7-17-1964

The Daily Egyptian, July 17, 1964

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_July1964
Volume 45, Issue 182

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1964 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in July 1964 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Library Closing Blamed On Contractor's Mixup

Air Conditioning Troubles Explained

Woman Journalist, 72, Wins Editorial Award

"One of my sons roped me in."

Thus did Mrs. T. M. B. Hicks describe her belated entry into the world of newspaper work. Her 14-year career was capped Thursday night by winning the highest editorial-writing award at the Southern Illinois University Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors.

Mrs. Hicks holds the 72-year-old's record for the longest newspaper job when a woman was needed in an emergency. Thursday evening, she was awarded the Golden Quill for her editorial, "The Eternal Flame," which was judged the best weekly newspaper editorial written for the local papers entered in the annual contest.

Mrs. Hicks writes for the Southern Illinois University News. She had been producing a column for the paper starting in 1942, and seven years later, an emergency created a vacancy on the paper. "One of my sons roped me in on it," she said, describing how she entered full-time newspaper work at this period in her life.

In 1953, she was voted Pennsylvania Newswoman of the Year. Currently, she is writing a book entitled "Just Cancel My Subscription."

"Sometimes I feel like I'm being a woman," Mrs. Hicks declared.

She has resided in Maryville, Mass., Mass., Georgia, Texas, and California. "I feel that the reason Goldwater got the nomination was because he was acting more like a furnace than an air conditioner," she said. "The new equipment will be all new, and it will have a random access storage unit with a wide range of usage," he said. "It will also have process control capabilities," he added.

Aaron Maye, chief of the SIU campus Academic Admissions Office, said nearly 2,000 SIU students were still undecided last month about their major, and over 700 summer students are still undecided.

"There are 10 majors listed in the General Studies Bulletin for undergraduates of the Carbondale campus," a selection of a major field of study at SIU is an important decision and that a good number of students have not made yet.

"Choose Majors With Care, Graham Urges Bewildered"

This given one quite a selection," Graham said. "There are 10 majors listed in the General Studies Bulletin for undergraduates of the Carbondale campus."

This may be how things are in the world of journalism. For example, "The Eternal Flame" was written and published following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The paper was rich and it was written. The next day, the new equipment was directed primarily to faculty research and teaching.

Another part of his memoir presented a system of priorities for the programming and operations staff at the Computing Center.

These staffs, Graham said, "have extremely heavy demands placed upon them."

"There are 10 majors listed in the General Studies Bulletin for undergraduates of the Carbondale campus."

Selection of a major field of study at SIU is an important decision and that a good number of students have not made yet.

"Choose Majors With Care, Graham Urges Bewildered"

This given one quite a selection," Graham said. "There are 10 majors listed in the General Studies Bulletin for undergraduates of the Carbondale campus."
Eileen Quigley
Named Consultant

Eileen E. Quigley, dean of the School of Home Economics, has been appointed a consultant on home and family problems to the Governor's Commission on the Family. She recently returned from Springfield where she participated in the commission's first hearing for central Illinois. Emily Tate Douglas, former congresswoman and wife of Sen. Paul Douglas, was the speaker.

The commission will hold another hearing Aug. 3 in Edwardsville.

MOVIE HOUR
SATURDAY, JULY 18
FURR MINORITORY UNIVERSITY SCHOOL
SHOWING AT 8:00 P.M. ONLY
BARBARA STANWYCK
JAMES MASON
AVA GARDNER

“EAST SIDE, WEST SIDE”

Mortal fidelity among a group of highly sociable bananas becomes "un digging the mines" when a challenger is stopped by a butcher.

ADMISSION
ADULTS 50c, STUDENTS 25c WITH ACTIVITY CARDS

Teachers in Forefront

Plenty of Jobs Available for SIU Grads;
Bryant Notes Better Opportunities in '64

August graduates should have trouble finding jobs. the SIU Placement Service reports. This will be especially true in the case of teachers, according to Roye R. Bryant, director.

The only expectation might be in jobs that require special training during the summer months, he added.

Bryant said that 1964 has been a particularly good year for college graduates securing desirable positions. “Salaries are two to three per cent higher with better work conditions than in the past,” Bryant said. He added that there are more firms seeking graduates this year that last.

And there are more out-of-state employment opportunities than in the past,” he said.

Bryant said that the companies representing who come here have said that they feel SIU graduates are better trained than they were some years ago, and there is a bet­ter understanding on the part of the graduates in the more technical fields.

Bryant said his office has been able to place most gra­duates who apply for jobs. However, he said some do not accept offers for various reasons.

Some go directly into mili­itary service, others take assistant­ships to work toward advanced degrees, and still others seek jobs in certain geographical areas where positions in their field are not currently available.

The last reason is especially true of Southern Illinois. he said, where wives of grad­uate or undergraduate au­ditors want to stay here until their husbands complete their education.

The follow and alien sound of hooves on Pennsylvania Avenue is the six grey horses and the outsider on the seventh. The flag-draped casket on the caisson. The riderless horse with its empty saddle, dancing feet spurring the pavement, resting under the arches, the crowd.

The Navy Band — Hail to the Chief—America the Beautiful—The Navy Hymn.

The unwinding procession of mourners filing past the bronze casket, high on the catafalque in the vast and echoing corridors of the Capitol, the same catafalque where Abraham Lincoln had lain in state almost a hundred years ago.

Dark faces among the grieving multitudes and among the chosen men who guarded the casket, North and South and East and West, at the four points of the compass.

Notables from other countries, heads of state, delegations, arriving at Dulles Airport past the bronze casket, high on the catafalque where the Unknown Soldier, where the President of the United States had placed, so short a time ago, a wreath in memory.

Lincoln had lain in state.

The firing squad, three short bursts of fire.

The flag, held taut above the casket by engraved service men, folded now with beautiful precision, and passed ceremonially from one hand to the other, by the President.

The Lincoln Memorial at the entrance to the building, the Potomac, the procession from St. Matthew's to Arlington Cemetery. sleek black limousines of escort vehicles.

The solemn ceremony. The Black Watch, and the waUing bagpipes. The Memorial Bridge, and the grey horses of the Adjutant General into the buildings into the United States capitol. The same catafalque where the President of the United States had laid, so short a time ago, a wreath in memory.

Plenty of Jobs Available for SIU Grads; Bryant Notes Better Opportunities in '64

August graduates should have trouble finding jobs. the SIU Placement Service reports. This will be especially true in the case of teachers, according to Roye R. Bryant, director.

The only expectation might be in jobs that require special training during the summer months, he added.

Bryant said that 1964 has been a particularly good year for college graduates securing desirable positions.

“Salaries are two to three per cent higher with better work conditions than in the past,” Bryant said. He added that there are more firms seeking graduates this year than last.

And there are more out-of-state employment opportunities than in the past,” he said.

Bryant said that the companies representing who come here have said that they feel SIU graduates are better trained than they were some years ago, and there is a better understanding on the part of the graduates in the more technical fields.

Bryant said his office has been able to place most graduates who apply for jobs. However, he said some do not accept offers for various reasons.

Some go directly into mili­tary service, others take assistant­ships to work toward advanced degrees, and still others seek jobs in certain geographical areas where positions in their field are not currently available.

The last reason is especially true of Southern Illinois. he said, where wives of grad­uate or undergraduate au­ditors want to stay here until their husbands complete their education.
Shakespeare Plays to Relive
On Radio ‘Festival’ Program

The Shakespearean Festival will feature “The Great Globe Itself!” and “A Midsummer Night’s Dream” at 2,000 Undecided.

On Major Fields

(Continued from Page 1)

eductional goals. One of the prime goals of the Counseling and Testing Center is to help students evaluate themselves, learn to read materials, describe the field of work and advanced graduate study, and make realistic educational and vocational plans.” Graham said.

He suggested these possibilities for students who want assistance in selecting an appropriate major:

1. Discuss various majors with friends and check the appropriate bulletin to learn what courses a person must complete.

2. Make an appointment with some faculty member in the department of possible choices.

3. Review the vocational information file in the Education Section of Morris Library.

4. Review the vocational information in the reading room of the Academic Advisement Center.

5. Arrange for an appointment to see a counselor in the Counseling and Testing Center. If it is appropriate to take additional interest or aptitude tests, these can be arranged.

My Fair Lady — Mary J. Smith of Mt. Vernon and the make-up artist practice for their work in the SIU Summer Music Theater Production of “My Fair Lady.” The two photographs show Miss Smith, who has the role of Eliza, as

Movies, Parties, Outings Offered
For Midsummer School Pastime

Friday, July 17

Freshman Testing, Room D of the University Center, 7:30 a.m. till noon.

Practical nursing examination, Morris Library Auditorium, 8:30 a.m. till 3 p.m.

Organic chemistry seminar, Room C of the University Center, 10 a.m.

Tennis class sponsored by the Men’s Physical Education Department, University tennis courts, 7 p.m.

Cinema Classics; “Fury,” 5 p.m. in Browne Auditorium.

The “Millionaires,” presented by the Southern Playboys, 8 p.m. in the Playhouse.

Shylock Audiorium at 8 p.m. July 31, Aug. 1 and 2. All seats are reserved.

Saturday, July 18

ACT Testing, Muckedroy

Saki’s Humor to Be Featured
On Channel 8 Arts Program

Tonight’s Festival of the Arts will feature the dry wit and humor of Saki at 8:30 p.m. on WSIU-TV, “Lauria,” “The Millionaires” and “Hounds of Fate” are among the stories covered tonight.

Other highlights:

4:30 p.m. Industry on Parade.

5 p.m. What’s New: A look at the hard life of the cowboys in the old West.

6:30 p.m. What’s New: A look at the cattle herds being driven to market.

7 p.m. At Issue: A discussion of the Cockney girl prior to her discovery by Prof. Higgins and the glamorous lady who emerged after his tutelage. The show will be presented in Shylock Auditorium at 8 p.m. July 31, Aug. 1 and 2. All seats are reserved.

Saluki Safari to New Salem, Ill., bus leaves the University Center at 10 a.m.

Socialist Discussion Club meeting, Room F of the University Center, 3 p.m.

Iranian students’ meeting, Seminar Room and kitchen, at 10 p.m.

Morte Hour: “East Side West Side,” Furr Auditorium, 8 p.m.

The Millionaires,” presented by the Southern Playboys, 8 p.m. in the Playhouse.

Diary Mae Leap Party,” Room D of the University Center, 8:30 p.m. till midnight.

Sunday, July 19

Saluki Safari to New Salem, Ill., bus leaves the University Center at 10 a.m.

Radio Festival Program
Women’s Nationally Advertised

Summer Coordinating All First Quality

- Jamaicas
- Bermudas
- Slim Jims
- Crop Tops
- Ski Coats
- Blouses
- Skirts
- Short Shorts

Sizes 7 to 18

- Gabardines
- Dacon & Cotton
- Searsucker
- Cotton Ducks
- And Cotton Knits

ALL ON SALE AT LESS THAN 50¢ ON THE DOLLAR

E ... SAVE ... SAVE ... SAVE

DAILY EGYPTIAN
Page 3
The defendants were ac­cused of lying to a 1959 grand jury investigating a 1959 stock fraud indictment.

The government contended that they were able, through contacts in the United States attorney's office, to prevent the indictment of four men involved in the fraud.

The case was a re-trial of the Organization of African Unity after some African leaders vowed they would not sit at the same table with the former Katangan secessionist leader, for­eign ministers preparing for the conference declared Tshombe an undesirable Tuesday but did not oppose Kasavuba's attending.

More money to buy food.

"We have found un­animously the defendants are not guilty."
Miller Is Goldwater's Choice
As No. 2 Man on GOP Team

By the Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO--Triumphant Sen. Barry Goldwater picked Rep. William E. Miller as his running-mate Thursday and moved to unify Republican forces following a wild ride against President Johnson's Democrats.

The Arizona conservative quickly began drafting battle plans with GOP leaders after sweeping to the Republican presidential nomination Wednesday night.

In a swift, massive hand-wagon rolled over Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and other "Stop-Goldwater" forces in a rout-raising first-ballot victory in the convention.

About all that was left after that was for the senator to disclose who he wanted to run with him, and word came this morning.

Goldwater let it be known that Miller, a New York congressman and retiring GOP national chairman, was his man, California GOP Leader William F. Knowland announced the decision at the Republican executive committee's meeting Thursday morning.

Miller's selection came as a surprise, it has been rumored for days he was the senator's first choice and Wednesday night Goldwater all but made it official by announcing he was "very much inclined" toward Miller.

Actually the delegates must now get behind the vice-presidential candidate, but by tradition, the presidential nominee gets his choice.

Miller, a Roman Catholic from Buffalo, is a type of rough-tough campaigner that politicians call a "gut-fighter."

More of less burning his political bridges behind him, Goldwater has announced that he will not run for Senate re-election and will devote all his attention to the presidential battle.

And this, Goldwater said Wednesday night, he will win on the votes of giving the "voters a choice, not an echo."

Next Hurdle Facing Goldwater
Is to Unite Dissatisfied Forces

By The Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. -- Barry Goldwater, the unity of the Republican party his most immediate concern, Thursday embarked upon what he promised would be a tough, but not a personal, campaign against President Johnson.

Goldwater said his personal affection for the Democratic incumbent as a man was too great to use the campaign to get into the gutter, although he did say that brickbats would inevitably be flying.

As a running mate in the vice-presidential race the Arizona Republican picked William E. Miller, national chairman of the party and Congressman from New York State's "Niagara Frontier" county.

Miller is known in the trade as a "gun-fighter," one who enjoys the give and take of political campaigning. Some terms applied to the Roman Catholic New Yorker by his political adversaries are "aggressive," "slam-bang," and "rock'n'rollin'."

Scramble is the first problem to be solved by Goldwater as the summer heads toward fall and the official beginning of the campaign. Gov. William Scranton, who has gone to Hawaii for a vacation, took the floor of the convention after Goldwater's nomination was assured. He asked Republicans to unite behind the candidate.

Scranton, who cannot succeed himself as governor of Pennsylvania, will find himself without a political base, considered so important by professional politicians, when his four-year term ends in 1966.

Goldwater wired the Pennsylvania governor:

"It is my desire and I know it is yours to now unite for a drive to defeat Johnson in November."

Scranton's bitter charges in his one-month-long campaign for the Republican nomination had angered the Arizona conservative.

But the unity appeals of Goldwater and other party leaders--including former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Herbert Hoover--hit some opposition Thursday. Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey said he cannot support Goldwater until the Arizonan modifies some of his views on key issues.

Barry Goldwater

Bucking the Trend

Goldwater--A Man Of Firm Beliefs

SAN FRANCISCO--Barry Morris Goldwater has his own ideas about presidential campaigning--and almost everything else.

"I'm not one of those baby-kissing, hand-shaking, blintz-eating candidates," he said once. "I don't like to insult the American intelligence by thinking that slapping people on the back is going to get you votes."

When a crowd chanted, "We Want Barry," for 10 minutes at a Madison Square Garden rally in New York, Goldwater finally shouted impatiently, "You'll get him if you'll just be quiet." It was not the usual response of a politician to a cheering throng.

By his own account, Goldwater is bucking the trend of history, seeking the White House as a senator from a small-population Western state of Arizona.

Here is where he wants when he wants, sometimes ignoring what political writers regard as pressing local campaign chores.

More than a year ago he said, "I've never done anything to get the nomination, and yet all of a sudden everyone wants me to thrust it on me."

He used to talk of "the president thing" and thought there was no way to get into it.

But last Jan. 5, Goldwater, 55, announced he was going after the top job. Now he says, "I wouldn't have got into this if I didn't really want it."

And his aide said, "However, he has no overwhelming desire to be president. If he thought there was another conservative who could do the job he'd be glad to have him do it."

Goldwater is no spellbinder.

Goldwater to Quit Senate Race

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. -- Sen. Barry Goldwater declared after winning the Republican presidential primary that he will not run for re-election to the Senate.

"I would not run for both places," the senator told reporters.
Bored With Life of Rich

Finance Fairy Tale Catches Shaw Spirit

If you happen to be passing the Southern Playhouse this week and notice the shadowy appearance of a woman in a long red beard and a devilish grin on her face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.

In his impeccable style, Shaw relates the story of Epifania, a millionairess who is bored with the life of the rich and plans to end it through suicide. She decides to commit suicide by climbing over a window at dusk, but the devilish grin on his face, don’t be frightened. The spirit of George Bernard Shaw hovers over the Playhouse, keeping an eye on the performance of his comic character, "The Millionaireess." Shaw must not only be bewitching, but inspiring the performers. Opening night they seemed to have as much fun as the audience, and much time was spent in the making of the modern-day Shaw signature.
Organist in 2 Churches Here

Widow With Three Children Works Way to Degree, Job

About six years ago, a new widow called her three young children together for a council on their future.

The insurance policy left by the husband does not cover higher education for the three children. The question was: Should the family use this resource to train the mother for an academic career?

The decision was affirmative, and now Martha Ann Strawn, 43, stands on the threshold of being awarded her master’s degree in zoology at SIU in 1960.

She has three young children, the wife of her late husband. The question they asked her was: How will we help her to complete her master’s degree? She has considered all the possibilities and the facts of her situation. As a single mother, she feels the children must help her in the effectiveness of writing as a possible career.

What has caused the mist-fear taking the children? She orders her father to put the children to work for food.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.

She has found them satisfying and makes an outstanding scholar. She has decided to gamble the insurance policy and supports her family on her master’s degree.
Family Has Winter, Summer in a Day

The Richard Franklin family left Australia in winter weather this summer and arrived in Hawaii in summer weather the morning they left Australia that evening.

Franklin, director of the Community Development Institute at SIU who spent nearly six months in Australia as a Fulbright lecturer at the University of New England, easily, of course.

Franklin, his wife, Paula, and their two sons, ages 9 and 7, left Brisbane in June, which is an early winter month on the continent far down below the equator, and the change in time zones put them in Honolulu at an earlier hour the same day during the fact their air trip was 4,700 miles long.

Franklin, who also visited six other Australian universities as a lecturer or consultant, said Australia is looking more and more to our education system to see what can be learned from it. And more of its students are coming to the United States for graduate work although the British Isles still get the major portion of them.

Franklin said most Australians are thankful that the United States entered in Far Eastern activities during World War II.

They feel the action kept the Japanese from invading their continent. A national observance in Coral Sea Week, commemorating the Coral Sea battle in which the American Navy turned back the Japanese warships.

He said our extremes in wealth are a bit shocking to the Australians, who live in a country where there is little unemployment and little poverty. Mansions are few, but slums are few, too.

Franklin, who received his doctorate of education degree in social psychology at Columbia University Teachers College in 1955, joined the staff of the SIU Community Development Institute the following year. A native of Ohio who worked as a newspaper reporter for the Toledo Times and the Marion Star in Ohio before receiving his master's degree in journalism at Ohio State University, Franklin was editor of the news bureau of the Church World Service from 1946 to 1948. He was a bomber pilot during World War II.

Shipwreck Party

Planned at Beach

Dancing, a hootenanny, a marshmallow roast and buried treasure will be the features of a Shipwreck Party today. Beginning at 8 p.m., all survivors are invited to gather at Lake-on-the-Campus Beach.

Diana Cannata will lead the hootenanny. Prizes will be offered for the treasure hunt.

Your Newspaper Advertising

Is Your Store’s Image...

1. CONSISTENT: Ads should run consistently — the more often the better. The less advertising a store uses, the harder the ads have to work to create a character image.

2. DIFFERENT: A store’s ad style should be as different from the competitors’ as the store is different.

3. SIMPLE: Ads should not draw attention to itself, but should help get the message read.

4. FLEXIBLE: Ad style should allow you to advertise any kind of merchandise at anytime of the year for sale or non-sale events.

5. LONG LIVED: Ad style must be able to stand the rigors of time, be adaptable, and still maintain its individuality.

6. BUDGETING: Get every benefit of wise budgeting. A budget assures you of enough advertising to attract the attention of a maximum number of prospects with the full story of your merchandise.

Good Ads — sales producing ads — DON’T JUST HAPPEN! Careful “think through” of newspapers full power advertising and “how to budget advertising for bigger volume, more profits” will be discussed and planned at your convenience by competent advertising men who can help you solve your problems and aid you in getting your maximum share of the retail market. Let us discuss your advertising with you — NOW!