Higher Board to Reconsider Increases in School Budgets

Morris Attends Chicago Meeting

President Delyte W. Morris is in Chicago today for a meeting of the Illinois Board of Higher Education which could result in a cut in the proposed capital improvements budgets of SIU and five other state universities.

Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the higher board, called the meeting to review a previous action of the board which had added $23 million to the universities' budgets at a recent meeting.

At that time, Heineman indicated that he felt the representatives of the universities on the board had voted in a bloc to add the amount to the figure that had been recommended by the board's paid staff.

The board voted the increase Feb. 2, when three of the eight public members were absent along with Heineman, who voted only in case of ties, giving the university representatives a 5-3 margin.

Heineman called the increase unnecessary and suggested that the number of college trustees on the 15-member board be reduced from six to four or three.

He also urged committee reorganization of the board.

John Page Wham, chairman of SIU's Board of Trustees, said that SIU took part in bloc voting on the budgets.

SIU and the five other state universities had asked for $105,662,637 in capital improvements. The higher board's staff recommended only $11,500,000. However, the $23,933,520 voted at the controversial meeting raised the capital improvement total to $135,119,665 for the next biennium.

If all board members attend the meeting today, there may be a chance another board member may slice off the $23 million and send the budgets to State Education for final approval.

Sportscasting Isn't All Glamour; Behind Glitter Lies Hard Work

By Mike Schwebel

Far more than glamour is involved in the world of sportscasting. On most road game assignments, the WSIU radio crew is the first to arrive at the gymnasium and the last to leave, for the audience the image of sportscasting is one involving bright lights, travel, the excitement of the contest and the voice of an announcer bringing the play by play to an audience of thousands. But being a member of the crew means hard work. There is the work put into the planning of a road game coverage, the press of deadlines, the pressure of trying to get an entire show out of a completely empty gymnasium to begin work.

After making sure that a direct phone line to the WSIU radio control room will be kept open in case of difficulties, and checking other technicalities, they leave for a meal before game time. Scanning the local paper for any additional information which may help them during the game, they soon return to the gym, still long before game time.

More information is obtained and studied, such as checking players' names and numbers, along with past performances of both squads. An interview may be set up for halftime, and the technical aspects are continually being checked by the engineer and producer. Once the action begins, the procedure follows splitsecond cooperation among the producer, engineer and announcer. Time signals must constantly be given for sections breaks along the lines for the five other stations booked onto the WSIU line who carry Saluki basketball for their area. The announcer has a quick wrap-up, giving the scoring and other statistics an regular commentary, and the "on the air" coverage is over.

Then comes the cleanup job, the disassembly of the equipment, loading it into a car, and the trip home begins.

Another "glamorous" sportscasing road show has come to an end.

"It's Great To Be IN"
Pro Boxing Up for Vote

By Sen. Paul Simon

Once again in this session the legislature will have an opportunity to vote for or against the introduction of boxing in Illinois, a choice thatcuts across the usual narrow party lines and usually finds strong opinions.

My vote and voice will be for not. Not only the one we tolerate which does little harm physically to the participants, but boxing in all its forms can literally kill an opponent and he leads a witnessless death. We do not tolerate cock fights or bull fights, but we let two human beings go into a ring and actually fight one another.

This is not an activity that does him or to a civilized society.

"But professional boxing is also rough," some of my friends assure me. "Do you want to praise that too?" They see no comparison between the two.

In the history of professional football not a single player has been killed, while every year there are some killed in boxing—poor boys who think they can make a fast, easy dollar.

Even more important, a man who comes away from professional football may have a bad knee or arm or his brain is in good shape.

Medical studies in our nation, Asia and Great Britain indicate that approximately 70 percent of those who spend any length of time in a professional boxing end up with brain damage, perhaps not detectable in all cases to the layman but apparent to the medical specialist.

Any "sport" which inflicts brain damage on 70 percent of its participants should not be tolerated.

What about amateur boxing? The proposal which will be before the legislature does not include prohibiting amateur boxing.

If I were a school board member I would not vote to have it at my school. The difference between professional boxing and amateur boxing is the difference between day and night.

In amateur boxing the stay in the ring and in the career is brief, usually before any damage is done. Even more significant, in amateur boxing the manager is interested in the boxer, while too often in the professional fight game the manager is interested only in the buck; too often he gets the win while the boxer gets peanuts.

And there is no question racketers enter amateur boxing.

The interest in professional boxing has gradually been decreasing.

In one of these legislative sessions I hope we will give professional boxing the final burial. It is so richly deserved, before too many more punch-drunk boxers walk the street.

This is not a measure which affects the moral stability of the society in which we live, but it is probably a measure that tests the moral sensitivity of the profession in which we live.

Responsibility Lies With Parents, Not Law

The quote from your series on underage drinking, "there exists a mistaken notion that drinking among children is in a natural act of maturity, ... maturity exists in obeying the law," is once again true, but it has indeed, drawn a misleading conclusion from a figure on an erroneous description of all sub-21 drinkers.

Underage drinkers can be divided into two categories: those who call themselves "mature drinkers," and those who call themselves mature drinkers, the one who is on the inside or the other.

Such people should be at least as old as the party, cheerfully confessing their efforts for underage drinking while jubilantly splashing the contents of another tall, cool one down the drain.

The challenge: to put a stop to it.

Cops' Rig for Saloon Patrol: Falsified ID and Fortified Dog

Your account of the troubles of the saloon patrol brought to mind another fine police force enforcing the liquor laws: the Saloon patrol. I suggest that we the city fathers seriously undertake the study of an enterprise that will make life more endurable for the Carbondale cops.

My suggestion is that they enact an ordinance prohibiting the police from frequenting bars and taverns and saloons while on duty, except when accompanied by either an underaged minor with a falsified ID or a trained St. Bernard with a full case of rum around its neck.

Move Advocism To Center Also?

Since spring is upon us so soon as it is time to take pen in hand and criticize the sectional department, here is a criticism, but humble suggestion. Why not spend much time by putting Advocism in the vacant space on the first floor of the Union (so it will be an sectioning), and save the time required for students to go back and forth. As we get bigger, students have to walk through the hallways and too often get to Advisers to sign the delimiters or additions to the sectioning.

Putting the two together would make a good deed of time and make for better communication between the two departments.

Instead of name calling, students might be better rewarded for their thoughts if they were constructive in their remarks.

Entrace Exam? Not For My Old Fraternity-Brothers!

Concerning the article on the "Stadium Advocates" the case for democracy in Iran," by Mr. Amin Abbatani at SIU, the students at SIU feel that our responsibility to a democratic form of government.

Part of all, it should be mentioned that Mr. Abbatani is not even a member of any Iranian political party, U.S.A. in the United States, and his claim of being the "Proponent of Democracy in the Middle West," is a gross distortion. Also, it is interesting to note that Iranian Students do not have any problem with the above title.

Secondly, the article was based on Mr. Abbatani's personal ideas and beliefs not a fact.

Throw Our Viet Poker Table; Conference Table Is Best Bet

I am not pacified by the determination of congressional leaders, special advisers, and the like to avoid all-out war. It is as though those who have been quite sophisticated and rational when they deem global war unwise, would confine our conflicts to limited conflicts, one war at a time. This fosters the adversaries of our sincerity.

The wars we have fought in the last years have been of this nature. We have sacrificed our men and funds for nothing more than to strengthen our position at the negotiating table. While in Vietnam, we are presently doing it in Nam Viet.

The proposal which will be "Amendments with eight Americans; we call "position" each other. The Congress has to defend the proposal for the "Lim. We will not go directly to the conference table but we will begin walk up.

Major College Football Status, New SIU Stadium Advocated

I have been reading with great interest Daily Egyptian articles on the proposal to give the football program at SIU major college status. As a fairly recent graduate, I would like to insert my two cents on the matter, before we feel we are in a position to call these boundaries which make social drinking pleasurable get reality.

Reaching 21 years of age does not automatically make one mature, but only subjects those who call themselves "mature drinkers," and those who call themselves mature drinkers, the one who is on the inside or the other.

Those who are mature drinkers learned, oftentimes in the home, to recognize and respect those boundaries which make social drinking pleasures get reality.

The responsibility of an underaged drinker is not to drink, but to his or her parents who are responsible for either getting their children drunk or their children mature and immature actions until they are 21.

Bills Would Authorize Increases Of Cigarette and Sales Taxes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Legislation permitting city officials to double their half cent city sales tax to a permissible one-cent-a-pack tax on cigarettes was introduced Tuesday in the Illinois House.

The measures — a key part of a tax package sought by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and numerous downstate city officials — also would provide for a 20-cent increase on cigars and alcoholic beverages.

In other major developments, the Senate passed a conflict of interest proposal and the House tackled key amendments on to a bill to abolish capital punishment. Democratic leaders in the House were joined by five Republican sponsors in introducing proposals to permit city councils to boost half-cent sales taxes to a full penny on the dollar.

Other city officials have sought unsuccessfully in recent sessions to obtain permission from the legislature to increase the city sales tax.

The original half-cent city sales tax was authorized by the 1955 legislature. The state has a $1.2-cent state sales tax. Rep. Paul Elward of Chicago, Democratic majority whip, said the proposed half-cent increase would boost Chicago's revenue by $235 mil­lion a year.

Elward said the legislation is needed primarily for salary increases for policemen and firefighters.

The proposed tax on cigars would be 10 cents for a box consisting of 50 packs, 30 cents for a box of 10 packs and 80 cents for a box of 5 packs. Pipe and other packaged tobacco would be taxed at 10 cents for a box of 50 packs, 30 cents for a box of 10 packs and 80 cents for a box of 5 packs.

The liquor tax calls for 2 cents a gallon on beer and other malt beverages, 8 cents a gallon on out-of-state wine of 14 per cent or less alcohol, 20 cents a gallon on Illinois wine of 15 per cent or less alcohol, and 50 cents a gallon on whiskey and other alcoholic drinks.

The Senate unanimously passed and sent to the House for further action the first of a series of conflict-of-interest bills under consideration by the General Assembly.

The Senate, in other business, was scheduled to consider the following legislation:

- Bills to add an operating license fee to the combined property tax and corporation tax;

Civilian Government Takes Reins From Gen. Khanh in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A new government and a new legislative advisory body took office Tuesday with the blessing of I.t. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, who received the symbol of civilian rule that had been rent by military purges was restored.

Dr. Phan Huu Quat, 55, a former university dean and the helmsman as premier. He called for unity in the interests of promoting the U.S.-backed war against the Viet Cong. The new cabinet was announced by a delegation of National Front leaders that was embattled from the new cabinet, but he keeps the best job. Quat is a former North Viet­namese who headed South when the Communists took over Hanoi. Men from the central and northern sections of South Viet Nam are dominant in his ministries and militant Bud­dhist, who were contributed from the downfall of several previous governments, are strongly represented.

Significantly, Tran Quan Thuan again became social welfare minister. Thuan held that post for a time in Khanh's first Cabinet last year, but quit after a series of arguments with the strong man. In the interval he has served as a lay spokesman for the Buddhists.

The new regime emerged barely on schedule for the formal induction ceremony at Gia Long Palace. Up to the last minute, the list of ministers was changing and confused.

A reporter asked one of the nominees the identity of the new minister. "I'm sorry, I don't know," he replied, "I'm a newcomer here myself."

The finance minister turned out to be Tran Van Kien, Quat had chosen Dr. Tru Ton Huan, but Quan decided not to take the job.

The new Legislative Ad­visory Council chosen by Khanh and his generals has made up of men representing military, religious and political groups. It succeeds the High National Council which was a symbol in a military purge last Dec. 19.

Plot to Dynamite Statue of Liberty Foiled With Arrest of Three Negroes

By Arthur Everett

NEW YORK (AP) — Three American Negroes, described as pro-Castro and pro-Chinese racial fanatics, were seized Tuesday in a weird plot to blow up simultaneously the Statue of Liberty, the Wash­ington Monument and Phila­delphia's Liberty Bell.

"I'll have to draw attention to the condition of my race," Robert S. Collier, accused leader of the bizarre conspiracy, was quoted in an ar­rest warrant as saying.

"One judge to apprehend in a dra­matic climax to an absorbing criminal saga in which counter-activity was an attrac­tive, blue-eyed Canadian blonde, reportedly well known in United Nations social cir­cles.

Last month, she was sighted, newly sought employment with the international organization.

The woman was said to have brought explosives to this planned dy­namite strike against the three cherished symbols of this na­tion's heritage.

Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy told news­men of the quartet: "We know they have made contact in other cities. We have no idea how many people might be involved."

In readiness for the adventure, which may have been timed with Washington's Birthday in mind, were 22 sticks of dynamite, with detonating caps. They were being transferred from a Bronx parking lot to an auto­mobile when police seized a carefully-laid trap.

"The plot was said to have been uncovered by a New York City Negro patrolman, Ray­mond Wood, who infiltrated a Negro extremist organization known as the Black Liberation Front.

Murphy said Wood's original contact with the group came at a United Nations party given by the Cuban delegation.

"We were told something to do with the United Nations?" the contact man asked, "I don't know," Murphy replied.

The trailing Wood to detect on the spot, Murphy told news­men.

"There was nothing lucky about this. An undercover man risked his life for months," Wood was said to have be­come privy to the group's secrets and to have been actively entrusted with a role in the dynamite mission.

Murphy described the group as pro-Castro and aligned in militant ideology with the Chinese Communists. The commissioner called the organization "extremely mili­tant and far to the left of the most extreme groups, even the Black Nationalists.

Those arrested were: Robert S. Collier, 28, tall, Boston-born Negro, married with one child. He received an ar­rest warrant on a first-hand charge from military service after slashing a man during a fight in England in 1956.

He was a member of a stu­dent group which went to Cuba in 1964 in defiance of a State Department ban.

He is said to be the leader of the Black Liberation Front.

Robert L. Duclos, 22, Phil­adelphia-born Negro, married with one child. Employed as an office equipment salesman in New York, he is a supporter of the pro-Castro Front. He was arrested as a supporter of the pro-Castro Front. He was arrested as a supporter of the pro-Castro Front.

Khalil S. Sayeed, 22, Brooklyn-born Negro, single, former student at Howard University School of En­gineering and Architecture, Washington, D.C.

Michelle Duclos, 28, of Montreal, a tall, blonde tele­vision commentator and a member of a political party that advocates separation of French-speaking Quebec from the rest of Canada.

Murphy said Miss Duclos brought the dynamite from Canada Monday,

"It was ready to be used at the earliest possible time," the commissioner said, adding, however, that he did not know whether a specific date had been selected.

Murphy outlined the under­cover operation whereby Wood unmolested Walter Wood, who is 6 feet 1 and 201 pounds, is single. He joined the police force about two months ago.

He infiltrated the Black Liberation Front about three months ago, Murphy said.

Handling the premiership in this period was Deputy Premier Nguyen Xuan Danh, a Harvard-educated econ­omist who is president of the National Bank. Danh was omitted from the new Cabinet, but he keeps the best job. Quat is a former North Viet­namese who headed South when the Communists took over Hanoi. Men from the central and southern sections of South Viet Nam are dominant in his ministries and militant Bud­dhist, who were contributed from the downfall of several previous governments, are strongly represented.

Significantly, Tran Quan Thuan again became social welfare minister. Thuan held that post for a time in Khanh's first Cabinet last year, but quit after a series of arguments with the strong man. In the interval he has served as a lay spokesman for the Buddhists.

The new regime emerged barely on schedule for the formal induction ceremony at Gia Long Palace. Up to the last minute, the list of ministers was changing and confused.

A reporter asked one of the nominees the identity of the new minister: "I'm sorry, I don't know," he replied, "I'm a newcomer here myself."

The finance minister turned out to be Tran Van Kien, Quat had chosen Dr. Tru Ton Huan, but Quan decided not to take the job.

The new Legislative Ad­visory Council chosen by Khanh and his generals has made up of men representing military, religious and political groups. It succeeds the High National Council which was a symbol in a military purge last Dec. 19.

Sears Sees His Job as Making People 'Scientifically Literate'

By Michelle Hanafin

An enlargement of a recent editorial in science stands in the first floor hallway of the Life Science Building. It is headed "Time to Pause and Regroup!", the author is Paul B. Sears.

Sears, professor emeritus of Yale University, has worked in the fields of botany, ecology, conservation, and education. He is also the author of several books.

Sitting SIU for winter quarter only, Sears lectures at botany seminars and takes part in teaching a course entitle "Conservation of Natural Resources." He also advises the board which coordinates the GSA area of the General Studies program.

"It is very encouraging to see this tried," Sears commented of the University's project.

"Our job today is to make as many people as we can scientifically literate," he said. Sears has been teaching since 1913. Most of his experience has been in the colleges and universities of the Midwest. In 1950, he joined the faculty at Yale. He retired four years ago as the director of the Yale graduate program in conservation of natural resources.

Since 1925, Sears has been interested in tracing changes of climate from the fossil pollen accumulated in old lakes. As a result of this interest he is currently working on a book, the " Climatic History in Northern Ohio of the Great Lakes."

Sears is also interested in the impact of man's activities on the land, and finds that they have often destroyed its future values.

His interest in ecology has taken him into every state of the United States, Central America and Western Europe. While visiting this campus, he hopes to learn more about Southern Illinois.

Nine of Sears' books can be found in Mere Library. His latest one, "Where There is Life," a paperback, can be found in the University Center bookstore. Besides these, he has written a number of technical papers and general articles on ecology and conservation. His latest article is scheduled to appear in the Atlantic Monthly in July.

OURS FOR KEEPS - Accepting a film documenting the story of Granite City's Pack Drive-In is Ferre S. Randall, head librarian at Morris Library. Granite City officials made the film available at SIU's Department of Recreation and Outdoor Education. The film effectively depicted the efforts of the Unitarian Meeting House, sponsor of the drive. The film was shown at 7 p.m. Friday in the Unitarian Meeting House, sponsor of the drive. The film was shown at 7 p.m. Friday in the Unitarian Meeting House.

"What Earthly Benefit Has Christianity?"

To Be Debated by Priest, Grad Student

An unrehearsed debate on the topic "Resolved: There is earthly benefit in an individual's adherence to the Christian faith," will be presented at 7 p.m. Friday in the Unitarian Meeting House, sponsor of the debate is the Student Humanist Association at SIU.

Two outspoke liberals will take part in the discussion, said the sponsors. They are Rev. Floyd Pottast, harmony, a Roman Catholic priest, and H. Brent Davis, an SIU graduate student.

Student Group

Pickets Drive-In

On Race Issue

"We will go on forever if we have to," said Minnie Jean Brown, a spokesman for the Student Non-Violent Freedom Committee, whose members are picketing the Family Fun Drive-In hamburger stand on Carbondale's east side as a part of the Committee's employment program.

Miss Brown said that the committee found "very definite pattern of discrimination" during a visit to the Family Fun Drive-In. She said that properly qualified Negroes have been denied employment there in "nominal jobs."

Some persons had determined that there were positions available at the drive-in, Miss Brown said, but about 25 Negroes, many with previous experience or who had training at SIU's Vocational-Technical Institute, either were told that they did not meet the qualifications or found that the manager was unavailable.

Miss Brown said that the manager was told that picketing would stop if one Negro was hired by 12 noon Sunday. Since he did not comply, the picketing continues from 3 to 7:30 p.m. daily with about 60 persons participating.

Some of the persons with cards order a drink through curb service and then "park in" for the remainder of the day.

Miss Brown said picketing would continue until Negro is hired and the committee is assured that other Negroes will be hired in the future.

Minnie Jean Brown and the majority of the members of the Student Non-Violent Freedom Committee are students at SIU.

Both speakers agree that the debate should not be a "dead pan" discussion or a disguised dialogue, but rather a true argument which, by definition, requires the exchange of opposing views, the sponsors said.

By mutual agreement, the usual restrictions of collegiate debate will not be observed in this program. They feel these restrictions would not allow enough freedom for direct and spontaneous clash.

Father Pottast, a prelate at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church for the last several years, will argue in the affirmative. He does not care for the technical or abstract philosophy which tends to remove intellectual search for knowledge from the practical application of Christian-secular principles, he said.

Davis says that adherence to the Christian faith is indeed superlatively detrimental to an individual in particular and to society in general.

Asked if he feared an unfavorable reaction from the audience because of his opinion, Davis replied that he never fears the "audience." I trust as much as I do the common sense and good will of an audience that is tolerant, patient and judicious enough to hear both sides of any controversy." This sentiment was endorsed by Father Pottast.

After the debate there will be a question-answer session. "As the atmosphere is to be informal, the audience will be requested to follow the examples set by the speakers and leave their kid-gloves at home," said the sponsors.

The Student Humanist Association is an independent secular organization which says its purpose is to examine existing social institutions which bear directly upon the welfare and progress of mankind.

Agricultory Day
Sat Here Feb. 25
New developments in corn production will be the theme of the annual Agricultural Day scheduled here Feb. 25. Sessions will be in Muckelroy Auditorium in the Agriculture Building.

Among subjects to be discussed are current trends in corn production in southern Illinois, controlling spread population studies, findings about stalk rot and corn mosaic, techniques of irrigating corn, and factors causing nitrate poisoning in animals.

George Kappa, supervisor, will discuss the progress of the new southwestern farms.

Dave Lee Turns Demon on the Court

Those basketball fans who measure a player's value solely on his scoring would receive quite a jolt to their standard if they attended a Saluki game. What they would see is a slender guy wearing No. 20 batting the ball away from a taller opponent and causing general havoc in the backcourt for the team with the ball. The man behind the number is Southern's Dave Lee, a six-foot guard. Although averaging about nine points a game on offense, Lee's value to the team couldn't be computed even by the latest IBM masterpieces. The little scrapper roams all over the court during the game and takes his share of knocks for his spirited defense. It is nothing at all to see No. 20 sprawled on the floor after going after a bad pass or a loose ball. Lee even received a thunderous ovation from the 13,000 partisan fans in Evansville after one of his diving stunts blocked their idols' attempt at a fast break.

Gymnasts Roll On
In Conquest Path

By Joe Cook

The SIU gymnasts keep rolling out last weekend the Saluki gymnastic team added victory nos. 33 and 34 to their string of convincing victories at Ohio State and Michigan State.

The Ohio State meet score of 77 1/2-33 1/2 could have been exceeded if Coach Bill Meade had entered an all-around performer.

The Salukis' depth and power was too much for the Buckeyes, who lost their seventh dual meet of the season without a victory.

So successful were the Salukis that they scored first places in all seven events.

Frank Schmitz and Bill Wolf leading the way with three and two victories respectively, Schmitz turned in one of his highest scores on the trampoline this season as he scored a 96 1/2. Hutch Dvorak was second with 90 1/2 and Brent Williams third with 81 1/2. Schmitz also scored 94 in free exercise and 94 1/2 on the long horse to complete his productive day.

Wolf had firsts on high bar and the rings with scores of 95 and 92 1/2, but dropped to fourth on the parallel bars. Mike Boegler and Larry Lindauer accounted for the other Saluki victories as Boegler scored 94 on the side horse and Lindauer turned in a score of 85 1/2 on the parallel bars which tied him with Ohio State's Jay Stroud. Steve Whitlock and Boegler turned in their best scores to date in free exercise and long horse respectively, finishing second. Whitlock scored 94, while Boegler scored an impressive 92.

Rick Tucker added to the Saluki victories as an all-around performer. Although his victory did not count in the final team's scoring Tucker officially earned three thirds and two fourths.

The Michigan State meet saw the Salukis win both teams. With Schmitz again winning three of them. Wolf added the other victory on the rings, although he was pressed by teammate Tom Cook, who finished second to him in both events.

Jim Curzi of Michigan State accounted for the other three victories as he scored firsts on the side horse, high bar and parallel bars, scoring a surprising 98 on the bars.

The trampoline, long horse and still rings events proved to be the most productive for the Salukis against the Buckeyes.

Southern had the first three winners on trampoline and rings and had a first, second and fourth on the long horse. With the toughest dual meets behind them the Salukis now fly to Arizona where they will face the University of Arizona and Arizona State at Tempe this weekend.

A trip to Wichita State University and University of Illinois (Chicago branch) will conclude the Salukis' regular season.

Poised SIU Gymnastic Squad Spills Spartan's Spoilers

The SIU gymnasts were able Monday night to overcome several threats to their 34th consecutive dual meet victory when the Salukis faced the Michigan State Spartans.

Perhaps the most obvious one which especially concerned Coach Bill Meade was that his team's last defeat came against Michigan State at East Lansing during the 1960-61 season. The Spartans were determined to play spoilers again this time.

Illness and injuries also gave the Saluki coach concern. Rick Tucker, who works side horse, parallel bars and high bar, came down with a severe chest cold. He still competed in the meet and did earn one point on the parallel bars with a score of 83.

It appears that with this convincing victory against a strong Michigan State team that the Saluki performers are proving their skeptics that they have a stronger team than was first realized.

This year the Salukis don't have the one or two big performers, but must rely on the performances of all nine men.

Several of the gymnasts have come a long way since the beginning of the year. Hutch Dvorak, Steve Whitlock and Brent Williams are three such examples. Each is getting more confidence as the season wears on.

One of the reasons for the Salukis' surprisingly easy victory over Michigan State was a pep talk, or what the gymnasts call "a five minute happy hour," by Coach Meade. Meade apparently feared that after an easy victory at Ohio State the day before, his boys might be getting a little overconfident and let down against Michigan State.

After Annual Shock

Hartzog's Flashing Grin Means That Sweet Smell of Winning

Track Coach Lew Hartzog seems every year to reach down in his inexhaustible barrel of track talent and come up with a new sensation.

In the last three years he's nurtured two NCAA champi-<nions, half-miler Jim Dupree and hurdler Bob Green, and another pair of near-successful distance runners, Bill Cornell and shot-putter George Woods.

Although the indoor season is still in the incubator stage, Hartzog has already pulled his annual shocker: the big boys of the track world.

Running Saturday in the history-rich Michigan State Relays, Hartzog's mile relay team, taken so slightly that they were buried in the slowest heat of three in their pre-meet running assignment, surprised the field of 18 teams with a running 3:16.4 effort, the best time turned in for the event indoors in the nation this season.

This was by far the fastest time ever turned in by a Southern Indipendence and with just 2.3 seconds off the national collegiate indoor record set by Oklahoma State two years ago.

The big pre-race favorite, Oklahoma, also was clocked in the same time to share first-place honors with the Salukis from Southern Illinois.

Hartzog was all the inspiration the foursome needed as Coventry came up with a 49.6, Cornell a 49.7, Fendrich a 49.0 and Carr a brilliant 47.9 for the record time.

"Sometimes It just takes something like that to inspire you," Hartzog said. "They claimed revenge and they got it."

As a result of the victory, it's little wonder that the crew-cut coach is wearing a grin this week that would do justice to anyone from his native state of Texas.

"It was a heck of a sweet victory," the five-year head track mentor said recalling the race Tuesday morning in his office.

"That's a pretty salty time indoors. It was a real big surprise. We were the only team up there that had been confined to outdoor practice facilities. That speaks pretty highly for the kids in itself. That's the first big mile relay we have ever won since I've been at Southern."

Hartzog rated the winning effort one of the greatest thrills of his coaching career ever.

"When I had the great distance team of Dupree, Cornell, Saunders and a fourth man, we were expected to win. It wasn't any thrill for me, then," he said. "We had the horses and were supposed to win. Saturday it was different. We weren't given a chance."

Ford Motor Company is:

What does it take to "spark" a man to his very best . . . to bring out the fullest expression of his ability and training? At Ford Motor Company we are convinced that an invigorating business and professional climate is one essential. A prime ingredient of this climate is the stimulation that comes from working with the top people in a field . . . such as Dr. James Mercereau.

Jim Mercereau joined our Scientific Laboratory in 1962. Recently, he headed a team of physicists who verified aspects of the Quantum Theory by creating a giant, observable quantum effect in superconductors. This outstanding achievement was the major reason the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce selected Dr. Mercereau as one of "America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1964."

Your area of interest may be far different from Dr. Mercereau's; however, you will come in contact with outstanding men in all fields at Ford Motor Company.

We believe the coupling of top experience and talent with youth and enthusiasm is stimulating to all concerned. College graduates who join Ford Motor Company find themselves very much a part of this kind of team. If you are interested in a career that provides the stimulation of working with the best, see our representative when he visits your campus. We think you'll be impressed by the things he can tell you about working at Ford Motor Company.
