Jury decrees death for Manson, clan

By Linda Deutsch
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jury—acting after the defendants were indicted for murder, acting after the defendants were convicted of the murder of Sharon Tate and her eight children—decided death is an appropriate punishment for Charles Manson and three women followers convicted of the murders.

When the jury came to court in late afternoon, after less than two full days of deliberations, Manson, 26, sentenced to death by any of the penalties were imposed: "I don't see how you can get by with this. You don't have any authority over me. You're not nearly as good as me. This is not the people's courtroom."

After the judge ordered him out, the three women confederates, their lawyer and the family of Sharon Tate, wept for the occasion, spoke out.

After the judge ordered her out, she shouted: "Remove yourselves from the face of the earth. You're all fools."

Leslie Van Houten, 21, was ushered out last after mastersing. "You've all just judged yourselves."

Defense attorneys appeared shaken by the death penalties. They had asked jurors for "the gift of life" for the defendants. Women jurors looked tearful and the former wiped his eyes after the verdicts.

The judge has the power to reduce the death penalty to life imprisonment.

The action closed a nine-month, two-part trial that tabbed the longest such criminal proceeding in California and perhaps the nation.

The same seven men and five women who convicted the four of first-degree murder and conspiracy last Jan. 25 chose the death penalty over the only alternative, life imprisonment, with the possibility of parole after seven years.

The state had demanded death, terming the defendants "human monsters."

The defense put no case at the guilt phase of the trial. Highlight of the penalty phase was a parade of confessions from the women—each said they killed—over the objections of their attorneys.

VN Center proposal goes to Faculty Council

By Sue Roll
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Agency for International Development (AID) grant which funds the Center for Vietnamese Studies has been rewritten and submitted to the Faculty Council for approval. Chancellor Robert G. Layer said Monday the grant was rewritten to incorporate a restatement of purpose approved by AID early in March which still stressed the academic nature of the center.

Layer said in his opinion the grant "does assure the academic responsibility of the center" but in a letter to the Daily Egyptianhe said he would approve it "only if it meets with the approval of the Faculty Council." Faculty Council approval was not obtained for the present grant.

Jury says Calley guilty of murder

By Arthur Everett
Associated Press Writer

FT BENNING, Ga. (AP)—Lt. William Calley Jr. was convicted of premeditated murder Monday, the first American soldier of Vietnam to be held responsible in the 1968 slaughter of unarmed men, women and children during the My Lai massacre.

The penalty is life imprisonment or death. It will be decided in separate deliberations by the same six-man court-martial that convicted him. They were ordered to return to court at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Whatever the sentence, an appeal is automatic within the military court system, and could consume months.

The proposed grant was written by Alfred J. Junt of the International Center staff and has the approval of Ralph W. Huffner, University Grant Officer. The proposal is for a $1 million grant over a five year period dating from June 30, 1969, the effective date of the present grant.

In the letter Layer said, "I believe that the original grant document should have received the same type of Faculty Council approval which I am now requesting with respect to its proposed revision, because it does countenance an academic unit which has no "home" in a school, college, or other academic.

He also said he believes the inclusion of the Council in the renegotiation of the grant is "what is implied" in the first recommendation by the Fact Finding Panel for the Center.

Layer also asked the Council to make legislative proposals concerning the guidelines and machinery for carrying out other recommendations by the panel which deal with the center's academic and other academic freedom.

If the proposal is approved by the Council, it will be resubmitted to Layer and, then, to AID for approval. Such a grant would supersede the original grant proposal of June 6, 1969.

Charge of misconduct leveled against Allen

By Steve Brown
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

An SIU faculty member has filed a complaint alleging misconduct by philosophy assistant professor Douglas M. Allen.

The complaint, which was filed by Leland G. Stauter, assistant professor in government, charges that Allen "made a statement which encouraged disruptive behavior at a lecture given by E. Milton Sacks, visiting professor of government, on March 2.

Stauter's complaint was filed with Roger Beyer, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. It states that Allen's statements 'constituted direct justification for and hence open encouragement of behavior disruptive of the legitimate proceedings and purposes of the university.'

Stauter said an investigation should be undertaken in the matter. He said the disruptive activity was disrespectful towards the other faculty members present.

Stauter also filed a complaint with the Office of Student Relations about the behavior of some of the students at the lecture. In that complaint Stauter said he is the faculty adviser to the Student Mobilization Committee.

Stauter's complaint to the student relations office recommends an investigation into students actions at the Sacks lecture.

Allen could not be reached for comment on the complaint Monday.

Gus Bode

The writer says he heard several professors make disparaging statements about lectures designed for their classes.

Beyer said his office is giving the matter "careful consideration. He decided to elaborate he said, because the case concerns a confidential personnel matter.

According to Stauter's complaint Allen made a public statement at the Sacks' lecture to the effective that the cause of the disruptive activities at that event was located in Vietnam. Stauter said Allen failed to mention that the disruptive activity was disrespectful towards the other faculty members present.

Stauter also filed a complaint with the Office of Student Relations about the behavior of some of the students at the lecture. In that complaint Stauter said that he is the faculty adviser to the Student Mobilization Committee.

Stauter's complaint to the student relations office recommends an investigation into students actions at the Sacks lecture.
Brown Route is sole survivor
Saluki Bus Service cuts down to 1 run

SIU bus gate out of the bus business this quarter, with only one route remaining. The bus line covered Carbondale and the campus.

Carlton Raasch, director of Athletics, said in a news release that "bus service will be discontinued during the fiscal year which ends June 30.․ Raasch said in January that the Saluki Bus operation was $38,000 less than expected.

It was decided to keep the Brown Route because it handled the largest number of passengers. George Parke, Assistant Auxiliary Services and Enterprises, said. He estimated that 6,000 to 7,000 passengers rode the Brown Route per week in past quarters. In January, running in the morning on the other routes.

The Brown Route will go to southern Illinois and park. The Brown Route will also run at 7:00 a.m. on College and Willard and come back at 5:00 p.m. Weekday runs will be at 4 and 9 a.m. to accommodate students attending night classes. The bus will run on Saturday during the hours of 9 and 12. When drops to one route on the Saluki Bus Service was under consideration at the end of winter quarter, Raasch said he expected the Little Red Wagon Lines would be able to handle the people ordinarily using the Saluki Bus.

The Red Wagon, operated by the Carbondale Transit, makes runs through most of Carbondale and an campus. Fares are 30 cents per ride and $1.50 for a quarter pass.

Fares for the Brown Route will remain 15 cents per ride and $1.75 for a quarter pass.

Chancellor interviews start

Five members of the SIU Board of Trustees met in Chicago to Saturday to begin interviews with prospective candidates for the chancellor at the Carbondale campus.

According to James Brown, Chief of Board Staff, Harald Fischer, chancellor from Granite City, Ivan Elliott, Marion Van Brown, William Allen and Earl Walker met at the O'Hare Inn in Chicago. Brown said that the meeting, which was closed to the public, was the first to be held to interview prospective candidates. The Board is reviewing the recommendations that were made by the Chancellor's Selection Committee in February.

The statement released by the Board of Trustees Office said that the Board hopes to complete interviews before the April 16 Board meeting and make recommendations at that time.

No information was available as to the number of candidates on the list or when the next session will be held.

The Board received seven recommendations for the committee which was formed after Robert MacVicar announced his resignation last spring. That committee was dissolved after the February Board meeting.

Cancer Crusade leaders named

The American Cancer Society Cancer Crusade will begin Thursday on the SIU campus.

Bruce W. Peterson, assistant professor of sociology, and MacKenzie O'Gara, chairman of the department of microbiology, were named co-chairs of the campus Cancer Crusade.

Albert L. Caskey, assistant professor of chemistry and chairman of the Jackson County Cancer Society, announced the appointment of Dr. Cohen on the Cancer Crusade kickoff breakfast Monday morning.

Search is on for 33 lost tanker crewmen

NEW YORK (AP)—An air and sea search went underway Monday for 33 of 44 crewmen missing from the tanker Texas Oklahoma, which broke in two in heavy seas 120 miles northwest of Cape Hatras, N.C.

Eleven crewmen, including the ship's captain, were rescued from a life raft by a passing freighter. Fourteen, including the tanker's three radio operators, have been rescued.

He said the 11 men chugging to the rear section, maintaining radio contact and searching for lights for nearly 24 hours. As the storm section began listing, the men moved further back.

The crewmen abandoned ship at 3:50 a.m. Sunday and waited for the rescue section to go down at 6:10 a.m.

Bandy and nine men were known to be on the section in Friday's operation. The captain, second and third mates, and one of the radio operators were not immediately identified and there was no word of the fate of the other 14 men.

Bandy said the men on the stern had an emergency transmitter and went out as 80% of all the time they were in the water, but there was no indication the message was ever received.

C'dale to be served by two trains daily beginning early May Beginning May 1, Carbondale will be served by only two round trip trains daily between Carbondale and Chicago, instead of the current six trains.

Replacing the six trains that now run between Carbondale and Chicago will be one train operating between Chicago and New Orleans, and one train operating between Chicago and Carbondale. The two trains will be operated by the new National Railroad Passenger Corp. (Railpax), a quasi-governmental agency created by the Rail Passenger Service Act of 1970.

According to tentative schedules, one southbound Railpax train will leave Chicago at 7 a.m. and 6 p.m., arriving in Carbondale at 3:01 p.m. and 10:10 p.m. respectively. The northbound trains are to leave Carbondale at 7:30 p.m. and 6 a.m., arriving in Chicago at 12:35 a.m. and 11:35 a.m. respectively. Schedules are to be printed in about a week.

The Illinois Central Railroad began posting discontinuance notices Monday for six IC trains that stop at Carbondale. The notices announce the IC's decision to discontinue the following trains:

Trains 1 and 2, the City of New Orleans, Trains 3 and 4, the Mid-American, Trains 5 and 6, the Panama Limited, Trains 7 and 8, the Illini, and Trains 9 and 10, the Shawnee. The City of Miami, which has been stopping Carbondale every other day, will also be discontinued. Passengers from Chicago to Florida will be routed through Indiana on Penn Central tracks.

Railroads choosing to join the Railpax system, as did the IC, have the option of dropping all passenger service, except Railpax runs, after May 1. Railroads not joining the Railpax network must continue all passenger trains through Jan. 1, 1975.

Commenting on Carbondale's share in the Railpax system, Mayor David Keene said Monday, "I'm fully in favor of it." Keene said that the new system will give the railroads a chance to resolve problems with "harming union regulations." He said that the railroads have to go out of the passenger business to free themselves from some of their employees. The railroads will return to passenger service in the future, free of governmental control, returning with fully automated, fast, lightweight trains, Keene said.

City Manager William Schmidt also expressed optimism at the new system. Schmidt said he is hoping that promised improvements will be provided under the Railpax system, but "we'll just have to wait and see if the promises are kept."

City heads, Board to meet on SIU annexation proposal

By Dave Mahoney
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Carbondale city officials will meet Friday morning with the SIU Board of Trustees to discuss Carbondale's proposal to annex the SIU campus. City Manager William Schmidt said Monday.

Schmidt said that he, along with City Attorney Ron Briggs and Jerry Maxwell, administrative assistant to the city manager, will meet with the Board staff at Chief of Board Staff James Brown's office. He said that a place on the April Board agenda is the city's goal in attending the meeting.

"We have to get on the agenda," Schmidt said. "We recognize the need to talk to Brown, but we also recognize that the annexation decision is in the Board's hands."

Carbondale Mayor David Keene has accused Brown of deliberately keeping the city off the Board's agenda and in effect deciding himself whether or not the SIU campus should be annexed by the city.

Keene called Monday Brown's alleged delaying tactics "one of the worst breaks we have had since getting into office."

Richard Gruny, Board legal counsel, has denied the mayor's charges against Brown.

Schmidt said that he is hoping for "open and honest dialogue between the city and Board staff. I'm very pleased that we finally got a meeting time worked out."

Army engineers still destroying streams

To the Daily Egyptian:
The state isn't short of money when the right group, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, asks for it. Education may receive cuts but not the Army's river projects. ENACT gave a 2-page testimony in a hearing recently but you don't need 8-page testimonies to see that knocking down trees and digging the winding river into a straight ditch is bad for the environment. Yet these projects continue because:

1. politicians like to attract government money to their districts;
2. public works agencies get to expand their programs, and;
3. construction industry gets more work.

Army engineers still destroying streams

The Corps is now working on a $30 million "navigation project" which is desecrating the beautiful Kaskaskia River so commercial ships can ship coal at a cheaper cost than trains. I'll bet Kenneth Gray pocketed a lot of campaign funds on that one. Cheap electricity! The Corps is now considering the Saline River for barges. Ask someone who's lived near a Corp project about the Corps. Used to getting what it wants, the Corps requested $1.4 billion for FY 1972. Uncontrolled, the Corps will destroy the natural and self-purifying quality of every stream in the country.

Islands controversy needs fast settlement

To the Daily Egyptian

This is the time to claim for justice. To every child of the Chinese good earth, the taking of Tiao-yu Tai, a group of small uninhabited islands northwest of Taiwan, is an undeniable act of covetousness entirely out of the sphere of rational humanism.

The Okinawa government, attracted by the recent oil discoveries on these islands, now seeks to extend its control by means of both Japanese and the United States, sending her patrol ships to dispute the Chinese fishermen. The Okinawa government's encouraging both Japan and the United States, is to be warned against this move.

Geographically, Tiao-yu Tai, which rests on the Asian continental shelf, according to the United Nations International Law (1958), the Convention of the Continental Shelf, is an extension of the Chinese mainland.

The Japanese claim to Tiao-yu Tai directly violates the terms of the Cairo Declaration 1943 which states that "all the territories Japan has stolen from the Chinese such as Manchuria, Formosa and the Pescadores should be expunged in the Republic of China.

According to the Island of Palma (1920) International Law, which said that a nation's territorial right is not under the influence of any treaties signed among other nations, the United States illegally declared Tiao-yu Tai as a part of Ryukyus.

This incident, if not properly handled, may potentially lead to an international crisis. A fast settlement by international law and justice is the only answer from all concerned.

'Eroica' is the name, not 'Eroca', 'Erotica'

To the Daily Egyptian

I would like to correct a point in David Daily's review of "Five Easy Pieces". Robert Dupea's Jack Nicholson middle name is not 'Eroca' as it appeared in the review, but 'Erotica', literally "hero" and as in Beethoven's "Eroica Symphony". I'm certain that the character and the Nicholson family he represents the story of the name should not be overlooked. And if you want to take it a step further, substitute 'Eroca' as standard a joke as "Beethoven's fifth."

In addition, I am a list of simple virtues that Igor Stravinsky wrote to help his son learn to play the piano, "Cinq Pieces Faciles," "Five Easy Pieces." Considering the crucial relationship that Dupea has with his father, this makes more sense out of the title than any other suggestion I've seen.

Could holes be filled as tickets are given?

To the Daily Egyptian

As all of us mobilized students know, a lot of the streets and roads around the campus require drivers to become more skillful at handling the wheel in order to miss the chuck-holes. This is making it difficult on some women drivers.

My prime complaint is about the chuck-holes in our decal parking lots. From an aerial photograph one would swear it looks like bomb craters. Then when these craters fill up with water, I've seen a lot of students get splashed. For example: parking lot 47 between the Egyptian and Physical Science Building looks like a bog-wallow when it rains.

As we all know, the Security Police are prompt in putting tickets under the windshields. But usually don't miss a violator if one hole could be filled for every ticket given out, with the same promptness. I'm sure we could then call it a parking lot.

Work continues on health plan

Editor's Note: The University Health Services Committee is trying to find long-range solutions for the problem of medical care for the faculty.

If a pre-paid group health care delivery system for the SIU community is adopted, the above situation will very well be fact, according to Dean of Students William N. Moulton, chairman of the health care delivery system subcommittee of the University Health Care Committee.

The subcommittee is currently engaged in a Cor- bonscile Clinic co-sponsor committee developing a detailed plan for operating and financing some type of comprehensive health care delivery system, under new charges from Chancellor Robert G. Laver. The parent committee originally charged by former SIU Chancellor Robert MacVeicar in August of 1969 is still in operation, and a hearing was held in St. Louis to receive testimony about the plan. The stakeholder's report was submitted to the committee.

Our Man Hoppe

No body's perfect, bunny lovers

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

When it comes to the grave problems America faces, the gravest is neither pollution, urban sprawl nor excess stomach acidity. It is Playboy magazine.

Neve. universal. It is an arbitrary figure spread more pain and misery than Playboy's publisher, Hugh Hefner.

Statistics show that 80.3 percent of young American males study one or more centerfold 'Playmates of the Month' during their formative years. For hours on end...

"Ah," cried the young man, "so this is what young ladies look like without their clothes on!" I'll find one for me..." And he starts hunting.

The problem, of course, is that this isn't what young ladies look like without their clothes on at all. Nor even young Playmate ladies.

An article in the new magazine, Audience, points out that after the painstakingly selected Playmate is paid $5000 to take off her clothes, she is carefully posed so she doesn't wrinkle, sag or droop.

Thousands of studio shots are taken under ideal lighting conditions. One single print is chosen. Then even this best of all possible photographs is - heaven help us - doctored.

For at this point, the article says, Hefner steps in with his retouchers: "Take off the hair on her upper lip," he orders. "Clean up the shadows around her underarms..."

It is this blatant dishonesty that causes such untold suffering. There is our young man. He has found the girl of his dreams. She looks, with her clothes on, like a Playmate in her clothes. Eagerly he marries her. Expectantly he sweeps her off on a honeymoon - only to discover that she, like all human beings, occasionally wrinkles, sags, droops and/or exhibits dowdy lips or underarm shadow. Moreover, she doesn't even have a stake in her navel.

Is it any wonder that 80.3 percent of American males go through life feeling cheeched and frustrated? It is any wonder that 17 out of 18 marriages today end in divorce, drowning or shouting matches. "Why can't you take the hair off your upper lip?" Clean up your underarm shadow!"

To save America from slowly drowning in this sea of domestic acrimony, a group of us humanitarians has brought out the new magazine called RealBot.

The centerfold "Realmate of the Month" in our first issue is Miss Elvira McGoerkie, a 67-year-old unemployed (try cook) from Bixby Falls, Mont. Miss McGoerkie, who is 4-foot-2, weighs 175 pounds and has had a hard life, is depicted standing against a brightly-lit wall in the Bixby Falls Medical Clinic, all prepared for a free chest x-ray.

As we say in the caption: "It is a Realmate like Miss McGoerkie who makes American men appreciate their wives.

We are convinced that once RealBot replaces Playboy as the leader in its field, American males will grow up rational and sane.

No longer will they be beseeched by unattainable visions of perfection. No longer will they be pandered to by books, movies and advertising that prey upon their frustrations. At last they will accept marital sex for the good thing it is - an act of love between two imperfect humans.

At last they will accept reality.

We, the publishers of Realmate, ask no high rewards from a grateful nation for restoring its sanity. We just wish we could find some guy who'd buy a copy.

Concert group hosts violin recital tonight

James Oliver Buswell IV, violinist, will present a recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Shryock Auditorium, sponsored by the Southern Illinois Concert Association.

The Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra had been scheduled but canceled its performance. Buswell will play a 1720 Stradivarius. "I decided to play the solo on a concert that we organized," said Buswell.

Buswell first studied music at nine years of age. His first public appearance was at age seven at a benefit program at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. All 13 of his students will perform at a concert Sunday, April 20, at the University of Illinois Recital Hall.

Buswell is a graduate of Harvard University and has studied with one of the world's leading violin teachers, Ivan Galamian. Students may obtain tickets at the door for $22 with student identification. Members of the Southern Illinois Concert Association will be admitted on presentation of membership cards.

Pлимpton to be at SIU

Author George Plimpton, philosopher Earl Hubbard, Karakas dancers and SIU University Press Professor B. Bums will highlight spring quarter's University and Concert series. April 8 p.m. each Thursday in the SIU Arena.

Plimpton, a "professional amateur" who has written several books about his experiences in professional baseball, golf and football, will appear April 11. He recently completed a movie "Ras Lobe" with John Wayne and has appeared on several television specials.

Hubbard, space philosopher and author of "The Search for Utopia," will speak on "The Novel for New Worlds." April 20 in connection with a New World's conference scheduled at SIU.

The Wabash-Kanaski Dance Company will perform classical, Kanaski and folk dances in full costume and make-up on Thursday, April 22.

Man's function in the universe will be the topic for Fuller's "Cosmos" lecture at 8 p.m. May 7. It is the invention of the internationally acclaimed geodesic dome and considered one of today's most renowned engineers. Fuller is distinguished University professor at SIU.

Meeting Wednesday

Teacher unit to organize

By Cathy Spence
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A group to organize a local chapter of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) at SIU will be held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Martin Library Auditorium.

The meeting was announced by Malcolm Kay, assistant professor of philosophy, one of ten people who signed a newsletter on the local chapter at the national meeting which was sent to SIU faculty members last week.

Kay said the people who had expressed interest in organizing a local chapter of the AFT "want to have something to say about the University, rather than being presented with a fait accompli."

Kay said many faculty members want privatization of staff outlooks, budget cuts and the direction of educational spending. "We're not organized now, so we can't say anything."

"It is things like the cutback in staff that are sapping us on to organize," Kay said. "We are also concerned with the wasting of educational money on other projects, both here and at Edwardsville."

The newsletter said, "A strong organization of the teaching faculty, especially if it is independent of the structure and statutes of the University, could be expected to speak out very quickly when more funds are cut."

"And if we can increase our numbers, we can increase our leverage," Kay said.

The union would serve the interests of its members and the educational mission of SIU," Kay said.

He said specific future plans of the group "would depend on the constituency." He said the union could serve as a bargaining agent for faculty.

The AFT is an autonomous national union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO). Local chapters are autonomous, Kay said, and the national organization cannot call for nationwide teacher strikes or similar actions.

According to an AFT publication, there were 200 AFT college locals representing approximately 15,000 college teachers in January 1970. All faculty members are eligible for membership, with the exception of those who head powers of hiring and firing.

Kelly said membership restrictions are usually determined by the local chapter. "Usually there is a clear-cut line in regard to hiring and firing powers, but in some department faculty members decide who gets tenure."

Graduate assistants are ineligible for membership in the union. Kelly said he felt they would do better to organize their own group. "If they were included in our organization, it might just turn into a "little brother" situation, with their problems not being given proper consideration."

Old home provers hit

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - The head of a legislative commission probing the alleged filthy conditions in Cook County nursing homes, said Monday that the commission "would not have to be blind not to see these conditions." Sen. John W. Carroll, R-Rock Ridge, place some of the blame for the conditions on Cook County Department of Public Aid caseworkers in a meeting of the legislative advisory commission on public aid.

The commission is checking allegations of scared conditions, patient abuses and generally sub-standard care of the Chicago care centers. "I think Sen. Carroll has missed the point," said David L. Daniel, director of the Cook County Department of Public Aid whose caseworkers visit the homes "usually about once a month."

The point was missed. Daniel told the commission, because his caseworkers aren't trained as health inspectors and said he is "busy as bees" filling out reports on the patients they visit.

The Cook County Department of Public Aid is responsible for dispersing state and federal aid money to nursing homes which house aged and mentally ill recipients.

Daniel said his caseworkers have reported the poor conditions for many years to both health departments. He didn't say what action, if any, the departments took on the reports. "We weren't shocked like everyone else was," Daniel said of newspaper exposés of the homes.

Carroll asked Daniel "Couldn't the caseworkers see the filth in the beds and all the other things?" Daniel answered Carroll "They don't have the eye of an investigator, we can only report to the Department of Public Health." Flood insurance urged for now SPRINGFIELD (AP) - Lt. Gov. Paul Simon said Monday Illinois should move quickly to qualify for federal flood insurance before this year's spring season. The state appears in the "red zone" for the first time in 10 years.

In a letter to Gov. Robert R. Ogilvie, Simon said he understands the "federal Insurance Administration has been in touch with the State of Illinois on at least four occasions to point out the need for selecting a state coordinating agency. Illinois, far despite these past opportunities has taken no action." Simon said.

Simon, a Democrat, told the Republican governor that 40 other states, most of them with far fewer flood problems than our own, have already qualified for this special coverage.

"Any further delay seems to me to be totally unwarranted," he said. He said the federal government had contacted Illinois about selecting a state coordinating agency to utilize the emergency features of the 1988 National Flood Insurance Act in October 1988. May 1989. September 1989 and this month.

"Most people prefer to have a confrontation rather than talk," he explained, "because of the potential, danger to the other person. And besides, fighting doesn't prove anything." Laura Furman learned what Laura could do was her father, A.L. Furman of Litchfield. Laura was at home and her father expressed some doubt about her proficiency. In fact it surprised her by grabbing her from the back. In half a second she was on the floor, unharmed or a surprised father.

When she graduates Laura wants to get a job teaching high school English, and, you've guessed it, teach a physical education course in judo if at all possible.
Four SIU officials to oppose proposed state legislation

By Pat Smith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Four SIU representatives will be in Springfield Tuesday to testify before the House Committee on Higher Education against five House bills that would cut scholarships, faculty-class leads, intercollegiate athletics and other funds on campus, according to C. Richard Grant, assistant to the governor on the University Board of Trustees.

The bills, House Bill 392, would prohibit SIU from using student tuition or fees to support or subsidize inter-school athletic activities. It does not prohibit charges for intramural activities or paying for sports from gift receipts. The bill would force SIU to drop sports which could not pay for themselves, such as swimming, track and tennis.

Grundy said that the bills probably would not be taken seriously by legislators and therefore it would not cause a government shutdown, as some fear.

Grundy said that SIU would probably oppose any increase in faculty salaries or any increase in tuition for residents or non-residents.

Another bill would require faculty members to make presentations against the bill.

Several other bills would be introduced by other legislators to cut down on the number of scholarships available to students.

In housing areas

Administrative changes made.

The administrative office of four on-campus housing areas will be consolidated into two, and the Office of Fraternities and Sororities will merge with the Student Activities Office in changes announced Monday by William N. Monahan, dean of student services.

Monahan said the changes would not be in an administrative rank but in assignment. He said the reorganization has been approved by Chancellor Robert G. Laver and will become effective July 1.

Under the new setup, University Park and Brush Towers will merge under a single assistant dean of students. One assistant dean will also head the administrative structure of the west campus comprising Thompson Point and Small Group Housing.

The Office for Fraternities and Sororities will be placed under a separate campus area governments and organizations or merged with the new plan goes into effect.

The administrative changes will involve Jefferson Hamptley, new assistant dean for Brush Towers, who is slated to become assistant dean for the merged east campus area, Will Trailndale, assistant dean for Thompson Point who will become the combined west campus center, John Evans, assistant dean at University Park who will become responsible for coordinating services to off-campus residence halls and Mary Alice Arnold, assistant dean for fraternities and sororities, who will head the student Activities Office as assistant dean.

Council to study grant proposal.

The new proposal stresses strengthening SU's competency in Southeast Asian studies with special emphasis directed to that portion of Southeast Asia which has North and South Vietnam as its central focus.

The present grant includes statements concerning programs related to the economic and social development of Vietnam and its post-war reconstruction.

The new proposal says, "The AID B14 Grant does not require any specific service by the University to the Agency for International Development.

If any services are sought by AID, the proposal states they would require separate agreement and additional funding and "must be reviewed and approved by the normal administrative processes of the University." The proposal also notes the confluence of the academic units of the University which would be expected to provide and support the services.

Another departure from the present grant includes an "increasing emphasis to be placed upon the recruitment of North Vietnamese scholars, the development of North Vietnamese studies and the collection of North Vietnamese materials as soon as peace comes to that area."

Rhythm method being studied

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) - New Zealand-Roman Catholic couples have agreed to provide almost 12,000 New Zealand dollars ($3,400 U.S.) over the next three years to finance research into the rhythm method of birth control.

The project, aimed at making the method more reliable, will be carried out at Auckland's National Women's Hospital by a group headed by Dr. Jean France, himself a Catholic.

He is a senior lecturer at the city's postgraduate school of obstetrics and gynaecology, and has a special interest in the action of secreted hormones in reproduction and pregnancy.

If the research program is successful, he believes, its results will particularly benefit Catholic married couples, who are forbidden use of the pill, and will also be welcomed by many non-Catholic couples.

The principal object is to achieve a means by which ovulation can be regulated to occur at a set time in a woman's menstrual cycle.

Failure to preregister causes stampede at Arena

The battle and bustle of ironing out student registration problems for spring quarter began Monday in the SU Arena.

Henry Andrews, supervisor of Central Registration, said the main problem with last minute registrants at the beginning of any quarter is the large number of students that go through registration processing. Tuesday will begin processing program changes, Andrews said. On Wednesday, registration for continuing students will begin. Andrews said, while Thursday and up until noon Friday processing student program changes and registration will be done. Friday is also the deadline for adding courses for the quarter, he said.

Andrews estimated that before the week is over between 5,000 and 6,000 program changes and about 7,750 registrations have been made.

Andrews said many students do not register in advance because they are unable to pay their fees. There fees can now be deferred until April 28 and "this way there is no reason why student's cannot register in advance."

The fact remains, he said, that many students do not choose to go through advance registration and "we don't really know why."

Andrews said that although Central Registration is a monster on headache, it is an exciting week. It would not be so bad," he said. "If students would follow the rules and deadlines of registrations and not count on exceptions to these."

The deadline for dropping a course without getting a grade is April 21. Andrews added.
Journalism, Egyptian move to new building

"It's time," was the comment
Monday of Howard Rink Long, director of SIU's School of Journalism, on the move of the school and the Daily Egyptian to the $4.7 million wing of the Communications Building.

The move, which was made during spring break, ends 23 years of operation in converted houses, harracks and other makeshift facilities for journalism.

Long called the new building "a workshop worthy of the caliber of faculty and students we have." The wing adds the Communications Building on the north.

Operation of the Daily Egyptian began Monday in the new quarters.

The newspaper's new typesetting equipment, a Singer-Frader Phasmatix Display Computer Unit, is almost twice as fast as the old equipment, according to William M.
Epperheimer, Daily Egyptian business manager. He said the new unit can produce type in eight different point sizes with varied leading (space between lines).

A $180,000 Contrell Model V-22 detector press is also in operation in the building. It was set up and used during the last two weeks of winter quarter.

The bright blue-painted press has two units and can print up to 46 tabloid pages. It is capable of reproducing full color images.

A feature of the Daily Egyptian newspaper is a massive circular engraving desk, designed by L.
Lathem Smith, Chasige architectural firm.

The newspaper plans to add soon the Register news service to the Associated Press wire which has served the Egyptian in the past.

It will provide another division to national and international news. Long said.

Long said the school would be further expanded in the near future by the addition of a "free" news published by Southern Illinois, a CATV system that has been set up in Carbondale.

Officials sue rail POWs in N. Vietnam

By Jonas Cary

Washington—U.S. officials are proving their case

probably all-surviving U.S. section of the N. Vietnamese war, and

South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia

have been captured in N. Vietnam.

It is not known how many of they may still be alive if they have not already been tortured or killed.

But officials say this is a sufficient basis for recent reports.

About 250 U.S. personnel—some all-poole—are in the POW camp.

About 50 U.S. military personnel were captured in the same area in Cambodia.

Most of those rased sites were along the South Vietnamese-

Cambodian border, once a Communist stronghold, but now dominated by allied forces since the strikes on Cambodia in April, 1970.

The U.S. officials say they have known for some time that some Americans captured in the South have been moved to the North. The North Vietnamese captured at N. during the 1968 Tet offensive were moved directly north.

The three missing American correspondents were quite unhurt but were captured in North Vietnam.

Another indication of the POW transfer lies in the fact that there never was no attempt to request more than a year of U.S. prisoners being held by N. Vietnamese

Groups.

The over 74 persons—40

Vietnamese—have been released from captivity in South Vietnam and are freely to propaganda purposes. Each brought information with him of others.

There have been a number of explained and possibly classified as missing and rescued from Cambodia.

The number of POWs is

Last year's three Filippine constructheir captors, and possibly recovery have not been released after six months of captivity. The situation is much the same in N. Vietnam.

The release of POWs in the history of failure to find any

POW list the in the searches of raids on suspected sites has been attempted in the past.

At many points there was evidence that prisoners had once been held

Bible still bestseller

By Claire Cox

NEW YORK—Eight million

Bibles were sold in the United States last year.

Included among them were two instant best sellers, The New American Bible published for Roman Catholics, and the American edition of the New English

Bible designed to replace the King James Version in many churches.

There were scores of others

as well, and the American Bible

Society reported that its own translation of the New Testament in Today's English, known as "Good News for Modern Man," was in the hands of 21 million people around the world.

Against this background, one might expect the Bible also to be the best-read book, especially in churches, but this apparently is not the case.

The Bible is in a very bad way in the church. The Rev. James D. Smart,

Professor of biblical interpretation at Union Theological Seminary in a discussion of 'The Struggle of the Bible in the Church,' published by Westminster Press, quotes the words of a priest of one of the United Presbyterian churches in the U.S.A. He points to a bleak picture of the place of Scripture in religious practice.

"In a century during which biblical scholarship has made tremendous advances in America, with literature on the Bible expanding enormously and the number of newly highly regimented relationships becoming known,

"there has been an increasing frustration of preachers with Scriptures as a basis for sermons, a steady decline in the use of the Bible in the church, and a mounting ignorance of the Bible among members of the church.

"It is a practically nonexistent problem. I am convinced that it constitutes the crux beneath all the other crises that endanger the church's future. The church that no longer has a serious message of the Scriptures sooner or later comes to understand what it is for.

Smart does not place the burden of the blame for this solely on the clergy. He asserts that there has been a "blindness on the part of scholars, teachers, laymen and preachers alike. It is in their opinion, a blindness to a number of how to relate an ancient text to life in the 20th Century.

Ironically he noted that most

Christian are overly protective towards their Bibles, burdening at the very same time the message of the Scriptures.

But, he said, the 'deed as bad as the blindness, without a concerted plan but rather almost as unconsciously and covertly, that it eapes public notice, and "we recognize the greatest challenge of our day in our own churches and our own selves a church almost totally alienated from the Scriptures.

Because of this quiet erosion, Smart felt justified in sounding this alarm.

The voice of the Scriptures is falling silent in the preaching and teaching of the church and in the soul of the Christian people, a silence that is perceptible even to those who are most insistent on their devotion to the Scriptures.

Senate OK's phone study

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - The Illinois Senate Monday on a voice vote approved a bill that would permit an intra-state study of complaints about rural telephone system service.

The Illinois Commerce Commission, under scrutiny of a previous legislative commission which heard testimony about excessive multi-party rural rates, has already ordered its own reduction by 1975.

Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, who proposed the first study, asked Monday that it be extended so that the commission could have a hearing. Vadalabene said a study group would encourage the commission to act against excessive breakdowns in rural service, improvements of ties between limited distances to rural neighbors and high cost for toll communications.

Vadalabene said a reporter some rural subscribers pay unnecessary long distance calls of as high as 75 cents a month per quarter mile of local calls.

The resolution goes to the House along with another Vadalabene bill that the General Assembly request the chancellor of public universities to reevaluate and pay plans for the last two years in their pay grades.

The United States has more than 50 older, solid-fueled ICBMs in its nuclear arsenal. Each of these missiles is capable of striking hundreds of targets with nuclear warheads that can split up and strike several thousand targets in the world and still have an "offside" alert still on the launch pad.

Conversion of 17 of the Navy's 41 missile-carrying submarines is ready as well under way. The government is increasing the budget for submarine-launched intercontinental ballistic missile (SLBM) research.

Nixon asks $295 million for the Air Force's Minuteman III intercontinental missile force compared with $270 million in last fiscal year.

He seeks $440 million for the Navy's advanced Poseidon missiles to arm a new fleet of nuclear-powered submarines. Poseidon is the more powerful follow-on to the present Poseidon underwater-launched intercontinental ballistic missile (UCLBM).

In the same budget request Nixon wants $110 million for the upcoming Navy undersea long-range missile system (ULRMS), a more advanced submarine-launched missile designed to follow the Poseidon.

It is still in the research and development stage.

Part of the increased funds sought for each of these missile systems includes money for MIRV warheads or their development. In the case of the ULMS, the funds are to finance research on a multiple-target weapon system containing 10 to 12 of the submarine-launched rockets still to be built.

Carrott to head history

By University News Service

Ping-chen Kao, chairman of SUI's history department, will step down Aug. 15, to return to China. The only Chinese government official and delegate who attended the SUI summer session was thereby off to manage the Department of Security Council Affairs.

A new set of Chinese times and new history of the world will also have to be added to SUI's international curriculums.

Kao left Chinese government service when China's mainland government caved in, returning to the Institute in 1969. The Chinese government sent a delegation to the SUI in 1969,

Changes in faculty and administrative positions at SUI have been approved by the SUI Board of Trustees.

Changes involve personnel, including appointment of a recent graduate of Harvard University to SUI's government service as his native China shortly after the Japanese invasion of 1938. He was a foreign and economic advisor and director of the National Military Council of China, then served as a professor of SUI and worked with the U.S. department of security council affairs.

Golfers place 6th in tourney

SUU's golf team concluded its spring trip through the South Saturday by finishing sixth in the West Florida Invitational Tournament at Pensacola, Florida, which featured 16 teams.

I was well pleased with the performances of our boys, said Coach Lynn Halder. "The other teams are a month ahead of us."

Jeff Young led the Salukis with 169 strokes, a 14-hole total of 121. Wito Sappino finished a stroke behind Young at 122, followed by Richard Hock at 123.

Harvey Ott finished the tournament with a 235, followed by Dave Perkins and Jean Bresenhan's 236. Georgia Southern won the contest with 139 strokes, followed by Florida State with 148 and Alabama third with 158. Southern's sixth place finish carried them 301 points.

The Salukis open their home season at 11:15 p.m. Thursday against St. Louis University at Crab Orchard Golf Course.

The golfers will have five of their top six players come back from last year's squad which finished the season winning their last 17 of 19 matches on the way to a 22-3-1 record.

Leading the group of returning are Harvey Ott from LaCross, Wis., who was last year's captain. Individual tournament results indicate that Ott has the tie-breaking edge over the No. 1 spot which was vacated when Greg Goldsmith graduated.

Last year Ott finished with a 74.4 average and fell one stroke short of tying Glenn for medalist honors.

In addition to the meet with St. Louis, SUU will be at home for contests against the University of Missouri at St. Louis on April 3, Washington University on April 19 and Murray State on April 24.

All home meets will begin at 11:15 p.m. entrance for the contest with Missouri which begins at 9 a.m.

The Missouri conference meet will be held at Silver Lake, May 24.
Carr is picked first in NBA draft

NEW YORK (AP) - The Cleveland Cavaliers made Austin Carr, Notre Dame's 6-3 All-American, the first pick Monday in the National Basketball Association college draft.

Portland followed by taking Sydney Wicks, the 6-4 All-American from UCLA and Buffalo, the third expansion team, and of Texas. Immersor Smith from NAIA champion Kentucky State.

With the selections being made in rapid order, Commissioner Helms said he had chosen Smith because he had the inside track on the pick because of his connection to Buffalo. Wicks, was a star at UCLA.

The first round was completed when Philadelphia took Dana Lewis of Tulsa. Los Angeles picked Jim. Creighton of Ohio State, Phoenix took John Roche of South Carolina. Chicago went for a sleeper in Kenny McElmister of Eastern Michigan. New York selected All-American Dan Metzinger from Marquette and Milwaukee took of San Jose State. Baltimore selecting Rain Lose of Oregon, Boston, choosing Clarence Glover of Western Kentucky, and Detroit picking Curtis Rowe. Wicks' run came at forward at UCLA.

Carr was named first pick. The first round was completed in only about 10 minutes as the selections were made on a 17-city telephonie hookup with the NBA office here.

At the end of the first round the Cincinnati Royals traded veteran guard Flynn Robinson to the Los Angeles Lakers for the Lakers second-round draft pick, which would be the 31st selection.

Carr, who averaged more than 30 points a game in his career with the Fighting Irish, was something of a surprise selection after speculation had been that Wicks would go No. 1. Portland wanted little time grabbin the UCLA star who helped the Bruins to their fifth straight NCAA title last weekend.

A notable absentee in the first round packs was Jim McDaniels. T. fast All-American center, regarded one of the top shooting big men in college.

However, the NBA teams appear to have made late decisions, having already been in contact with all the higher picks.

Defiant Buffalo picks Haywood

NEW YORK (AP) - The Buffalo Braves defied a National Basketball Association ruling Monday by picking Spencer Haywood, who plays for NBA Seattle, in the second round of the league's college draft.

Haywood, who jumped from Denver of the rival American Basketball Association, was awarded by the NBA to Seattle in an out-of-court settlement last Friday.

Commissioner Walter Kennedy said that if Buffalo insisted on picking Haywood, they would have to obtain written permission from Seattle to get him.

YACHTING SUMMER POSITIONS

The American Yachting Association is seeking experienced and new crew to fill positions on various boats. Positions are available for experienced as well as inexperienced crew and range from inexperienced students and graduates, to experienced and professional youth. The boats are located in the eastern United States, and the crew is needed for various US Sailing Club events. Positions are available in various locations, including the East Coast, West Coast, and the Great Lakes, depending on the events and the availability of crew.

Regional qualifying meet at Northern Illinois. The finish represents a big drop from last year's match-which saw the faithful garner 13 points on the way to a 5th place finish.

Carr was picked 2nd in the final match. The number of Oregon State beat Carr. 86-84.

"Carr literally gave away the meet," said assistant coach Tom Justice. "You just can't go to your back like he did."

Gorden, a freshman who Justice expects to be the team's scoring leader this season, considered the loss to NCs then-Louis Mason in overtime by 5-2 before losing to Leitig's Gregg Sersner, 15-4.

New swim class offered

A new class in water safety instruction will be offered spring quarter, according to Peter Carroll, assistant professor in the Department of Men's Physical Education.

Carroll said completion of the course leads to certification as a water safety instructor by the American Red Cross. To pass the class, students must hold a current Senior Lifesaving Certificate and be in good swimming condition.

The course is open to men and women, and is listed under PE. 368 Section one meets at the YMCA swimming pool on Tuesday and Thursday from 1:30 p.m. and on Monday and Thursday at Technology Center. Section two meets at the Pool Hall swimming pool from 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Trackmen look strong in Florida showings

SIU trackmen Ivory Crockett and Edatter Sutton came out of an auto-accident without serious injury Friday averting a disaster for the Salukis on the final leg of their Florida trip. Sutton received a slight back sprain and a bump on his left knee, but both men were back in uniform Saturday for the Florida Relays with no apparent at-fections from the wreck.
