Baseball Coach Optimistic About Post-Season Match

Southern's baseball team goes after its fourteenth and fifteenth straight victories when it plays Arkansas State today at 8 a.m. at Murphysboro's Riverside Park.

Assistant coach Bob Hardcastle is selling life insurance to pick up some extra money but as yet he hasn't sold any to the ballplayers—they don't seem to want any—nor need any.

In short, the team has nothing to worry about. It has a perfect record and a post-season NCAA tournament seems likely to come the Salukis' way.

Students to Help City in Promoting Vote on Bond Issue

SIU students may be giving Carbondale a helping hand in promoting its upcoming bond issue election May 23.

Dick Moore, student body president, told the Student Council Thursday night that he will ask student organizations to arrange a door-to-door campaign to promote participation in the election.

He explained that student government wouldn't be taking sides, but simply would be trying to get faculty and students to 'are eligible to vote, to take part in the election that would raise money for arrest improvements, parks and schools.

Members of the Student Council backed Moore's plan after Charles L. Jerson, president of the Carbondale High School District 150 Board of Education, outlined the proposed bond issue.

Honors Day Convocation Cites 350

SIU's top student scholars were honored Thursday that making a living was not sufficient for learning how to live.

Thomas E. Cassidy, assistant professor of English, summed it up in a way about thanking the 350 honor students on the university and in的传统 of academic distinction.

Cassidy noted the outstanding faculty member in 1962 by both the students and Alumni Association, spoke on "Honor, Trad and Style" at the annual Honors Day Convocation in Shyrock Auditorium Thursday night.

Education gives you a perspective of tradition and teaches you into a style of living, a style which entails the full use of powers into lines of excellence, Cassidy said.

The day of half-hearted efforts was obliterated by a mushroom cloud on Bond Issue vote, to take part in the election that would raise money for arrest improvements, parks and schools.

Chamber Serves Town, Gown

Chapel Hill is often regarded by many as a haven for sports, being a student-oriented community. However, the fact is that there are many athletes in the downtown area who are not being adequately served. This is due to the lack of understanding and support from the community, particularly the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber held a meeting last week to discuss ways to improve the situation. They are planning to hold a similar meeting next month to discuss the issues further. The Chamber is hoping to work with local businesses and organizations to improve the situation.

The Chamber's goal is to promote the idea that everyone in the community should be able to enjoy sports and share in the benefits of being part of a community that values athletics. They are hoping to achieve this by working with local businesses and organizations to create more opportunities for athletes to be involved in their community.

The Chamber feels that by working together, they can make a real difference in the lives of athletes in the downtown area. They are hoping to create a more inclusive community where everyone is welcome to participate in sports and enjoy the benefits of being part of a community that values athletes.

Chapel Hill is a community that values athletics, and the Chamber is working hard to ensure that everyone in the community has the opportunity to participate and enjoy the benefits of sports.

The unusual in food is the attraction for a group of women on the SIU campus.

They are members of the Creative Cookery Group, which was organized within the Faculty Women's Club. Its members participate in four demonstrations per year on special foods projects; in addition each of three sub-groups has four luncheon meetings yearly.

The members are interested in new or foreign foods, or cookery which uses new types of equipment. With the picnic season at hand, outdoor cookery is a forthcoming program.

At the session photographed for this page, Mrs. Frank Konishi demonstrated Japanese cookery, and Mindy Brooks demonstrated Latin-American foods.

Troubled NATO Tackles Issues Around World Compiled From Associated Press

THE HAGUE, Netherlands—Nations of Integrated Commands should be dismantled, in favor of an American-French-British high command. The United States might abandon Europe rather than risk nuclear devastation.

French President Charles de Gaulle contends that NATO's system of integrated commands should be dismantled, in favor of an American-French-British high command. He has warned that in a crisis, the United States might abandon Europe rather than risk nuclear devastation.

A prime issue at the sessions was the critical Cyprus dispute, in which active conflict between the Athens and Ankara governments had been feared. A series of heated debates ended Thursday, when the Greek and Turkish ministers agreed to a conciliation role for NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker.

Stikker has been instructed to try to improve relations between the two antagonists in a visit to both countries. He will not, he emphasized, attempt to lay down absolute rules for a settlement.

Officials explained that Stikker would act under a D85-council resolution concerning disputes between member states of the alliance. The agreement followed recommendations from U.S. Secretary of State Rusk, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Paul Martin of Canada.

A work undertaken by the aging Stikker will be carried on by his successor, Manlio Roncone of Italy, who takes office Aug. 1.

In another development, it was disclosed that Martin told NATO that he could not see any chance that the United States and Europe would be acting under a 1956 council resolution concerning disputes between member states of the alliance. The agreement followed recommendations from U.S. Secretary of State Rusk, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Paul Martin of Canada.

Cornell Is Running On Recovery Road

By Erik Stroop

Bill Cornell is a bloody hard man to keep down. Recently, the SU track star, with an accent straight from Essex, England, resumed running his usual 10 to 12 miles a day. The only thing unusual about that is that Cornell was fresh off the operating table.

Two growths and a pitched nerve were removed from his left foot early this year. The foot ailments were caused by a dropped metatarsal arch he suffered while running indoors this winter.

"I was on crutches for about a week and a half," Cornell said. "I was anxious to start running again."

Southern Will Face Netters of Evanston

Two of the Midwest's finest collegiate tennis teams clash Monday when Southern's unbeaten Salukis meet once-beaten Northwesterners in a dual meet at Evanston. The Salukis, winners of 14 straight, blunted the Wildcats' only loss of the season earlier this year 5-4 in a match at Jacksonville. Since that loss, however, the powerful Wild­cats have won 14 straight and will be laying for revenge against the Salukis Monday.

The Wildcats may be hampered Monday by the possible loss of their No. 3 singles man, Tig Templeton. Temple­ton was hit in the right eye by an errant ball. Temple­ton, who owns an Kryptok bifocal prescription, said he was not able to resumes workouts until yesterday. But even without Templeton, the Cats have a formidable outfit.

Cornell said he started his running routine two weeks ahead of the schedule his four had set, but he is not taking any undue risks. "When we are going to track meets regularly, everybody groans and moans about the work," he said. "But when I see the other guys going to meets after my operation I wished I could go too."

Mrs. Cornell was happy to have her husband home for a change. "Nine months of the year I'm away at track meets every weekend," Cornell said.

The sand-haired Britisher estimates he has run about 8,000 miles—roughly the dis­tance from Chicago to Manilla—since coming to SU on a track scholarship in 1961. What does he get out of all that running besides callouses and fallen arches? "There is the glory of winning and being able to do something other people can't do," Cornell said.

One of the things Cornell does most mortals cannot do is run the mile in four minutes and one-half seconds. The time was good enough to beat all comers in England last year.

Cornell said the competi­tion in the United States is a little tougher. "My time was only about 10th best here," he said.

His plans this summer include running the half-mile in one minute, one-half seconds. The time was good enough to beat all comers in England last year.

Cornell, a former business major now studying for a physical education degree, blasted one oft-repeated myth.

"I work a lot harder in classes now than I did when I was a business major," he said. Cornell, a senior, carries a 3.9 and has won a full scholarship in 1961.

"I can do it. I'll try out for the British team at the Olympic games in October in Tokyo."

"Notre Dame last week­end," said Holder. "At seven Big Ten schools (includ­ing a Wisconsin team which hardly defeated Southern 19 to 11 earlier this season) with the lowest six-man score, We've been playing fine golf in recent weeks but the team will have to aver­age close to 70 strokes a man to beat Notre Dame on its home course," added Holder.

If their most recent match is any indication, the Salukis may be the over-all ba­ lance necessary to upset the Irish.

Golfers to Face Irish Today, To Be Season's Stiffest Test

Shooting for their eighth and biggest win of the season, SIU's talented golfers travel to South Bend, Ind., today to meet the "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame.

Today's contest will wind up the current dual match season for the Salukis but own an impressive 7-1 dual match re­cord.

Saluki coach Lynn Holder, whose squad also owns two triangular meet scores and three outings, spoke with cau­tion about today's match and feels that his golfers will face their stiffest test of the season today.

2 Anti-Castro Forces Reported Inside Cuba

WASHINGTON--The Evening Star quoted U.S. government sources Friday as reporting that forces of two anti-Castro exile organizations landed on separate points on the Cuban coast this morning.

The sources said the raiders were led by Manuel Artime, head of the MRR revolutionary group, and Manuel Ray, leader of JURE, the Junta Revolucionaria.

The Star said the sources, who were not identified, reported the Ray group landed at an undisclosed point on the north coast of Cuba while the Artine force hit at Palao on the south coast of Oriente, the easternmost province.

There was no information on whether the raids were hit-run operations or landings of substantial forces.

Laos Communists Take Rightist Base

VIETNAM, Laos--Pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops have captured the rightist base at Tha Thom, 100 miles northeast of Vientiane, the Ministry communiqué said today.

Thom was held jointly by two right-wing battalions and a neutralist company. The communiqué said the Thom fell Thursday but gave no other details.

Western military sources, however, said troops from Communist North Viet Nam joined the Pathet Lao in the attack.

Viet Cong Ambush Kills 51 Troops

SAIGON, Viet Nam--Slipping out of a jungle stronghold near Saigon, a Communist Viet Cong force smashed a government relief column Thursday in one of the bloodiest ambushes of the year.

From dug-in positions along a road, the Viet Cong opened up with heavy weapon and automatic rifle fire that killed 51 government troops. Another 30, including an American Ranger officer, were wounded in the engagement 22 miles north of Saigon.

Ten soldiers were reported missing.

"We make the same mistakes all the time," a frustrated American adviser commented.

There is an average of one major Viet Cong ambush every week. American advisers are concentrating much of their effort on making the Viennese ambush conscious.

Head of U.N. Cyprus Forces Gives Greeks Tongue-Lashing

Surrounded by Irish troops and Greek Cypriot police, the pair walked through dockyards directly underneath the walls of the Turkish quarter, where two Greek army officers and one Greek Cypriot policeman were killed by Turks last Monday.

They did not enter the walled quarter. It is cordoned off by Irish troops who were evident in profusion atop a medieval 50-foot high parapet.

FRANKFURT, Germany--The United States started Friday withdrawing five Army combat units that were rushed to Europe in the Berlin wall crisis of 1961. Military sources said the movement will require six or eight weeks.
