Simon: Democrats still have chance

By Scott Perry
Staff Writer

There still is a chance for the Democrats to claim the White House, Sen. Paul Simon said.

"I know there are those that say George Bush is a certainty to win," Simon said. "But don't count Michael Dukakis out."

Simon says aparthied not limited to South Africa

Analysts say both presidential candidates are weak.

--- Pages 2 and 3

Bug bite doesn't stop Makanda senator

By Scott Perry
Staff Writer

Not rain, nor sleet, nor bite of bug can keep Paul Simon from making his designated rounds.

The traveling senator from Makanda came home to Southern Illinois Sunday. The impeachment support to local Democrats and presidential candidate Michael Dukakis.

But the question of the day was not how Simon felt on the issues, but how he felt in general.

Simon, at two stops to endorse L. Gene Clarke for Iowa, said, "I'm on crutches, let me save myself some explanation," Simon began.

Simon said he was on the floor of the Senate Thursday when he noticed his foot started to hurt.

He said he thought he had bruised his foot, but said as the day went on he noticed his 'shoe was getting smaller.'

A doctor diagnosed Simon as having cellulitis, caused by a bug bite.

"It must have been a Republican bug," Simon said.

Gus Bode

Gus says the Republican bug seems to be doing a good job.

Tax pledge is signed by Kelley

By Scott Perry
Staff Writer

Republican Congressional candidate Paul Kelley challenged his Democratic opponent to sign a pledge restricting support of a tax increase.

Kelley issued the challenge during a press conference Friday in Carbondale.

"The question of taxes and tax increases are vitally important to the election," Kelley said.

The pledge, signed by Kelley, says he will oppose any effort to raise the marginal tax rate and to oppose any further reduction or elimination of deductions.

Kelley said the plan proposed by the Democrats, and endorsed by Glenn Poshard, will leave no alternative but to raise taxes.

Kelley used the opportunity Friday to attack the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives and its leader, Jim Wright, blaming them for many of the problems now facing the nation.

"There's a problem with the way we're running our business," Kelley said. The

See KELLEY, Page 5

Inventories track University's property

Equipment bought with state money has specific place

By Kimberly Clarke
Staff Writer

University property purchased with state monies, either over or under $100, have a specific place when no longer needed or usable.

Items over $100 are considered equipment and must be accounted for, while items under $100 are commodities which get red tags that are not serialized but still indicate SIUC property, Joseph Elliott, supervisor for University Property Control, said.

"Property costing $100 or more is numbered and tracked by Property Control and is put in the University's inventory," Richard Parcha, University Central Stores manager, said.

The fate of items under $100, no longer needed and to some no longer usable, must go through the fiscal office of the area.

Recently about 100 lamps were destroyed at Southern Hills, William McGinnis, a student worker at the housing complex, said.

"We had to break them lamps; so no one would use them," McGinnis said.

"It hurts me to see all those broken and thrown away," he added.

When things get a little old and unsightly but in perfect working condition, McGinnis said, instead of being destroyed, they could be given to the poor.

However, these items cannot be given away because of state policy.

"We were advised by electricians that the lamps' electrical parts were bad, and there could be a possible danger if plugged in," Hunter said.

"We only throw away things that are unusable," Hunter said.

See SURPLUS, Page 5

USG holds on 2nd impeachment trial

By Brad Bushus
Well, Taylor is accused of being in violation of USG academic requirements.

Taylor said she was relieved the process did not take place Friday. She is distributing information on senate rights to her colleagues.

Friday's meeting was held because RSO funding was neglected when senate members left Wednesday's meeting, halting approval of 44 executive appointments. Their absence caused a lack of quorum and, according to parliamentary procedure, forced the meeting to adjourn.

The executive appointments will go before the senate for approval at the next meeting.

"We called the meeting to provide funding to the RSO's specifically, USG President Bill Hall said.

Both RSO funding was approved by the senate except for about $300 requested by the HCO in the Vote For A Party - Come To Election Fee, which took place the day before.

Because the meeting started at 6:30 p.m., Hall said it was not the best time to go into the impeachment proceedings.

This Morning

Lennon's true story shown in 'Imagine'

--- Page 7

Salukis nip Sycamores 10-7

--- Sports 20

Partly sunny, 60s.
The American Tap

All Night

$40 C

Pitchers $2.25

10 foot Giant TV Screen

Monday Night

Bills vs. Jets

The American Tap
draft Tournament
4:00 pm

This Sunday

THE BACK THE NATION
CARBONDALE 1959

Women's Safety Week

WOMEN'S SAFETY WEEK SCHEDULE, 10/88

10 16 6:00 Lusagne Dinner at First Presbyterian Church. $4 (Child care provided).
10 19 7:00 Safety Awareness Workshop for men and women at the Wesley Center.
10 21 7:00 Women's Self-Defense. "Peace Psychology Component, Rm. 158, Recreation Center (free).
10 21 8:00 Brother Peace Rally at Shyrock Steps (for all-children welcome).
10 21 8:30 Take Back The Night March at the Interfaith Center (for all-corner of Grand and Illinois).
10 22 9:00 Take Back The Night Rally at WDC Hall Courtyard.

*Part II of the Women's Self-Defense course will occur on Thursday, October 27, 5-7 in Recreation Rm 158.

W_Check for our tables in the Student Center the weeks of October 10th and 17th for free information.

T-Shirts and buttons will be on sale. Volunteers are still needed for staffing tables, putting up posters, etc. If you can help or have any questions, call Julie at Women's Studies, 435-5141.

RESUMES

Get a LaserJet Resume and 50 copies for only $19.88

The LaserGraphic Center

KOPIES & MORE

607 S. ILLINOIS AVE.

529-5679

COUPON

Rax Roast Beef Sandwich

99c

Ground Beef with STYLE.

FAST FOOD, WTH STYLE.

Rax

Carbondale, Marion, Mt. Vernon

Expires 10-27-88

COUPON

Newswrap

world/nation

Botha returns from visit with Ivory Coast leader

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - President Pieter Botha returned Sunday from a visit to Europe that included a stopover in the Ivory Coast for his fourth meeting with black African leaders in six weeks designed to end diplomatic isolation in the region.

Manila agrees to pact for U.S. military bases

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) - President Corazon Aquino said Monday Manila has reached agreement with Washington on strategic U.S. military bases in the Philippines, a politically sensitive issue that took months of sometimes-bitter negotiations to resolve. Aquino told reporters the pact will be signed in Washington today.

Communist leaders seek to end an crisis

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) - Communist Party leaders will seek agreement on a strategy to lead the country out of economic and political crisis at a crucial party meeting today and a major leadership shakeup is expected, officials said Sunday.

Rebel forces trap more than 100 Burmese

MAR TAW WAH, Burma (UPI) - Rebels trapped more than 100 Burmese soldiers at a newly captured strategic stronghold early Sunday, causing a threatened attack and rescue attempts, officers of the Karen rebel army said Sunday. Maj. Gen. Hla Htoo said his troops seized the stronghold, Mar Taw Wah, on the Moel River that forms the Thai-Burma border.

Space experiment cuts cost of 'Star Wars'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A space experiment that showed it would be easier than previously thought to distinguish Soviet nuclear warheads from decoys made it possible to cut the estimated cost of first phase of "Star Wars" deployment nearly in half, a deputy program director says. Brig. Gen. Gary Schirmer, in an interview last week, told United Press International that a Feb. 8 Delta 181 rocket experiment from Cape Canaveral "gave us insight into how the optical sensors and radars would work together to discriminate between warheads and decoys."

Acquittal of two Indians brings scant victory

LUMBERTON, N.C. (UPI) - A federal jury acquitted two Tuscarora Indians who seized a newspaper and its staff, but Robeson County's largely impoverished Indian community felt no sense of victory Sunday. Eddie Hatcher, 31, and Timothy Jacobs, 20, were freed Friday after a jury found them not guilty of making a threat and possessing a shotgun. Indian activists had hoped to see a pattern of official corruption.

Aging could double former expectations

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - The number of Americans over age 65 may grow nearly to 24 million in the next 50 years, twice as many as previously expected and 10 times the current level, according to a new study released Sunday. By the year 2050, the population over age 65 in the United States may catapult to 57 million, or one-quarter of the entire U.S. population, a figure 20 million higher than what the census has projected and three times the current level, the study said.

state

Chicago apartment blaze leaves three people dead

CHICAGO (UPI) - Three people, including two children, died and one person was critically injured as fire swept a three-story apartment building in the worst of four northern Illinois fires early Sunday, authorities said. Meanwhile, extra-urban fires continued to trouble Chicago, injuring five firefighters, and swept a Hanover Park townhouse, leaving seven families homeless.

Suspect swamp fire was brought under control in Lake County

HANOVER PARK, IllinOIS (UPI) - The 20 million dollar fire that burned in a Hanover Park swamp area in late last July, was brought under control in Lake County.

United Press International

Published daily in the Journalism and Egyptian Laboratory Monday through Friday during regular semesters and Tuesday through Friday during summer term by Southern Illinois University, Communications Building, Carbondale, IL 62901. Second class postage paid at Carbondale, Ill.

Distribution: 8,000 copies

Editorial and business offices located in Communications Building, North Wing, Phone 565-3111, Walter B. Jones, Jr., local editor.

Subscription rates are $5 per year or $13 for six months within the United States and $15 per year or $31 for six months in all foreign countries.

P.O. Box 599, Carbondale, IL 62901

For further information, call Julie at Women's Studies, 435-5141.
Reaper supports tuition hike

By Scott Perry
Staff Writer

A new “department” has been created on campus, one that everyone surely has heard of. It’s called “cutback science.”

A specialist in cutting classes and cut key classrooms and cut back, “Dr. Grimm Reaper,” was on hand at the Election Fest rally to show his satisfaction with the 18.3 percent increase in tuition at the University.

Reaper said no participation by students in the election would insure that more classes and graduate programs would be cut.

Reaper, speaking before the crowd, said students can “help continue the University’s successful decline by not voting during this election.”

“Any slob can run the country. What difference will it make?” he said. Screaming the chant “Don’t vote you dope,” Reaper said no participation by students in the election would insure that more classes and graduate programs would be cut.

“We vow to cram the classrooms and cut key classes,” Reaper said. The key to success is to work slowly, he said. For students wishing more information on the movement, Reaper suggested they take CA 100, section RIP.

“There’s a tax coming up real soon.”

Officials dismayed with rally turnout

By Scott Perry
Staff Writer

“I wish there was a way to build a spark under the young people of America,” Gene Clarke, candidate for State Senate, said after seeing a disappointing turnout for Election Fest.

Election Fest, held Thursday night in front of Shryock Auditorium, was an effort by campus groups to get America’s young people more involved in the election process.

A voter participation study shows only 39 percent of registered voters between the ages of 18 and 24 voted in the 1980 election.

To combat this problem, the United States Student Association has dedicated itself to increasing voter participation and voter awareness.

The Election Fest rally held at the University coincided with the USA’S 35-day, 27-stop bus tour throughout the United States to inform students of issues concerning them in the upcoming election.

Atop the list of issues is education, Fred Azcarate, USSA president, said. It seemed only fitting the rally occurred on the same day the Board of Trustees voted an 18.3 percent increase in the University’s tuition.

State Senator Ralph Dunn said he would continue to support a tax increase to relieve the burden placed on educational institutions if re-elected, while Clarke said he would have to examine the situation before approving such a matter.

Clarke did say, however, that something needs to be done.

“It isn’t right for students to get out of college with such financial burdens, caused by the high cost of going to school, over their heads,” he said.

Carbondale City Councilman Keith Tuxhorn told those in attendance that students need to take a more active part, not only at the national and state levels, but also at the local level.

Tuxhorn said the rights of students will not be protected if students don’t get out and vote for people to represent them on the city council.

“You (students) are citizens of Carbondale too. You need to take part in the planning of issues that affect you.”

“Voting is the tool to getting yourself heard.”

Where can you find DECREASES and INCREASES at the same time?

AT FASHION DESIGNS

We have DECREASED our overhead in order to INCREASE YOUR SAVINGS

NOW OPEN 9am-7pm
Thursday-Friday-Saturday
ONLY

- Less overhead means greater savings
- Same great name brands
- Same helpful service
- Same liberal exchange policies

FASHION DESIGNS

Hours: Thurs, Fri & Sat
9am-7pm

608 S. Illinois-Carbondale

Daily Egyptian, October 7, 1982, Page 1
USG controversies affecting University

AT THE EXPENSE of SIU-C students, a power struggle is taking place among members of the Undergraduate Student Government.

A look into the past few events indicates that USG senators and committee members are locked into a battle for power that will not end with the vote.

East Side senator Vince "Makes Sense" Kelly was impeached for being a graduate student. Chair of the Constitution Committee, he brought the issue to the floor.

"They just may set a precedent," said the impeachment, which does not meet the minimum 2.6 grade point average required of USG senators.

WHAT SEEMS to be at the heart of the matter is the appointment of 29 executive appointments to the President's cabinet. The CIA, which has advisory power to recommend or disapprove of the appointments, scheduled five-minute interviews with the appointees.

The interviews were jammed because under the USG constitution, in-terviews are not required. Some USG members questioned the tactics of the CIA.

The CIA is seeking to prevent most of the appointments because many of the appointees did not show up for the interviews. They were not served the notices to appear because most of the appointees did not sign the appointment forms so that the committee could find out if all the appointees were accredited.

TAYLOR, SPEAKING for the CIA, asked for the release forms, but when she discovered most of them had not signed the forms, she and other CIA members left the meeting.

The strategy is strange considering Taylor herself may not be eligible under the constitution requirements because of her low GPA.

Commentary

Most of the controversy is nonsense. The agenda for the USG lately is preoccupied with shouting matches, fumbling with forms and petty vendettas. The result is that the job they are entrusted by students to do is being compromised.

IN LAST Wednesday's meeting, 11 Registered Student Organizations were left without funding approval after failing seven executive appointments to receive approval.

USG senators must end their quibbling if they want to do their jobs effectively. If the controversy continues, students will be left with the USG, will be the ones who will feel the backlash.

Procrastinators lose election

MANY VOTERS wait until the last minute to decide whom they will vote for. And, apparently many wait until the last minute to decide where they will vote.

As many as 30 people jammed the hallway outside the City Clerk's office Tuesday, the last day to register to vote.

City officials say that 180 were registered that day, with some lining up as an hour-and-a-half for their turn at the registration line.

We wonder about the absence of those willing to wait. But, we wonder how many people won't be voting this year because they waited too long to register, and then did not have the last-minute opportunity to change their minds.

ALL ELECTIONS are important. On Nov. 8 we will choose not only the next president, but also our representatives to Congress and the General Assembly.

The elections provide an illustration of the power of the people's voice. They are the opportunity to select candidates who understand and appreciate the problems of the people, or candidates who do not want to hear about the problems of the people.

But, we wonder what those unregistered voter were thinking about during the preceding year. There were no lines and no waiting on many of those days.

Quotable Quotes

"They don't like or respect black people. They want to be white so bad. The way they talk about black people, you'd think you were living with the Ku Klux Klan," - Michael Tyson, about African-American and white stereotypes.

"The Republicans want to put you to sleep. They're already celebrating. They're pumping champagne corks in their pens," - Mike Dukakis, on Republicans' predictions of an easy Bush victory.

IF PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES WERE PILLS

Donald Kau

Tribune Media Services

After debate, the campaign is over, say hello to President George Bush

EVEN THOUGH it's no contest anymore, they should have run George Dukakis, hello President Bush.

The debate Thursday was supposed to resuscitate Mike Dukakis' withering presidential hopes, it failed. George Bush, I thought, turned him every way but loose. He was form without being nasty, affable without being sly and competent without being smug. He was, in short, the best qualified George Bush.

Not that Dukakis was so terrible; he was just... well... Dukakis. His main job in this debate was to show folks that he was not the heartless technocrat that some believe him to be. That he was a creature of blood and bile and emotion, just like the rest of us. His first question did him in.

He was asked something to the effect: "If you come home one night to find your wife and children murdered, your mother hanging on a hook and your dog fed into your snow blower, would you get mad and say... Dukakis said, "I would call BIS, the police emergency, and have the administration installed and which has reduced crime in the greater Massachusetts area by 9.5 percent. When the police come, I would say to the person who did it, I would make sure that they did not put the handcuffs on too tight or speak rudely to him, lest they violate his civil rights." Or words to that effect.

The problem with Dukakis is that he thinks being human is a weakness, which is fine if you're a parking meter but if you're running for president it's best to show you share some human frailties with the folks you seek to lead.

Dukakis showed the same lack of the common touch - or any touch, for that matter... when asked to name his contemporary heroes. "Joe DiMaggio," he might have said, when powered the eyebrows of the audience as he explained his theory of "class" and how DiMaggio epitomized it. He could have named any number of working class heroes, instead he ran off a list of occupations - cops, politicians, teachers, preachers. He sounded like he was running for guidance counselor instead of president.

BUSH, MEANWHILE, was picking a hero from every voting bloc he needed to win, ending with a pasan to President Reagan. At that point, the liberals in the room where I was watching the debate covered their eyes, knowing that Bush would break out his straw hat and came and do a cakewalk across the stage, singing "If You Like Ike, Like Me I Like You!"

Oh well, our thing have you have to say for the liberals, we know how to lose with grace. It comes with practice.

Quayle that makes it hard. I could live with George Bush; there are even those who say he's a decent man. I, however, would not know it from his campaign he's run. But why did he have to give us Dan Quayle, a baby-faced kid who is a dumping ground of contemporary ideologies?" I REMEMBER when, in a similar situation, Dwight Eisenhower raised the young Richard Nixon out of the mud and up to the top of the ticket. Was there for the next 25 years. I fear we can expect no less from Dan Quayle. How could Bush have pulled such a decisive trick on us? Is it his idea of a practical joke?

The other thing that makes Bush a particularly bitter pill is his relentless attacks on Dukakis' membership in the American Civil Liberties Union. It smacks of the southern politician who accuse his opponent of being a communist, even though married.

The strategy depends for its effectiveness on an ignorant prejudice, and it doesn't reinforce Bush's image as a man who realizes the ACLU doesn't (as it) (that) (evil) (court) (and) communists simply because they defend them in court.

Bush said that has defended Nazis and John Birchers and anti-abortionists and Young Americans for Freedom, as well as Ollie North, and are subject to all the same scrutiny as Dukakis.

The strategy, if it works, is to make one of these people that the ACLU defends and with them, our rights.

Bush's father, Prescott Bush, in his writings, has praised the southern senators who led the crusade of Joe McCarthy in the Senate. To act as Bush has acted shames his heritage.

MODERATE Republicans (I would say "liberal") Republicans but I don't wash anyone to screw with blame) have always considered Bush one of their own. They are also dismayed as the rest of us at the campaign he has waged but they expect a return to his former self once he's in office. That's unlikely.

There's a saying in sports: "You play like you practice." In politics, you govern as you campaign. George Bush will lose the election with a mandate for nothing except leading the country to the Pledge of Allegiance.

For this we needed an 18-month campaign?
SURPLUS, from Page 1

Item 1 that are still usable are kept at the Glove Factory so other departments that are in need of them may have them, Parrish said. Otherwise, he said, the unwanted items are stored and then transferred back into the state's inventory. Each department of the University must take its own inventory and then transfer items to other state institutions, Parrish said. If the department no longer wants it, they must take it off their inventory. The items may be transferred to another department without any exchange of money or it can go to surplus property and be sold, Lyndell Coffey, assistant they said at the Glove Factory, said. When these items go to surplus, any University department may have the item. If the University doesn't need it, they have the capability through state ownership to transfer items to other state institutions, Parrish said. If it is not wanted, then it will go with other things to be transferred back into the state's inventory, Parrish said. First the property must be inspected by two disinterested parties to verify that the items are still under University ownership and not lost or stolen, Parrish added. After this property is verified, the University number given to the items are taken off the University's inventory and transferred back to the state's inventory. Once put in the state's inventory, it all becomes part of a "lot," Parrish said, and when the state's warehouse becomes full, a sale is conducted. The whole lot goes to the highest bidder, and the new owners must haul the items themselves.

Kim Mayor, 15, of St. Louis, plays with Jessica Mills, 3, of Greenboro, North Carolina, during the Illinois high school field hockey game of the season. Mayor is the sister of senior Saluki forward Julius Mayor and Mills is the niece of senior goalie Chris James.

SIMON, from Page 1

Simon defended accusations that Dukakis appears too cold and unemotional. "We're talking about the president, not someone you get excited about," he said. "What you see is what you get." Simon also took time to give his support to De Soto Mayor Gene Clarke, running for State Senator in the 5th District, and State Senator Glenn Poshard, D-Carterville, who is running for the 22nd Congressional seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. Simon said Clarke's experience in accounting will be an asset to the Senate. Simon also had kind words for Poshard, saying he will be a formidable Congressman. "I've seen Glenn working. He's willing to work hard" for the people of the district, he said. "He has the right attitude. He's interested in helping people."

KELLY, from Page 1

Democrats have been in control of Congress for 34 years. It's this entrenched control that has led to a number of problems," Kelly said. Kelly called for a change of leadership in the House, saying he would vote for House Republican leader Robert Michel, of Peoria, to be Speaker of the House.

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES-REVIEW

Between 500 and 600 people attended the dedication of the Restoration Center's new building on South Lewis Lane. The dedication was Saturday.

KELLY, from Page 1

Simon defended accusations that Dukakis appears too cold and unemotional. "We're talking about the president, not someone you get excited about," he said. "What you see is what you get." Simon also took time to give his support to De Soto Mayor Gene Clarke, running for State Senator in the 5th District, and State Senator Glenn Poshard, D-Carterville, who is running for the 22nd Congressional seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. Simon said Clarke's experience in accounting will be an asset to the Senate. Simon also had kind words for Poshard, saying he will be a formidable Congressman. "I've seen Glenn working. He's willing to work hard" for the people of the district, he said. "He has the right attitude. He's interested in helping people."

Students Who Like To Have Fun!

Have a great time while making valuable hands-on experience in promotion, production, advertising, and programmin, by coordinating events on the SPC Center Programming Committee-Applications available at the SPC Office on the Student Center's 3rd Floor (536-5395).

Police Blotter

Joseph D. Cole, 22, of 2315 Commercial St. in Murphysboro, was arrested and charged with burglary Sunday morning on South Lewis Lane, Carbondale Police said.

Rebecca R. Etherton, 23, of 2115 South Lewis Lane reported her apartment had been broken into Sunday at 1:00 a.m., police said.

Police said Cole pried open a window and fled into the apartment with Etherton's purse, and fled on foot after being captured by Officer Wright.

Police also took time to give his support to De Soto Mayor Gene Clarke, running for State Senator in the 5th District, and State Senator Glenn Poshard, D-Carterville, who is running for the 22nd Congressional seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. Simon said Clarke's experience in accounting will be an asset to the Senate. Simon also had kind words for Poshard, saying he will be a formidable Congressman. "I've seen Glenn working. He's willing to work hard" for the people of the district, he said. "He has the right attitude. He's interested in helping people."

Police said Cole fled after seeing Etherton's car in the parking area. Cole pried open a door, stole Etherton's purse, and fled on foot after being captured by Officer Wright.

This kind of leadership comes from being in too long," Kelly said.

Police said Cole pried open a window and fled into the apartment with Etherton's purse, and fled on foot after being captured by Officer Wright.

Tyson verbally attacks
Givens for racial views

CHICAGO (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Mike Tyson says living with Robin Givens was like "living with the Ku Klux Klan," and that she and her mother "want so much to be white," in a report published Sunday.

Givens' lawyer, Raoul Felder, said Sunday his client probably not seen the story but responded on her behalf.

"On one level, of course, it's appalling — and in appalling taste. On another level, I would assume it's an act of desperation because his specific charges have all been exploded."

Ten directors looked at operatic works in "Aria" by Kathleen Delbo Staff Writer

"Aria" is an uplifting collection of cinematically interpretations of operatic arias that range from the hilarious to the boring. Ten directors interpreted 10 famous arias — solo songs from operas — in an attempt to highbrow music videos. Some of the interpretations are absurd, some sensuous and some heart-wrenching.

The best include a scene where a modern Romeo and Juliet make passionate love and then kill themselves. Another worthwhile scene involves a husband and wife who have affairs at the same hotel on the same night and wind up with video cassettes of each other's adventures in bed. Seeing an Elvis impersonator sing opera is worth the price of admission.

The most visually compelling interpretation involves a woman who thinks she is in a strange, beautiful world. Then doctors bring her back from the edge of death. Beware, though. There are some duds. The second interpretation ends with two women slowly nodding their heads calling "Yes. No." That interpretation was boring, slow and the ending was ludicrous.

Ten directors look at operatic works in "Aria"

By Kathleen Delbo

"Aria" is an uplifting collection of cinematic interpretations of operatic arias that range from the hilarious to the boring.

Ten directors interpreted 10 famous arias — solo songs from operas — in an attempt at highbrow music videos. Some of the interpretations are absurd, some sensuous and some heart-wrenching.

The best include a scene where a modern Romeo and Juliet make passionate love and then kill themselves. Another worthwhile scene involves a husband and wife who have affairs at the same hotel on the same night and wind up with video cassettes of each other's adventures in bed. Seeing an Elvis impersonator sing opera is worth the price of admission.

The most visually compelling interpretation involves a woman who thinks she is in a strange, beautiful world. Then doctors bring her back from the edge of death. Beware, though. There are some duds. The second interpretation ends with two women slowly nodding their heads calling "Yes. No." That interpretation was boring, slow and the ending was ludicrous.

Ten directors look at operatic works in "Aria",

By Kathleen Delbo

"Aria" is an uplifting collection of operatic arias that range from the hilarious to the boring.

Ten directors interpreted 10 famous arias — solo songs from operas — in an attempt at highbrow music videos. Some of the interpretations are absurd, some sensuous and some heart-wrenching.

The best include a scene where a modern Romeo and Juliet make passionate love and then kill themselves. Another worthwhile scene involves a husband and wife who have affairs at the same hotel on the same night and wind up with video cassettes of each other's adventures in bed. Seeing an Elvis impersonator sing opera is worth the price of admission.

The most visually compelling interpretation involves a woman who thinks she is in a strange, beautiful world. Then doctors bring her back from the edge of death. Beware, though. There are some duds. The second interpretation ends with two women slowly nodding their heads calling "Yes. No." That interpretation was boring, slow and the ending was ludicrous.
Movie on Lennon gives true picture
Private footage lets singer tell own story

By Wayne Wallace
Staff Writer

"Imagine: John Lennon" has no illusions that the enigmatic singer led some sort of poetic life as a guru of peace.

Nor does it go the much-traveled route of portraying a tragic figure: the troubled rock star unable to cope with success.

The musical documentary instead presents John Lennon’s life in a refreshingly objective manner.

Through private footage obtained from his estate, Lennon and wife Yoko Ono tell their own story.

A series of 1970s home movie excerpts from their life in a secluded English mansion shows the real Lennon to be a warm, temperamental at times, but always unfailingly human.

CONVINCING HIS most rabid fans and harshest critics that he was just an average person prone to normal mistakes seemed to be a constant struggle for him throughout his controversial career.

Considering that it was the media stereotypes which put so many labels on him in the late 1960s and early 70s, it’s surprising to see how many television interviews he granted in his later years.

In separate interviews given especially for the documentary, Lennon's family discusses the singer without lapsing into overt sentimentality.

"Imagine" also includes historical film footage from the various avant-garde press conferences Lennon and Ono held for their campaign of peace during the Vietnam War.

There is no omniscient narrator sugarcoating and simplifying the events in Lennon’s life as presented for us on screen. Director Andrew Solt prefers instead to let Lennon speak for himself via 100-plus interviews taped during his lifetime.

In ADDITION to the TV clips, "Imagine" also includes historical film footage from the various avant-garde press conferences Lennon and Ono held for their campaign of peace during the Vietnam War.

There is no omniscient narrator sugarcoating and simplifying the events in Lennon’s life as presented for us on screen. Director Andrew Solt prefers instead to let Lennon speak for himself via 100-plus interviews taped during his lifetime.

In separate interviews given especially for the documentary, Lennon’s family discusses the singer without lapsing into overt sentimentality.

"Imagine" also includes historical film footage from the various avant-garde press conferences Lennon and Ono held for their campaign of peace during the Vietnam War.

There is no omniscient narrator sugarcoating and simplifying the events in Lennon’s life as presented for us on screen. Director Andrew Solt prefers instead to let Lennon speak for himself via 100-plus interviews taped during his lifetime.

In separate interviews given especially for the documentary, Lennon’s family discusses the singer without lapsing into overt sentimentality.

"Imagine" also includes historical film footage from the various avant-garde press conferences Lennon and Ono held for their campaign of peace during the Vietnam War.

There is no omniscient narrator sugarcoating and simplifying the events in Lennon’s life as presented for us on screen. Director Andrew Solt prefers instead to let Lennon speak for himself via 100-plus interviews taped during his lifetime.
The Beatles Record producer George Martin also is interviewed. Surprisingly, the film contains ample Beatles footage. Most of these scenes are obligatory and rather unnecessary, showing the Fab Four's American appearance. Still, we learn that in 1962, Lennon and Harrison were initially considered the group's break-up. McCartney shortly after the recording sessions. McCartney and George Harrison's defense of himself. His anti-war teachings are consistent throughout the film. Lennon's personal differences aside by saying anything is possible. Lennon suggests that he has grown up since "Hard Day's Night," and possibly the report isn't forthcoming.

"Prayerful Vision is reality to me," Lennon says in the film, describing the Beatles' "Sgt. Pepper" period. "Strawberry Fields," "All You Need Is Love" and "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds" are all part of the documentary's rich musical score. Oddly, Starr, Paul McCartney and George Harrison were not interviewed for the film. In previously unreleased footage, Lennon and Harrison perform a bitter tribute song to Starr, Paul McCartney and George Harrison. Lennon confronts a fan who's been sleeping in the singer's garden. Lennon uses twisted logic in explaining that his songs are not special messages to the mixed-up young man.

One reporter even accuses Lennon of stealing media attention and reaping personal profit from his advertising campaign for peace.

The film would definitely benefit from more of these candid scenes from Lennon's home life. A recurring theme throughout the film is Lennon's defense of himself. His anti-war teachings are consistent under the Vietnam war. As various journalists find difficulty taking the singer seriously. Lennon's honesty is often criticized. When a famous cartoonist violently insults Ono in Lennon's presence, the singer remains cool and forgiving, trying to speak rationally with the man.

One reporter even accuses Lennon of stealing media attention and reaping personal profit from his advertising campaign for peace. Lennon suggests that he has grown up since "Hard Day's Night," and possibly the reporter hasn't.

No matter what the accusation, Lennon's songs are always his own defense. The same can be said today, even in the wake of Albert Goldman's exploitative "The Lives of John Lennon." Only indirectly does the documentary answer challenges made by the book.

The film supports the idea that Lennon was constantly exposing his honest emotions through music. Lennon compositions such as "Mother" and "Jealous Man" illustrate this point. Viewers will have to decide for themselves whether the John Lennon in "Imagine" is the same recluse depicted in Goldman's unauthorized biography. With respect to the circumstances surrounding Lennon's death, "Imagine" tries to end as optimistically and unassumingly as possible. Lennon, alone at his piano, sings the beautiful title song.
Three endangered gray whales trapped by ice

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) - A National Guard Skyraider helicopter from Anchorage is a whale rescue mission Sunday to deliver an icebreaking barge to the frigid arctic where three endangered gray whales are trapped by ice.

Workers with chainsaws struggled all weekend to cut through ice and enlarge the breathing holes as well as any path rescuers break open in the ice, Morris said.

Greenpeace representative Cindy Lowery said the save-the-whales group helped persuade oil companies and the military to go to the rescue, but ARCO spokeswoman Susan Andrews credited oil workers with the icebreaker idea.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) - An official investigation into the plane crash that killed President Mohammad Zia ul-Haq and the U.S. ambassador to Pakistan concluded the tragedy was probably caused by "a criminal act or sabotage," a report released Sunday showed.

There were no survival.

In addition to Zia and U.S. Ambassador, four other Pakistanis were killed in the crash.

Three endangered gray whales are trapped by ice in the arctic.

Environmentalists, oil companies and the military have joined forces to free the California gray whales from icy captivity near Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of land in the United States.

"The whales don't look very good," North Slope Borough whale biologist Geoff Carroll said from Barrow. "They're pretty battered around the heads and jaws, and one seems lethargic. This has to be wearing them down.

The whales stayed in the Beaufort Sea to feed too long before beginning a long westward migration across the arctic and eventually south down the Pacific Coast to warmer waters off California and Mexico. North winds - the arctic ice pack in and "rounded a defiant adult whale and two smaller ones."

Two breathing holes for the mammals have been shrunk in the bitter cold, but Carroll said 15 people went out with chainsaws Saturday to enlarge one air hole and the saws were confiscated.

An unusual alliance of Eskimo whale hunters, Greenpeace environmentalists, oil companies, the military and the government joined forces to free the California gray whales from icy captivity near Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of land in the United States.

"The whales don't look very good," North Slope Borough whale biologist Geoff Carroll said from Barrow. "They're pretty battered around the heads and jaws, and one seems lethargic. This has to be wearing them down."

The whales stayed in the Beaufort Sea to feed too long before beginning a long westward migration across the arctic and eventually south down the Pacific Coast to warmer waters off California and Mexico. North winds - the arctic ice pack in and "rounded a defiant adult whale and two smaller ones."

Two breathing holes for the mammals have been shrunk in the bitter cold, but Carroll said 15 people went out with chainsaws Saturday to enlarge one air hole and the saws were confiscated.

An unusual alliance of Eskimo whale hunters, Greenpeace environmentalists, oil companies, the military and the government joined forces to free the California gray whales from icy captivity near Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of land in the United States.

"The whales don't look very good," North Slope Borough whale biologist Geoff Carroll said from Barrow. "They're pretty battered around the heads and jaws, and one seems lethargic. This has to be wearing them down."

The whales stayed in the Beaufort Sea to feed too long before beginning a long westward migration across the arctic and eventually south down the Pacific Coast to warmer waters off California and Mexico. North winds - the arctic ice pack in and "rounded a defiant adult whale and two smaller ones."

Two breathing holes for the mammals have been shrunk in the bitter cold, but Carroll said 15 people went out with chainsaws Saturday to enlarge one air hole and the saws were confiscated.

An unusual alliance of Eskimo whale hunters, Greenpeace environmentalists, oil companies, the military and the government joined forces to free the California gray whales from icy captivity near Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of land in the United States.

"The whales don't look very good," North Slope Borough whale biologist Geoff Carroll said from Barrow. "They're pretty battered around the heads and jaws, and one seems lethargic. This has to be wearing them down."

The whales stayed in the Beaufort Sea to feed too long before beginning a long westward migration across the arctic and eventually south down the Pacific Coast to warmer waters off California and Mexico. North winds - the arctic ice pack in and "rounded a defiant adult whale and two smaller ones."

Two breathing holes for the mammals have been shrunk in the bitter cold, but Carroll said 15 people went out with chainsaws Saturday to enlarge one air hole and the saws were confiscated.

An unusual alliance of Eskimo whale hunters, Greenpeace environmentalists, oil companies, the military and the government joined forces to free the California gray whales from icy captivity near Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of land in the United States.

"The whales don't look very good," North Slope Borough whale biologist Geoff Carroll said from Barrow. "They're pretty battered around the heads and jaws, and one seems lethargic. This has to be wearing them down."

The whales stayed in the Beaufort Sea to feed too long before beginning a long westward migration across the arctic and eventually south down the Pacific Coast to warmer waters off California and Mexico. North winds - the arctic ice pack in and "rounded a defiant adult whale and two smaller ones."

Two breathing holes for the mammals have been shrunk in the bitter cold, but Carroll said 15 people went out with chainsaws Saturday to enlarge one air hole and the saws were confiscated.

An unusual alliance of Eskimo whale hunters, Greenpeace environmentalists, oil companies, the military and the government joined forces to free the California gray whales from icy captivity near Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of land in the United States.

"The whales don't look very good," North Slope Borough whale biologist Geoff Carroll said from Barrow. "They're pretty battered around the heads and jaws, and one seems lethargic. This has to be wearing them down."

The whales stayed in the Beaufort Sea to feed too long before beginning a long westward migration across the arctic and eventually south down the Pacific Coast to warmer waters off California and Mexico. North winds - the arctic ice pack in and "rounded a defiant adult whale and two smaller ones."

Two breathing holes for the mammals have been shrunk in the bitter cold, but Carroll said 15 people went out with chainsaws Saturday to enlarge one air hole and the saws were confiscated.
Black cops trying to cope with ghetto violence

Say Democrats will fight urban crime, poverty

Editor's note: The St. Louis Post-Dispatch recently sent its reporters around the country to talk to ordinary voters who will help choose the next president. This is one story in a series.

By John M. McGuire
St. Louis Post-Dispatch

DETOUR — Clueless circuit monitors face the front desk at Detroit Police headquarters, a patch-quilt of television images from the streets and alleys surrounding the dirty granite building at 1300 Beaubien St.

"No Loitering," says a sign. "No Firearms on 5th and 9th Floors," reads another.

This could easily be a scene from the cyberpunk movies "Robocop" or "Blade Runner," both violent and surrealistic. It gives the impression that someone is expecting a siege.

"Our kids can't write, can't think logically; they memorize things and forget them. Radio disc jockeys probably have more control over what young people think than anyone."

— Fred Lee Williams

THE DETROIT Free Press recently reported that the city's 47th precinct is one of the most battle-scarred areas. Three officers were killed in the precinct in the last month. Most of the crimes are drug-related.

But it's not just crime that's driving the police force over the edge. The department's percentage of women on the force is the highest of any urban police force, the highest percentage of any urban department in the country, according to the mayor's office. With ranking officers and investigators included, Detroit has a force of 4,887.

Somewhere, Officer Cameron would like to work in the sex-crime unit and become a sergeant. "It's a place where you're needed," she said. Officer Cameron is not a political person, she said. Never has been. However, she does worry about things that could come close to home.

"I THINK it starts when the child is very young," she said of kids going bad. "Most of the crimes are drug-related. A lot of the kids are from single parent homes and live at the poverty level. It's hard for a single parent. And it starts young, babies having babies. It's really awful."

Usually she votes Democratic and she is leaning that way this presidential year. She figures democratic administration would do more about urban crime and poverty, and bring back college grants to states perhaps, to help her son. He is a 13 grade point average and wants to be an engineer.

Inspector Fred Lee Williams started as a foot patrolman in the north end when he walked his beat with the current chief.

IN THOSE days, the Detroit department was racist to the bone," he said. What few black officers there were when Williams started in the spring of 1956 generally wouldn't allow to ride in squad cars. Officer Cameron, Inspector Williams and the chief of police are all black.

"Blacks always looked at the police then as the enemy, protectors of white property rights," said the inspector. "This country, however, is more divided today racially than it was then."

Like Officer Cameron, Inspector Williams is frustrated by the seeming figures of teenage crime and violent death. The availability of guns are a major cause, he said. Violence here is almost Round trip air fare from St. Louis, transfers, taxes and more.

Restrictions Apply.
Price Valid Thru 12/15/88

3 Night Package $269.00
per person/dbl. occupancy

Included:
* 7 Night Package
* Self-Defense for Women
* Student Rec Center Room 158

Sponsored by Women's Services, Office of Intramural Recreational Sports and the Campus Safety Fee Board.

Student Rec Center Room 158
Thurs. Oct. 20 & Thurs. Oct. 27 5-7pm
Being able to defend yourself from physical assault involves both mental & physical preparation. This two-part workshop will focus on these two components of self-defense.

Part 1: "The Psychological Component"
Part 2: "The Physical Component"
For further information contact Susan Pellew at 453-3655. Cost: Free.
Professor contributes to Ag club

A retired University professor has donated $3,000 to set up a fund to help undergraduate clubs in the Agriculture Department.

Walter J. Wills, professor emeritus of agricultural economics, said he wanted to contribute to Ag graduate and events because they require extra money," he said. "This gift will at least allow club members to have some flexibility to expand activities related to agriculture on or off campus."

Lyle Solverson, acting chair of the Agribusiness Department, said that only the interest from the fund will be available to the clubs, but it is expected to amount to about $250 a year.

Solverson said the money will be available next year and clubs will have to apply for the funding. Altogether, Wills has contributed more than $20,000 to support various College of Agriculture student activities and scholarships through the SIU Foundation.

611 Deep Pan Pizza
NOW OPEN!
Happy Hours 11-9

Drafts 3 for 1
Pitchers $2.00
Deep Pan Pizza Slice $1.00

611 S. Illinois Ave*On the Strip*549-8178

Counselor program approved

By Phyllis Coon
Staff Writer

After eight years of preparing for the review, the University's Counselor Education Program has been fully accredited, the committee head who organized the accreditation said.

The two-year master's degree program has been a part of the College of Education for about 35 years said. "It's a very important accomplishment for us," Altekruse said. "Especially since this is a new type of accreditation that's only eight years old.

Only 50 other colleges and universities have been accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs. The requirements for the program reviewed included an internship as part of the program and classes in cross-cultural counseling, Altekruse said.

The program's enrollment is at 60 master's degree students and 60 doctoral students.

"Graduates can take the counseling certification exam immediately," Altekruse said. "It will also be easier for students to enter other graduate programs. Also employers are asking for certified people more."

Announcing The Addition
Of A New Dog Groomer

Patty Lambert
*Registered Dog Groomer
*Three Yrs. Experience
*Registered Dog Groomer

Lakeview Grooming or Lakeview Vet, Hosp.

Boarding also available as space allows

Press here for a great data processing career.

The right time. The right place.
State Farm is hiring.

If you're a senior with a data processing, computer science or math background, there may be a very special career opportunity waiting for you in one of the largest corporate data processing facilities in the country.

There are actuarial and auditing jobs open, too.

Blue Chip. Green light. State Farm is one of America's leading insurance companies. Through innovative marketing and a proud service tradition it has become a leading auto and homeowners' insurer, and one of the top life insurance companies in the country.

You'll receive expert training. You'll work on state-of-the-art data processing equipment. You'll gain an immediate base to build a career on.

Contact your campus Placement Director about State Farm today.

Or visit the State Farm Recruiter. Our representative will be on campus October 24

Simon: Apartheid not limited

Senator says South African violence could reach U.S.

By Scott Perry

Sen. Paul Simon called for greater United States' involvement in South Africa, warning the violence brought about by apartheid may reach America.

"Bloodshed in South Africa is not limited to South Africa," said Simon. "I think tensions in Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis could erupt. We need to get rid of this system.

Simon, who recently returned from a trip to South Africa, was giving his view of the country's situation during a public forum sponsored by the Episcopal College.

Simon said the United States should take a lead in bringing the world's nations together to combat the situation in the African nation.

Sanctions by all nations on South Africa's government will be very effective, Simon said.

One argument says the sanctions only will hurt the blacks more, defeating the purpose at hand.

Simon disagrees.

He said the message coming from the white is "There needs to be change. What the color of the coat.

Simon said blacks support the sanctions because it will bring about the change.

"I've been hurt for 50 years," said one old black man with three children.

"If you want me to hurt just a little more so my children can have freedom, I'm anxious to do it," he said.

Simon said he has asked those in power what they think should be done, besides sanctions, by the United States to show how sincere it is about the cause.

"I have never heard a sufficient answer," he said.

Simon said the picture is discouraging, and described it as a "time-bomb."

"Inevitably things are going to explode," he said. "We need to send a message."

"We want that message to take place before the violence."

Simon said despite the fact there is already violence erupting, things will get much worse.

"What we are seeing now is only a produdce to the violence we will see," he said.

Simon said he spoke with a man in a camp that is ready for violence.

"If someone handed him a stick of dynamite and said we have tomorrow, he's ready," Simon said.

He said there is a large number of people who see that change is needed, including blacks, young whites and many persons in business, but they don't know how to make change come about.

"What South Africa needs is a Sadat. They need a leader who is willing and courageous enough to move ahead," Simon said.

Nick Phillips, a professor of computer science, lived in South Africa for most of his life.

He said Simon's hopes for the future are noble, but said he is too hopeful.

Phillips said the situation is desperate and the government in power is not willing to change.

SIU-C debate teams finish in 1st and 3rd

The debate squad won first place in the junior varsity division and third in varsity at the Gateway Debate Tournament last week at the University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Christopher P. Carey, sophomore from Shiloh, and T.J. Wolfe, freshman from Belleville, beat 43 teams from 17 schools in eight states and claimed the junior varsity title.

The University of Missouri-Kansas City team won second and Macalaster (Minn.) College and Kansas State University tied for third.

Michael M. Koroc, of Carbondale, and Kevin M. O'Leary, of Peoria, won all six of their preliminary matches to advance to the semi-finals but were defeated there by Central (Okla.) State University.

Koroc won first in the individual speaking competition at the varsity level. Gray finished sixth in junior varsity.

Macalaster College won first and Central State University won second in varsity competition.

KOPIES & MORE

4¢ Copies

All the Time

607 S. ILLINOIS AVE. 529-5679

TEACH-IN

SETTING A NEW COURSE:
THE CHALLENGE OF CENTRAL AMERICA

MONDAY OCTOBER 17, 7PM
LAWSON HALL 231

SPARKS: Suzanne Dooerge,
currently doing health education
in Nicaragua; Art Sandler, Chair, Dept. of Philosophy, Webster University, Member, the Central America Peace Initiative.

CO-SPONSORED BY: So. Ill.
Latin America Solidarity Committee,
Women's Studies, University
Christian Ministries, SPC Expression Arts.

A103

Art and reason

When Mark and I decided to spend the weekend at his mother's house, I never imagined I would be walking into a mouse's nightmare. There were cats everywhere.

Cat plaques, cat statues, cat clocks, even a cat mat. I couldn't begin to duplicate her collection of kitty litter if I spent a year at a garage sale. Conspicuously absent, however, was a real cat. Strange, I thought, and began to fear that a weekend with a cat woman could be a lot less than purr-fect.

But then she came home, and Mark introduced her. She was dressed surprisingly well—no leopard prints. In fact, you could say she was the cat's meow, but I'd rather not.

She offered me a cup of Dutch Chocolate Mint. Now that was something I could relate to. Then she brought it out in the most beautiful, distinctly unfish-creamed way I'd ever seen. As we sipped, I found out that Mrs. Campbell has no same weakness for chocolate, loves the theater as much as I do, but is, incredibly, never saw "Cats." So Mark and I are taking her next month.
Analysts: Dukakis, Bush weak
By Thomas W. Oden
St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Regardless of whether George Bush or Michael Dukakis wins the presidential election, the nation faces the prospect of being governed by a weak president starting Jan. 20. That is the worrisome conclusion of some of the most experienced and thoughtful strategists of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

News Analysis

"It doesn't make any difference who wins," said Republican John Sears. "We are likely to have the weakest president ever, or certainly at least since the 1920s."

Democratic Fred Van Dyk took a more measured view. "No matter who wins, he's going to place a weak vote to govern," he said. "We are likely to have the weakest president ever, or certainly at least since the 1920s."

The extraordinary lack of public support for either candidate, he said, "could be a handicap to whoever is elected.""No matter who wins, he's going to be in a very weak position to govern...," said Van Dyk. "If you're elected by a lesser-of-two-evil vote, you don't come to the table in a good position to govern."

Clark Clifford, Democratic Party elder statesman, was only a bit more restrained. "The extraordinary lack of public support for either candidate, he said, "could be a handicap to whoever is elected.""No matter who wins, he's going to be in a very weak position to govern...," said Van Dyk. "If you're elected by a lesser-of-two-evil vote, you don't come to the table in a good position to govern."

Survey data, political experts and voters interviewed by pollsters and political reporters all lead to a conclusion that neither the Republican vice president nor the Democratic governor of Massachusetts has yet captured the hearts or minds of American voters. The polls show that about two-thirds of them remain undecided on whom to vote for just weeks before Election Day. Millions of those who have decided are only casually committed. With apathy high, turnout on Election Day is likely to be low. Negative reactions to both candidates are so strong and widespread that, as one cynic put it, "perhaps neither of them can win."

Thus the analysts foresee the distinct possibility that the next president, regardless of his party, is likely to find it difficult to govern effectively. In separate conversations, Republican St. Louis Post-Dispatch columnist and Democratic Bush strategist Sears blamed Bush and Dukakis directly for the weakness that they believe either man will bring to the White House.

"What is there about either guy that is there for us (voters) to support?" asked Sears. To function effectively, he said, a presidential candidate must build a solid base of personal support among voters before an election. He must tell voters what he intends to do, Sears said, so that when he takes actions, people aware of his aims will be ready to back him. "People look to their president to give them direction," Sears said.

Similarly, Van Dyk stressed his belief that "neither candidate has done anything to build a mandate for governing."
MINORITY DOCTORAL candidates can meet with two faculty members from California State University who are interested in talking to beginning doctoral students for future teaching positions. They will be available from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. today in Woody Hall, ext. 227.

REGISTRATION CLOSING Oct. 21 for the N-C 15 and 17 College Level Examination Program. Applications also must be received by Oct. 21 for the VPI 13 Virginia Aptitude Test. For details, contact Testing Services, Woody Hall B-204, phone 536-3303.

Cane and Kayak Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in Pulliam Pool. Important trip-planning meeting.

NURSING WORKSHOP "Professional Image Building and Time Management" will be held Oct. 25 at the Student Center. Registration closes Oct. 21. To register, call 536-7751.

AMERICAN CRIMINAL Justice Association will meet at 8:30 tonight in the Student Center Orientation Room. For details, call 549-2977.

SCIENCE FICTION and Fantasy society will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Student Center Activity Room D. Please bring your own music.

SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT of Management will have a general meeting at 6:30 tonight in the Student Center Flavas Room, Gola Waters, a finance professor, lawyer and labor relations expert, will lecture.

SINGE PARENT Support Group will meet at 7 tonight at the Wesley Foundation.

CHRISTIANITY AND New Age Discussion Group will meet at 8 tonight at the Wesley Foundation.

ORGANIZATION OF PARAPSYCHOLOGISTS will meet at 2 tonight at Tren Hombres.

ALPHA KAPPA Psi, a professional business fraternity, will meet at 6 tonight in the Student Center.

COMPUTING AFFAIRS workshop: "Introduction to MagicCalc" at 1 today in Communications 9A. To register, call 452-4361, ext. 269, or key in WORKSHOP on CHS.

STUDENTS FOR Dukakis volunteers needed. Offices are located at 779 S. University Ave. Hours: 3 to 9 p.m. weekdays, noon to 6 p.m. weekends. For details, call 529-2070.

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS will sponsor a trip to New Orleans over Thanksgiving Break. For details, call 643-6374.

LITTLE EGYPT Cosmopolitan Affiliates will meet tonight at the Charter Bank, 580 W. Main St. Board meeting at 5:30, business at 6:30 and main program at 7. For details, call 452-3285.

"SETTING A New Course: The Challenge of Central America," taught in English, will be held at 7 tonight in Lawson 231. Speakers will be Suzanne Dorge, a health educator in Nicaragua, and Art Sandler, a professor of philosophy who recently returned from Central America.

BRIEFS POLICY — The deadline for Campus Briefs is noon two days before publication. The briefs must be typewritten, and must include time, date, place and sponsor of the event and the name and telephone number of the person submitting the item. Items should be delivered or mailed to the Daily Egyptian Newsroom, Communications Building, Room 1247. A brief will be published once and only as space allows.

National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week October 16-22, 1988

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Alcohol Free Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Activity</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monday</td>
<td>7-8p.m</td>
<td>Headache, Hangovers... or Happiness? A New look at entertaining</td>
<td>Phil Diane Kappes House</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tuesday</td>
<td>10-1p.m</td>
<td>Alcohol Awareness Film Festival</td>
<td>International Student</td>
<td>Film Festival</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>7-8p.m</td>
<td>Alcohol Update 88</td>
<td>Student Center Auditorium</td>
<td>Film</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>9-10a.m</td>
<td>Volleyball Tournament (sign up at Rec. Center info desk)</td>
<td>Recreation Center</td>
<td>Recreation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>6-7p.m</td>
<td>Fitness Craze</td>
<td>Recreation Center</td>
<td>Information tables</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>8p.m.</td>
<td>Club Cico Cafe Special Olympics Fundraiser</td>
<td>Student Center Residence</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>6-7p.m</td>
<td>Volleyball tournament continued</td>
<td>Recreation Center</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>7-8p.m</td>
<td>the &quot;Dirty Dancing&quot; Concert Tour</td>
<td>Student Center Auditorium</td>
<td>film</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>7-8p.m.</td>
<td>SPC Film &quot;Chainsaw Massacre&quot;</td>
<td>Recreation Center</td>
<td>film</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>8-9p.m.</td>
<td>Volleyball Tournament continued</td>
<td>Recreation Center</td>
<td>film</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>8-9p.m.</td>
<td>Pop Rally &amp; Bonfire</td>
<td>Arena Parking Lot</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>8-9p.m.</td>
<td>Rundell Sheldon, Comedian</td>
<td>Student Center Bedroom D</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>8-9p.m.</td>
<td>Logos Coffeehouse</td>
<td>Wesley Foundation</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>7-8p.m.</td>
<td>SPC Film &quot;Nightmare on Elm Street Part II&quot;</td>
<td>Student Center Auditorium</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>8-9p.m.</td>
<td>Homecoming Parade</td>
<td>Grand Ave.</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>1-2p.m.</td>
<td>SPC salad bowl vs. Northern Illinois Huskies</td>
<td>Student Center Auditorium</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>1-2p.m.</td>
<td>student Association</td>
<td>Student Center Auditorium</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>2-3p.m.</td>
<td>Student Council</td>
<td>Student Center Auditorium</td>
<td>Comedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everyone is welcome to attend these alcohol free events co-sponsored by the Inter Greek Council, Intramural Recreation, Students Programming Council, Self Over Substance Program, of the Wellness Center and University Housing</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Daily Egyptian, October 17, 1988 Page 15
FANS, from Page 20

Among the other luminaries from the Saluki sporting world were Athletics Director Jim Hart, football coaches Rod Sherill and Stanley King, former women's basketball great Bridgett Bonds and several members of the volleyball team.

Also on hand for moral support was former Saluki great Steve Middleton — who has returned to SIU-C to finish his degree and practice with the squad — and Herrin's brother Ron, head basketball coach at Benton High School.

"I have never experienced anything like this before," said Jason Steward, a freshman in marketing. "By holding a late night practice I think it says they are serious about what they are doing. It is a message to the crowd which says they are going to do the best they can.”

COCHRAN'S AMOCO
Oil, Lube and Filter Special $9.95
Most American Cars

"I wasn't rubbing it in—I just wanted Eddie to know the score of last night's game."

Rich Herrin

Go ahead and gloat. You can tell it in all the way to Chicago with AT&T Long Distance Service. Besides, your best friend Eddie was the one who told your team could never win three straight.

So give him a call. It costs less than you think to let him know which headed for the Playoffs.

Reach out and touch someone!

If you'd like to know more about AT&T products and services, like International Calling and the AT&T Card, call us at 1 800 222-0300.

Rich Herrin
Comics

IT'S A ROUGH LIFE by Stephen Cox

Doonesbury

IT'S NOW OFFICIAL - GEORGE HERBERT WALKER BUSH, ONCE AGAIN PRESIDENT.

Mister Boffo

Grandma! Guess what?

Bloom County

These spaces will be available for advertisements Monday thru Friday.

Mother Goose & Grimm

If you want better visibility for your business, contact your Daily Egyptian Sales Representative for more information about this cartoon page. 536-3311

Today's Puzzle

Puzzle answers are on page 18
Sports Briefs

Tailgate winners selected

The grand prize of the Great Saluki Tailgate, a weekend trip for eight to the Salukis' game at Kentucky on Oct. 29, was won by Tri Sigma and Alpha Tau Omega. Other winners in the Saturday's competition include:

- Student category (11 or more): Delta Zeta and Phi Sigma Kappa, first place; Alpha Gamma Delta and Theta Xi, second place.
- Student category (10 or less): Kokomo Beach, first place; Dan Whitsett, second place.
- Saluki business spirit: Carbondale Clinic, first place; GTE North, Inc., second place.
- Saluki pride: Saluki Sailing, first place; Over the Hill Tailgaters, second place; Barbara Petersen, third place.

Basketball to have walk-on tryouts

Tryouts for walk-ons for the men's basketball team are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 24 at the Arena. For more information call Rich Herron at 3-5331.

Freshman Dennis wins again

By Robert Baxter

Staff Writer

The men's cross country team headed down on the farm Saturday to compete in the Illini Invitational meet. Freshman Jon Dennis once again led the way as he finished first, for the second time this season, with a time of 24:20.79 on the 8-mile course.

The race was held on a farm, just outside of Champaign, which was the former home of Illinois coach Gary Weineke.

Illinois won the meet with 36 points, followed by Illinois State with 43 points, and SIU-C in third with 81 points. Missouri was fourth and Iowa was fifth.

"As a team we went into the competition thinking we were every bit as good as Illinois State" Coach Bill Cornell said. "But they finished five men ahead of our second-place finisher."

Cornell said although Dennis ran a very good race, outdistancing his nearest opponent Illinois State's Dave Wilson (24:35) by 15 seconds, the team itself lagged behind and did not perform up to earlier expectations.

Cornell said to be Dennis' toughest competition in the Missouri Valley Conference championships in two weeks, led an Illinois State attack that placed five runners in the top 15.

Illinois State runners finished second, sixth, ninth, 12th and 14th on its way to a second-place finish.

"It is important to us that we still believe we can win the conference," Cornell said. "Even after losing to Illinois State in this meet."

SIU-C's second finisher was David Beaucoum, who was 15th with a time of 25:24. This was not up to par for Beaucoum who had, up to this point, been improving and running faster, Cornell said. "Dave (Beaucoum) had been running within 15-20 seconds of Dennis so far this year," Cornell said, adding that the team as a whole did not run as well as expected.

"We had a hard week of workouts," Cornell said. "And the overall performance of the team was flat. Many of the runners looked tired."

Cornell said both Vaughn Harry and Paul Glanville's performances also were hindered by colds.

"VAUGHN AND PAUL (Glanville) both said they couldn't breathe very well," and Glanville had to drop out of the race halfway through."

Hoping up to this point had been finishing in the top 30 each race. He finished in 26th with a time of 26:40.

Rounding out SIU-C's finishers were Paul Burksin who finished in 17th with a time of 25:34, Mark Stuart in 22nd at 25:43, Evan Taylor in 36th at 27:02, and Craig Steele in 42nd with a time of 27:39. Steele was suffering muscle tightness and a hamstring problem.

Cornell said after his team's tired-looking performance, he may have to rest some of his key people before the conference championships.

"I will not be running Burksin, Glanville or Mark Stuart," Cornell said.

Homecoming '88

Come On! Come All to the Biggest Bonfire of the Fall!

March on in to the beat of the SIU Marching Salukis as they Snake Dance to the SIU Arena Parking Lot on the eve of Friday, Oct. 21. Salukis football Coach, Rick Phelan and the 1988 Football Team! SIU Athletics Director Jim Hart will be present to "fire" up the crowds. SPC Homecoming Committee also presents the Saluki Shakers and Cheerleaders.

The fun starts at 6:30 Friday

Don't Miss It!

Sponsored by SPC Special Events

Call for Information! 435-5276

Prime Time

MONDAY NITE FOOTBALL

Oct. 17

Jets vs. Bills

Muller 50¢ & $1.00 Lit Drafts

Free Popcorn

25¢ Chicago Style Hot Dogs & Peanuts

3 Screens Mean All Seats Are Great

Admission: $5.00

Student Center Programming Council Admission: $5.00

Tickets available at the

Student Center

Central Ticket Office

THE FOOTBALL

PARTY!

IT'S A PARTY TO BENEFIT

SPECIAL OLYMPICS!

Sponsored by

Student Center Programming Council

Admission: $5.00

Tickets available at the

Student Center

Central Ticket Office

THE FOOTBALL

PARTY!

IT'S A PARTY TO BENEFIT SPECIAL OLYMPICS!

Admission: $5.00

Tickets available at the

Student Center

Central Ticket Office

THE FOOTBALL

PARTY!

IT'S A PARTY TO BENEFIT SPECIAL OLYMPICS!
Volleyball team loses to SW Missouri in 5 games

By Lisa Werns
Staff Writer

Southwest Missouri State, ranked first in the Gateway conference pre-season poll, defeated the Saluki volleyball team in its second conference match of the season, 11-15, 12-15, 15-14, 15-13, 15-9 Saturday afternoon at Davies Gymnasium.

"A big factor for the loss is that we've played a large amount of volleyball in the last 24 hours," Saluki coach Debbi Hunter said.

Senior setter Sue Sinclair said: "I can't attribute the loss to any one thing but we were struggling harder than we had to.

Sinclair added that the communication on the court has improved.

The conference opener Friday night against Wichita State was the first five-game match SU-C has won this season. SU-C defeated Wichita State 15-10, 12-15, 15-9, 15-11, 15-14.

The first game against Southwest Missouri State was tied seven times but SU-C broke the hold. Nina Brackins contributed with six kills in that game. She finished with a total of 17 kills, but added 16 hitting errors.

In game two, SU-C had a 7-1 lead before Southwest Missouri State rallied.

"We had a high-momentum factor and the team was playing together, but we couldn't hang on," Hunter said.

"We had confidence we'd come back," Southwest Missouri State coach Linda Dollar said. We were prepared mentally.

In the second game, sophomore Amy Johnson had five kills and three solo blocks.

Tori Noble had seven digs in that game and also had a career-high 18 total kills.

In the third game it was the Salukis' turn to come from behind. Southwest Missouri State had a 9-0 lead which the Salukis surpassed.

"Our play in game three was tenacious," Hunter said. "We were not looking at the scoreboard.

Southwest Missouri's eight-point lead in the fourth game proved too steep for the Salukis, though. The Salukis had hitting errors to add to their difficulties.

SU-C scored only four points in the fifth game of the match.

"At first we didn't have rhythm," Dollar said. "We weren't passing and when you can't pass, you can't do anything. I wondered how we did it then.

Southwest Missouri State is 15-5 overall and 2-0 in conference play. SU-C is 11-11 and 1-1.

Lori Simpson did not play Saturday because she twisted her knee coming from a block during Friday's match. She will need a lot of rest, Hunter said. Simpson was offensive with 10 kills and three blocks.

Noble, who injured her ankle during the Texas A&M match Oct. 8, did participate playing Friday night.

Freshman middle blocker Stephanie Newman reaches for the ball as Southwest Missouri's Stephanie Brown (7) and Laura Scafidi (15) attempt to block at Davies Gym Saturday. Newman had seven kills and three blocks in the Salukis loss to the Bears.

Women's Safety: Her Concern Is Your Concern

One out of every three women will be raped in her lifetime. That's down to one rape every 3 minutes in this country. These attacks happen on our streets and in our homes: they occur among acquaintances, partners and strangers. Her concern is your concernbecause she is your sister, friend, partner, mother. She may be you. It happens disproportionately to women.

Women's Safety Week October 16-22, 1988
MONDAY, October 17 Safety Awareness Workshop for women and men 7pm at the Wesley Foundation
TUESDAY, October 18 Panel Discussion Sexual Harassment TBA

WELLNESS CENTER — GROUPS & WORKSHOPS

GETTING FIT FOR AEROBICS

Women's Safety Week October 16-22, 1988
MONDAY, October 17 Safety Awareness Workshop for women and men 7pm at the Wesley Foundation
TUESDAY, October 18 Panel Discussion Sexual Harassment TBA
WEDNESDAY, October 19 Performance Run Rec Center Foundation
THURSDAY, October 20 Self Defense for Women, Part I Rec Center Foundation
FRIDAY, October 21 Take Back the Night Rally Rec Center

Stop Procrastinating! This one night workshop helps you understand why you put things off. Co-sponsored by the Career Counseling Center and the Women's Safety Week. Tuesday, October 17, 7-9pm

Women's Safety: Her Concern Is Your Concern

One out of every three women will be raped in her lifetime. That's down to one rape every 3 minutes in this country. These attacks happen on our streets and in our homes: they occur among acquaintances, partners and strangers. Her concern is your concern because she is your sister, friend, partner, mother. She may be you. It happens disproportionately to women.

Women's Safety Week October 16-22, 1988
MONDAY, October 17 Safety Awareness Workshop for women and men 7pm at the Wesley Foundation
TUESDAY, October 18 Panel Discussion Sexual Harassment TBA
WEDNESDAY, October 19 Performance Run Rec Center Foundation
THURSDAY, October 20 Self Defense for Women, Part I Rec Center Foundation
FRIDAY, October 21 Take Back the Night Rally Rec Center

Freedom from Smoking

Starting 3/28, 7-week group offers options from a structured program & group support for those who are serious about quitting. Meets Tuesday 4:45pm beginning October 16

Women's Safety: Her Concern Is Your Concern

One out of every three women will be raped in her lifetime. That's down to one rape every 3 minutes in this country. These attacks happen on our streets and in our homes: they occur among acquaintances, partners and strangers. Her concern is your concern because she is your sister, friend, partner, mother. She may be you. It happens disproportionately to women.

Women's Safety Week October 16-22, 1988
MONDAY, October 17 Safety Awareness Workshop for women and men 7pm at the Wesley Foundation
TUESDAY, October 18 Panel Discussion Sexual Harassment TBA
WEDNESDAY, October 19 Performance Run Rec Center Foundation
THURSDAY, October 20 Self Defense for Women, Part I Rec Center Foundation
FRIDAY, October 21 Take Back the Night Rally Rec Center

Women's Safety: Her Concern Is Your Concern

One out of every three women will be raped in her lifetime. That's down to one rape every 3 minutes in this country. These attacks happen on our streets and in our homes: they occur among acquaintances, partners and strangers. Her concern is your concern because she is your sister, friend, partner, mother. She may be you. It happens disproportionately to women.

Women's Safety Week October 16-22, 1988
MONDAY, October 17 Safety Awareness Workshop for women and men 7pm at the Wesley Foundation
TUESDAY, October 18 Panel Discussion Sexual Harassment TBA
WEDNESDAY, October 19 Performance Run Rec Center Foundation
THURSDAY, October 20 Self Defense for Women, Part I Rec Center Foundation
FRIDAY, October 21 Take Back the Night Rally Rec Center

Freedom from Smoking

Starting 3/28, 7-week group offers options from a structured program & group support for those who are serious about quitting. Meets Tuesday 4:45pm beginning October 16

Women's Safety: Her Concern Is Your Concern

One out of every three women will be raped in her lifetime. That's down to one rape every 3 minutes in this country. These attacks happen on our streets and in our homes: they occur among acquaintances, partners and strangers. Her concern is your concern because she is your sister, friend, partner, mother. She may be you. It happens disproportionately to women.

Women's Safety Week October 16-22, 1988
MONDAY, October 17 Safety Awareness Workshop for women and men 7pm at the Wesley Foundation
TUESDAY, October 18 Panel Discussion Sexual Harassment TBA
WEDNESDAY, October 19 Performance Run Rec Center Foundation
THURSDAY, October 20 Self Defense for Women, Part I Rec Center Foundation
FRIDAY, October 21 Take Back the Night Rally Rec Center

Freedom from Smoking

Starting 3/28, 7-week group offers options from a structured program & group support for those who are serious about quitting. Meets Tuesday 4:45pm beginning October 16
‘Frustrated’ offense pulls out victory

Fourth-quarter scoring drive
saves good defensive display

By David Gallianetti
Staff writer

Frustration was the name of this football game. Lucky for the Salukis, they’ve been playing it long enough that they know all the tricks.

With 9:36 left in the fourth quarter of Saturday’s contest, the Salukis scored their first touchdown in seven quarters to pull out a 19-7 victory over Gateway for Indiana State.

“I can’t remember being as frustrated as a coach as I was at the half,” said Saluki coach Rick Herrin. “I did something I’ve never done – I threw a headset. In games of the past we have shot ourselves in the foot. Now we are up to the knee cap.

The Salukis, who move to 4-2 overall and 2-2 in the Gateway, came up empty on two prime scoring attempts. With the ball on the 25-yard line and less than a minute before the half, Fred Gibson threw the ball into the hands of Sycamore defensive back Lavent Blaylock.

On the first drive of the third quarter, the Salukis marched to the 6-yard line but failed to convert on a fourth-and-inches.

“Not converting on a fourth-and-inches is like a 54-yard field goal,” Rhoades said. “It was a big factor in the game. We are not doing the job done and it is becoming a problem.”

Saluki halfback Chuck Harmke, who rushed for 95 yards in the third quarter, said the offense just couldn’t get over the hump.

“What happened was we couldn’t put things together. It’s very frustrating to work hard and not get anything for it.”

Quarterback Fred Gibson echoed Harmke’s comment.

“It is really frustrating any time a good drive is stopped and you just can’t figure out why. You’ve got to wonder what is going on.”

In Rhoades’ eyes, the Salukis’ offense was the savior. Tori Vactor, the leading rusher in the Gateway, was held to just 55 yards.

“Not converting on a fourth-and-inches is like a 54-yard field goal,” Rhoades said. “It was a big factor in the game. We are not doing the job done and it is becoming a problem.”

Saluki halfback Chuck Harmke, who rushed for 95 yards in the third quarter, said the offense just couldn’t get over the hump.

“What happened was we couldn’t put things together. It’s very frustrating to work hard and not get anything for it.”

Quarterback Fred Gibson echoed Harmke’s comment.

“It is really frustrating any time a good drive is stopped and you just can’t figure out why. You’ve got to wonder what is going on.”

In Rhoades’ eyes, the Salukis’ offense was the savior. Tori Vactor, the leading rusher in the Gateway, was held to just 55 yards.

“The defense played an outstanding game,” Rhoades said. “The line had much better pressure on the quarterback.”

Defensive coordinator Jim Flemmons said keeping Vactor contained was a big plus.

“The thing we really wanted to do was shut down Vactor,” Flemmons said. "The pass rush was effective and we were able to keep him contained.”

The Salukis defense was the savior. Tori Vactor, the leading rusher in the Gateway, was held to just 55 yards.

“The defense played an outstanding game,” Rhoades said. “The line had much better pressure on the quarterback.”

Defensive coordinator Jim Flemmons said keeping Vactor contained was a big plus.

“The thing we really wanted to do was shut down Vactor,” Flemmons said. "The pass rush was effective and we were able to keep him contained.”

With reports that players like Freddie McSwain and Tony Harvey, coupled with the stand-bys Randy House and Kai Nurnberger, are going to make a legitimate run at the Missouri Valley

Saluki Derin Parker (42) reaches for a rebound along with Rick Shipley (40) during the midnight scrimmage Saturday.

See VICTORY, Page 16

Page 16, Daily Egyptian, October 17, 1988