Sectioning Will Move To Center

Students going through the Sectioning Center this month should take a long look at their sectioned areas. It may be their last encounter with the familiar cramped quarters in the housing areas. Sectioning has been conducted for the past several years.

A new location is being prepared for Sectioning Center in the University Center. R.B. Jacobson of the University Architect's Office said the preparation is expected to be completed by the last of this month.

Clarence G. Dougherty, director of the University Center, said plans are for the sectioning operation to be moved to the Center as soon as possible after the carpenters work is completed.

The 4,000 square feet that will be occupied by the Sectioning Center will be on the same floor as the Ballroom and will be directly above the University Book Store. Jacobson said, it will be roughly one-half the width of the Center and half its length.

Carpenters started work on the area about two weeks ago.

Ogilvie Elected to Chemist Society

A SIU microbiologist Maurice Ogur, has been elected to membership in the American Society of Biological Chemists.

Ogilvie, professor of microbiology and staff member of the SIU Biomedical Research Laboratory, is believed to be the first SIU faculty member elected for membership in this society. Nominations are limited to biochemists who have shown marked capacity for independent research.

New Housing Regulations Released

To Become Effective September 1, 1963

Copies of the new SIU Housing Regulations approved by the Board of Trustees were released yesterday by the Housing Office. The 19-page statement of standards was mailed to householders.

M. Anita Kuo, supervisor of off-campus housing, said the new regulations apply to both off-campus and on-campus housing for the Carbondale campus and the Alton's Edwardsville campus.

According to a resolution adopted by the Board of Trustees and included in the Housing Regulations report, beginning Sept. 1, 1963, all undergraduate students will be permitted to reside only in those accommodations which have been classified by the Administration as "Accepted Physical Facilities." Minimum standards for "Accepted Physical Facilities" are set down in the new policy statement.

The resolution also provides that criteria for "Accepted Living Centers" will be recommended to the Board next February. The minimum standards for the fall quarter of 1965.

Mr. Ogur said that signs designating housing as being "Accepted Living Centers" will be posted at the present time, but are currently not required.

In order to be designated as an "Accepted Living Center," a house must meet the standards for an "Accepted Physical Facility" and also must not discriminate against the students because of race or nationality.

When the standards are revised and regulations for "Accepted Living Centers" are effective in the fall of 1965, all undergraduate students will be required to reside only in those accommodations which have been classified by the Administration as "Accepted Physical Facilities." The minimum standards for both men and women householders will be required to reside only in those accommodations which have been classified by the Administration as "Accepted Physical Facilities.

Accepted houses will be required to use rental agreement

Baseball Game Reset For Today

SIU's baseball game scheduled yesterday with Evansville was cancelled but will be made up today.

Glenn Martin said Ed Walter will pitch for the SIU's team. Southern will be going after its 10th victory of the season.

Saliquarama To Highlight 1963 Memorial Day Activities

Memorial Day-May 30 will be for reflection and relaxation on the SIU campus. There will be no classes.

The Activities Development Center offers "Saliquarama '63" for recreation and fun at Lake on-the-Green. A day-long program of contests and tournaments will include two shows by a professional group, the Drum Dancers of Tahiti.

Billed as authentic South Sea Island Dancers, the "Pearls of the Pacific," will give shows at 2 and 8 p.m. A charge of 50 cents will be made for admission. Students participating in the center of the day's entertainment with teams formed of students from a floor, a residence hall, fraternity, sorority, off-campus living areas, a group of friends, any combination at all.

There is no limit to the number of students or a team and the number of events each team can enter.

Individual trophies will be awarded to the winners in each of the nine events and a large 25-inch silver trophy will be given to the team which accumulates the most points.

About 50 teams were entered in similar events last year. This year will mark the fourth annual Memorial Day Saliquarama.

A fishing derby will start at 8 a.m. and last all day. At 9:30 a.m. a tennis tournament for both men and women will be conducted at the boat house.

At the same time, a ping pong tournament for both men and women will be held at the boat house and bike races will take off at 10:30.

A singles badminton tournament for both men and women will get underway at the boat house at 10:30 and canoe races will get underway at 1:30 p.m. These will be conducted for men, women and co-ed.

A limbo contest will get under way at 3:30 in the after-noon and free style swimming races will be run off starting at 4 p.m.

New Housing Regulations Effective in September

(Continued from Page 1) contracts drawn up by a committee comprised of members of the Householders Association, Student Government, and the Housing Office. The Householder must live on the premises and shall not be absent from the house for more than one day and never overnight without leaving a qualified person in charge. The name of the appointed person and his address shall be listed in the Housing Office, according to the regulations.

The householder may not rent as a supervised house any rooms in which entrance is other than through a common doorway in the residential facility used by the householder and the students.

Rooms used for both study and sleeping must provide at least 60 square feet per student and in addition, a separate study room of at least 40 square feet per student using it.

Men's houses that have more than six men must provide a living room or lounge or a recreation room for the use of students. Females housing students must have adequate living room or lounge facilities available for the use of the women students and their guests.

The above listed regulations are only a portion of the housing standards. Other important regulations deal with fire safety, health requirements, ventilation, room furnishings, heating, lighting and plumbing.

Copies of the new housing policy and standards are available for inspection at the Housing Office.

Charcoal Sketching Lessons will be held in Room E of the University Center at 8 p.m. tonight. The Psychology department will present films for Psych 201 in Muckelroy Auditorium tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Here is a book that is helping us to get along with others.

Science and Health

Satisfying human relationships can make a big difference between success and failure in college. Whether it's a roommate, a professor, your family, or friends, you want to get along well with them. We are learning a lot about this through our study of the Christian Science textbook Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. You can, too.

We invite you to come to our meetings and to hear how we are working out our problems through applying the truths of Christian Science.

Cooper's Earth-Orbit Flight Reset For Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr.'s big try for 22 orbits today, 30 minutes before blastoff, space officials postponed...as a radar failure around the earth. He demanded in a House speech that the government do something about violations of U.S. territorial waters and the law, which was passed by Congress in the post-Civil War Reconstruction Period.

WASHINGTON

Racial troubles in Birmingham, Ala., were a focal point of discussion yesterday in the Senate leadership and the Democratic congressional leaders. The Senate leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, said that the leaders and President Kennedy "hope that in that city the local elements will be able to bring about a solution of the uneasy situation existing at the present time."

President Kennedy has sent troops into Alabama under a federal law that Alabama Gov. George Wallace says violates an article of the U.S. Constitution. The U.S. Supreme Court evidently never has fully tested the constitutionality of the law, which was passed by Congress in the post-Civil War Reconstruction Period.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.

Illinois Republican Senate leaders agreed at a meeting with Gov. Otto Kerner Tuesday to pass an emergency appropriation for May and June relief checks.

Sen. George Drach of Springfield, GOP Senate majority whip, announced the agreement and said he would recommend its acceptance by a Republican Senate caucus. Drach said that as part of the compromise, it also was agreed the legislature should go ahead immediately with plans to place ceilings on grants for the two-year budget period beginning July 1.

WASHINGTON

The White House said President Kennedy will ask Congress for authority to retaliate if the British government sells U.S. planes in a dispute over bases on North Atlantic air routes.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the bill would be sent to Congress late Tuesday.

College Bowl Contestant Mixes Beauty And Brains

Who says beauty and brains don't mix? Well one SIU student could disapprove that saying, because Judy Sink has plenty of both. As far as beauty is concerned, Judy is a contestant in the Miss Southern Illinois contest to be held at Herrin next month. In the brains department, Judy has the distinction of being one of the 16 finalists from the Carbondale campus, vying for a position on G.E. College Bowl next October. It seems unusual for a girl, who is pretty enough to be in a beauty pageant and at the same time show off her mental attributes. The 16 finalists are probably all are prototyped "egg heads" but Judy obviously does not classify herself in this category.

In fact she seems to think that the rigged competition is "a lot of fun."

"I just go over my English at night and I read Mythology books, news magazines, and art books from cover to cover," said the blue-eyed beauty, "Mythology just fascinates me and I'm good at identifying musical pieces."

The amount of studying can be attested to because of the fact that her room is just cluttered with loads of books of all types. But strangely enough, the brown-haired junior who is from Springfield, rarely burns the "midnight oil" or goes to bed later than 11 o'clock.

JUDY SINK

"I have a full day, going to classes from 8 to 12 and then working from 1 to 5. I also have a night class," she said dragging on a cigarette. "I do all my studying at night. I go to the library quite a bit and sometimes spend all night there."

But for those of you who are thinking that Judy is nothing but an "egg head," forget it. The tall coed, who stands 5-5 and weighs 118 pounds "lives it up on the weekends."

She dates a lot and hardly ever stays home on Friday or Saturday nights. "I have a little trouble with guys who think that I am superior to them because of this thing, but that's ridiculous. I'm dating a fellow now who thinks that way, but I think he's got a lot on the ball—he's just out of practice," commented Judy.

Nineteenth century classical music is Judy's favorite pastime when she is not studying, or dating, or competing in beauty contests, or modeling.
The Zoo Keepers Can Stay
But The Wild Life Has To Go

Ever hear of Frank Rinella or Bob McGuire? They'll probably never go down in history as brave hunters like Frank "Bring Em Back Alive" Buck or the distinctive Clyde Beatty, but if they continue at their strange hobby, you can be sure they'll come close.

McGuire and Rinella, who by mere coincidence bear Buck's first name, have started a menagerie of their own, and they didn't have to search into the darkest wilds of Africa for their specimens.

The hills and creeks of southern Illinois are their "Africa" and their "soo" was, until University regulations caught up with them, room 202 in Warren Hall at Thompson Point.

Rinella, a sophsomore zoology major, and McGuire, a freshman physical education major, are roommates and collected two young cottontail rabbits, two snakes, a shrew, a toad, a frog, a starfish, a clam, and 150 minnows, and named their room as their "soo".

The "soo" got under way when Rinella discovered a nest of rabbits while doing some gardening work for a Carbondale woman.

"I saw a cat go after them," Rinella explained. "And I just rescued them. The cat got a hold of one of them and broke its leg. I brought them home and showed them to Bob."

The boys would save their own lettuce and carrots from Long Hall and take it up to their pets. "When there weren't any salad," said Frank, "we would go out at night and pick grass and clover for them."

The entire hobby is probably the most inexpensive one one could possibly find, for the boys have nature's resources right in their backyard. As far as feeding the snakes and toads, "We would go out to the campus lake and catch a few minnows to feed them."

"But the shrew was a problem," sighed Frank. "All he did was eat, we'd give him 30 beetles but it didn't satisfy him, so he starved to death."

"We had to get rid of the water snake because he stunk too much," Frank simply explained.

But feeding and smelling aren't the only problems in maintaining their hobby because Frank and Bob live with 118 other men, including two other boys in their own room.

One roommate who is apparently afraid of the snakes, would not comment about his feelings on the subject. But one resident, who lives next door to the "menagerie" bravely replied, "It doesn't bother me—as long as they keep it in their room."

Frank and Bob were planning to get rid of their roommates, jokingly of course, so they could have more room for other animals. But University officials suggested that the boys find another abode for their animals, not so jokingly of course.

They complied with the University's wishes but still intend to keep up their hobby—stamps anyone?

For Unity And Responsibility

The proposed all-university Student Senate is something more than an addition to Student Government. It involves all of Southern Illinois University, both the Carbondale campus and the Edwardsville campus, students and the administration.

Two points of interest elevate the power and prestige of the senate above that of just another committee or council.

The first point is the basic reason for any university senate. The second is the function of the senate.

The all-university senate would consist of eight members, four students elected at large from each of the campuses. The part it is intended to play at SIU is one of unification, the promotion of a single SIU image.

The entire university council structure is being revamped with the type of unification in mind that will mean two campuses of a single university working together.

The student body and its government must also be involved. The ideal is to have the drawing together of mon objectives. the student body under common leadership.

The function of the proposed senate as outlined by the joint committee of the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses will contribute to the unification desired. The Student Senate is seen as an all-university policy recommending body by its planners--"to be concerned only with the affairs of students at both campuses." This would serve to bring the outside Government out of the realm of personalities, petty bickering and insignificant interests.

By all-university policy, it is meant that the senate would concern itself with such things as SIU admissions standards. The part to be played by the senate would be the answer to the oft-voiced student cry for greater student involvement in university policy making--if that power is used properly.

It must be asked, however, whether the senate will change the existing Student Councils. There is disagreement among some feeling that the Student Senate will not change the status of the councils because it will be working in a different area.

However, the line dividing the senate and the councils will necessarily be thin. They will overlap in many areas. Any changes in student bylaws will have to be ended by someone.

Thomas Casady, chairman of the joint committee, drew up the senate proposal, feels that "the wings of the Student Councils will be clipped a bit." At the same time, he feels that the senate will tend to bring out the best in the councils. Because the senate will be looking for important issues raised by the Student Councils, it is felt that the councils will become more responsible and more aware of local university problems.

When the senate will begin operation is still a question. The University Council discussed the senate last week, and the hope was expressed for the senate to begin operating next fall. An election of the eight members would probably have to be held this spring, which presents the problem of educating the students so they can vote intelligently.

The interest of the administration in the senate is great. There has been disagreement about the function of the Senate.

It can be expected that the apathy and disinterest with which the majority of the students have regarded Student Government in the past will continue under an all-university Student Senate. But the fact remains that the senate provides a unique opportunity to those students who are concerned with getting more from their years at the university.

Letter To The Editor:

Activities Of Wendell O'Neal Reflect Qualities Lacking In Other Students

It is best that such a question as the characterization of Wendell O'Neal, the recent campaign candidate for President of Student Government, be discussed in the current campaign for student officers. Although all candidates have been agreeable in manner in which it arose, the question proved to some advantage that it openly suggested an opinion which may be held by many other students.

Another "opinion," however, also exists which is equally unacceptable, with "Southern's" name and with the action of the students. This opinion not only agrees with, but, in many instances, encourages such activities as those participated in by Wendell O'Neal.

Many of O'Neal's activities, both on and off campus, reflect a quality lacking in many of us students—that of a lack of organization of present issues, willingness to go to court with convictions, and the very courage to act upon those convictions at the risk of public ridicule.

Southern can only be proud of both its former students who are actively expressing their convictions in the South and of its students who are attempting to express similar convictions and concern for others in the Southern Illinois area.

SEN. BARRY GOLDSWATER
Our Co-existence Policy

The question of a official policy on Cuba keeps recurring in the nation's capital. The administration keeps insisting that it has one and that it is not one of co-existence with communism.

But how do we know how else a New Frontierman or anyone else could describe the official attitude of the United States to the situation in the Caribbean. If our policy isn't one of co-existence, what is it? We certainly are co-existing in the present time and nothing in what the administration offers in the name of "policy" holds out the possibility that this will be changed.

For example, the question came up in Washington recently at the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. President advisor McGee Bundy, appearing on a foreign affairs panel discussion, was asked to outline in detail its government's policy on Cuba.

Here, according to the newspaper accounts, is what Mr. Bundy described as the major elements of the administration's Cuban policy:

1. To support the establishment of Communist military strength in Cuba that could be a threat to the security of the United States or could be used to expand communism to the rest of the hemisphere.
2. To isolate Cuba from the free world by obtaining agreements with our allies to reduce trade with Cuba.
3. To build strong counteractive forces against communism by promoting social and economic programs in Latin America.
4. To follow a course of vigatous watchfulness.
5. To follow a policy of not imposing a naval blockade of Cuba and not to invade Cuba.

Point One apparently means that the United States will not attempt to reintroduce big missiles and bombers into Cuba or any attempt by the Castro government to forcibly overthrow other Latin American governments.

But what does Mr. Bundy mean when he says... "prevent the establishment of Communist military strength that could be used to expand communism to the rest of the hemisphere? Presumably he means the entire hemisphere, for there is no doubt whatever that the Communai military strength already existing in Cuba is being used to expand communism.

Certainly the remainder of the points in Mr. Bundy's list of elements are all geared to co-existence with a Soviet military presence in the western hemisphere. If we install Cuba by cutting off trade from our allies, it doesn't isolate Cuba from trade with the Communist bloc-planes, and it won't bring about the non-existence of a Sovietized Cuba. Nor will the 50 miles off our southern coast destroy because we promote social and economic programs or follow a policy of watchful vigilance. It will merely grow and spread.

But any way you look at it, Point Five is the giveaway so far as American policy is concerned. If, as Mr. Bundy is quoted as saying, our policy is not to impose a naval blockade and not to invade, then it is completely meaningless.
Qualls Leads SIU Batters

Jerry Qualls continues to lead SIU's baseball team in hitting. Currently batting .347 and after 15 games with a .380 batting average.

He has batted safely 27 times in 71 appearances at the plate. Three home runs are included in his hit output. All last year he only hit two home runs and 22 base hits.

Jim Long, junior outfield baseman, is in second place behind Qualls with a .291 average. He has had at bat 50 times and hit safely 17 times. Following Long with a .333 average is catcher Mike Pratte. Pratte appears to have regained his outstanding form from his freshman year. He hit .305 with 18 hits in 59 plate appearances.

Houston, Saunders, Gelso Make Final Home Track Appearance

Ed Houston, John Saunders and Alan Gelso will be competing for the last time before a home crowd Saturday night. They are the only seniors on this year's track team, which meets Notre Dame in McAndrew Stadium.

The meet will start at seven o'clock and will be the last time students will have a chance to see the Salukis run. Field events and track races will be held at the same time this weekend in order to enable Notre Dame to catch an airplane at seven o'clock.

Houston is a quarter-mile, Gelso a distance runner and Saunders a middle distance runner.

In dual meets Houston has been running the 440 and 220-yard events for the Harrogs' Saluki track squad. He also runs on the 440-yard and mile relay team. He holds the SIU record for the 440 with a time of 48.4 seconds set last year.

He was a member of the SIU sprint medley team which posted the U.S. fastest time in the event among all colleges and universities. Saunders has been running the 440, 880 and intermediate hurdles since he enrolled at Southern. He also runs on the Salukis mile relay team.

He ran the intermediate hurdles for the first time at Kansas two weeks ago and posted a time of 39 seconds. He holds from Marion, Ill., and hopes to wind up his career with a flourish this Saturday night.

Two years ago Saunders ran one of the greatest races of his life when he won the half-mile in the Interstate Intercollegiate Conference track meet. Harrogs calls the senior "the best competitor I have ever seen."

Gelso is another one of Harrogs' outstanding distance corps. He has been running distance for the Salukis for four years. He was a member of the cross-country team last year and will be going for his fourth track letter this spring.

He runs the two-mile for the Salukis. He is not on the same level with Brian Turner but can still hold his own with any other distance runner he might face.

Gelso came to Southern from West Frankfort, Ill., where he was a standout track man.

He has been hampered this spring by injuries which he received in the auto-track accident involving other track members.

six months. The conference sent a group of officials on a campus inspection tour of Southern several weeks ago.

At the time the inspection team was on campus the athletic department was being investigated by the Student Council for mistreatment of athletes. Some observers believe this could have caused the MVC's latest decision on expansion.

SIU is in a position of being too strong in most sports for a small conference but not yet equipped with a stadium large enough to be a major school in football or basketball, the two sports which hold most interest at high schools.

Louisville recently was admitted to the league which already includes Drake, Bradley, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Alabama, North Texas State and Wichita. Thus, there are eight teams in the conference which competes in football, basketball, baseball, tennis, golf and track.

SIU will compete against North Texas State, Louisville and Tulsa in football next fall. Louisville and Wichita have been scheduled by the Salukis in basketball. All the other SIU athletic teams also face MVC schools.

Southern has been an independent since dropping out of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Association Conference (IAC) last June.

There has been discussion and contacts between officials of the MVC and SIU for several months. The conference sent a group of officials on a campus inspection tour of Southern several weeks ago.

At the time the inspection team was on campus the athletic department was being investigated by the Student Council for mistreatment of athletes. Some observers believe this could have caused the MVC's latest decision on expansion.

Four, three, two, and one-hour classes which meet during the second period (7:35 - 9:00 p.m.) on Monday and/or Wednesday, and Thursday - 6:00.

Examinations will start at the same time as the class sessions ordinarily start.

GENERAL EXAMINATION INFORMATION
Examinations for one and two credit-hour courses will be held during the last regularly scheduled period prior to the formal final examination period. Three, four, and five credit-hour courses will meet at the times listed above.

A student who finds he has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations scheduled at one time should petition, his academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that a student has an additional day to miss his regularly scheduled examination and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for a student whose petition has been approved by his dean.

A student who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination.
