1-23-1963

The Egyptian, January 23, 1963

Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_January1963
Volume 44, Issue 34

Recommended Citation

http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_January1963/6

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1963 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in January 1963 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Alexander Speaks Tonight On Church vs. State

Myrl E. Alexander, director of the SIU Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Correction, will speak tonight on the Morris Library auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

His subject will be "The Prison—A Study in Church-State Relations."

Alexander is a former assistant director of the United States Bureau of Prisons. He is working with seven other SIU professors to develop a Delinquency Control and Prevention Training Center in the East St. Louis area.

Following Alexander’s lecture, a group of students will present a panel discussion on "The Ecumenical Council: The Second and Vatican Council."

Members of the panel will be Charles Hasenstab of Belleville, Carolyn Derrington of Dyersburg, Tenn., Dave Richter of Carbondale and La-Leete McKenzie of Murphysboro.

"People would not obtain divorces for such trivial reasons if they did not get married for such trivial reasons," the Rev. E. Eugene Williams said that when women are asked why they married they often answer "for companionship" or "to have a home of my own." One of the most common reasons which men give for marriage is "it was about time for me to settle down."
Students Find Judging Livestock Is An Art

Southern's Team Competes Against Best In Nation

Athletes and debaters aren't the only SIU students competing in intercollegiate contests. Representing the University on the horticulture branch circuit is the SIU livestock judging team, one of three animal judging teams in the School of Agriculture. Members of the team are seven students who compete against Judging teams from other collegiate agriculture schools in contests based on students' individual abilities to rank closely matched classes of cattle, hogs, sheep, and to give oral reasons for their rankings.

What makes a good livestock judge? "'Judging is an art," says James Down, a former member of the team who is a junior in animal industries. "You must have an eye for this type of thing. Some people could never judge, regardless of how long they practiced."

In Down's case, at least, this "eye" for judging has been enhanced by steady contact with livestock. Born in a family that raises purebred Scotch shorthorn cattle, he has shown the champion shorthorn heifer in the junior division at the Illinois State Fair. He and his six team-mates were chosen from a group enrolled in an Animal Industries 311 livestock judging course last winter.

Under H.W. Miller, faculty coach of the team, they studied to identify characteristics of good livestock, and spent several hours weekly in practicing the SIU livestock centers and at area farms. After completing the course, they put in long hours on further practice.

"Success is a direct result of the amount of time spent," Miller says. "It's like learning your ABC's-the more you practice, the better you get." Constant practice paid off for Down at such contests as the Mid-South at Memphis, where he was high-point individual for the contest, placing the SIU team fifth-place effort. Team-mate Herbert Oetjen led the SIU team to a first-place finish in the Eastern National Livestock Exposition and livestock Exposition at Chicago. Unlike members of athletic teams, students are limited to one year on a livestock judging team, so that a maximum number may get contest experience. Down, Oetjen and their team-mates-Edward Bass, Scothy Campbell, James Miller, Philip Lloy and Allen Wilson-completed their year with competition at the International Livestock Exposition.

McDonald's

Tasty food...affordable prices

OPEN YEAR ROUND

MURDALE SHOPPING CENTER

Summer Workshop To Aid Teachers In Classroom Use Of Newspapers

A new summer workshop to instruct teachers and prospective teachers on the effective use of newspapers as teaching aids is to be held on campus in August.

The 10-day summer workshop will be sponsored jointly by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Southern Illinois Educational Association and SIU Department of Journalism. This is the first time such a course has been offered in the Missouri-Southern Illinois area. Any university student or college senior is eligible to enroll in the workshop, which carries three quarter hours of credit. Workshop dates are Aug. 12-22.

It is designed specifically to serve the needs of teachers in high schools, junior high schools and upper elementary grades.

Dr. Howard R. Long, chairman of the Journalism Department and a former newspaper editor, will direct the workshop. All ways of using newspapers as teaching aids will be explored, he said.

"Newspapers provide an excellent tool for instruction in current events," Long said, "and the workshop will attempt to show teachers how to read newspapers critically and help them teach others to do the same." The course of study for the workshop includes a series of lectures and discussions and participation in a group project. Person enrolled will receive the top news in a daily newspaper at the beginning of each session and will be provided with wire reports from national news service for study.

Summer Workshop To Aid Teachers In Classroom Use Of Newspapers

A new summer workshop to instruct teachers and prospective teachers on the effective use of newspapers as teaching aids is to be held on campus in August.

The 10-day summer workshop will be sponsored jointly by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Southern Illinois Educational Association and SIU Department of Journalism. This is the first time such a course has been offered in the Missouri-Southern Illinois area. Any university student or college senior is eligible to enroll in the workshop, which carries three quarter hours of credit. Workshop dates are Aug. 12-22.

It is designed specifically to serve the needs of teachers in high schools, junior high schools and upper elementary grades.

Dr. Howard R. Long, chairman of the Journalism Department and a former newspaper editor, will direct the workshop. All ways of using newspapers as teaching aids will be explored, he said.

"Newspapers provide an excellent tool for instruction in current events," Long said, "and the workshop will attempt to show teachers how to read newspapers critically and help them teach others to do the same." The course of study for the workshop includes a series of lectures and discussions and participation in a group project. Person enrolled will receive the top news in a daily newspaper at the beginning of each session and will be provided with wire reports from national news service for study.

Summer Workshop To Aid Teachers In Classroom Use Of Newspapers

A new summer workshop to instruct teachers and prospective teachers on the effective use of newspapers as teaching aids is to be held on campus in August.

The 10-day summer workshop will be sponsored jointly by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Southern Illinois Educational Association and SIU Department of Journalism. This is the first time such a course has been offered in the Missouri-Southern Illinois area. Any university student or college senior is eligible to enroll in the workshop, which carries three quarter hours of credit. Workshop dates are Aug. 12-22.

It is designed specifically to serve the needs of teachers in high schools, junior high schools and upper elementary grades.

Dr. Howard R. Long, chairman of the Journalism Department and a former newspaper editor, will direct the workshop. All ways of using newspapers as teaching aids will be explored, he said.

"Newspapers provide an excellent tool for instruction in current events," Long said, "and the workshop will attempt to show teachers how to read newspapers critically and help them teach others to do the same." The course of study for the workshop includes a series of lectures and discussions and participation in a group project. Person enrolled will receive the top news in a daily newspaper at the beginning of each session and will be provided with wire reports from national news service for study.
A Medley Of Activities Features Fun And Learning

Meetings for fun and learning, skill sessions for planning, all these are a part of the popuarity of student activities today. A coffee for the honor students in the School of Business will be held in the Family Living Lab at 10 a.m. Painting classes for the winter quarter are starting tonight. The Special Interests committee is heading up arrangements for Bill Perkins to give instruction at all levels Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m., in Room B of the University Center. Mary Crawford is the chairman.

There will be a meeting of the University Center Programming Board and all committee members in the River Room of the Center at 6 p.m. Clarence E. Dougherty, director of the Center, will speak on plans for further use of the building. The meeting is open to all, and there will be a free Leadership Training session.

The schedule for the evening will be held in the Center include:

- Inter fraternity Christian Fellowship, 7:30 p.m., in Room F.

- The other will be the regular Wednesday showing of a "Cinema Classic," at 7:30 p.m., in the Student Union Theatre Picture, "The Golden Age of Classics" by Eicher. The Education and Cultural Committee of the University Center Programming Board will meet in the center at 8 p.m. Any student interested in joining the committee is invited to attend.

- The International Night Committee of the Board will meet in Room E at 9 p.m.

WSIU-TV Schedule

Wednesday--7:30 p.m.

Bold Journey presents "18 Months on the Velsh," an exciting pictorial display of catching wild animals alive in Africa.

8:00 p.m.

"Makes the Whole World Kite A Tap Dance," and "On Being an Amateur" are essays by O. Henry, a dramatic short story; a commentary on jazz dancing; and the value of non-specialization is enthused in the final selection.

8:30 p.m.

Play of the Week presents "The Wooden Dish," a moving drama of the struggles of a family.

Give Graduate Exam

The Testing Center will give the Graduate School English Exam next Saturday, Jan. 26, at 1, in Purr Auditorium. This test applies to all Master Degree candidates and must be taken before graduation from SIU.

All students must pre-register prior to this exam at the Graduate School Office, 309 W. Mill St.

The Block and Bridle club has announced a meeting of the group for Thursday at 7:30 in the Agriculture Seminar Room.

The Recreation Club will meet this Thursday in Room B of the University Center at 8 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is the election of officers.

The annual Military Ball Show will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom.

Purpose of the show is to display the types of formal gowns which will be worn at the Ball.

Ruth Horton, 1962 Homecoming Queen, will preside at the style show in the absence of last year's Mill Ball Queen, Ann Werner. The queen candidates of the 1963 ball will model the gowns they plan to wear to the dance and coro­nation to be held Feb. 2.

The theme this year will be "Southern Style," Rick Berger will coordinate the style show with group and individual acts as additional entertainment.

The following show, a Pre-Ball dance sponsored by the dance committee of the Center Programming Board will be held in the Ballroom. Music will be furnished by the University Stage Band.

Chairmen of the style show are Lou Sucich and Marjorie Elischer.

SIU Sweatshirts $2.69 Each 2 for $5.00

Model Airplanes & Cars (ALL TYPES)

JIM'S SPORTING GOODS

Merdale Shopping Center

RENT A ROYAL

BRUNNER Office Supply

321 S. ILLINOIS

FINE FURNITURE HELLENYS

214-220 N. 14

HERRIN, ILL.

"PERFECTION" is the word for our PIZZA

WE DELIVER AND OFFER COMPLETE CARRY-OUT SERVICE SEVEN DAYS A WEEK 4-11 P.M.

Call 457-2999

THE PIZZA KING

719 S. Illinois

THE "IRENE" Campus Florist

607 S. III.
457-6660
WASHINGTON--A new round of nuclear test-ban talks began Tuesday accompanied by a White House adviser's prediction that an agreement is "within shooting distance."

President science adviser Jerome B. Wiesner made the statement in a Voice of America radio interview. The script was released as disarmament negotiators William C. Foster of the U.S., Semyon K. Tsarapkin of the Soviet Union and David Orlinsky of Great Britain met at the State Department.

Wiesner said the real issue now is the gap between the yearly number of inspections which Khrushchev offered—two or three—and the U.S. demand, which has been eight or 10. Wiesner said, "This is a gap which can be closed by continued negotiations and we hope that in the next few months we will see the gap close."

Test-ban talks have been going on since 1958. Other U.S. authorities mixed reservation with any optimism. The Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has stated France must be included in a test-ban pact. The question of Red China, which may soon become an atomic power, has also been mentioned as a possible problem.

U.S. officials noted that under the American proposal, no nation signing the treaty would remain bound by the ban if any other country-in or out of the treaty-net off a nuclear explosion.

NEW YORK--New York shipping firms Tuesday accepted a government-proposed formula for settlement of the multimillion dollar, month-old East and Gulf coast dock strike.

This acceptance vote by the 145-member New York Shipping Association would normally set a pattern for firms from Maine to Texas, but there is concern that southern Atlantic and Gulf Coast employers might balk this time.

TEHRAN, Iran--Police Tuesday dispersed a large crowd of shopkeepers, religious leaders and land­lords who were agitating against the shah's referendum on land and other reforms.

BEIRUT, Lebanon--A panol from the Syrian Camel Corps rode into Lebanon Monday and opened fire on villagers. The National News Agency said none of the villagers were wounded.

PARIS--Defense Minister Pierre Messmer is reported to have said that France will have to increase its atomic bomb force and the means to transport them at the end of the year, Newman reported of Messmer's statement before a closed meeting of National Assembly deputies from those who heard him.

WASHINGTON--The Senate Republican Policy Committee decided Tuesday to conduct an independent investigation of the 1961 Cuban invasion.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a news conference the action was not predicated on previous charges by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. Goldwater said an attempt was made to lay the blame for failure on former President Eisenhowers' administration.

WASHINGTON--Sweeping curtailment of individual deductions will bite deeply into the income tax bills of millions of Americans, the Treasury Department said, increasing the tax liability of millions of Americans.

The Senate Republican Policy Committee voted to make cuts in deductions which will increase the tax liability of millions of Americans.

WASHINGTON--Defense Secretary Robert McNamara told a news conference the senate would include a tax increase.

Drama Lectures:

Costumes Give Audience Clue About 'What's Coming Off'

A theatrical costume designer visiting SU for two days last week knew what to expect from a costume designer who believed in practicing what she preaches.

When Professor Lucy Bar­ton says that no one who has not acted should design cos­tumes for the theater, she is giving ample reason why she should design costumes for the theater.

When Miss Barton was asked in what area she had experience, she replied that she had had experience in all phases of theater, from acting to directing, and this is the role of cos­tume designer.

A vivacious and active per­son, Miss Barton began her career at Carnegie Institute of Technology with aspirations to act. But like many others in theater, she found herself being drawn into other phases of theatrical production and soon discovered herself mak­ing all of the costumes for the plays.

She learned that "costuming requires not only a knowledge of the historical setting of a play, but of personalities, col­lor, lighting, line and symbol."

"Your grandmother's dress may be lovely and appropriate for a certain period, but it may not be effective on the stage. And even if a costume fits all the requirements of historical truth, it is use­less if the actor can't move in it," she added with a smile.

Miss Barton will speak at 4 p.m., this afternoon at "Theatre Costume as Ab­stract Design."

"The talk will be presented in the Agricultural Seminar Room.

Econ 205 And 206 To Be Replaced

Economics 205 and 206 will be replaced by a new sequence of courses after this spring quarter, according to Robert G. Layer, chairman of the Economics Department.

New courses will be Pol­itical Economy, GSB 211; Macroeconomics 214 and Microeconomics 215. All three courses are of three quarter hours apiece.

Although the three courses cover areas of Economics 205 and 206, a student may take either Macroe or Micro Economics after he has taken the prerequisite GSB 211.
Six unusual films will be presented by the Cinema Club on Friday, at 8 p.m. in the Ag Seminar room.

F e a t u r e d attraction is "Lonely Boy," winner of the 1963 documentary award at the Cannes Film Festival. The film is an ultra-candid study of the rise of Paul Askia, teenage singing idol.

Also on the program are "A Short Vision," a terse and powerful portrayal of atomic destruction and war; "Football, As It Is Played Today," a rollicking satire which won a Vancouver Festival award. The film is produced by Ohio State University. Also on the program are "The Last Treaty," produced by Charles and Ray Eames; "On The Edge," an experimental treatment of Momism; and "A Moment In Love," a dance drama using multiple films.

Cinema Club members are reminded that anyone unable to attend the Friday screening may send a motion ticket to another person.

S t u d e n t s C a n G e t G e r m a n C r e d i t A n d C u l t u r e T o o

Some fortunate SIU students may have the opportunity of seeing the Berlin Wall as part of the Extension division's nine week "Summer Study in Germany" program.

The group will be met in London by Helmut Hartwig, professor of SIU Foreign Language Department, and taken on a tour of the city. Formal class will be held in Jugendheim, Germany, a small, mountainside village to the Northern Rhine Valley. Students will not only receive nine hours credit for the course, but they may enjoy this enchanting area.

At the close of the academic session, a nine day period is left for the students to tour any of the charming countries of Europe.

Requirements for summer study in Germany are two years of high school German or one year of college German. All interested students may contact Helmut Hirtfeld, assistant professor of the Foreign Language Department.

P r e s i d e n t M o r r i s T o A t t e n d M e e t i n g

President Delyth W. Morris expects to attend a meeting of the Wabash Valley Interstate Commission tomorrow in Terra Haute, Ind.

The Commission, appointed by the governors of Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan, considers industrial and economic matters vital to the development of the Wabash Valley.

W e e k ' s W S IU P r o g r a m s L i s t e d

WSIU-FM is not a "wasteland," as is well demonstrated by some of this week's "don't miss" programs.

W E D N E S D A Y

1:30 p.m.--Germany Today

4:15 p.m.--World of Paperback

7:00 p.m.--The Interpretation of Dreams and Psychopathology of Dreams

8:00 p.m.--Salezburg Festival; Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra; Aaron Kertesz conducting, Elizabeth Schi­ ra, director of Co-operative Wildlife Research, S j u , and Larry Sheffield of the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge, will lead field trips.

S u m m e r C a m p M a n a g e r s T o I n t e r p r e t O u t d o o r s

How to interpret the outdoors and get the interpretation back to summer recreation camps throughout the country is the object of a Camp Managers Course being held this week at Little Giant Camp on Little Grassly Lake south of Carbondale.

The course, for which 52 persons from 22 states have registered, is chiefly for ministers and lay people who have positions in camps, declared L. B. Sharp, director of The Outdoor Education Association, Inc., and a professional education.

Sponsored by The Outdoor Education Association in cooperation with S I U , the seminar includes Sharp; William Freeberg, chairman of S I U ' s recreation and outdoor education department; the Rev. Richard McCall, pastor of the First Presbyterian Synod of Chicago, a member of the Committee of Camps and Recreation Service; and the National Council of Churches of Christ in America; and the Executive Office of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America; and the Extension division of SIU, Little Grassly campus.

Neil Howley of SIU's forestry department, William Klimstra, director of Co-operative Wildlife Research, S j u , and Larry Sheffield of the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge, will lead field trips.

This pen can save you important money on cartridges. Ours are BIGGER and last longer (each is good for 8 or 9 thousand words). But, even if you didn't save a dime, this pen would be worth the extra price. It's a Parker.

And only Parker gives you a solid 14K gold point tipped with platinimum—one of the hardest, smoothest alloys ever developed. It should last you for years, no matter how much you use it.

The pen won't leak the way the cheap ones do. It has a built-in safety reservoir, and it must meet most of the tough specifications we set for our pens.

P A R K E R M a k e r of the world's most wanted pens

W S I U - T V Now Offering Sociology 101 Course

Douglas Rennie, assistant professor of sociology, is currently conducting an introducsociology course, Tuesday and Thursday, at 7 p.m., on WSIU-TV.

Those wishing to take a credit course in sociology, or who may have merely a non­ academic interest in it and who are not able to attend campus lectures, now have the opportunity to take this subject. This is a four hour course for those taking the extension course and a five hour course for students registered on campus.

According to Rennie, his main task is giving the lectures. The Extension Division takes care of the details of registration, book rental and correspondence with the students. However, Rennie will meet with the students three times during the course: at the end of the first, to answer questions and clear up problems, and at the end of Feb, and March for examinations. Rennie said that "careful study and analysis will be required before the department will be able to ascertain the degree of effectiveness of this particular medium of instruc­

This is the first lecture on this course that began on Jan. 3. Each lecture lasts for 30 minutes and there will be a total of twenty-five lectures.

Students living on campus are not eligible for credit in this course, but they are invited to view the lectures if they so wish. Room 102 in the Home Economics building has been reserved for this purpose.

11 New Foreigners Enroll This Term

SIU has 11 new foreign students on campus this term, according to Mrs. Mary Wake­ land, assistant foreign student advisor.

This includes one student each from Nepal and Madagascar, new countries to SIU's ever growing list.

This brings the total of foreign students on campus to 235 for the winter quarter. These students represent 35 foreign countries plus Puerto Rico, PARKER ARROW $10 pen.

If you have trouble saying it, say it with a Parker. If you're a little shy and have difficulty saying "I love you" or even "I like you very much," say it with a Parker.

The new Parker Arrow makes a beautifully expressive gift and looks as if you paid a small fortune for it.

The new Parker Arrow comes in black, dark blue, light blue, light gray, and bright red, with a choice of four instantly replaceable solid 14K gold points. Girl-boxed with five free cartridges.
The Vain Search For Easy Answers

Philosophy's Treasures Are Not On The Surface

By David L. Norton in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch

A FAMILIAR FIGURE on every college campus is the freshman who wonders for Philosophy 101 in full confidence that there will have revealed to him the ultimate meaning of life and the universe. His trust is compelling, and although he may not wish to accompany him as he moves from one class to another, Platonic colleagues, Descartes, Locke, Hegel, Schopenhauer, Kierkegaard, and others must be taken with him. A faint smile marks an "X" on the place where the treasure lies. Anyway, if this fellow devours the early chapters, but keeps a hold of his eye, he is already casting restless glances toward the next volume on his shelf. Once or twice, in Hegel, or very likely in Nietzsche, he feels himself excited and holds on to his book, but the vision soon fades and the curiosity sinks back into the sea of language.

There is something grand about these characters: the element of delusion. Both qualities are suggested in lines of a song by Irving Berlin: "...life is a pursuit for meaning, it is a pursuit for a limitless mansion, a melancholy one. It is as futile as the whole business of a pursuit for truth, for out of an awareness of delusion, to have an idea what philosophy has to offer."

I was said of the American philosopher Josiah Royce that after finishing his massive work "The World and the Individual" he had remembered what he wanted to say, so he wrote the few pages that are included as an appendix. Noteworthy here is the fact that the appendix will not understand him unless he is one who has mastered the volumes of the main text, which are intelligible only to a philosopher.

The reason life cannot be plundered by lightning raid is that the rewards of its many realms are meaningful only to those who immerse themselves in those realms. The situation is analogous to that of the boy who enters the desert, loses himself there, and wanders for six months in the desert, whereupon he flies a stream. Nothing could be more preposterous to him now. Yet if he

IN MUCH the same way, the sophists and Socrates went to learn the art of debate in order to teach others worldly success, but the best of them emerged as true philosophers, indis

Gas Bode Says . . .

The search for the Big Answer was, in Socrates's day, a search for the door to the door in the belief that if he could only find that door, he would admit him to unlimited reward. It might be called the Romantic search. Today it is for the by the bandwagon, for it is likely to be by the Knoders, for by the bond with which the bandwagon is made. Thus, to Mr. Koester must stand as the archetype of the modern vapid mind. He had, however, to the point that this way is to insure failure, I believe, for it is likely to lead to a low which dips in full flight to brush the surface of the lake.

IN PHILOSOPHY, the case against the digging swallow type of intellectual is to be read in the example of an acquaintance of mine, a man who has explored these waters in depth. He found himself asked regularly at cocktail parties to explain what philosophy has to offer. "While standing on one foot," and he soon learned that anything he might say produced only disapproval or scorn. To mend the situation he wrote a book, to which he now refers all such inquiries. This book sets forth the thought of the major contemporary philosophers. It is six hundred pages long. He who reads it thoroughly will look back at the writer's interpretations by turning to the many works cited. They number more than a hundred. Thereafter he will want to trace the modern problems back to their historical origins. It is not unlikely that in several years time he will have an idea what philosophy has to offer.

The concern voiced by students during the last year over the job the University Center is doing in fulfilling its needs has aroused the interest of Student Government. Several officials will be requested to appear before council to explain their efforts and bring into prospective plans the University Center for the future.

Conflicts are bound to result in any function, especially in the use of a center that is as well-used as the one at Southern, Dean I. Clark Davis, student affairs director, points out that S IU's University Center is one of the most-used centers in the nation.

Student complaints have building up since the opening of the center. One of the first that came to mind, a name, University Center. Why not Student Union? The conception is that the building was erected for the students, and that when demands are made in personal and in collective life, one consequence of this recognition is the demand of prestige attaching to the exonic, the occult, the un­

Another consequence is perhaps the wiser, for out of an awareness of the need for immersion we are able to detect the patent fraud in every offer of ultimate life. We must also therefor for the center, turned them down.

Several campus groups have written to students to be fore they are actually presenting an event or examination it is necessary to ensure that the students have an opportunity to attend and participate.

IRVING DILLIARD

Proud Names for Schools

One of the strangest of all missed opportunities in the United States is in the naming of public educational institutions. That is what makes a list of new school names in Chicago worth attending to all states. The Chicago board of education did not name these schools for "The building is only bondage," and if the name is too much nearer home, wherever the board for the center suggested the addition of two magazines to the stock of magazines available in the sale at the information desk. The students, Frere Dougherty, director of the center, turned them down.

Several campus groups have written to students to be informed about any event or examination it is necessary to ensure that the students have an opportunity to attend and participate.

The Center: Fulfilling Student Needs?

The center was planned with an enrollment of 15,000 in mind. That enrollment is expected to exceed 10,000. Traf­ ick in the center becomes a problem and smooth opera­ dation does take some effort. The administration feels that permitting others to make the flowers in the corridors, with all the button-holing that goes along with such events, would be the source of congestion.

University officials are just as concerned with utilizing the University Center in the best possible way as are the students. The building is only bondage, but tickets for flowers in the corridors would be a source of congestion.

University officials are just as concerned with utilizing the University Center in the best possible way as are the students. The building is only bondage, but tickets for flowers in the corridors would be a source of congestion.

There is a general consensus among university officials that the未成的 portion of the center are to be used for, however, with the realization that the future will bring higher enrollments. As a result, certain perceived ideas as to the center's use are expected to change. As a result, the hotel rooms that were originally suggested as rooms for students are now being reconsidered.

The Student Council is in the process of learning the plans for the center's completion. A meeting such as the council has called might be beneficial to students and administration if it brings about a successful exchange of opinions and ideas.

Erik Stottrop

U. S. Camus in Venezuela

Johnson wrote poetry, served as United States consul in Venezuela and Nicaragua 36 years ago, and was the author of "The Wizard of Omaha," a biography of the American mathematician, astronomer, and almanac editor who was appointed by President Jefferson to a commission that laid out the District of Columbia.

U. S. Camus in Venezuela

Johnson wrote poetry, served as United States consul in Venezuela and Nicaragua 36 years ago, and was the author of "The Wizard of Omaha," a biography of the American mathematician, astronomer, and almanac editor who was appointed by President Jefferson to a commission that laid out the District of Columbia.

Johnson wrote poetry, served as United States consul in Venezuela and Nicaragua 36 years ago, and was the author of "The Wizard of Omaha," a biography of the American mathematician, astronomer, and almanac editor who was appointed by President Jefferson to a commission that laid out the District of Columbia.

Injuries Plague Saluki Wrestlers As They Prepare For Miami Of Ohio

After a disappointing loss to Bloomsburg State two weeks ago, Southern's wrestling team will try to get back to winning ways this Saturday night, when they face Miami of Ohio at Oxford.

The Redkins, who have not come up with a strong wrestling squad in recent years, list a veteran outfit this season but still do not have much depth.

Outstanding wrestlers include Larry Janis, a 137-pound Mid-America champ and Dick Orsteb, MAC champ at 177-pounds. Ron Massack is another experienced senior. He'll be competing in the 130-pound division.

Miami has been defeated in conference competition this year by strong Toledo, 19-9 and by Ohio University.

Although the Salukis handed the Redkins a 26-6 defeat last year, coach Jim Wilkinson is not taking the Ohioans lightly. His squad still isn't in top shape yet and is hampered by a number of injuries.

Pat Coniglio and Irazy Ramos will be out of action because of leg injuries sustained in the Bloomings match. Dave Holian hasn't been able to work out all week because of the flu. There is one bright spot however, as Tony Jackson returns after being out with an elbow dislocation.

Dan Devine, who has not been able to break into the win column as yet, will try to rebound in the 135-pound division. Terry Finn, who has posted a fine 7-2 record to date, will compete at 130-pounds.

Chico Coniglio, 6-2 this year, will go at the 137-pound spot. At the 147-pound class, Wilkinson is uncertain who will go but it'll probably be either Terry Allen, Mike George or Mike Alkconis.

It'll be Erick Felock or Pat Coniglio, who is trying to recover from an ankle sprain, at 157-pounds. Don Millard, who has been consistent at the 167-pound position, while posting a fine 6-1 slate, will remain at that post.

All-American Ken Houston, who hasn't seen too much action thus far, will work at 177-pounds. If Houston, who finished second in the Pan American tryouts, is unable to compete, it'll probably be Bill Hartnell at the 177-pound spot.

Larry Krstoufek who rounds out the list, will be at the heavy-weight spot. The big heavyweight has done a creditable job at that position while compiling an 8-2-1 record.

Wilkinson is saving his 191-pound ace, Roger Plapp for the big meet with Oklahoma State. The Cowboys will be here on Saturday night, Feb. 16.

All Winter Sports Teams
In Action This Weekend

Bill Meade's gymnastic squad will see action Friday and Saturday. Sunday the Saluki gymnasts go against Man­kato State (Mankato, Minn.) and then Saturday travel to Minneapolis for a meet with Minnesota of the Big Ten.
JIM BATTLE TO TURN PRO

Jim Battle, four-year vereran at end for SU's football team, will sign a professional football contract with the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League after the June graduation ceremonies.

Battle said he does not want to sign the contract yet because he would lose his SU athletic scholarship. He considers the amateur status more advantageous now than if he turned professional.

Battle set a new pass receiving record for most yards gained in a career last fall. Battle totaled 1,010 yards for his four year football career. He was selected by his teammates as the most valuable lineman on the SU football squad last fall.

Battle played every game at Southern during his four year football career. Carmen Pico cce, SU and all ball, coach, had no problem filling the right end position for games after the fall of 1959 when Battle stepped in.

He held the position throughout his four years and Picoce anticipates some difficulty in finding a suitable replacement for the bustling, hard-blocking end.

He came to Southern after playing football for the Great Lakes Naval Base. His team lost to Southern but Picoce and Bob Franzi liked what they saw in the game and offered a scholarship to play football at Southern. Battle halls from Chicago and is anxious for his collegeto days. He is ready to launch the professional football career.

Effects Of Farm Developments Is Farm Workshop Topic

The effect of new farming developments on farm credit and financing will be explored at the 6th annual Farm Credit Workshop at SIU Thursday and Friday.

The meeting for farmers and farm lenders will be co-sponsored by the SIU Agricultural Industries Department and the SIU Extension Division.

Alton, R. Paul of the U.S. Department of Agricultural Economic Research Service, Washington, D.C., will highlight the program with a dis-cussion address Thursday on "New Developments in Farm Credit."

Speaking at the Thursday luncheon session, T.P. Axton, president of the Lafayette, Ill., Savings Bank, will discuss the future of farm credit. Axton currently is chairman of the agricultural committee of the American Bankers Association.

Other workshop topics will deal with financing problems resulting from the technological revolution in agriculture, the effect of the changing character of today's farm operator on credit and production, new developments in livestock and crop production and in farm machines, dealer credit financing of machinery and food, and farm management last fall, "A New Look at Farm Budget Analysis."

Discussing the topics will be Herman M. Haag, Walter R. Rampages and Francis J. Clippes (South).