payments and Dunn took the complex Aug. 15.

Since selling the complex nine years ago, the quality of the complex had declined, Dunn said. The senator has spent about $100,000 to renovate the complex. The renovation project included a new roof on some of the buildings; rescaling the drive and reconstructing parts of the drive; painting the apartment units; replacing air conditioning, light fixtures and window boxes; and installing new carpeting.

Dunn said there is a definite need for housing at SIU-C and that students had always been welcome at the apartments.

---

CHEESE LOVER’S PLUS

Deep double layers of three cheeses. Plus your choice of any two toppings.

Cheese Lover’s Plus® is piled high with two extra-thick layers of Monterey Jack, Cheddar and Mozzarella cheeses. Plus, loads of your two favorite toppings.

Get one medium Cheese Lover's Plus® for only 8.99. Better yet get a second for just 4.00 more!

CHEESE LOVER'S PLUS

Deep double layers of three cheeses. Plus your choice of any two toppings.

Cheese Lover’s Plus® is piled high with two extra-thick layers of Monterey Jack, Cheddar and Mozzarella cheeses. Plus, loads of your two favorite toppings.

Get one medium Cheese Lover's Plus® for only 8.99. Better yet get a second for just 4.00 more!

---

How Peace Can Replace War

VIDEO PRESENTATION OF “Promise of World Peace”

International Peace Conference Highlights-Discussion Follows

Sponsored By The BAHAI’ FAITH!

BOSS’ DAY

MONDAY, OCTOBER 16th!

SO YOU'RE UNDERPAID! SO YOU HATE YOUR JOB! SO YOU WOULD LIKE TO TELL YOUR WONDERFUL BOSS TO TAKE A FLYING LEAP!

Well here's your chance to get that subtle message across or that nice message to that wonderful, understanding, and caring person that you know and love, that's, THE BOSS. Put that special message on one of our delicious cakes, made to your specifications.

---

Female Smokers Wanted

for a study of the psychological and physiological effects of cigarette smoking.

We Will Pay $140 for 5 morning sessions.

Must be 21 years old, 115-145 lbs.

Call SIU-C Psych. Dept. 536-2301

---

CHEESE LOVER’S PLUS

Deep double layers of three cheeses. Plus your choice of any two toppings.

Cheese Lover’s Plus® is piled high with two extra-thick layers of Monterey Jack, Cheddar and Mozzarella cheeses. Plus, loads of your two favorite toppings.

Get one medium Cheese Lover's Plus® for only 8.99. Better yet get a second for just 4.00 more!

ZIP IN ZIP OUT!

Eat fast at last! And eat hearty too! Visit Zips for the world’s greatest 99¢ burger, crispy fries, terrific chili and Coke®.

Zips. Ya gotta love it!

709 S. ILLINOIS
Township Fire Department to offer open house

By Douglas Powell
Staff Writer

Carbondale Township Fire Department will host a Fire Prevention Week open house at the Township Fire Station, on East Park Street, Saturday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Brian McGuire, firefighter and coordinator of fire prevention week, said all township residents are invited to stop in and tour the fire station and ask questions they may have about fire protection.

The Carbondale Township Fire Department covers the Carbondale Township area except any area within the city limits.

"We deal mostly with students," McGuire said. "About 95 percent of the trouble we are located in the Township, and a lot of students have to do with that." McGuire added that a leading cause in mobile homes fires is a heat tape that is found around pipes to keep them from freezing in the winter.

"It's similar to an electric blanket, but only it's a tape with coils," he said. "What happens is people who aren't familiar with living in a mobile home don't check if the tape shorts out and will cause a fire."

The tape shouldn't be hard or brittle, he said. "The best thing to do is to replace the tape every year."

Other problems in mobile homes are furnaces and hot water heaters which also need to be checked, McGuire said.

"Just the other day we responded to a call at Carbondale Mobile Home Park for a furnace fire, and if it had not been caught right away, that mobile home would have burned to the ground," he said.

He said, residents must be alert and shouldn't be afraid to call the fire department.

"We're there to serve the public," he said. "If someone's smoke detector is going off and their not sure why, they should call us." McGuire said mobile homes, and most homes in general, are lacking dry chemical fire extinguishers which can be purchased on sale for $10.

"The fire extinguisher doesn't replace the Township Fire Department, of course," he said. "Another problem the department has with students is students will arrive home or wake up from sleep and find their trailer on fire," he said.

---

Runners raise money for Women's Center

By Sean Hamming
Staff Writer

The River to River Runners are raising money for the Women's Center, which needs to raise $33,000 this year, in a race.

The Saturday morning race at Ewing Park is for women of all ages. It will include a running and walking co-education.

The Saturday morning event will raise funds through registration fees and donations. The Women's Center will add the money to their efforts to raise the $33,000.

The race is part of the center's goal to raise $33,000 this year for aiding women in distress.

"It's very important to us because our major fundraiser in Springfield expects us to raise funds," said Susan Cranress, executive director of the Women's Center.

The $33,000 is for the center has to raise in the last few years, Cranress said.

---

Giant City Convenience
Lotto & 2nd Chance Lotto
Groceries & Gas

7up 2l.....................99¢
Ham Salad Sandwich 99¢
Smoked Ham...........$3.25/lb.

Giant City Rd. (Near Wildwood Trailer Ct.) 487-0221

The Women's Center
529-2324 or 997-2277
Available 24 Hours
free & confidential

The Rape Action Committee
Myth: Most sexual assaults are committed by strangers.

Fact: 65% of sexual assaults are committed by an acquaintance. 54% by dates.

There is Help:
Women's Center
408 West Freeman
Carbondale

---

Parents' Day Craft Sale
October 14th
10 a.m.-5 p.m.
South Hallway of the Student Center.

---

Henry Cho
Stand-Up Comedian
As Seen on the Pat Sajak Show

Friday, October 13
8-10 p.m.
Student Center Ballroom D
Admission - $3.00 students
$4.00 public

Tickets are available at Student Center Ticket Office.
For more information call SPC at 536-393.

Sponsored by SPC Expressive Arts.

---

Sexy legs mean United Way cash
By Phil Pearson
Staff Writer

Five dollars can win you filthy, with a nice pair of legs. Mobilization of Volunteer Effort and the Leadership Center is sponsoring a bead Sexy Legs Contest at 10:30 p.m. Thursday to raise funds for the Giundbde United Way Campaign gutter under way this month, Paul Adakulu, assistant to the Leadership Center, said.

---

Every Saturday Through Thanksgiving Rain or Shine! Come Early to get the Best Selection!
Westown Mall - West of Murdale

8-12 noon Saturdays

---

Henry Cho
Stand-Up Comedian
As Seen on the Pat Sajak Show

Friday, October 13
8-10 p.m.
Student Center Ballroom D
Admission - $3.00 students
$4.00 public

Tickets are available at Student Center Ticket Office.
For more information call SPC at 536-393.

Sponsored by SPC Expressive Arts.
FRIENDS OF Traditional Music J. Dance will sponsor a Halloween square- and contra-dance Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Elks Club Ballroom, 220 W. Jackson. Admission is $3 and is open to the public. Each dance is taught by the caller.

REPUBLIC OF China Student Association will have a movie at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Student Center Auditorium in celebration of R.O.C. National Day. All R.O.C. members and friends are invited.

MARKETING RESEARCH Department of the American Marketing Association will hold a meeting Sunday at 7 p.m. in front of the AMA office.

VETERANS DON'T forget the club tailgate before the football game tomorrow. We will be having guests from the Marion VA Hospital as well as any parents who are in town for the weekend, call 549-5037 or 457-8757.

AMERICAN MARKETING Association will be kicking off its First Annual Parents Weekend with a general meeting tonight at 7 in Lawson 131. All members are urged to bring their parents. A reception will follow.

SOCIETY OF Physics Students will have a meeting today at 3 p.m. in the Physics Lounge. All interested are invited to attend. Call 3-7132 for information.

AFRICAN STUDENT Association will hold a meeting Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Student Center, Illinois Room.

EUROPEAN STUDENT Association will meet at 7 tonight in the Student Center, Missouri Room.

MEGA-LIFE CHRISTIAN Fellowship will meet tonight at 7 in the Baptist Student Center Auditorium.

LEARNING RESOURCES Service Workshop, "Planning and Delivering Lectures" (section 2), is at 10 a.m. today in LRS Conference Room 15, Morris Library. Inquiries should call 453-2255.

FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT Association will be selling the AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge Game from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. today at the east entrance of RUO. The games will be sold throughout the entire month.

CINEMA AND Photography in conjunction with Women's Safety Week will be displaying an exhibit titled "Assaults" in Hall Gallery of the Communications Building. An opening will be held today from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

APPLICATIONS MUST be received by the Psychological Corporation for the November 18 Veterinary Aptitude Test (VXT) by October 20. For further information and registration materials contact Testing Services, Woody Hall B204 or phone 536-3303.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS Audubon Society will be having a bird roast sale Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Murdale Shopping Center. For more information call DARR 575-5371.

FELLOWSHIP BOARD meeting, 9 p.m. in the Board Room.

CARBONDALE LIONS Club will have its semi-annual "Pancake Days" Saturday and Sunday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Carbondale Convention Center site. If you can eat pancakes, sausage, coffee, and milk for $3 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

FOOD AND Nutrition Council will be holding a meeting Monday at 2 p.m. in Quigley by the Food and Nutrition office. New members are welcome to attend.

ALPHA PHI Omega will have a mandatory meeting Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Student Center, River Room.

CARBONDALE TOWNSHIP Fire Department will host a Fire Prevention Week Open House at the Carbondale Township Fire Station Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. All township residents are invited to tour the fire station and ask questions. Refreshments will be served and safety information packets will be passed out to all who attend.

REPRESENTATIVE FROM Garrett-Evangelical-Theological College will be available Monday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Faner 333. Contact Karen Knoff at 549-7877 for more information or to make an appointment.

Gil Dickens, a CAPTAIN in the Illinois National Guard, will be giving his views on the war in Iraq. Dickens is a member of the American Legion and is a returning veteran from Iraq. He will be speaking at 7 p.m. in the Student Center Auditorium.

THE AMERICAN LEGION is sponsoring a Blood Drive from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Murphy Center.

1. First Annual Parents Weekend will be held Thursday, October 22, to Saturday, October 24. All students are invited to celebrate with their parents. There will be a parents-only meeting attended by students at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Student Center and a parents-only meeting attended by students at 10 a.m. Friday in the Student Center.

2. Free Shuff and Repair at Micro-Mart! Join us for Leather Jacket Alterations, Cuts, and Dyeing. We also offer a Free Cleaning and Shine Service. Visit us Tuesday to Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We are located at 816 E. Main, Carbondale, IL 62913.
Essay contest winner claims single mother of 5 inspired her

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer
and University News Service

A single mother who inspired her five children to become successful will be honored for her success in raising those children at the Parent’s Day celebration Saturday.

Marjerie Robbins, 46, of Chicago, will be crowned Parent of the Day in a ceremony during the halftime of the Saluki football game at McAndrew Stadium. The honor stems from the winning entry in the University’s annual Parent’s Day essay contest. It was written by Robbins’ daughter, Cheryl, who is a senior in political science.

Robbins’ work day ended at about 9:30 p.m., she would come home and fix dinner for the following day and do other household chores.

But on Friday nights, “she’d call and tell us to be ready to go when she got home,” Cheryl said. She would arrive with soda and snacks and the family would spend the night riding around the city in the car.

“We had lots of fun, particularly at Christmas when we’d go see the Christmas decorations and ice sculptures in downtown Chicago,” Robbins said.

Though money was a problem, Robbins insisted that her children develop good manners and social graces. “She wanted us to know how to eat in a restaurant,” Cheryl said.

Robbins would take her kids out to dinner at Walgreen’s and split the check between the two of them. “Of course they didn’t get full, so I’d have to fix them something more to eat when we got home, she said. “But they learned to read a menu and to wait for a hostess to seat them.”

Not only was Robbins a stickler for proper etiquette, she also was a parent who knew how to make use of quality time. “I never had a full day off, but when I had a 1½-day, we’d drive out to the forest preserv and we’d have a ball,” Cheryl said those were wonderful days.

“A lot of kids who see their parents a lot don’t feel close to them. But I always felt close to my mother. She always made time for us,” she said.

Because of her mother’s emphasis on study and accomplishment, “all of us have been on the honor roll,” Cheryl said. “But my mom’s smart too. So it’s in our genes, I guess.” Cheryl said she was considering entering law school.

Cheryl’s oldest brother, Lewis Williams, 27, is an SIU-C graduate and works in Houston; Victor, 25, is a second-year medical student at Tuskegee Institute; Carmen, 23, is a social worker who graduated in May and is living at home; and Darryl, 20, is a sophomore in engineering at SIU-C.

In addition to raising her own five children, Robbins took in a 16-year-old boy whose mother died. She sent him to college too. “Mother ‘instilled in her children the motivation to become successful . . . and to shoot for high goals,” Cheryl wrote. “I think she’s so special,” she said.

By the—

LOOKING BRIGHT

Remember Underage Drinking Is Not Permitted By Law

For More Information on Alcohol or Drugs
Call or Stop By The Wellness Center 536-4441 Kesnar Hall
Stafford loans cut due to federal plan

By Chris Walka
Staff Writer

Recipients of Stafford Loans will have their checks reduced by 5.5 percent as a result of a federal sequestration order issued by President Bush.

The order, a response to Congressional failure to pass deficit reduction legislation, is part of mandatory cuts implemented by the Graham-Rudman Act.

The Graham-Rudman Act, passed in 1985, is a federal deficit reduction plan.

According to Robert J. Clement, director of public information at the Illinois Student Assistance Commission, the charge is placed on the loans to offset costs of processing.

Congress has until Oct. 16 to pass the legislation. After that date, the decrease will be permanent.

Pamela Britton, director of financial aid at SIU-C, said lenders may delay issuing the checks to change their records. Some of the checks issued on Oct. 1 had to be sent back so the additional 5.5 percent could be added.

The financial aid office received notification of the decision on Sept. 29.

Currently, the financial aid office has processed 6,000 of the loans, Britton said.

The Stafford Loan, (formerly the Guaranteed Student Loan), is a federal program. The student, while still in school, has no interest charged on the loan from his lending institution. When the student is no longer in school, 8 percent interest rate is charged on the loan, with the government paying the remainder of the current rate.

Nationally known comedian to kick off Parents Weekend

By Carrie Pomeroy
Entertainment Editor

Nationally known comedian Henry Cho will kick off Parents’ Weekend tonight with a performance described as "side-splitting, home-spun material."

Cho, who has appeared on the Pat Sajak Show and the Showtime Comedy Club Network, bases his act on memories of growing up as the son of Korean immigrants in Knoxville, Tenn., Anita Santiago, special events chair for the Student Programming Council, said.

"It’s really down-home stuff. It’s not gross or crude, it’s just fun," Santiago said.

Santiago said Cho concentrates more on everyday experiences with which anyone can identify than on cultural differences between Koreans and Americans. But she said he does "take advantage of the fact that he has an accent," using it as a comic effect.

Santiago said Cho is one of the most requested acts on the national comedy club circuit.

He will appear tonight from 8 to 10 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom D. Admission is $3 for students with valid I.D., and $4 for the general public.

The American Tap
The Only Saluki Sports Bar
Welcome Parents
- Lite
65¢ Drafts
95¢ Absolute & Mixer
Rockin’ Tommy B. D.J. Show
4:30 - 8:30
“Oldies But Goodies”

Saturday
Hot legs contest - $50 Cash
65¢ Drafts
95¢ Tangueray & Tonic
Catch World Series
Action Here!

Sunday
Catch World Series
Action Here
10 foot screen
Free Popcorn
$1.75 Pitchers

The order, a response to Congressional failure to pass deficit reduction legislation, is part of mandatory cuts implemented by the Graham-Rudman Act.

The Graham-Rudman Act, passed in 1985, is a federal deficit reduction plan.

According to Robert J. Clement, director of public information at the Illinois Student Assistance Commission, the charge is placed on the loans to offset costs of processing.

Congress has until Oct. 16 to pass the legislation. After that date, the decrease will be permanent.

Pamela Britton, director of financial aid at SIU-C, said lenders may delay issuing the checks to change their records. Some of the checks issued on Oct. 1 had to be sent back so the additional 5.5 percent could be added.

The financial aid office received notification of the decision on Sept. 29.

Currently, the financial aid office has processed 6,000 of the loans, Britton said.

The Stafford Loan, (formerly the Guaranteed Student Loan), is a federal program. The student, while still in school, has no interest charged on the loan from his lending institution. When the student is no longer in school, 8 percent interest rate is charged on the loan, with the government paying the remainder of the current rate.

Nationally known comedian to kick off Parents Weekend

By Carrie Pomeroy
Entertainment Editor

Nationally known comedian Henry Cho will kick off Parents’ Weekend tonight with an act described as "side-splitting, home-spun material."

Cho, who has appeared on the Pat Sajak Show and the Showtime Comedy Club Network, bases his act on memories of growing up as the son of Korean immigrants in Knoxville, Tenn., Anita Santiago, special events chair for the Student Programming Council, said.

"It’s really down-home stuff. It’s not gross or crude, it’s just fun," Santiago said.

Santiago said Cho concentrates more on everyday experiences with which anyone can identify than on cultural differences between Koreans and Americans. But she said he does "take advantage of the fact that he has an accent," using it as a comic effect.

Santiago said Cho is one of the most requested acts on the national comedy club circuit.

He will appear tonight from 8 to 10 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom D. Admission is $3 for students with valid I.D., and $4 for the general public.

The American Tap
The Only Saluki Sports Bar
Welcome Parents
- Lite
65¢ Drafts
95¢ Absolute & Mixer
Rockin’ Tommy B. D.J. Show
4:30 - 8:30
“Oldies But Goodies”

Sunday
Catch World Series
Action Here
10 foot screen
Free Popcorn
$1.75 Pitchers
Quick humor of comedian entertained

By Doug Toole
Staff Writer

Joe Mariotti's performance at the Comedy Cellar Wednesday night was a high point of the night.

Naturally, anything that offered a break from studying for the final in Psych mid term would be well received, but Mariotti had the best style of all. The comedians the Big Muddy has had so far.

He opened his act with a few baseball jokes and then talked about Catholic grade schools, naming pet dogs, humor stops in malls that are "no appointment necessary" and performing in Wichita, Kansas.

A Review

He next turned to stripper bars. He complained that while strippers mingle with the crowd and kids that are a bit of a back, while female strippers always look disinterested.

He also said those bars are overpriced, selling stories about $15 beers and change for a $5 bill costing $7.50.

Talking about dating, Mariotti attacked single's dance bars that have dress codes, weird light shows and smoke machines. He said the only thing worse than dancing to Tiffany is getting drat dusted while dancing to Tiffany.

Mariotti knew the Carbondale area well, having performed at Joe's and Neo-Coo's and having come to Halloween one year dressed as a prophylactic. He gave his impression of what a Parent's Day tour of Carbondale would be like, showing his parents the dumpsters he had thrown up in and which bars are best for picking up women.

College football games were another topic of his. He sympathized with having a losing football team, and pointed out that guys like taking a date to the games because women can smuggle booze into the game in their purses (thanks for letting us secret out, jerk).

Mariotti's humor was fast and furious. He talked about restaurant that open 24 hours, saying the food tastes so bad because all their business comes in at 2 a.m. and can't taste the food anyway. So long as the food looks like the picture in the menu, the customers are happy.

There are two ways to golf, he said. You either practice and get better or you get drunk and have a good time on the course. He noted that lawns are illegal but AK-47s are still available to the public. He talked about working out at health clubs on machines you need a pilot's license to operate and pointed out the stupidity of new "talking" weights (like "talking" cars) that let weightlifters be heckled by scrap iron.

Of all the comedians featured at the Comedy Cellar this year, Mariotti had the best overall style. Like Robin Williams, Mariotti had a lightning-fast delivery with jokes that were set up, not just one-liners. He also had a good vocal range, imitating different talking styles like sorority girls, surfers, farmers and students who don't have their hines in their jaws.

Mariotti also noted that he took a guitar and played some American music styles, from country to R&B. He's a fan of Bruce Springsteen's rock. He ended the show by informing the crowd that Mick Jagger has a college degree in physical education, and imitated how Jagger would sound as a high school gym teacher.

Mariotti was so good the heckler left him alone.

We have SIU
Stamps Needlepoint
Canvas and Kits!

The Needle Art Store
Inside and upstairs
at
Carter's Custom Framing
& Art Gallery
Corner of Main & Oakland
Carbondale • 9-5 Mon-Sat

Students Get Instant Cash for All Fall Clothing.
Students Stop in Today.
Buy • Sell • Trade

Press here for a great
data processing career.
Republicans say Democratic capital gains plan won’t do

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate opened at least two days of debate Thursday on a key deficit reduction bill after Republicans rejected a Democratic proposal to consider or a separate bill the capital gains tax cut sought by President Bush.

A top administration official said it was only “remotely possible” that Republican would even offer a capital gains tax cut amendment to the Senate bill if procedural obstacles imposed by Democratic opponents could not be skinned.

Senate Democratic leader George Mitchell of Maine said he proposed a plan under which a separate revenue bill, considered by the Senate on a specific date, would become the battleground over capital gains and a Democratic alternative to restore partial tax deductions for individual retirement accounts.

But after meeting with Republican senators to discuss the Democratic plan, Bush’s budget director, Richard Darman, pronounced it unacceptable because “there’s nothing that ensures you that it will come to the president or that the House will even take it up.”

Although the $10.9 billion House-passed deficit reduction bill contains a two-year capital gains cut, the $14.1 billion measure before the Senate for at least 20 hours of debate does not, and capital gains supporters face an uphill fight to add it to the measure.

The Senate bill contains a plan to restore 50 percent tax deductions for contributions to IRAs.

The Senate was expected to work late Thursday and Friday, and possibly over the weekend, to finish the bill and send it to a House-Senate conference committee to iron out differences.

Darman said it is possible Republican supporters of a capital gains cut will not offer their amendment unless they can get a vote on the merits of the cut, requiring only a 51-vote victory margin in the 100-member chamber.

But before the capital gains amendment could be considered on its merits — where it would likely pass despite opposition by Senate Democratic leaders — it must garner 60 votes to overcome a procedu-
East German officials believe hard-line leader will retire

BERLIN (UPI) — Key communist party officials voiced increasingly bold calls for reforms in East Germany Thursday that appeared to signal a growing isolation of hard-line leaders.

The apparent rift within the party's ruling Politburo that has surfaced following a massive exodus of refugees to the West and large-scale anti-communist demonstrations led to speculation that the 77-year-old leadership may soon retire.

Hoegner's repeated rejection of Soviet-style reforms contrasted sharply with demands for change, expressed first by mushrooming pro-democracy movements and later taken up by senior officials of the Socialist Unity Party of Germany, the official name for the East German communists party.

"It is part of the essence of socialism that it is inseparable from reform processes and the further development of social life," the party's chief theoretician, Otto Reinhold, said in an article published Thursday in East Berlin's Berliner Zeitung newspaper.

"Nothing would be more harmful than signs of stagnation in one area or the other," he said.

But Reinhold, the rector of the Academy of Social Sciences and a senior member of the party's Central Committee, said what East Germany needs is "not reforms for the sake of reforms, but changes which will serve the further development of socialism."

The statement was the latest in a series of increasingly bold appeals by party officials for changes in the current policies that have been a hallmark of the East German state.

The marked shift away from outright condemnation of pro-democracy movements fueled speculation in both East and West Germany that Hoenecker may soon give up the leadership of the country.

Political analysts in Bonn believe Hoenecker might call elections if he does retire, following a recent poll blader operation.

Colombian drug figure requests peace pact

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Pablo Escobar Gaviria, reputed kingpin of the infamous Medellin drug cartel, publicly called for a truce in Colombia's increasingly violent war Thursday and offered to negotiate a peace pact.

The offer came as national RCN radio said cartel-funded hit squads continued their terror reign, gunning down two government drug agents in the town of Cali and exploding another bomb in Medellin.

The explosion blew out windows in about 20 offices and homes in the area. It appears the bomb went off by accident when it fell out of a taxi.

Police said the two murdered agents had escaped previous attempts on their lives. A police report quoted by RCN said the agents had been on an intelligence mission were gunned down on a street by two assassins on a motorcycle.

In an open letter to a Bogota newspaper, Escobar said he was a card-carrying member of the Communist Party of Colombia, who had been an editor of a Marxist magazine, and asked for a direct dialogue to seek peace.

The letters addressed to Juan Pastrana Arango, director of the newspaper La Prensa, asked the publisher to help set up a dialogue. It was signed by Escobar and carried a print of a red index finger. Police could not immediately confirm that the print was Escobar's. Copies of the letter were sent to other news media.

Pastrana Arango said he refused the role of mediator because he doesn't have "the confidence, approximation or contact" with the trafficker.

Escobar, 39, said in the letter: "We seek peace through direct dialogue. In the same way that war is declared, peace can also be declared."

"We publicly ask the participation of the government and the public and legal guarantees for the participants in a direct dialogue to seek peace."

The letter also asked the government to end enforcement of the 1982 law which allowed judges to impose prison sentences over the next two weeks.

Mandela's wife, Winnie, Thursday visited one of the eight, Wilton Mkwayi, 65, a former member of the ANC military wing, to discuss arrangements for his release.

"The release is really not out of the government's humanitarianism," she said. "They will come out under the same conditions they went against."
Picasso's $50 million work to be auctioned next month

PARIS (UPI) - It's bold, blue and totally Picasso.

And when the painting "Noces de Pierrot" is auctioned next month, it may spark one of the most expensive bidding wars in art history, dealers say.

"It's worth at least [$50 million], but could be for more," said one dealer. "It's not a blue period, but a blue and black period." Lauded as the painting's "nymph," said Paula Ruiz Picasso, the painting is scheduled to be auctioned on Nov. 30.

If the predictions hold true, the painting will be the most expensive ever auctioned off in France, and perhaps in the entire world.

The most money ever bid for a painting was $30 million, which was purchased at a London auction in 1986.

16th-century theater found near London

LONDON (UPI) - The Shakespeare Globe Trust, which is rebuilding William Shakespeare's Globe Theater near its original site, said Thursday archaeologists may have found part of the 16th-century theater beneath a parking lot.

Harry PLC and the Museum of London said they were almost certain excavators have found a part of the Globe, dating from 1599, along with a large number of building shells, a popular mark in Elizabethan times.

If more of the theater in the way many of William Shakespeare's plays first were performed is found, the design of the reconstructions could be different, said Tho Crosby, a Globe project architect.

GETTING FIT FOR TOURS

This gentle aerobic workout includes mini lectures on fitness and weight control as well as relaxation exercises. Exercises are specifically designed for those who are 40 pounds or more overweight or who have found even beginning aerobics programs too strenuous. Join other participants at your fitness level for this fun and energizing group.

Meets 7 consecutive weeks

Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays

Beginns October 15, 6 - 6 p.m.

Rec. Center

Co-sponsored by Instrumental Recreational Sports

Eric Rager, New Rock Reporter, in charge of the Metro News, London, England, said: "The painting features six characters - a rich groom, his bride, a clown and three vagabond, darkened figures. Art experts say it is an autobiographical work by Pablo Picasso, the famous Spanish artist and sculptor who lived from 1881 to 1973."

According to one interpretation by author and Picasso expert Josep Palau i Fabre, the clown in the painting is Picasso himself, embittered by the knowledge that the bride, who represents all women, has married a man of wealth and power. The clown is shown bent over, blowing a kiss to the bride to the irritation of the groom. Picasso is believed to have been inspired by the 1899 Catalan play, "The Happiness Which Passes," in which a clown toasts in contempt the few coins that unappreciative village folk have dropped at his feet.

The Picasso painting will be auctioned off Nov. 30, 1989.

Eric Rager, New Rock Reporter, in charge of the Metro News, London, England, said: "The painting features six characters - a rich groom, his bride, a clown and three vagabond, darkened figures. Art experts say it is an autobiographical work by Pablo Picasso, the famous Spanish artist and sculptor who lived from 1881 to 1973."

According to one interpretation by author and Picasso expert Josep Palau i Fabre, the clown in the painting is Picasso himself, embittered by the knowledge that the bride, who represents all women, has married a man of wealth and power. The clown is shown bent over, blowing a kiss to the bride to the irritation of the groom. Picasso is believed to have been inspired by the 1899 Catalan play, "The Happiness Which Passes," in which a clown toasts in contempt the few coins that unappreciative village folk have dropped at his feet.

The Picasso painting will be auctioned off Nov. 30, 1989.

Eric Rager, New Rock Reporter, in charge of the Metro News, London, England, said: "The painting features six characters - a rich groom, his bride, a clown and three vagabond, darkened figures. Art experts say it is an autobiographical work by Pablo Picasso, the famous Spanish artist and sculptor who lived from 1881 to 1973."

According to one interpretation by author and Picasso expert Josep Palau i Fabre, the clown in the painting is Picasso himself, embittered by the knowledge that the bride, who represents all women, has married a man of wealth and power. The clown is shown bent over, blowing a kiss to the bride to the irritation of the groom. Picasso is believed to have been inspired by the 1899 Catalan play, "The Happiness Which Passes," in which a clown toasts in contempt the few coins that unappreciative village folk have dropped at his feet.

The Picasso painting will be auctioned off Nov. 30, 1989.

Eric Rager, New Rock Reporter, in charge of the Metro News, London, England, said: "The painting features six characters - a rich groom, his bride, a clown and three vagabond, darkened figures. Art experts say it is an autobiographical work by Pablo Picasso, the famous Spanish artist and sculptor who lived from 1881 to 1973."

According to one interpretation by author and Picasso expert Josep Palau i Fabre, the clown in the painting is Picasso himself, embittered by the knowledge that the bride, who represents all women, has married a man of wealth and power. The clown is shown bent over, blowing a kiss to the bride to the irritation of the groom. Picasso is believed to have been inspired by the 1899 Catalan play, "The Happiness Which Passes," in which a clown toasts in contempt the few coins that unappreciative village folk have dropped at his feet.

The Picasso painting will be auctioned off Nov. 30, 1989.
1978 LINCOLN TOWNCAR 48,000 miles. Call 549-4353.

NEW LOW PRICES!!

1977 CHEVY/CHEVY TRUCK 460,000 miles. Call 549-4353.

65 CHEVY/PONTIAC 2 DOOR 46,000 miles. Call 549-4353.

CARBONDALE REAL ESTATE

1038 NEW MOON Mobile Home

12 X 40 2 ROOMS, good cond., new floors, hot, cold, electric, new kitchen and bath. Close to campus. Call 549-4353.

PERKINS 7352

122 S. First St.

Carbondale, Ill.

PETS & SUPPLIES

1 ARC LAB, yellow, spayed, very pretty, 1 yr. old. $35.00. Call 549-4222.

1975 NEW MOON Mobile Home

13 X 40 3 ROOMS, good cond., new floor, hot, cold, electric, new kitchen and bath. Close to campus. Call 549-4353.

CRASH 12 X 40 2 ROOMS, good cond., new floor, hot, cold, electric, new kitchen and bath. Close to campus. Call 549-4353.

MULTI-TRACK CLEANERS new, Sunny Pontiac. Find phone, min. cash. 12" track, 534-0707.

Halloween P.T.A. novel Lessons, Young Readers, 1st-3rd grade. 622-8840.

1975 NEW MOON Mobile Home

$150.00.

Best. Located on the Giant City Road, 20 miles north of Carbondale.

Best price.

Gf

500.00.

Located on the Giant City Road, 20 miles north of Carbondale.

Best price.

1975 NEW MOON Mobile Home

$200.00.

Located on the Giant City Road, 20 miles north of Carbondale.

Best price.

Gf

500.00.

Located on the Giant City Road, 20 miles north of Carbondale.

Best price.
NEWS STAFF POSITIONS AVAILABLE - MUST HAVE ACT ON FILE

APPLICANTS ARE BEING accepted for Daily Egyptian news staff positions for Spring 1990 term. An underdetermined number of jobs will be open for students ready to accept the challenge of working for one of the county's largest campus newspapers.

Deadline to submit an application Oct. 23.

Application forms must be picked up at the managing editor’s office Room 1247 H.

Applicants are required to take grammar and writing tests, will be assigned when applications are returned.

Applicants do not have to be journalism majors.

---

STUDENT WORK POSITION AVAILABLE - MUST HAVE ACT ON FILE

APPLICANTS ARE BEING accepted for Student Editor of the Daily Egyptian for the spring 1990 semester. Application forms are available in the managing editor’s office Room 1247 H in the DE newsroom.

Deadline for applications: 5pm Oct. 23.

Requirements: 3.0 GPA in your major, 2.5 overall, a semester of experience on the DE staff, and full-time enrollment.

Applicants do not have to be journalism majors.

The Daily Egyptian Policy and Review Board will interview candidates at a time and place to be announced.
NEWSPAPER INDUSTRY PLANS TO COMBAT LOST READERSHIP

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI) — The nation's newspaper industry, already plagued by plunging advertising and lost readership, will face even greater challenges in the next decade as it tries to return to prosperity, a group of publishers said Thursday.

"I feel economic growth, which is already difficult to predict, will become even more difficult to predict and the changes in business cycles will have far greater impact on our industry," said John R. DiMatteo, president of Gaylord Publishing Co., Portland, Maine.

Newspapers need to become more competitive to maintain both readers and advertisers as they head into the 1990s, DiMatteo said during a panel discussion at the New England Newspaper Association's fall convention.

"The major issue is readership. We simply cannot accept the downward trend of the last generation," DiMatteo said.

Thomson Newspapers Corp. President Michael W. Johnson said the Toronto-based newspaper group has begun publishing weekly supplements targeted for specific groups of readers in an effort to boost circulation.

"In some areas, we're starting weeklies for senior citizens, in other areas we're focusing on agriculture," Johnson said. "Each newspaper must be tailored to the market it serves."

Johnson said he believed the greatest threat to newspapers came from other print sources.

"The real problem today is the niche market, the little publications taking a small market share," he said. "The total of all of the small shares is now staggering."

"What growth there is will be primarily among blacks and Hispanics, traditionally not high readership groups," he said.

Of particular concern, he said, is a projected 14 percent population decline among the 18-24 age group.

In Pursuit Of Global Understanding
International Student Council
Presents
INTERNATIONAL FAIR '89

TODAY
10AM - 2PM
INTERNATIONAL LOUNGE, STUDENT CENTER
For More Information Call 453-3497 Or Stop By The ISC Office, 2nd Floor, Student Center
NEED TO ADVERTISE?
The Answer's In Black and White!

Daily Egyptian
536-3311

CHECKERS NIGHT CLUB

Friday
Friday the 13th Party
Dare your parents to sit in the chair.
Have them visit the doctor!
free admission for parents all weekend.

Heineken Pitchers $3.00
Coors Extra Gold btls. 75¢

Saturday Night
WCIL's D.J. Stevie J.
Dance Party

Today's Puzzle

ACROSS
1. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
2. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
3. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
4. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
5. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
6. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
7. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
8. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
9. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
10. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
11. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
12. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
13. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
14. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
15. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
16. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
17. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
18. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
19. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
20. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
21. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
22. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
23. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
24. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
25. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
26. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
27. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
28. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
29. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
30. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
31. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
32. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
33. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
34. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
35. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
36. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
37. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
38. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
39. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
40. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
41. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
42. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
43. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
44. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
45. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
46. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
47. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
48. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
49. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
50. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
51. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
52. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
53. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
54. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
55. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)

DOWN
1. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
2. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
3. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
4. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
5. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
6. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
7. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
8. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
9. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
10. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
11. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
12. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
13. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
14. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
15. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
16. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
17. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
18. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
19. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
20. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
21. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
22. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
23. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
24. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
25. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
26. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
27. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
28. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
29. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
30. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
31. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
32. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
33. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
34. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
35. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
36. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
37. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
38. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
39. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
40. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
41. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
42. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
43. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
44. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
45. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
46. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
47. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
48. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
49. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
50. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
51. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
52. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
53. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
54. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)
55. It can't be a cat or a dog (5)

Puzzle answers are on Page 24
Fans will be selected at random to play a "hot and cold" game. The fans will be blindfolded and given 30 seconds to find prizes on the court by listening to the crowd.

- 11:30 p.m. — Dash for Cash.
- $1.00 for Cash.

FLY, from Page 28

teams will do against them. "We first need to learn how to block, tackle and play fundamental football," Heacock said.

The Redbirds have lost 16 straight Gateway Conference games dating back to 1986. ISU last won in the conference when they beat Indiana State 38-28 in '86.

The Salukis, 1-5, are likely to be without starting linebacker Kevin Kilgallon who injured an ankle against Northern Illinois last Saturday. Freshman running back Yosel Jourdain also injured an ankle and is doubtful.

One advantage Smith hopes to have over the Redbirds is playing at home. "I hope we have a big crowd. It could be the difference in the ball game," he said.

Puzzle answers

---

Do You Care About People?
Do You Care About Health?

BECOME A
HEALTH ADVOCATE

- Receive quality training from health professionals
- Receive valuable practical work experience
- Receive course credit for service to others

For more information or an application, call the Wellness Center, 530-4444 – or stop by – Room 112

The team will warm up the crowd with a dunking exhibition followed by a short scrimmage.

Puzzle answers

---

Page 24, Daily Egyptian, October 13, 1989
DALLAS (UPI) — The Dallas Cowboys, all but abandoning the idea of a split training camp to build for the future, Thursday traded star running back Herschel Walker to the Minnesota Vikings for five players and as many as seven draft choices.

The Minnesota players sent to Dallas were line backers Jesse Solomon and Darrin Nelson, cornerback Issiac Holt, running back Darrin Nelson and rookie defensive end Alex Schrewes. "We traded a severable one more link with the Cowboys' tradition, which during this tumultuous year has been disrupted by a new administration," a source said.

"One agent told me this was the biggest trade in the history of the NFL," Johnson said. "An owner told me it was the Great Train Robbery." The Minnesota players, none a star, join a Cowboys team that has lost all five of its games under Johnson.

"For Dallas, I think they have five potential starters," Vikings General Manager Mike Lynn said. "Certainly they have four who can come in right away and help this young football team win some games this year."

"We, on the other hand, are interested in winning our central division, in getting to the Super Bowl and in winning the Super Bowl. The last ingredient, the last piece of the puzzle, the last spike in the wheel was a running back — not just a running back, a marquee running back." Nelson was irate over the way the trade was handled.

"We were just supposed to concentrate on how to play Green Bay and, hell, half the team is gone," he said. "I'm not sure if I'm going down there or not. I'm giving up quite a lot to go. We gave up an awful lot of people, especially on defense. I think we gave up too much."

The Cowboys also will receive one first-round draft choice for certain (to be used within the next three years) and six other conditional picks over the next three years — two first-round choices, three in the second round and one in the third.

"The decision to use these picks and when to use them is unilateral," Jones said. "It is our decision only. The conditions have nothing to do with how long or how well Herschel plays for Minnesota. It does not involve us giving up any members of the Cowboys."

When Jones was asked whether the conditions might involve returning some of the Minnesota players to obscurity or even trade, he said, "I am not going to discuss that."

What the Cowboys may have done then is pull off the first land­scape trade in NFL history.

Women’s Safety Week

October 15-20, 1989

Schedule of Events

- Oct 15 Lasagna Dinner 6-8pm, 1st Presbyterian Church (Elm & University). Tickets available at door: $3.50 adults, $2.00 children. Several area Churches will include the topic of violence against women in their sermons.
- Oct 16 "The Progress of Women into Male Occu­pations", Barbara Reskin: professor of Sociology at U of I. 2:00-3:30pm, Morris Library Auditorium.
- Oct 17 Self-defense for Women, 5-30-7-30, Intramural-Recreational Sports Center. First class of five-week workshop; call Women’s Services to register. 453-3659
- Oct 18 Perspectives of Violence Against Women; Panel Discussion; includes a showing of the video "Relearning Rape". 7:00-9:00pm, SIU Student Center, Room TBA.
- Oct 20 TAKE BACK THE NIGHT B-T-A-Y. 7:00-9:00pm, Evergreen Park. Speakers, music, performances. Transportation from dorms & Student Center to Evergreen Park provided by the night safety van, 6:30-9:00pm.

Look for tables at the Student Center 10-6am; 2:00pm, 10-11-12/30. T-shirts, buttons, information: week-long exhibits and displays at Student Center, Morris Library.

Sponsored by Women’s, Services, Women’s Studies, and Women’s Center.

Rape Action Workshop

SIU Expression Arts

---

Cinnamon Sam’s

University Mall, O’Fallon, IL

"Better Than Homemade!!"

Buy One Delicious Cinnamon Sam’s Gourmet cinnamon roll at regular price and receive a second roll absolutely FREE!!

Regularity 99c

Come in and find out why we say we’re the best and find out why the Moose says they’re the best too! Offer expires 10-23-89

---

Guazzoli’s

Holloway’s

THERE’S NO PLACE LIKE GUAZZOLI’S

Bring in your Parents To Share the Largest Selection of Customized S.I.U. and Greek Apparel. Guazzoli’s Celebrates Saluki Style. Come Visit Us!

---

Daily Egyptian, October 13, 1989, Page 85
New Orleans next stop for DeNoon's runners

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

The SIU-C women's cross country team will be part of a 13-team field Saturday in the Pelican Cup held at New Orleans.

SIU-C coach Don DeNoon said he will take his top seven runners Saturday. This group includes freshman Lecaz Conway, who has been named the Gateway Conference Player of the Week for two consecutive weeks. Conway finished fourth in the Indiana State Invitational last week in a time of 18:10.

Other runners making the trip to New Orleans will be junior Rachel Vinson, sophomore Amie Padgett, junior Dona Griffin, freshman Dawn Barefoot, senior Cathy Brown and freshman Leslie Types.

Conway, Padgett, Vincent and Griffin are ranked in the top 15 of the Gateway Conference.

DeNoon expects the Salukis to give the conference a run for its money.

The Salukis will compete in the Gateway Conference meet at New Orleans. DeNoon said, "I'm sure we'll be able to hold our own, but there are some tough teams that we'll have to face."

Bradley has never beaten a team from Eastern Illinois in a freshman game match.

"Bradley is a good team that comes from all sides and they are pretty good defensively. A lot of things don't hit the floor," Hagemeyer said.

DeNoon said his team can't afford to look ahead. "I tell my team to focus on each game, and we're going to take five games, and if it happens quicker than that, that's all the better. There is nobody in the conference we can take lightly," he said.

Last year Bradley finished fifth in the conference and 22-15 overall. Hagemeyer said her team finished second in conference on playing Western Friday before thinking about the Saturday match with the Lady Braves.

Bradley has never beaten Southern in the eight meetings of the two teams. Coach Hagemeyer said Bradley has a good defense. "Bradley is a team that comes at you from all sides and they are pretty good defensively. A lot of things don't hit the floor. I don't think they are as strong as Western," Hagemeyer said.

Saturday afternoon at Davies Gymnasium. The Lady Braves opened their conference schedule with a loss to Eastern Illinois in a freshman game match.

Even though Bradley seems to be off to a sluggish season, Saluki volleyball coach Paul Hagemeyer said that her team can't afford to overlook anyone. "If I tell my team to focus on each game it is going to take five games. If it happens quicker than that, that's all the better. There is nobody in the conference we can take lightly," she said.

Last year Bradley finished fifth in the conference and 22-15 overall. Hagemeyer said her team will have to concentrate on playing Western Friday before thinking about the Saturday match with the Lady Braves.

Bradley has never beaten Southern in the eight meetings of the two teams. Coach Hagemeyer said Bradley has a good defense. "Bradley is a team that comes at you from all sides and they are pretty good defensively. A lot of things don't hit the floor. I don't think they are as strong as Western," Hagemeyer said.

Football ticket holders can use their stubs from the Illinois State game on Saturday to gain free admission to the Saluki volleyball match against Bradley.
Netter coach confident for Gateway matches

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

SU-C women’s tennis coach Judy Auld is optimistic about her team’s chances in the Gateway Invitational today and Saturday in St. Louis.

“I think we have several players that have a chance of winning their flight,” Auld said. “This is the one we gear up for.”

The Invitational will be divided into seven singles flights along with three doubles flights. The Salukis ended the dual match season with a 7-3 record. But there will not be any team scores kept today and Saturday.

“It is strictly individual so there won’t be as much pressure to get points for the team,” Auld said. “You just go out on one with the players in your flight. The players aren’t seeded so there’s a possibility of the two best players playing each other in the early round. But the way I look at it is if you’re the best player in your flight, you’re going to have to beat those players sooner or later.”

Auld said she will go with the same lineup. Beth Boardman will compete in the No. 1 singles flight. Boardman is 5-5 this fall and has a career record of 93-41.

Michele Jeffrey will compete in the No. 2 flight. Jeffrey is 11-3 this fall and holds a 65-27 record.

Freshman Wendy Varnum is 11-3 in the 3 position. Lori Edwards will compete in the No. 4 flight this weekend. Edwards is 11-3 this fall and has a career mark of 29-22.

Michelle Toye is the Salukis’ hottest player. Toye has an 11-2 fall record and she’s won nine consecutive matches. Toye has a career record of 46-20.

Nancy Mullins will compete in the No. 6 flight position. Mullins is 4-7 and Auld said she is getting better. Katie Ivyne will play No. 7 flight, Auld said.

“We have some players with really impressive records this fall,” Auld said. “Beth is 9-5 and that is good in the No. 1 spot. Jeffrey, Varnum, Edwards and Toye are all either 11-2 or 11-3.”

In doubles competition, Boardman and Edwards will compete in the No. 1 flight position. They are 5-7 this fall, Varnum and Toye are 9-3 this fall and have been a consistent team for Auld. Jeffrey and Mullins are 4-3 this fall.

“I think Drake and Wichita have a lot of depth,” Auld said. “Southwestern Missouri and Illinois State have some good players throughout their lineups also.”

WINS, from Page 28

Boardman’s positive attitude appears to carry over into the classroom. She is a Foreign Language and International Trade major and maintains a 3.80 overall grade point average. She is a two-time recipient of the Gateway Conference President’s Academic Excellence Award. She earned national honors last spring as a member of the Volleyball Scholar Athletes Team.

“I think athletics and academics compliment each other because you’re not as alert as when you are thinking,” Boardman said. “I just budget my time and do the best I can.”

Boardman and her doubles partner, Lori Edwards, are 5-7 this fall and 15-19 overall. Doubles have been tough for the Salukis, Boardman said.

“We’ve been struggling with doubles,” Boardman said. “It’s tough after you put all that effort into singles play and have to come back for a doubles match. You just have to be mentally tough.”

Boardman’s goals are pretty simple.

“I just want to help the team, win most of my matches and have a good time in the process,” Boardman said.

---

Libra II

For The Ultimate In Women's Fashions

Sterling Silver Sale

33 1/3% off

Entire collection of earrings, pins, bracelets, necklaces.

Best selection in the area.

Sale is Fri. Oct. 6th-Sat. Oct. 14th

On Sale for the first time.

Non-Sat 10:00-6:00 pm or by appointment

101 S. Washington
Carbondale 529-3030

---

Knitters

MINI WORKSHOP: Sat. Oct. 14, 1989 1:00-2:00 pm
Double Knitting

PROJECT: Sachett Top
BRING: 2 color off yard

Appropriate Needles

CALL: 549-6013 FOR INFO.

Kaleidoscope

209 S. Illinois

---

Times Square Liquors

Located By The Entrance To Country Fair

1700 West Main • Carbondale

Case 52 12 oz. Can

Josa Cuervo Gold Tequila……. 750 ml
Stolichnaya Vodka……. 750 ml
Old Smugger Scotch……. 750 ml

Glen- Ellen White Zinfandel

33 1/3% off

Excluding White Zinfandel

$7.99

$8.99

$5.29

$2.59

WE SELL PREMIUM BRANDS FOR LESS!

CASE DISCOUNTS ON LIQUOR & WINE

Store Hours:
Mon.-Thurs. 9 A.M. to 11 P.M. Fri. & Sat. 9 A.M. to 1 A.M. Sun. 1 P.M. to 10 P.M.

Phone 549-6631

Good Thru 10/17/89

Times Square Liquors

Located Next To Country Fair

COUPON

SavE UP TO $65.00

Steam Engine, Compound, Buff & Dry, Shoemaker Carpent. Upholstery (only for authentic). Dooms, Dashboard, Console & Trim.

Extended one week due to customer demand

529-3814 expires 10-17-89

---

Creative CRISTAUDOS

Bakery & Restaurant

SANDWICHES

Salads

Pastries

Murdale Shopping Center

On the West Side of Town

---

---

---
Sports

Redbirds fly in for gridiron landing

Salukis begin three-game homestand

By Daniel Wallenberg
Staff Writer

The football Salukis and the Illinois State University Redbirds each have managed one victory thus far this season, but both coaches are leery of the others' record. Both teams take the field at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at McAndrew Stadium. The Salukis begin a three-game homestand while the Redbirds finish up their fourth straight on the road.

The Redbirds, 1-4, have not beaten the Salukis at McAndrew since 1972. Gerry Hart, the Saluki defensive coordinator, was then the head coach at ISU.

Head coach Bob Smith said ISU appears stronger than its record indicates. "They have a chance to be dangerous," Smith said. "They have some freshmen and sophomores just getting started.

Jim Herrin, Redbird head coach, said his team has many returners this season but he expects that of a young team.

"We're not playing very well," Herrin said. "We're trying to get to a point were we can simply execute. "We are going to simplify our offense to a few plays and concentrate on a couple basic defenses," Herrin said. "We are stronger right now.

"I wish we were struggling like Southern," Herrin joked.

Stopping Saluki quarterback Scott Gabbert was not a concern of Herrin.

Gabbert rewrote the Saluki single-game passing records in his last two games, setting records for total yards (650), completions (41) and touchdowns (31-1), career) Illinois State, Jim Herrin (1-4, 2nd Year, 3-14, career).

Records: Southern Illinois (1-4, overall, 1-1 conference), below to New Orleans-Reno, 41-2, lost to Western Illinois, 14-7; beat Eastern Kentucky, 25-7; beat Murray State, 24-11; lost to Arkansas State, 29-25; lost to Northern Illinois, 25-24, Illinois State (1-4, overall, 2-2 conference), lost to Western Kentucky, 17-12; beat Central State, 10-8; lost to Austin University, 26-16; lost to Eastern Illinois 14-13; lost to Bradley University.

From the Press Box

Stephanie Wood

The team's overall record is 1-5, but it is putting passes on the board. In its last six games, the team has scored 47 points under the direction of its second-string quarterback. Starting quarterback Fred Gibson went down with a knee injury in the Murray State game Sept. 23. In the first four games of the season, the team was an average of slightly more than 10 points per game.

No one can underestimate the importance of scoring points, but it is more to score points than a pass completion from Gabbert to leading receiver Wesley Smith.

The team has cut down its number of penalties. Penalties have cost the Salukis in critical situations. In its last game, against Northern Illinois, the team had five penalties for 25 yards. In their first game, the same number of penalties was penalized nine times for 77 yards.

The Salukis are coming together and starting to play more like a team. Gabbert said that is a reflection on Smith. He said a strong running game at Southern Illinois would be a part of a bigger effort. He has a big interest in the University of Illinois. He has brought that competitive spirit to Carbondale, the Salukis can see in the team's new-found enthusiasm.

More victories are on the horizon. The Salukis have faced two ranked Division I-A teams and Division I-A Northern Illinois. A struggling Illinois State is the Salukis next opponent followed by No. 4 Southwest Missouri State.

A Tennessean player on pace for 100 wins

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

The pressure of being the top player on a smaller team can be intimidating. But it isn't a problem for SIU-C No. 1 player Beth Boardman.

"I like playing in the No. 1 position because I get to play the best players on the team," Boardman said. "I've always put pressure on myself to do well." Boardman found this to be true in the Gateway Invitational this weekend. She finished second in the 400 yard sprints in the Fall in No. 1 position. This isn't easy to do, SIU-C coach Judy Auld said.

"If you're playing .500 or better in that No. 1 position you're holding the team together," Boardman said.

Boardman looks to be a lock to become the first female track and field student-athlete to win the Big Ten female's tennis player to win 100 career matches. She is fifth on the all-time win list with 93. Maureen Harvey is the only SIU-C female's tennis player to win the Big Ten regular season. Currently, Boardman is tied for the most wins in the season.

"I really liked cool Auld, the academics and the people here," Boardman said. "The attitude is laidback and everyone gets along on and off the court." Boardman's stellar freshman year laid a foundation to future success. She qualified for the NCAA Outdoor 1777 playing in the No. 2 singles position her sophomore season. Last year was a bittersweet year for Boardman. Playing in the No. 1 position, sheFinder a 1-13 singles record overall but missed the Gateway Conference tourney with an ankle injury.

"That was frustrating because the conference season was so good," Boardman said. "It made me tougher and more enthusiastic about the sport.

Coming back strong this season, Boardman thinks this year could be the best.

"We have a young and enthusiastic team," Boardman said. "I liked to see us win conference in the spring."

See WINS, Page 27

Midnight Shoot-out to give fans 1st glimpse

By Kevin Simpson
Staff Writer

It's almost showroom in Southern Illinois.

The Saluki basketball team and coaching staff will take the floor for the first time Oct. 15 at 12:01 a.m. for the Midnight Shoot-out.

Coach Rich Herrin said the event is designed to showcase the talent the coaching staff has assembled at SIUC.

"It's a little piece of what our team has to offer for the upcoming season," Herrin said. "We have lots of interested fans in the area. This will be a great chance for them to get an early look at the Saluki men's basketball program.

"The people in Southern Illinois are very appreciative of their sports teams and basketball program," Herrin said. "They're very knowledgeable about the game. They like to see a lot of hustle and a winning program."

Although he has yet to do any coaching this season, Herrin stated a little of his coaching mantra.

"Defense puts people in the Arena. Defense wins ball games," Herrin said. "We'll have a little of both this season." "Everyone's ready to go," Mahan said. I'm the first out for the freshmen, so they'll find out how it is to be the starter," Senor Freddie McSwain, the leading returning scorer from a team that was long forward to a good turn out. 11:00 p.m. - Doors open, admission is free. 11:15 p.m. - Blind Crawl. See GLUMSE, Page 24

Tennis player on pace for 100 wins