Editor to Talk At Journalism Banquet

A former weekly newspaper editor in New York State who was invited to organize the editorial page of one of America’s newest dailies will speak on his transition in jobs at the annual Journalism Week banquet at SIU on April 14.

Joseph C. Jahn, who was editor of the Suffolk County News, Sayville, N.Y., for some 30 years, now holds the position of editor of the editorial page of the Suffolk Sun, published in nearby Deer Park, N.Y. Jahn was invited to speak at the banquet by the Department of Journalism, which sponsors the event along with the Southern Illinois Educational Association.

His weekly newspaper was judged a outstanding publication in the year for the past 10 years in New York. Jahn is one of three editors whose deeply respected column in the county ever to be named as a fellow of the professional journalistic society, Sigma Delta Chi.

He is a former president of the International Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors, which has its headquarters at SIU. Many of his editorials have been published in the journal, and also how the weekly newspaper was developed for his present paper.

Jahn will talk on the difficulties involved in switching jobs from a weekly to a daily newspaper, and also how the editorial policy was developed for his present paper.

The banquet is the climax of a week’s activity in which journalism students and professionals get together to discuss common problems in their field. The dinner will be held at 7 p.m. April 14 in the University Center Ballroom.

Gov. Kerner Lauds Salukis In Proclamation

SPRINGFIELD— Gov. Otto Kerner has issued the following proclamation in recognition of SIU’s winning the National Invitation Tournament.

“WHEREAS, Offering congratulations to Southern Illinois University for winning the 1967 National Invitation Basketball Tournament, in which the school excelled, despite the University’s traditional decline, a fine example of the fine spirit of sportsmanship and teamwork under extreme pressure, and the courage to win,”

“WHEREAS, The very best of that stirring event, basketball, so popular among a great majority of our citizens, was highlighted by the winning of the 1967 National Invitation Basketball Tournament by our own Southern Illinois University,”

“NOW, THEREFORE, I, Otto Kerner, Governor of the State of Illinois, hereby invite the attention of our citizens to this achievement, the coaches, the faculty, and the student body of Southern Illinois University,”

Dennis D. Brown of Jonesboro, Earl G. Frankland of Alton, Anice J. Joffray of Vienna, and Alan F. Ackerman of West Plains, Mo., received honorable mentions.

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation awarded fellowships to 1,259 students and gave honorable mentions to 1,106 others.

Price and Riepe plans to pursue their graduate study in musicology. Price is a violinist, and Riepe plans to expand his piano, trumpet, baritone and guitar.

SIU has been accredited by the Eastman School of Music at Rochester. Price said he hopes to go to Harvard.

McMahon, whose graduate work will be done in English, will attend either the University of Wisconsin or the University of Chicago.

Letters to the Editor

Sports—Humbug!

To the editor:

I don’t see why anyone would want to hire a retired basketball player to come and write a column. They would be better off hiring a student athlete who has been at SIU for at least four years. I believe that a student athlete would be more qualified to write about the basketball team.

18-Hour Law Still Useful

We can’t see that there is any necessity for the proposal to eliminate the Illinois women’s 18-hour law, a statute that has existed for many years. There are still some people who feel that the law should be maintained.

— Stimpy Stimpson

Feiffer

I don’t understand why Feiffer is writing about the CIA. It seems like a waste of time. I think he should be focusing on more important issues.

Long Ride, Light Damage Mark Trip

By Dianne Anderson

I'd never ridden an Illinois Central Saluki Special. Campus publications and student rumor had sparked my curiosity with reports of wild parties, freight section, railroad nastiness and SIU-IC summit meetings called on the problem. What was the real story and what was being done about it?

Notebook in hand for riding north and type­writer in suitcase for the sounds of the train, I boarded the Friday evening Saluki Special carrying SIU students home to points north following their winter term final examinations.

The railroad had transported 204 students on the Thursday afternoon train, 557 Thursday evening, 335 Thursday midnight, and 747 Friday. These trains were deemed "very well behaved," by several IC men.

The Friday afternoon train did have a Liquor­carrying club car. One of the reasons was that this train carried regular passengers as well as students. Then that train pulled away and I was to ride the next one.

The Special began loading the 100 or so students standing alongside it at about 5:30. By departure time (6:30 p.m.) the group had swelled to about 600.

In the latter groups of four played cards; some read; others ate and laughed. Student­oriented, amiable personnel were going to work this train was truly wild. And the reason we were starting a half hour late was that students were still coming, "and we hold for them, if we can." A porter said he didn't expect any serious mischief. "It's just three or four that over cause any trouble," he said. His two­coach juris­diction was going to be fine. Why? "You can always tell by how quiet it is right now (before moving)."

It indeed, was quiet.

"My biggest complaint is that the timing is so bad on the IC—always late," stated one student. "Yeah," countered another. "They never keep their schedules. I took one train down here from Chicago that was out for two hours late­a 1½ hour trip."

"I must say this car is much cleaner than most. It may have been built since the Civil War," quipped the first.

The coaches were 2600 series, according to the porter—some of the best coaches the IC has. It had previously been explained that with the decline of passenger use of trains, few new coaches were being built, and I had heard that the IC was attempting to buy second-hand coaches from other lines.

And then the Special moved. We passed North Carbondale with its concrete products plant and watch yards to the sound of the train against tracks and the shuffling of cards. Everyone settled down for a long ride, "Too long" for most.

I saw only one 16 oz. beer can sitting on a window sill across the aisle. The Special followed I-57 while past Delton, Ellville...For a moment along the way, a whisper of "There's Speedy's" echoed through the coach.

Later, a bit of rustle interrupted the silence.

Seven men (two conductors and five porters) came in together to take tickets. With them and the wandering passengers, the sides were pretty crowded. They left as fast as they came.

A preliminary examination of the 15 or so passenger coaches turned up nothing worrying. A few discussions about four guitars.

"These things (tables made available by the IC) don't hook into the wall (of the coach) right," groaned a student. Table balanced on knees and what was being done about it?

"I recognize that man," observed another. "He's a University cop and he's walked by here twice already."

"Is drinking banned on this train?" No, it wasn't (for students of legal age) but by 7:30 p.m., there were only two or three coaches of the 15 that had any evident beer can pyramiding along the windows. The pyramid were small and very scarce in the rear of the train where there were few people. There was no dis­tur­bance.

The house radio blared in the Club Car and the meditative music filled the aisles seemed to be good.

"No beer, sir, Pepsi, Seven-Up, Coke, no whiskey either, sorry."

Two railroad detectives said they had found little time pattern in previous disturbances. The Thursday trip they took was "fine, good." "We (and the students) listened to the SIU game a good part of the way," they said.

"Tonight there's only one car that might develop into a problem—somebody on the train for hours watching the little lights go by," he explained.

"We must have fights... and a couple windows get broken. Liquor or what? No, I just think they're showing off. It's just a few and they would have."

"We mostly have fights... and a couple windows get broken. Liquor or what? No, I just think they're showing off. It's just a few and we take their ID numbers," he explained.

"I think the situation has improved since we have been riding the trains," he added. The rail­road sends two detectives and the University sends two or more of the specials. "The school paper published that we were going to be on here, too," said one of them.

I jumped through the coaches looking for the "possible problem." I found it. There was a portable phonograph, some singing and dancing and more liquor. Noise wasn't on the verboten list. I watched a little bit of the fun and wandered back.

The floor was getting pretty wet in the "possible­problem" coach, causing some worry, according to the detective. "We don't want anyone to slip and hurt themselves." But the coach wasn't considered too bad yet.

I sat and listened to the radio and to a student.

"The student told me about the Saluki Special on which $2,000 damage was supposedly done to one of the coaches. Couples were in the luggage racks, two inches of beer swished around the floor and kids hung onto the sides of the trains as it sped through a blizzard. But it was just one or two cars, he admitted."

About 13 students marched through the Club Car singing something about Alpha Kappa Alpha and went back the way they came.

Walking back to the "problem" I heard, "Is this where it is?"

"Yeah," I heard. "But you should ride one of those 'convention' trains..."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., acted Monday to avoid a con­test with President Johnson by announcing through an aide he will take steps to keep his name off 1968 presidential primary ballots in Oregon and Nebraska.

Kennedy has been saying for more than a year that he will not bid for the Democratic nomination and will support a Johnson-Humphrey ticket.

In what seemed an obvious effort to tone down the friction that exists between him and Johnson, the New York senator let it be known that he will submit a sworn statement that he is not a candi­date for president if that be­comes necessary to bar his name from free-for-all pri­maries.

Clay Myers, the Oregon secretary of state, said Mon­day he doesn’t know whether he will put Kennedy’s name on the ballot 11 months from now and won’t say whether he will until then.

Myers said last week that if Kennedy continues to run strongly in the political spot­light and in polls, he will consider placing his name on the state’s primary ballot.

Myers, has until March 19, 1968, to decide.

Under Oregon law with­drawal can be accomplished only by a sworn statement of the individual involved that he does not intend to become a candidate for the presi­dential nomination.

The same conditions apply in the Nebraska primary. Ken­nedy’s press secretary, Frank Mankiewicz, said the senator will take withdrawal action in both states if his name is listed.

South Vietnam Constitution Will Take Effect Saturday

SAIGON (AP) — The Armed Forces Council announced Monday South Vietnam’s new constitution will go into ef­fect Saturday and presidential ele­ctions will be held Sept. 1. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the real power in the council, has expanded the body.

The decision came on a day that saw warfare ebb after a Sunday of vigorous fighting ar­rithcing from the emerald green mountains along the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam to the Mekong River delta south of Saigon.

After a day-long meeting, the council announced that elections to the Senate also will be held Sept. 1. Voting for the lower house of the National Assembly was set for Oct. 1.

The constitution, written by the 117-member Constituent Assembly, will restore true civilian rule for the first time since the military overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem Nov. 1, 1963. Diem was killed.

Tanker Spilling More Oil

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The American tanker Torrey Canyon, split on the Seven Stones reef and written off as the most costly loss in merchant marine history, spilled out more of her oil cargo Monday, further polluting British beaches and posing a problem that may take years to solve.

The 61,263-ton ship lay in two sections seven miles off the southwest tip of England. Her aft section gradually slipped beneath the waves as the seas tore her from the reef. Oil flowed from her punctured tanks in a steady brown stream. Its stench penetrated planes hundreds of feet above the wreck.

The Torrey Canyon, owned by a subsidiary of Union Oil of California and flying the Liberian flag, broke her back Sunday night during a final effort by Dutch salvage tugs to wrest her from the rocks. She ran aground 10 days ago. The escaping oil has stained beaches along 130 miles of the coast of north and west Cornwall and was reported creeping around Lizard Point toward the Channel coast of Devon and southern England, menacing another 150 miles of coastline.

As of late Monday, about half the vessel's original 120,000-ton cargo remained in her tanks. The total cargo is equivalent to about 35 million gallons.

K. C. Firemen ‘Play Sick’

KANSAS CITY (AP) — More Kansas City firemen played sick Monday in a strike-like move to force the city to increase their wages and reduce their working hours.

Officials of Fire Fighters Union, Local 42, said that by 7 a.m., Tuesday, all the city's 830 fire fighters would be away from their posts, leaving this city of more than half a million residents without fire protection.

Seven of the 47 fire stations were down to one man at noon Monday. Some were down to two men.

While the city threatened a court injunction, 20 battalion fire chiefs and deputies met with city officials in an effort to settle the dispute.

Democrat Urges 1-Man, 1-Vote Policy

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — An Illinois Democratic lawmaker launched a move Monday to get 32 states to reconsider their adoption of resolutions urging re-evaluation of one-man, one-vote apportionment of legislatures.

"We're getting dangerously close to mandating Congress on this point," said Sen. Paul Simon of Troy in announcing his campaign.

The resolutions request Congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of proposing an amendment to allow apportionment of one legislative house on a basis other than population.

Simon said if 34 states adopt valid resolutions, Congress would be forced to call the first constitutional convention in the nation's history.

Simon told a news conference he has written letters to majority and minority leaders in each of the 32 states asking them to rescind their action.

One of the letters went to legislative leaders in Illinois, which has adopted a Republican-sponsored resolution to set aside apportionment of both houses on a population basis.

Humphrey Defends Vietnam Actions

GENEVA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey opened his two-week European swing Monday with a defense of U.S. Vietnam policy and a counterattack against criticism from both sides of the Atlantic.

"We have nothing to apologize for," the vice president told members of the American mission here in a 45-minute pep talk before being briefed on negotiations to curb the spread of nuclear weapons and lower trade barriers.

Humphrey likened the American effort in Asia to the U.S. stand against Communist aggression in Europe and in Korea.

'Evening's Frost' Set for Friday

"An Evening's Frost" will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in Shryock Auditorium as one of the presentations in the Celebrity Series. The presentation of the verse, letters and conversation of Robert Frost began as an off-Broadway presentation where it was a critical success. The production was conceived and directed by Miss Marcolla Cisney, director of the Professional Theatre Program at the University of Michigan. It was written by Donald Hall, poet-in-residence at the University of Michigan. His friendship with Frost was valuable in the creation of "An Evening's Frost." It stars Will Geer, a poet who resembles Frost. For his performance in the New York performance of the production, as well as other contributions to off-Broadway theater over the years, Geer received the Lola D'Annunzio Award.

Tickets cost $1, $2 and $3 and can be obtained at the information desk of the University Center.

SIU Fraternity Plans Initiation For Executive

Victor Rebak, vice president of Allen Industries of the United States and Canada, will be initiated as an honorary member of Alpha Kappa Psi, SIU's professional business fraternity, at the organization's annual honors banquet Wednesday.

The honor will be given to Rebak for his service to southern Illinois industry. He is presently president of the Herrin plant of Allen Industries.

A 6 p.m. smoker will be held before the banquet at Carbondale's Holiday Inn. Round table discussions will be conducted after the dinner.

Approximately 25 other businessmen who have contributed to the commerce of southern Illinois will be guests at the banquet.

Secretary Seminar To Begin in July

Secretaries from throughout the area will be back in the classroom this year at SIU's first annual Summer Seminar for Secretaries. The Seminar will be conducted in 7 to 10 p.m. sessions on four consecutive Thursdays beginning July 27 by the University's Division of Technical and Adult Education.

Enrollment will be restricted to secretaries who are currently employed, and the number admitted will be limited by facilities available, according to Paul McEachin, seminar chairman and instructor in secretarial and accounting programs at VTI.

The seminar will survey a refresher course and will provide information in various areas to help secretaries work more efficiently, he said. The faculty will be made up of people from the professional and educational fields.

SECRETARIES FROM THROUGHOUT THE AREA WILL BE BACK IN THE CLASSROOM THIS YEAR AT SIU'S FIRST ANNUAL SUMMER SEMINAR FOR SECRETARIES.
Arthur J. Dibden, professor of higher education and philosophy at SIU, has resigned to accept the position of president of Johnson State College in Vermont.

Dibden is the second SIU faculty member to resign during the past year to become a college president. Robert E. Hill, dean of the School of Business, became president of Chico (Calif.) State College last September.

Dibden will assume his new post in June. Johnson State is a four-year teacher preparation school in the process of becoming a liberal arts college. One of Dibden's duties will be to guide the transition.

A native of Sussex, Wis., Dibden was graduated from Albion College in Michigan in 1941. His Ph. D. was from Columbia University in 1953.

Before coming to SIU in 1964, Dibden was dean of Blackburn College, Carlinville, Ill. From 1949-61 he taught at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.

He was a founder and served as vice president of the Illinois Philosophy Conference and has been president of the Illinois Conference of the American Association of University Professors. At SIU he was acting chairman of the Department of Higher Education in 1965-66.

His resignation was announced in a letter to President Delaney W. Morris. Morris expressed regret at losing Dibden, but added he was happy Dibden is moving to the presidency of a college.

French Horn, Trumpet Joint Recital Scheduled

Two senior music students, Dale Bode of Edwardsville and Jo Beth O'Neil of DuQuoin, will be presented in a joint recital at 8 p.m. April 5 in Davis Auditorium of the Wham Education Building.

Bode on trumpet will be accompanied by Peggy Wimberly of Tazewell, pianist, and Laura Fry of DuQuoin will accompany Miss O’Neil, French horn.

The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

UCLA's Alcindor is a fake.

Alcindor green you with a curt "NO COMMENT." He's a plastic man. He's a cold, methodical basketball machine. Don't you believe it. This month's Sport Magazine slices through a maze of UCLA red tape and gets to the heart of the man.

Pick up Sport and focus in on the real Lew Alcindor, the NCAA Finals and 17 other authoritative in-depth articles on the college and pro sports scene. Pick up what's happening behind the facade. April Sport Magazine now on sale.
Clay Has Draft Case Transferred to Texas

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay won't have to report here April 11 for Army induction because he's now a Texan.

Clay had his case transferred to Houston, his new home, and gave himself more time to continue his fight against military service.

"The Houston board will set a new date for Clay's case," a spokesman for the board at Board 47 in Louisville, said Monday, "but that's all. They have no other jurisdiction in the case."

The spokesman said the action was taken under a provision available to any potential draftee anywhere in the nation.

At Houston, a draft board spokesman said Clay probably would receive his induction notice sometime in April but no earlier than April 11. He said the indefinite delay involved only the transfer of official records from Kentucky to Texas.

The spokesman said that when the papers were received the new call will be issued for Clay telling him when and where to report.

Clay and his lawyers appeared before the Houston board last Friday at which time the transfer request was granted, the spokesman said.

Clay established his change of residence through an affidavit signed by a Houston attorney.

The hearing is scheduled Wednesday on a suit challenging the transfer order because of alleged discrimination by Board 47.

Clay's lawyer, Paul Mayer, said Monday that he was "seriously considering" legal action against the Houston board.

A big upset in the regionals was that SIU didn't qualify one individual to the NCAA finals.

From the Mid-East Regional which was held in Wheaton, The Salukis scored 184.75 points, and Michigan also qualified for the finals with a three-place total of 184.1 points.

Paul Mayer scored 9.2 to capture the all-around title for SIU.

Monday, after receiving the new date for the big prize.

From the Eastern Region will come Penn State, the 1965 winners, Springfield and Temple. Penn State is listed as the toughest foe in this region.

Joining SIU in the Mid-East will be Iowa and Michigan. From the Mid-East region, teams from Iowa State, Arizona and Colorado State University will compete with Iowa State listed as top.

From the Western Region teams from UCLA, California and Southern California will be fighting for the championship.

Saluki coach Bill Meade expects the stiffest competition will come from California, Penn State and Iowa State for the championship. All three teams are exceptionally good although the Salukis own a victory over Iowa State this season.

The Salukis are the defending NCAA champion in gymnastics, a title they captured at Penn State last year. Southern also took the title in 1964 so that this could be the third time in the last four years that the Salukis have won the biggest prize in gymnastics.

Tickets for the meet are on sale at the University Center Information Desk and the Arena Ticket Office. The price for tickets is $3 for both days or $3 for each of the four sessions.

Southern's Swimmers Finish 18th in NCAA Meet

What started out as a dismal year in the SIU swimming program has ended as a heartening one for the Springfield, Missouri-based Southern Illinois University. Not only did the Southern swimming team finish 18th in the NCAA championships, but also a number of individual records were set.

The team was led by Ted Petras, who set a new school record in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 47.5. The team's final record was 3:16.3, which was faster than the previous record of 3:18.5.

Ted Petras, a senior from Chicago, was the highest scorer for the team with 30 points. The team's total was 169, which was the highest for any team in the NCAA meet.

The team's success was due to the hard work of the coaches and the dedication of the swimmers. The coaches, led by head coach Ed Mossotti, worked tirelessly to prepare the team for the meet.

The team's record-breaking performance was a testament to the dedication and hard work of the swimmers. The team's success was a source of pride for the university and the community.

The AAU championships will be held at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. The meet will be held in c.-june. The American College and University Swimming and Diving Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation will continue to serve the same purposes they always have in the past four seasons, as determined by the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation meeting in Las Vegas, March 14.

The faculty fitness lockers will be listed March 29. Anyone participating in the faculty noon hour physical fitness program will find the lockers assignments will be made in room 127 at the SIU Arena. Participants are asked to bring locks.

Basketball Team Scratches Big Mark in SIU's History

To borrow a proverb from the French, nothing succeeds like "1966-67" basketball. Salukis swept the entire season, succeeding, but success for them was not finally achieved until March 18 when they got their chance to show millions of people throughout the country that they were best of the other basketball team in the country which epitomizes success more than Southern.

The Salukis became the most successful basketball team in SIU history by winning 24 of 26 games; capturing their last five with a "cushion," defeating the likes of Texas Western, Louisville, Wichita State, Rutgers and Marquette; and climaxing the season with the National Invitation Tournament championship.

In putting four outstanding guards together for as much pressure as any team could play, the Salukis showed an abundance of ability, teamwork, poise, intelligence and ability to win. They showed they possessed more of each of these virtues than any other team in the field.

The Salukis opened their attack on the NIT with a record breaking performance against St. Peter's. The Peacocks were a New York area squad, which in this game Madison Square Garden before, but the Salukis acted like they were performing before a capacity crowd in shelling St. Peter's 103-58.

That night they won a following of thousands of New Yorkers who would come back to marvel at the slick Salukis and cheer for them even when they played New York area teams and former New York high school stars. Fierce clippings proclaimed them the tourney favorites and even the best team to play in the Garden in years in some cases.

They returned to defeat a tough Big Ten team by scoring 11 of the last 16 points. But the Salukis showed off the teamwork and balance that carried them into the finals of the NIT.

They won by scoring 11 of the last 16 points. The Salukis showed off the teamwork and balance that carried them into the finals of the NIT. Sophomore Dick Garner scored 16, guard Ed Zasztow and Roger Bechtold effectively shut off the scoring of Scarlet Knight guards Bob Lloyd and Jim Valvano. Valvano hit his first eight shots, all from long range, in the first half and Lloyd chipped in 16 points to give the Scarlet a 60 per cent shooting average and the big lead.

It took the Salukis less than six minutes to catch Rutgers after the intermission and they outscored the Knights 13-3 in the last 3 minutes 12 seconds. Zasztow scored 26 points, 16 in the last half, and grabbed 18 rebounds. He made six of his last eight shots. Four straight rebounds by Smith, two off the offensive boards, brought the Salukis into the lead.

The Salukis overcame one of their first half shooting in the final, 29.6 per cent the first half, to rock Marquette 71-36 before a sellout crowd of 18,499 and a national television audience. During one eight minute interval the Salukis outscored the Warriors 25-4, beginning at the 12:23 mark of the second half. Southern had a 48-22 scoring edge in that second half.

The offensive fireworks were keyed by several key defensive maneuvers, which forced Marquette to turn the ball over several times. Marquette coach Al McGuire summed up the team's collapse after the game in these words: "They kept their poise and we didn't."

The Warriors were by no means the first team to lose their poise against the Salukis' tough defense this season, but they would have to settle for being the last. Thus, the Salukis retired undefeated in NIT play and became the first small college to win the tournament that is called the grandaddy of them all. They became the last team to capture the award in the old Madison Square Garden, which will be torn down next year.

The 30th NIT Champ in SIU and the players all agreed after it was over that it was a rewarding season—and a long one.
