Area schools react to education bill

Borderline students may be in trouble under the new academic requirements signed into law by Gov. James R. Thompson Tuesday on the lawn of Old Main Mall, according to area high school guidance counselors.

Murphysboro, Herrin, Carbondale and Marion counselors said the course requirements, which go into effect in 1993, will make college-bound students better prepared, if the students start planning for college their freshman year.

However, high school students who decide to attend a four year college program during their junior or senior years could be in trouble.

"There is no question that these requirements are going to affect middle-of-the-road students," said Murphysboro High School guidance director Marie Evans, and Herrin High School guidance director Arthi LeCt said state colleges and universities will be requiring incoming freshmen, three years of social studies, math and science and two years of foreign language, music, art or vocational education.

Patrick Barker, vocational counselor at Marion High School, said she has been against the new requirements since their adoption by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

"College is not going to find many students who meet these requirements," Barker said.

"No students who will not be able to pass the three-year math requirements. I'm sure, neither college counselors will not have the opportunity to fulfill the minimum requirements and for双赢managed students admitted to special assistance programs."

The governor's suggested changes to the requirements would provide more flexible admission requirements for students who did not have the opportunity to fulfill the minimum requirements and for double-managed students admitted to special assistance programs.

Graduation rates released by IBHE

By Tim Crosby
Staff Writer

A report released by the Illinois Board of Higher Education showed that 54 percent of the Illinois freshmen class at SIU-C had graduated by the end of the first year of study — a slightly higher percentage than the average of the 10 universities surveyed.

Of the 26,705 students enrolled at first-time freshmen in 1980 at the universities, 54 percent were on to graduate at one of those universities.

The average graduation for the 10 public universities included was 46.3 percent.

The universities included were the University of Illinois at Chicago, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Eastern Illinois University, University of Illinois at Chicago, Northern Illinois University, Western Illinois University, Illinois State University, Southern Illinois University, SIU-C, SIU-E.

of the 10 universities, SIU-C ranks fifth in the number of total students graduated from the freshman class of 1980.

The University of Illinois was first, graduating 78 percent and Chicago State University last, graduating 19 percent of that class in the designated time frame.

The graduation percentages include those students known to have transferred and graduated at one of the other 10 public universities.

The report also noted that only those students who transferred to another one of the 10 uni-

Construction on a new roof for the Arena is ahead of schedule and going well, the University’s Architect said.

"We should have it done by the end of next month, maybe sooner," Allen Haiske said.

Construction began Aug. 23 on the roof, which Haiske described as a "big white inner tube-looking thing."

"We’re just going with the same type of roof as before. If we can keep the bird droppings and the smokestack away from it (the roof), it should be looking pretty good," he said.

The construction phase of the project culminates a semester’s worth of work for the board, David Grobe, director of facility planning, said.

"We’ve been trying to get the roof replaced. It (the present roof) is the original roof, dating back to 1962. It was just in an advance state of decomposition. We were up there patching cracks after every rainstorm," he said.

The SIU Board of Trustees had given it’s approval in the spring of 1989 to a plan to replace the roofing material on the domes because of "serious deterioration," Harris Rowe, chairman of the board, said.

Three firms had submitted bids for the project, Grobe said before the contract was awarded.

The contractor had an estimated price tag of $200,000, but the Manning Roofing Company of Mayfield, Ky., said the job could be completed for $199,306.

However, this was not the lowest bid offered to the University, Grobe said.

"There was one other offer which was substantially lower than the Manning Company’s," he said. "However, they were disqualified because their product did not meet certain quality specifications. The materials were not up to par."

A report released from the board showed with Grobe stating the "low bidder has been disqualified of Santa Barbara, Calif. Vicki Walker, SIU-HS guidance director, said she is in favor of the new requirements, she added that it will be a "shame" for students who do not want to attend college because they will be caught trying to take the necessary courses at the last minute.

Walker said she is happy the new requirements of an education option so students with an academic emphasis can still take it.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — Police arrested 174 women, including the wife of Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu and an American tourist, during a protest march in Cape Town on Wednesday as anti-apartheid activists pursued their civil disobedience efforts.

Eighteen other demonstrators were arrested in process elsewhere in the city, police said. The three children were reported injured in police gunfire in a mixed-race Cape township and an activist on hunger strike was hospitalized suffering internal bleeding.

With parliamentary elections that exclude the 28-million black majority a week away, the women demonstrators attempted to march through downtown after a church service to deliver a message to the British Embassy protesting recent deportations of prominent activists.

Police estimated the crowd at 200 to 300, but organizers said later only 174 people were arrested when they ignored orders to disperse in the streets, linked arms and began singing protest songs.

Among those arrested was American tourist Kathy Cook, 38, of Brookfield, Wis., who was jailed for several hours and fingered

Cook said she was watching the protest and had not attended the church service when police arrested her. "I was there tonight and I’m very proud."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal officials and wildlife experts Wednesday announced plans to spit the world’s only captive flock of endangered whooping cranes to diminish the possibility of losing all 54 birds to a single epidemic or disaster. "It’s just putting your eggs in two baskets," said David Thonger, an education specialist with the International Crane Foundation. "We’re talking about a whole species here." In November, 22 of the 54 birds — one of America’s most endangered indigenous species — will be moved from Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Laurel, Md., to a breeding center at the International Crane Foundation’s headquarters in Baraboo, Wis.

Soviets to enter Alaskan marathon sled race

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — The Soviet Union has accepted an invitation to enter the 1,150-mile Anchorage-to- Nome Iditarod Sled Dog Race and plans to send competitors to Alaska this fall to train, race officials said Wednesday. The Iditarod Trail Committee is also promoting another race to the Soviets — one that would send sled dog teams racing across the U.S.-Soviet Bering Strait Border. The proposed Soviet-Alaska Sled Dog Race would be run in March 1991, beginning in Nome, Alaska across the frozen Bering Strait, finishing in the Soviet coastal town of Angary.

Belushi biographical movie unsettling, unusual

By Doug Toole
Staff Writer

Every now and then, when a movie is over and the lights come up, you stay in your seat for a minute while trying to decide if the movie was extremely powerful and innovative, a real flop, or just very, very weird.

"Wired" is that sort of movie. Michael Chiklis stars as John Belushi, the comedic genius of the original "Saturday Night Live" cast and half a dozen movies, who died as a result of a drug overdose on March 5, 1982.

T. J. Walsh plays Bob Woodward, the journalist who investigates Belushi’s death and writes his biography. Believe it or not, Woodward plays a more important role in the film than Belushi’s best friend Dan Aykroyd, played by Gary Grooms.

The movie attempts to show Belushi’s life and some of the reasons he had the drug habits. Unfortunately, the story is told three ways: Belushi wandering around a ghost, being led by his cab-driving guardian angel who takes him to various points in his past, Woodward interviewing the people who knew Belushi (comedy with flashbacks), and Belushi’s story from Belushi’s past that appear without being announced to anyone.

In addition to this choppy narrative, the film also switches from comedy to seriousness too quickly.

In one scene, Aykroyd is telling Woodward that he believes Belushi died because of his three-pack-a-day cigarette habit. In the back- ground, Belushi’s ghost floats through the ceiling and lands on the floor, brushing himself off and coughing amid the failing wreckage of the ceiling.

D. B. Sweeney is a comic and so some laughs are expected, but only genuine laughs come from Chiklis redressing old "Saturday Night Live" routines or scenes from Belushi’s movies.

The attempts at humor done within the Belushi character are a poor joke for the audience. Belushi telling his doctor about the extent of his drug habit in a matter-of-fact voice was almost too frightening to be funny, and having Belushi experience his own autopsy while his guard-ian angel watches and cracks jokes is just poor taste.

The film does have its moments, though. Belushi encounters his acting teacher telling him "comedy
SIU-C's $3.35 wage needs to be raised

THREE OF THE six state universities in Illinois have increased the minimum wage at their institutions. SIU-C was one of those six universities.

Student workers at Eastern Illinois University, as of July 1, had their wages increased from $3.35 per hour to $3.85. Northern Illinois University and the University of Illinois both went from $3.35 per hour to $3.75 in mid-August.

Barbara Sullivan, work-study coordinator and employment adviser at EIU, said that there hadn't been a raise in nine years. Sullivan added that SIU-C campus jobs. NIU, which employs about 3,500 students, gave a 40 cent raise to everyone including those who already made more than $3.35.

These three universities have realized the problem, and instead of waiting for another bill to go through federal channels, they have taken it upon themselves to give student workers a raise.

Representatives and the Senate have tried to raise the minimum wage on a national level. Both bills were similar and would have increased the wage from $3.35 per hour to $4.25 over three years, and that with his veto power, and the House failed to override it.

The president also had a proposal to raise the wage. He suggested an increase to $4.25, coupled with a six-month subminimum "training wage" for newly hired workers, regardless of previous work experience. His proposal was not acceptable to the Congress.

So how was it, it's 1989, and minimum wage is still $3.35 an hour. There has not been a raise since 1981, at least not a raise in wages. There has, however, been a raise in tuition, room and board, and the cost of living. You name it, except for the price of cigarettes, and that was in the past eight years. So why hasn't there been an increase in the minimum wage? It's the same old story. There just isn't enough money to go around.

A TAX increase was passed this summer by the Illinois General Assembly, giving $363 million in new money to the school districts. Unfortunately, the increase is temporary. The money will most likely be used to take care of on-going debts that the schools face. However, perhaps using some of that money to give student workers a small monetary reward. We realize that the money situation is tight, but we would like to see a little help for the students that have put up for the program has increased by 5 percent.

Some concerns that accompany the raising of the minimum wage include the number of layoffs that may occur, another hike in the tuition to help offset the raise or a decrease in hours that the students will be able to work. These are serious consequences.

Currently, the government funds 75 percent of the college work-study program with the University funding the remaining 25 percent. The amount the University has to put up for the program has increased by 5 percent since last year. The students who are on work-study are one of the groups that will be hit, but considering that SIU-C employs about 5,854 students, it should show just how important these students are, and keeping them happy should be on the top of some administrators list.

His lawyer, Justin Hardcastle, said Hofmeyr was held in "effec­tive solitary confinement" for almost six months last year and that an application had been made to the Minister of Justice to relieve him of the threats that were unlawful.

Price authorities have refused to let Hofmeyr, who has a chronic bronchial condition, use a sleeping bag and are holding him in a dairy pigsty, Hardcastle said.

Police arrested eight people in the town of Kimberley on charges of illegally displaying placards and eight blacks were arrested in the capital of Pretoria for trying to board a train.

Two white women were arrested for buying tickets for the blacks and were charged with incitement to commit an offense.

Black, non-Hispanic students who began their education at SIU-C went on to graduate with a 31 percent success rate—about 5.5 percent higher than the average.

About 44 percent of Hispanic stu­dents starting at SIU-C graduated within the eight years following their enrolment, the fourth highest of the universities.

NOTICE FROM THE FINANCIAL AID OFFICE
ALL UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS MUST COMPLY WITH THE FOLLOWING SATISFACTORY PROGRESS POLICY IN ORDER TO RECEIVE FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS POLICY FOR UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS AT SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY AT CARBONDALE

The Federal Government, the States, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale have invested large sums of money in order to provide financially needy students the opportunity to attain a post-secondary education. Financial aid recipients are responsible for using the funds provided in an acceptable manner. Therefore, a student who wishes to benefit from the receipt of financial aid funds must maintain "satisfactory progress" as defined in this policy.

AUTHORITY
The Higher Education Act of 1965 as amended and the final regulations set forth by the Department of Education in 34 CFR 686 require that institutions of higher education establish reasonable standards of "satisfactory progress". A student who does not meet these standards is not eligible to receive federally funded financial aid. Southern Illinois University at Carbondale shall make these standards applicable to all state and institutional aid programs for the purpose of maintaining a consistent and reasonable financial aid policy.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS STANDARDS
Southern Illinois University at Carbondale requires that a student be making "satisfactory progress" toward a degree if that student wishes to receive financial aid funds. A student is making "satisfactory progress" toward a degree if successfully meeting two basic academic standards. First, a student must complete a reasonable number of credit hours toward a degree each academic year. Second, a student must maintain a scholastic standing, derived from grades, that allows for continued enrollment at the University under current academic guidelines. The following parameters will be used to define these two basic academic standards:

1) Maximum time to graduate: A full-time, eligible student is expected to complete a degree in six academic years (24 semesters). A half-time, eligible student is expected to complete a degree in twelve academic years (24 semesters). In order to be sure that a student is progressing toward that goal, each student's progress will be measured annually after Spring Semester to determine the progress made for the last academic year of attendance. Each term of at least half-time attendance shall be included in the annual review whether or not the student received financial aid for the term. The following chart will serve as a model to determine if each student is meeting this requirement of "satisfactory progress".

   | SIUC | SIUC
   | Academic | Cumulative |
   | Completed | Hours | Passed | Hours |
   | 1 | 8 |
   | 2 | 16 |
   | 3 | 24 |
   | 4 | 32 |
   | 5 | 40 |
   | 6 | 48 |
   | 7 | 56 |
   | 8 | 64 |
   | 9 | 72 |
   | 10 | 80 |
   | 11 | 88 |
   | 12 | 96 |

2) Grades: A student must remain in compliance with the University's policy concerning scholastic standing, grades, and grade point average as defined under the topic "Grading, Scholastic Regulations, and Credit" in the current Undergraduate Catalog Bulletin. A student who is on Scholastic Suspension is not maintaining "satisfactory progress". A student who is scholastically suspended may be readmitted under Scholastic Probation status by the appropriate academic dean and remain eligible for financial aid. Each student's scholastic standing will be monitored after each semester or term of attendance.

A student who does not meet either or both of the standards set forth above and who cannot show "mitigating circumstances" is not maintaining "satisfactory progress" toward a degree and is no longer eligible to receive financial aid funds. (See Appeals)

Nothing in this policy shall be construed as a reduction of external requirements by other federal, state, public, or private agencies when they award or control financial aid. Examples of such agencies are: Veterans Administration, Vocational Rehabilitation, and the NCAA.

DEFINITIONS
Credit hours completed shall be defined as the total number of academic credit hours for which a student receives any grade other than a failing grade. Incompletes, withdrawals, audits, and remedial courses which do not count toward a degree shall not be considered as credit hours completed. Credit hours received for repeated courses shall be counted only once.

Eligible students shall be defined as those students who are admitted to the University in a degree-seeking classification. All other students are not eligible for financial aid.

Full-time attendance for undergraduates shall be defined as enrollment in twelve (12) hours or more per semester. Half-time attendance for undergraduates shall be defined as enrollment in more than five (5) hours and less than twelve (12) hours per semester.

Undergraduate shall be defined as a student who is a freshman, sophomore, junior, senior or a senior with a bachelor's degree seeking a second bachelor's.

NOTIFICATION OF TERMINATION
It shall be the responsibility of the Financial Aid Office to publish this policy and to notify by letter any student who is no longer eligible to receive financial aid funds. Said notice shall be addressed to the student's most current home address on file with the University. IT SHALL BE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE STUDENT TO INFORM THE UNIVERSITY OF A CORRECT HOME ADDRESS AT ALL TIMES. Student's academic deeds shall receive copies of all notice letters.

REINSTATEMENT
Students will have their eligibility to receive financial aid reinstated when they have reached the level of satisfactory progress required of them by this policy. They may achieve this status by the completion of incomplete grades, correction of incorrect grades, and by earning more than the required number of completed hours for a term or terms without the benefit of financial aid.

APPEALS
Any student who cannot meet the grades requirement, or the cumulative credit hours completion requirement shall have an opportunity to appeal in academic year "mitigating circumstances". The appeal should be sent to the Financial Aid Advisory Committee within 15 days of the notice of termination. The Financial Aid Advisory Committee will review the "mitigating circumstances" documented in the appeal and provide a written decision within 20 days after receipt of the appeal.

Woodmen donate flag to SIU Touch of Nature

A new American flag flutters outside the lodge at the University's Touch of Nature Environmental Center thanks to local chapters of the Woodmen of the World.

"I think we all should be very appreciative of this beautiful facility that represents the best of the University and Southern Illinois," Poshard said. "I think this flag is the ice cream on the cake."

Local Woodmen also donated the pole, installed earlier in the month.

Student earns fellowship for reclaiming habitat

By Phil Pearson
Staff Writer

An University doctoral student is the first recipient of a fellowship named for the founder and long-time director of the Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory.

Brian Wiln, in his first year of doctoral studies in the laboratory's Missed Land Reclamation Program, will receive a four years waiver and a monthly stipend of $2,500 for the next two years to continue his research, which concerns turning reclaimed land into a habitat for Cattails.

The fellowship was established by the SIU Foundation that year, but he said he doesn't deserve all the credit.

"We (the laboratory staff) collectively decided we would establish the fellowship," he said.

Wilen said his research was more concerned with the possibility of using reclaimed land for winter habitat for the migrating Canada geese, as well as the terns that spend all year in Southern Illinois, than actually reclaiming inactive surface mines.

He said his main research is taking place at three reclaimed mines in Perry County, though he is also researching one area in St. Clair County and one in Jackson County near DeSoto.

Between gathering data and analyzing the information, Wiln said he expects his project to be completed in four years.

"This is my first field season, I'll be (working for) two more field seasons. It'll probably take four years to finish."
WASHINGTON (UPI) — State spending on AIDS jumped by nearly two-thirds to about $250 million during fiscal year 1989, with Illinois ranked eighth in the amount spent as states grappled with the disease, a study showed Wednesday.

A study by George Washington University found that about $500 million in non-Medicaid funds were spent to treat and prevent AIDS at the state level this fiscal year.

More than half of that money — $252 million, up $100 million from 1988 — came from state governments. The federal government provided the remainder.

On average, states spent 33 cents per capita.

Illinois, which ranked eighth in spending behind California, New York, Florida, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and Washington, D.C., spent slightly more than the average, $3.56 million or 49 cents per capita. There are 3,013 known cases of AIDS in Illinois.

The number of states that did not allocate any general revenues for the battle against acquired immune deficiency syndrome fell from 14 in fiscal 1988 to eight in fiscal 1989.

One-time contributors were: Indiana, Louisiana, Nebraska, Nevada, South Carolina and Tennessee.

New York, which spent $33 million, was second to California in state-funded AIDS expenditures. Three other states also topped the $10 million mark: Florida, Massachusetts and New Jersey. The lowest allocation was $101,000, in Nebraska.

The median level of state-only funds for AIDS was about $500,000 per capita.

As of August, the five states with the greatest number of reported AIDS cases were: New York, 23,424; California, 20,478; Florida, 8,246; New Jersey, 7,874; and Texas, 6,969. An estimated 1 million to 1.5 million Americans are infected.

“The top 10 states which account for 77 percent of all AIDS have concentrated for 79 percent of state-only funds for AIDS,” researcher Ken Knize said.

Some of the largest funding increases in fiscal 1989 came in Pennsylvania, which boosted its AIDS spending 12 times the previous level, and Florida, which raised its already substantial allocation by 40 percent.

Researchers said the eight states that set budgets or appropriated money for AIDS in fiscal 1989 were: Idaho, Iowa, Montana, New Dakota, South Dakota, Vermont, West Virginia and Wyoming.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Artists contributed to two exhibits scheduled to appear at the Corcoran Gallery of Art this season have withdrawn their work because the museum canceled a highly charged exhibit by photographer Robert Mapplethorpe, a gallery spokesman said Tuesday.

The two exhibits were designed to survey trends in contemporary art.

A third, much larger exhibit involving Soviet and American artists also was endangered, officials said Wednesday.

The Mapplethorpe display, which had been scheduled to open July 1, was canceled abruptly by the Corcoran in June amid fears of retribution by Congress as the National Endowment for the Arts agreed to begin cutting the process of federal funding of controversial shows.

The exhibit was then moved to the Washington Project for the Arts.

It was highly acclaimed and more than 48,000 people lined up to see the Mapplethorpe photographs, Mapplethorpe, a New York City photographer, recently died of AIDS.

The Corcoran canceled the exhibit by See. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., which would have been the Washington Project for the Arts.

The first affected exhibit, “Gallerie Ober- Amstel Leuners,” was scheduled to run from Oct. 28 through Dec. 31, but has been "infinitely postponed," said Corcoran spokesman Debbie Striver.

The second, an exhibit of six sculptures scheduled for showing next Feb. 3 to April 8, was canceled out-right, Striver said.

Corcoran Director Christina Ortolf could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Interracial Affairs Committee of the group of Orthodox, Conservative and Reform bodies.

He has done a disservice to those of both faith communities who have been working toward the resolution of the difficult problem," Bemporad said.

In the coming days, concerns came as the volatile and sensitive issue of the convent, established in 1964 by a small band of cloistered and contemplative Carmelite nuns, threatened to create the worst rift in Catholic-Jewish relations in recent years.

Glemp's comments, delivered during a homily on Saturday and including a charge that Jews control the media, were widely read as containing anti-Semitic sentiments.
Fear of poor rice harvest triggers panic buying in Beijing markets

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — An opposition-led general strike Wednesday brought large parts of the country to a halt and triggered violence across India that left at least 11 people dead, about 350 injured, authorities said. About 50,000 people were detained.

The nationwide strike — only the third since India gained independence in 1947 — was called by left parties opposed to economic policies seen as pro-business.

The strike affected transport, electricity, and water supplies across the country, and traffic was at a standstill in many cities and towns.

In New Delhi, the capital, several hundred people were injured in clashes between police and protesters, who were shouting anti-government slogans.

The strike was called by a range of opposition parties, including the Communist Party of India (Marxist) and the Congress Party, over issues such as fuel price increases and farmers’ demands for better prices for their produce.

The general secretary of Kerala's ruling communist party, K. M. Mani, said his party would continue to support the strike until their demands were met.

In other states, the strike was followed by violence, with reports of clashes between protesters and police in several places. In Kolkata, the capital of West Bengal, at least 15 people were injured in clashes.

In addition to the general strike, there were also protests against the government’s decision to allow foreign direct investment in retail, which is seen as a threat to local businesses.

The government has defended its policies, saying they are aimed at boosting economic growth and creating jobs.

In the meantime, the government has announced several measures to ease the impact of the rising fuel prices, including a cut in excise duty on diesel and petrol.

The government has also announced a subsidy scheme for farmers, who have been hit hard by the falling prices of their produce.

The strike is expected to continue for a few more days, with opposition parties planning further protests in coming days.
Man's testimony supports Bakker defense strategy

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — A key prosecution witness in the fraud aiud faith-healing trial of televangelist Jim Bakker clapped on the stand Wednesday to support the PTL founder's claim that the $1 million settlement was not a secret. Bakker, charged with 11 counts of fraud, tax evasion and conspiracy, is on trial in federal court here.

Bakker, 42, is accused of defrauding investors and tax authorities of $9 million in the sale of promissory notes and tax shelters. He is the founder and former host of the popular PTL television network. The trial, which began in early March, is one of several pending against Bakker and his associates.

Bakker, who is a high-profile figure in the world of televangelism, has been a target of government investigations for years. He was convicted in 1989 of tax evasion and conspiracy and sentenced to three years in prison. He was released from prison in 1991 and began to rebuild his empire.

Bakker's trial is expected to last several weeks, with testimony from more than 200 witnesses. The case is being heard in the U.S. District Court in Charlotte, with Judge John W. Martin presiding.

The prosecution has accused Bakker of fraudulently selling an illiquid asset, the PTL television network, to investors without disclosing its true value. The defense has argued that Bakker was unaware of the true value of the network when he sold it.

Bakker's defense team has called several witnesses to testify on his behalf, including former employees and associates. The trial is expected to conclude in early June.
Colombian drug cartel under imposed curfew

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Authorities imposed a curfew Wednesday on Medellin, home of the powerful cocaine cartel, and a U.S. official said Washington sees no obstacles to the extractions of suspected drug traffickers to the United States.

The latest State Department travel advisory said Americans "should seriously consider leaving" Colombia, and U.S. students on a foreign studies program in Bogota were sent home early because of pressure from concerned parents.

Medellin Mayor Juan Gomez declared the curfew from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. in response to 15 bomb explosions in Medellin "carr­ried by fear," said a city official who asked not to be named.

Police also said officers intercepted a taxi in Medellin Tuesday night in which they found four tanks, with 20 apparently were to be used to attack giant tanks of alcohol of the state-owned LaIest State Canel.

Medellin, 150 miles northwest of Bogota, has been the site of three waves of bombings since the cartels that control most of the world's cocaine trade declared war on the government, police, judges, industrial leaders and journalists.

The may declaration followed President Virgilio Barco's imposition of a state of emergency in response to the Aug. 18 assassination of presidential candidate Sen. Luis Carlos Galan by cocaine gangs.

The crackdown has included mass detentions, confiscation of property and reinstatement of an extradition treaty with the United States.

The Colombian government took the legal step of formally notifying Eduardo Martinez Romero, the suspected financial officer of the Medellin cartel, of its intention to extradite him, and a U.S. official said Washington sees no snags to the extradition of suspected drug traffickers.

Martinez, wanted in the United States for laundering millions of dollars from cocaine sales, was given until Sept. 5 to appeal, a Justice Ministry official said.

The newspaper El Tiempo reported that the United States may be required to state under the extradition treaty that any Colombian convicted in the United States would not receive a sentence of more than 30 years, the maximum under Colombian law.

The U.S. official, who spoke only on the condition be not be named, said the United States in the past has made the same guarantee to other countries.

Mourners hostile over death

Killing of black by police officer leads to violence

VINELAND, N.J. (UPI) — Hostile mourners with raised fists pounded the gates of a house church Wednesday after a two-hour funeral service for a black man who was gunned down by a Vineland police officer led to two nights of racial protests and violence.

Wearing black, green and red armbands, more than 150 people had gathered outside the New Hope Church in Franklin Township Wednesday for a funeral service for Nathaniel M. Brown, 22, of Vineland.

Joven tots, who were intimidated by a hostile group of 50 or so mourners who remained on guard outside the doors, could barely hear the hymns that united the group in mourning and racial solidarity.

But as they exited, with raised arms to display the bands of red, green and black, the last words of the Monday's shooting once again turned sorrow to anger and defiance.

Williams was shot while Officer Paul Letizia, a seven-year veteran, was trying to arrest him on outstanding charges of assault, weapons violations, contempt of court and parole violations.

With a swarthy face, a former high school football player and father of two, he had a record of drug dealing and violence that suggested he would be selling drugs at the time of his death.

No volunteer worked four hours of violence, rock-throwing and chaos.

Mohawk warriors making threats at opponents of casino gambling

ST. REGIS INDIAN RESERVATION, N.Y. (UPI) — Mohawk warriors "armed to their bloody teeth" threatened to burn the offices of Governor Mario Cuomo's gambling opponents and raid radio station WENY near the Mohawk reservation. Monday.

Amid patrols guarded the office of the Mohawks' Sovereign Security Force and the studios of radio station WENY, which both received threats overnight from militant members of the pro-gambling Mohawk Sovereign Security Force.

Anonymous telephone callers also threatened the headquarters of the Canadian Band Council and the Mohawk police station.

Mohawk police officers charged with putting an end to the "illegal" casino gambling on the reservation were handicapped by a heavy bed of snow that prevented them from getting around the reservation.

Chief Jake Swamp later blasted the security force, saying, "Militants want gambling under the guise of sovereignty, but when gambling comes into a community the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the federal government and the Mohawks will not want to control that gambling."

Anonymous telephone callers threatened the headquarters of the Canadian Band Council and the Mohawk police station.

Japanese Prime Minister Tomiichi Kaifu declared yesterday that his government would not allow "rocksolid" relations with the United States to be damaged as the Korean government needed to grow stronger.

Kaifu visited a center community center in San Francisco’s Japantown during the first day of a 2-day tour of the United States.

"I want to solidify the relationship between the two countries," Kaifu said during a brief stop at the center for elderly Japanese-Americans. "I want to make the U.S.-Japan relationship rocksolid.

The 58-year-old prime minister, Japan’s third head of government since June, was accompanied by his wife, Sachiko, six members of Parliament and about 70 Japanese reporters.

San Francisco was an appropriate beginning for political overtures from a country whose culture prizes respect and tradition. A home in 10 of the Bay Area’s hospitals are of Japanese descent.

I have a special affection, a special memory, for San Francisco," Kaifu said as he handed folded paper cranes to a cash donation to officials of the Japanese Cultural and Community Center.

The center serves free meals to about 400 elderly Japanese a day. One woman who stopped to buy a flower asked him to plead with President Bush for quicker payment of reparations to survivors of the World War II internment camps.

"I can’t get away from it, I don’t think, to plead for our cause," the Japanese prime minister said in a voice huskier than usual because of laryngitis.

Kaifu, in office just three weeks, was scheduled to visit a Japanese community center before flying east Thursday. He will meet Friday with Bush at the White House and with congressional leaders on Capitol Hill.

Despite Kaifu’s high-profile North American trip, a poll by the Jiji Press showed this week that Kaifu is the second-most unpopular prime minister in Japanese history.

The least popular, Jiji said, was Kaifu’s predecessor, Sozei Uno, whose approval rating plummeted to under only 69 days because of a sex scandal and the ruling Liberal Democratic Party’s failure to pass bills in Upper House elections last month.

Many observers believe Kaifu is only a stop-gap leader whose tenure may not last the year.

But Kaifu, 58, said the party would emerge stronger.

I can say very clearly the Japanese government has always been in very strong confidence in democracy, and so I am sure that even the Liberal Democratic Party will revive and begin a new life. I’m sure that party will use its energies to recovering the party.

Kaifu, trying to project an image as a "young, energetic and accessible" politician, will be in his first pitch at a Boston Red Sox baseball game, the first Liberal prime minister ever to do so, and meet with American intellectuals during five days in the Northeast.

Many observers expect little substance from the trip by Japan’s fourth prime minister in two years of often scandal-tainted domestic policy that has found the ruling party to seek glamour for its leaders abroad rather than at home.

Dembo, Cook contemplate leaving Pistons for Europe

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (UPI) - The Detroit Pistons' top rookie, Anthony Dembo, 6-6, 255, has added second-year forward Dennis Dembo may play next season in Europe, Pistons officials indicated Wednesday.

Cook said he is flying Thursday to Greece to talk to Saluki officials about his off-season as a Saluki.

"I want to go the Saluki way," Dembo said Wednesday.

The Pistons reportedly offered Cook $500,000 for two years, but he rejected the contract because officials wanted $100,000 to $125,000 more.

Cook was drafted late in the 1989 NBA draft and would have liked to see what he could do in the regular season for the Pistons.

"It's not a done deal but I don't want to do any more deals why I shouldn't sign with Greece," Cook told the Detroit News. "I'm young and I need some experience. I don't think I can get that in Detroit. It looks like I would have to sit if I went there and I don't think I can handle it."

McCloskey said Cook would remain part of the Pistons.

"In our way of thinking it's beneficial for us if he plays in Greece," McCloskey said. "With as getting Scott Hastings as our ninth man, Cook would be No. 10. He won't play little. Going to Greece gives him an opportunity to play more. I'm hoping to do some things with Fenns. We have a lot of players on this team, and guys like Cook and Dembo need to play."
Chicago high school bans Iowa recruiting visits

By United Press International

The head coach of the Chicago Simeon Basketball Team — one of the nation's most ferocious high school basketball powers — said
Wednesday he would prevent
University of Iowa recruiters from talking to his players in the future.

The unusual announcement by Bob Hambrecht signals that Iowa assistant coach Bruce Allen secretly taped a telephone conversation with former Simeon star
Deon Thomas in which Pearl questioned
Thomas about his recruitment and his reasons for choosing the University of Iowa over Simeon. Hambrecht said he knew about the tap for several days.

ingly used" steroids, but speculated the positive test may have resulted from medication he took for a wrist injury in January.

Robinson said tight end Vernon

THOMAS, who began attending Illinois this month, is named on one of the top five newcomers in the country. His commitment has already spawned a preliminary request on the NCAA on the Illinois campus.

David Bertz, the NCAA's director of enforcement, declined to comment on the investigation or the tape, but Hambrecht said Pearl's actions would have negative ramifications outside of Simeon.

"But they're through here. They can bypass Simeon, if a young man wants to go to Iowa, I wouldn't stop him. But I won't let him in here if I have anything to do with it."

Thomas, a 6-foot-9 center, had been wavering between Illinois and Iowa, before selecting the Illini in April. At the time he said his decision was based on the number of Simeon players that have gone on to play at the school, including former star Nick Anderson and forward Ervin Saylor, and the team's recent success in the NCAA tournament.

But in early July, Bertz said the NCAA was opening a preliminary investigation into Illinois recruittment of Thomas. The outcome of the investigation has not yet been made public.

Hambrecht said he could not be sure why Pearl made the tap and turned it over to NCAA officials, but he speculated it was an attempt at discontent coach Lou Hezonja and Assistant Coach
Jimmy Collins, who was heavily involved in wooing Thomas.

"It had to be that he was trying to shoot down Jimmy Collins and the Illinois program," Hambrecht said. "Maybe he was trying to clear the way for Iowa to recruit in Chicago in the future. But even if he did get Collins, he also would have brought down Deon, I'd have to think the was after Deon."

Smith's assistants

BILLY CALLEHAN, Offensive Coordinator. A native of Illinois, Callehan has nine years of college coaching experience. He spent the past two seasons as the offensive line coach at Northern Arizona University.

SAM VENUTO, Wide receiver coach. Venuto comes to SIU-C with Smith after spending a year with the head coach at Illinois. Venuto's position at Illinois was graduate assistant in charge of wide receivers.

PHIL MEYER, Offensive line coach. Meyer and Smith are coaching together again. The two have worked together six previous seasons. Meyer was offensive line coach at Southeast Missouri State for five years, four of which were under Smith.

GERRY HART, Defensive Coordinator. Hart, a graduate of SIU-C, has returned to coach at his alma mater after spending six seasons in the Canadian Football League. The West Frankfort native has previous coaching experience at the University as a graduate assistant in 1958. Hart came back to SIU-C in 1963 as assistant coach, STANLEY KING, Defensive backs coach. King is the only member of Rick Rhoades' SIU-C staff to be retained. Prior to his job at the University, King coached four years at Tennessee-Chattanooga.

RALPH YOUNG, Defensive line. Young received his master's in physical education from the University in 1969. During this time, he also worked as a graduate assistant for the Salukis.

Coach Smith's philosophy relies on tough discipline

By Daniel Wallenberg
Staff Writer

Before football coach Bob Smith entered his first year of college at Bradley University, he knew he wanted to become a teacher and coach at the collegiate level. Smith has been coaching at the collegiate level for 11 years, and he still holds that coaching the "college athlete is rewarding. "The college player is the best to be around," Smith said. "They are very sports-athletic to me."

The first-year Saluki coach took over for Rick Rhoades, who accepted an assistant coaching position at the University of Alabama just 11 months after he accepted the job here.

Smith has taken over the reins, and implemented his discipline philosophy on his staff and players.

"Football is a game with a lot of absences involved," Smith said. "There are many things that simply have to be done. I describe myself as a tough disciplinarian and as a players' coach and as a good technical coach."

The specialty of Smith's coaching knowledge is in the offensive line. He coached linemen at the University of Illinois immediately prior to his hiring at the University.

"I have a very technical background in the offensive line and have a gut feeling for play calling and decision making," he said.

His play calling has a tendency to deviate from the norm as the coach said he is not "afraid of trick plays, fake field goals or anything that would change the cbb and flow of the game."

Smith doesn't feel that his coaching responsibilities end after he reaches a quarterback hack to hit the open receiver. The education of a football player goes far beyond the playing field, Smith said.

"Football, above all, teaches you to work with the team next to you," Smith said. "In life, people get knocked down emotionally, financially and physically and are faced with

New Saluki offense gives fans a little bit of everything

By Daniel Wallenberg
Staff Writer

First-year head coach Bob Smith described the 1999 Saluki offense as a multiple-type offense that has a little bit of everything. The offense will employ trick plays, play action and drop-back passing and will time will prove to be exciting, he said.

Smith said he wants to throw the ball about 40 percent of the time and hopes he has the quarterbacks to be successful. He compared his offense to that of the University of Notre Dame's in its ability to have a variety of sets.

Smith rates the quarterback position above average and said two outstanding competitive individuals, in junior Fred Gibson and sophomore Scott Gabberti, comprise the position.

Before suffering a season-ending knee injury last year, Gibson led the Salukis to a 4-2 record in the team’s first six games and will likely be the starting quarterback again this season.

Installing a new offense requires learning, adjusting and becoming accustomed to the system Smith said.

"A new offense sometimes takes a half season to learn or it could take three or four years," Smith said. "We may be able to speed up the process by limiting the offense we had in mind and becoming good at a few things quickly."

The offense will run the same basic plays from a variety of sets, Smith said. "At times we’ll use two backs in the backfield and at others we’ll have four wide receivers with no running backs," Smith said.

A variety of shifts and motion plays also will be encompasned in the offense, but Smith said if inefficiency or a large number of penalties results, then the number and variety of sets would be reduced.

"This offense has the capability of being an exciting offense," Smith said. "Before we are done it will be an exciting offense, but we are going to be patient and make sure we do it right."

Smith would not make any predictions on what this season’s record would be but said one thing was for sure: "Our kids will fight hard."

Smith said the Salukis would probably enter the first three or four games as underdogs. The Salukis first game will be at Nevada-Reno on Sept. 2, followed by two home games against defending Gateway Conference champion Western Illinois on Sept. 9 and Eastern Illinois on Sept. 16.

The next couple of seasons will be played for the success of the veteran players while Smith has a chance to recruit his own players and rebuild the Saluki program.

When going out to recruit new players Smith has three basic criteria for evaluating an individual. Smith said he looks to see if an athlete is a good person, a good student and a good player, respectively.

Smith said he looks for players with speed when recruiting, regardless of position. "Speed is important in playing today’s brand of football," Smith said. He also commented that today’s football is a game of specialists, and players no longer play both offense and defense for four quarters. They are expected to go all out on every play and players with speed, natural athletic ability and aggressiveness are essential.

The following is a breakdown of the Saluki offense and specialty personnel by position.

Smith said the wide receiver position is rated average because of the large number of dropped balls in practice and a lack of much-needed speed at the position. The lack of speed may be because players are thinking too much about the new offensive system and hinder their maximum speed, Smith said. Early season, depth charts list seniors Wesley Yates, Chenhall Brown and Bob Derricone, along with freshman Alan Brewer, as the leading candidates to fill the position.

The tight end position is a question mark because of the experience and injuries. Smith said junior Yogi Henderson could turn out to be an outstanding player at the position.

Veterans, newcomers help defense

The SIU-C Saluki defensive football coaches are hoping that a blend of returning players and younger prospects form a successful chemistry this season.

"We have a fine blend of older and younger players," said defensive line coach Ralph Young. "We are a competent group of men working well together.

Young, in his first season as the Saluki defensive line coach, will be working under first-year Saluki head coach Bob Smith for the second time in his coaching career. Young spent four and one-half years at Southeast Missouri State working as defensive coordinator under then-Southeast coach Scott Bode. When Smith took the SIU-C job after one year at Illinois, Young was one of the few coaches Smith "lured.

"Anytime you work for Bob Smith it is a positive aspect," Young said. "I think the players are starting to realize that fact as well. There is a caring on his part that rubs off on all of us."

Returning to the Saluki defensive line this season will be 6-4, 260-pound Shannon Ferbrache and 6-5, 225-pound junior Martin Hochertz. Scott Bode at 6-3 and 230 pounds is a starter at defensive end right now after spot duty the last couple of years.

"The guys have been returning were tested and solid performers," Young said. "The guys behind the starters are also tested and solid. We have good depth and the starters are being pushed for positions by the other guys. I believe we are a lot better because things can change.

Young says there is a lot of competition for positions right now and that is a positive for the Salukis. "We have tremendous competition with different people," Young said. "We have people battling for spots and that is excellent."

There seems to be a fair amount of competition throughout the whole defensive squad. This holds true in the secondary as well, according to defensive backs coach Stanley King.

"Competition is a healthy situation because it brings out the best in people," King said. "We are not blessed with great talent but if we have a fighter at each spot the team has a chance. Competition just makes everyone get better quicker."

King, in his second season as Saluki defensive back coach, was the only member of former coach Rick Robinson's staff to be retained by Smith. With just one year under his belt at SIU-C's defensive backfield coach, King has become the veteran on the Salukis staff.

"We (the coaching) have all been around each other since early spring," King said. "Everyone is doing a good job on their duty and it's like all the coaches have been here together for a long time. So I don't feel that we have to do anything extra as a second-year coach."

Returning to King's defensive backfield will be 5-foot-11, 230-pound senior cornerback Willie Davis, who has started three straight years in the defensive backfield. 6-foot, 190-pound senior free safety William Perry will also return along with 5-foot-8, 171-pound senior strong safety Scott Bode.

They are all iron hard and I think it is just a matter of seeing what happens in a game situation," King said. "I feel good about the whole group because they are pleasant and are willing to do what is asked. If they maintain this attitude I believe we have a chance to be successful."

King hopes that this attitude is carried three years!

but still is questionable following knee surgery he had last week. The other players who may see some action at the position include junior Thomas Finch, a converted defensive player, and freshman Jason English.

The running back positions have improved over what Smith saw in spring drills, he said. At tailback, junior Antonio Mendoza and junior college transfer Tim Collier are expected to see playing time. At fullback, last season's leading ground scorer for the Salukis, Chuck Harmakie, a 1988 G' Academic All-America Team selection, again will be the leading candidate for that spot. Harmakie is suffering from a hamstring injury but is expected to play against Nevada-Las Vegas. He should be at 100 percent by the second game against Western Illinois, Smith said.

Other players who may see action include senior Jarris Billups and sophomore Ken Parks.

The offensive linemen have been slow to develop in the eyes of Smith but he blames that mainly on the experimentation with a variety of players at the five positions. Smith said once the five starters are secured in their positions, the line will improve.

Offensive line coach Phil Meyer said his line will have to work hard to protect the quarterback in Smith's pass-oriented offense.

Meyer said the cornerstone of the offensive line is senior and three-year letterman Bob Grantner, who he calls the "quarterback of the offensive line." At the guard position Meyer lists senior Tim Sadler, junior Gary Masta and sophomore Doran Brown as possible starters. Seniors Victor Kimbrol, Rene Youman and Joey D'Onor, along with sophomore Tom Koth, will be competing for the two offensive tackle positions, Meyer said.

Smith said the "starting nod at the center position" would be given to either of the two player battling for the job. Junior Steve Wedemer and sophomore John Bookout are competing neck and neck for the position and kick-off positions. Smith said that although both players are extremely close, practice drills indicate that Wedemer may have the nod for kick-off duties while Bookout leads in the place-kicking battle.

The two players vying for the punting position are juniors Tony Guttridge and David Peters. Smith said Peters leads in the competition but the real test would come when the two were faced with pressure situations in practice as the first game approaches.

Special teams, such as kick-off, kick-return and punting, are an important part of any football team. The Salukis have worked extensively on these aspects of the game.

"We have put a lot of work and emphasis on the specialty teams and we expect to be solid," Smith said. "And you usually achieve what you emphasis."

out onto the playing field where the players can carry out his defensive philosophy. "I just want them to play hard.

The defensive unit has been without the services of defensive coordinator Gerry Hart, who is recovering from heart surgery. He is expected to rejoin the team soon after it's opener against Nevada-Reno Sept. 2. Defensive backs coach Stanley King is running the defense at this time.

The Salukis will be in good shape at linebacker as well. Tyrone Johnson, a 6-foot, 205-pound sophomore, along with 6-foot, 215-pound junior Kevin Kilgallon both return as the position. "They have good experience and are deep, solid and mature," Young said. "But there is a tremendous amount of competition throughout this team."

The Salukis have been without defensive coordinator Gerry Hart for a few weeks because "heart surgery but everyone is moving on," Young said. "He came in a big adjustment. Gerry keeps in touch with us and we are trying to maintain his style and philosophy."

A positive attitude is what Young wants with the players.

Fourth and long
Troy Guttridge, senior placekicker and punter, works on hit punting during a practice Friday. Guttridge and the Salukis open the season Sept. 2.
The Salukis hope they can line up well against their opponents this season behind the direction of first-year coach Bob Smith. SIU-C opens its season Sept. 2 against Nevada-Reno and its home opener is Sept. 9 with Western Illinois.

Four teams taking shots at Gateway football title

Story compiled by Greg Scott

The race for the 1989 Gateway Conference football title could be a four-team race, according to SIUC-Saluki head coach Bob Smith.

Some veterans on Western Illinois and with Southwest Missouri, Eastern Illinois and Illinois State as the top teams with potential to win the Gateway.

"All I know is how we practice against ourselves," Smith said.

Some know what the keys are to their team's success this season.

"We need to shut down on defense and execute on special teams," Smith said. "We lack the overall team speed in the other areas."

Here is a pre-season look at the Salukis' conference opponents.

Western Illinois - Not only did Western Illinois football team play more games than any other previous team beat Western Illinois with 5-2-0, ranked in two more places: 386, 230, averaged more aerial yards (271), averaged more first downs, 19.1, and gained more total yards.

The record-breaking defeating Gateway Conference champions concluded their season as the third ranked I-AA team in the nation. The team having been ranked in the No. 2 slot for the previous four weeks.

Western is losing five all-Americans but there are 25 returning seniors and 37 returning men were listed on the roster at spring football's conclusion.

The most glaring aspect of the offense rests within the arms of the new quarterbacks, namely Gene Reinhart, Tim Reed, and possibly Chris Lunsford. All three have standout arms with Reinhart at 6-3, 215. The team is trying to compensate for the loss of quarterback Paul Singer who concluded his career at Illinois State. This will be the Salukis' all-time leading passer.

Western returns all-league starters in the secondary including Bill Hunter, corner, and Lorenzo Taylor, nickel back.

Layne Beatty, the school's third all-time leading scorer with 119 career points entering the season, will be Western's kicking specialist. All-America Mike Kress, returning back, will be the school's all-time leading scorer with 119 career points entering the season, and will be Western's kicking specialist.

According to Spoo, George Boykin, Dinsell Swartz and John Noll join Mills at inside linebacker which could be an improved segment of the team overall.

Eric Arnold comes back to lead the team at quarterback, with John Singostock and Jamie Jones in the backfield. The Panthers have three returning starters on the offensive line including Pat Munda, Bruce Fletcher and Eric Thorsen.

"The top three receivers look to be Ralph Swart, Willie Ashfod and John Metzger. Brian Paolin is the punter and Mike Turek is the No. 1 placekicker.

Indiana State - Ending 1988 with their highest finish ever in Gateway Conference play, the Panthers look for added improvement in the league standings from a second-place tie to the top in 1989.

Indiana State was six points away from winning league title season only 24-21 to Western Illinois and 10-7 at Southern Illinois last year enroute to a 4-2 conference record.

Indiana State finished 5-6 overall in 1983. Opponents is in the air for Smsucncmollows entering the season with All-Gateway players quarterback John Salum, wide receiver Steve Epperson, tight end Rodney Porter, defensive tackle Mark Berman, and defensive back Tony Mickens returning along with eight other starters and 34 lettermen off the 1988 squad.

The Panthers enter the season with the bulk of their returning lineup intact after a strong showing suit," Spoo said. "We'll be tough to stop after a good first season."

"We have the most talent we've had here since the playoffs in the last three/four years ago," head coach Dennis Racci said in the team's media guide.

"A lot can happen from August to the end of November, but we feel the opportunity is there to be in a position to have a good year."

Returning to the defense will be two-time All-Gateway tackle Mark Bommar (6-3, 245, Sr) and All-league free safety Tony Mickens (5-11, 180, Jr) along with five other starter back on defense.

Illinois State - After a 1-10 finish in a 1988 season spoiled by injuries and marked by inconsistency which caused first-year head coach Jack Herrick to make continuous lineup changes and play 18 first-year freshmen, the Redbirds hope for better fortunes this season.

Quarterback Adria Wilson returns to lead the offense. He completed 121 of 219 passes for 1,379 yards and four touchdowns with only five interceptions last season.

Victor Northern accounted for more than 80 percent of the Redbirds' rushing yardage racking up 875 yards last season. The team has seen improvement from first-year head coach Toby Davis and Doodid Foster.

Bills Miller, who figured 54 passes for 444 yards returning starter David Smith was the team's No. 2 (2 back last year 32 touches, 50 attempts) as outside linebacker. Senior Dave Calhoun returns to bolster the secondary.

Northern Iowa - In total, 26 of 45 letterman return from last year's 5-6-2 team for the Panthers. Three starters return on offense and eight returns on the defense.

NFL: More suspensions may follow

By United Press International

As several of the 13 players suspended by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for using anabolic steroids are required to appear before NFL Commissioner and about what other legal remedie could be.

Jim Jeffers, the league's director of public relations, said any of the 13 suspended players have the right to request a hearing before Rozelle as an informal appeal of Tuesday's disciplinary action.

"If the player or his agent or anyone has any information or material they feel is pertinent to this situation, they are free.to provide it to the NFL commissioner," Jeffers said.

Allen would not identify which players had contacted the union.

Rozelle Tuesday suspended the 13 players after their urine samples were obtained during mandatory pre-season exams. Each of the three American professional leagues suspended players using steroids. The league tested more than 2,000 players during training camps.

Philadelphia Eagles offensive guard Ron Saia, a 1987 Pro Bowl performer, and Chicago Bears safety Maurice Douglass wore the commissioner's office Tuesday the 13 suspended.

It is possible these will not be the only players suspended by Rozelle this season for using steroids, Jeffers said. The 13 suspensions will be the only ones stemming from the urine samples given during the mandatory pre-season physicals this summer.

Track and field squad shoot for repeat as outdoor champs

By Dale Walker

If Saluki throwers have anything to do with it, the forecast for the MVC track meet will be bright and sunny with a good chance of a repeat performance.

"It's been a great year for us," said team coach Dave Martin. "I expect to see even better performances from us at the MVCs than their good performances last year."

Returning this year are senior captain Seth Moore, a two-time returning shot putter indoor and see and a three-time MVC champion in discus, javelin and 35-pound weight throw, according to throwers coach Dave Martin.

Dan Maucke, a junior from Carbondale, is among the top five in the hammer, 35 lb. weight and discus.

Sophomore Deren Wilder is among the top six in the shot put and discus in the MVC and will be the hammer thrower.

Seth Moore, also a sophomore, is ranked in the top two in the javelin in the MVC after a second place finish last season's outdoor conference meet. He finished eighth this year as well.

Karl Coplin, with freshman eligibility, will throw discus and the shot put.

Jocelyn Langevin, a 7,148 pound thrower in the shot put, is expected to contribute in the discus, shot put and javelin for the Salukis.

New freshmannethanh Hirsh, a javelin thrower from Creton, N.Y., has the potential to do well as this conference season.

New to the team this year are throwers coach David Martin, a former hammer thrower from Indiana State University, and field event coach Darren Loomis, a doubleh who has thrown the Javelin 215 ft. this year.

Also new to the Saluki throwing program is a "new schedule of weight and implementation training" that is "on the other side of the booth," Martin said.

Cornell said a strong team remains because "the young athletes have matured," and assistants have been made to bolster those areas that had been vacated by athletes who have graduated, Cornell said.

Indiana State University figures to be the Salukis' major competition in the conference," Martin said. Indiana State has the top returning 35 lb. weight thrower, two of the top two men running shot putters and three of the top six returning javelin throwers, Martin said.

Daugherty fires 2-over par to win LGPA tournament

By Kevin Simpson

Women's golf coach Diane Daugherty captured the LGPA Midwest Regional Championship held Monday and Tuesday at the Fox Country Club in Columbus, Ohio.

Daugherty finished at two over par after compiling scores of 72 and 74 over the course of the two-day, 36 hole event. She captured the event's $10,000 purse for her first-place finish in the teaching division.

More importantly, her victory qualified her for the LGPA championship next summer. The tournament is usually held in Kings Island, Ohio but will be moved to an unidentified location which will be announced in October.

Although golf is basically a one-person sport, Daugherty is quick to divert the credit for her victory elsewhere.

"I owe it to my team, " Daugherty said. "If I didn't trust them to work hard, I couldn't take the second place. It was nice to go out and play well in a tournament."

Smith says team ready for Nevada

By Daniel Wallenberg

On Saturday, first-year head football coach Bob Smith will begin his career at the University against a perennial power in the Big Sky Conference, Nevada-Reno.

"It's been a break in the weather and when we did get the (hot) Southern California weather, we were in pretty good shape."

Last year at this time the air temperature was in the mid-thirties and the humidity was in the mid-seventies. Last year at the temperature at Memorial Stadium reached 102 degrees.

With only two practices left before Saturday's game, Smith still had some concerns about the overall Saluki team. Team speed and depth are the two main areas where the Salukis lack heading into the season.

Another bright spot to pre-season drills was the absence of any serious injuries, Smith said.

"We hardly had any injuries at the least when surgery or broken bones were involved," Smith said. Many players were rested during the practice season but only as a precaution. Players wear red jerseys during practice to signify injuries and an inability to be involved in full-contact drills.

"The lack of injuries is a sign our kids are in real good condition," Smith said.

Offseason workouts and tough double practice sessions, where the coaches worked the players hard, are what Smith contributed to the low number of injuries.

Junior linebacker Kevin Kuglic and DB Doug Reiner, much of the pre-season grid because of a neck injury but is expected to play against Reno.
