Deadline set for Hambletonian bid
Illinois to create package to get prestigious race

Illinois has until May 23 to create a bid package that convinces the Hambletonian Association to move the Hambletonian harness race back to the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds.

The society voted in a closed meeting Saturday in Pompano Beach, Fla., to consider bids for the race, Hugh A. Grant Jr., president of the society, said Sunday.

The society will hold a meeting to hear bids May 23 in New Jersey, but will not award the classic until June, Grant said.

"We were told there would be a very respected bid (from Illinois) for the race," Grant said. "The governor and Illinois have always been great friends of harness racing.

"I want to stress, as I have before, that we've been very satisfied at the Meadowlands," he said. "But we're very pleased with Illinois' interest."

Changing genes like splitting atoms

Although the technology exists to manipulate the genes of any organism, extreme discretion must practiced when using such technology to manipulate the genes in plants and animals, two University professors said.

John Hayward, professor emeritus of religious studies and William Mahlack, assistant professor of zoology, spoke to a group of high school, science students Saturday on Human Manipulation of Plant and Animal Genes: The Risks, Benefits, and Ethics.

The lecture was part of the Illinois Junior Academy of Sciences regional science fair.

Genetic engineering is a far-reaching field that should not be taken lightly, Mahlack said.

The risks of using such technology should be carefully weighed, he said.

We are already reaping the benefits of this technology," he said.

Through genetic manipulation, scientists are able to make vaccines faster and easier.

Funeral services for University student Ricky Johnson, 21, were held at 11 a.m. today at the First United Methodist Church in East St. Louis, 15 miles north of Effingham, Johnson's father said.

Visitation was held from 6 to 8 p.m. Sunday at the Johnson Funeral Home in Effingham.

"We feel they (the unions) have been very selective in the presentation of information on some of the issues."

"We feel neither group has been successful in lobbying efforts with the state legislature and there is nothing to indicate that they will in the future," she said.

"We don't feel they can win, and we don't feel we can win, either," Johnson's roommate, said.

KGB mole: No Soviet-spy ring at Cambridge

LONDON (UPI) — Kim Philby, the KGB mole in Britain’s secret service who fled to Moscow in an interview published Sunday there was no-long-suspected ring of Soviet spies recruited at Cambridge University. Philby also said there was "no fifth man" involved in the damaging Soviet spying operation that included himself, Guy Burgess, Donald Maclean and Anthony Blunt. All attended Cambridge, leading speculation they were recruited at the school by the KGB in the 1930s and placed as moles in the British government.

Canada supports Indian’s fight against U.S.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (UPI) — A Canadian immigration board says American Indian activist Robert Sataucum, who fled to Canada after being convicted of racketeering, should not be granted refugee status because he was set up and would get inadequate legal protection in the United States. The board is scheduled to release its recommendation today in the case of Sataucum, 59, who won a landmark 1974 Supreme Court decision that protected Indian fishing rights in Washington state.

Ortega challenges Reagan to ‘keep his word’

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega challenged President Reagan Sunday to “keep his word” and hold direct talks with his Sandinista government now that it has arranged a cease-fire with the U.S.-backed rebel contras. But, Assistant Secretary of State Elliott Abrams dismissed the need for U.S.-Nicaraguan negotiations, calling instead for multilateral talks with the five Central American countries to discuss the flow of Soviet weapons into the region.

Report: Defense scales back on ‘Star Wars’

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department is drastically scaling back its effort to develop a space-based shield against Soviet missiles, settling on protecting military targets instead of cities, a published report said Sunday. Interviewing unidentified senior officials, the Washington Post said the decision to concentrate on a limited defensive system reflects agreement that President Reagan’s dream to totally neutralize Soviet missiles probably cannot be attained.

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Three cars plunged 20 feet into darkness through a missing segment of roadway in a ravine early Sunday, killing two people and injuring a third in a construction zone that a witness said had no barricades. The accident on Interstate 35 west of Wichita occurred in a period of less than 2 and half hours on the two southbound lanes, which had been closed while a section was removed so a culvert could be built in the sandy ravine 20 feet below.

Candidate wants graduates to leave with world view

By Susan Curtis

Lavestor Gaither wants to improve the University environment by making it more culturally aware. Gaither, a senior in speech communications, is Gaither also wants to improve the environment by making students more culturally aware.

students will solve much of the prejudice and other ills in our society, he said.

Gaither also wants to implement a citizenship awareness program. Both he and Alliance party presidential candidate Bill Hill are depated as voter registrars.

"I'm not sure of what you call a voter registration maniac," Gaither said.

"I think we can do a better job educating the students to be better citizens, but that will take cooperation from the students and administrators," he said.

Gaither would like to see Carbondale switch to a ward-alderman system because it would have a council.

This would involve remapping the city and giving students more representation. Gaither said there are many students who don't have the number, he said.

Students could have no motivation to vote in city elections because they feel they have no impact on the voter process.

A ward-alderman system would probably guarantee students a representative on the city council, he said.

Another of Gaither's concerns is the food system on campus. Many students living in the residence halls are paying for meals they don't eat, he said.

A system where students pay for their meals and then have a card punched each time they eat would be much fairer to the students because they could receive a refund.

Gaither is an East Side senator and involved with the Model Illinois Government. The USO City Affairs Commission, Intercollegiate Athletics advisory board, and the Black Together Organization. He is president of Students for Jesus Jackson, and campaign coordinator for Jackson in the 22nd Congressional District.

Gaither said his family has a history of civil rights activism. "I would like to try to do my part in carrying on that tradition because there is a need for leadership in our generation that hasn't emerged yet."

Office-space move raises complaints

By Kimberly Clarke

A reshuffling of office space in the Student Center has raised the ire of one student group, but pleased another.

Mid-America Peace Project is moving to the Student Center and the American Marketing Association is moving down the hall to a larger office. While MAPP was reviewed not as effectively using the office space and the committee felt that the new space could be occupied by another organization with a larger membership and need.

But Brett Papiack, vice president of MAPP, said the move was unjustified.

"We use the office at night," Papiack said.

"People know where we are," he said. "Better and specific move the book and we will put us out of sight," Papiack added. Advertising our new location will cost money, something we don't have."

AN ELECTION DELAYED IS JUSTICE DENIED

(Creeps in this Petty Pace from Day to Day)

Pope Kepha, in "The Great Wall of China," wrote about the frustrating experience of being unable to understand the concept of the great wall project began in antiquity. Great projects often overtake those who labor on them.

But our task has been a modest one—to fix a date for a collective bargaining election as set forth by law—certainly nothing to rival the construction of the Great Wall. However, it is becoming as frustrating, if not as long in the completion.

With the passage of a public employee bargaining law in 1981, labor unions were given the right to negotiate with their employers. The University of Illinois had to institute a bargaining process in order to conform to the law. But the administration has been slow to respond to the requests of the bargaining units.

But why should this law be followed more closely than others? After all, isn't there a law that says the state legislature shall meet the employees who are deprived of their right to negotiate? And isn't there a law that says our labor laws are being obeyed as long as we give a strike a good cause?" The administration's response was that the bargaining process was in order to give us the right to negotiate.

This incredible series of delays illustrates what can happen when you mix customer incompetence and resistance. The bid hearings were completed on June 20, 1981, after the proposals were filed. Postmortem briefs were filed in May and the contract was signed in August.

Hundreds of letters later, the Labor Relations Board conducted collective bargaining elections on the campuses of the 203 colleges and universities.

The experience of the University of Illinois, State and Normal, coupled with the already completed SIU hearings, would certainly mean more on bid election was near.

However, the hearing officer did not submit his findings until over a year later. On October 9, 1981 (it is rumored that he was waiting for the state to pay his fees). Now, almost six months after that, we are facing yet another delay.

"Proposal to move these BSO's was not a whim," Rubin said. "The committee reviewed their applications and changes were made in AM and GLPU and showed specific need for an office and MAPP was reviewed not as effectively using the office space and the committee felt that the new space could be occupied by another organization with a larger membership and need.

SDI, or the Strategic Defense Initiative, is President Ronald Reagan's plan for a space-based defense system designed to shield the United States from Soviet missiles. It is better known as "Star Wars.""People know where we are," Papiack said. "Better and specific move the book and we will put us out of sight," Papiack added. Advertising our new location will cost money, something we don't have."
Rights restored by congressional vote

THE CONGRESSIONAL VOTE to override President Reagan's veto of the Civil Rights Restoration Act is a welcome sign that the administration's unfair, unconscionable policies are being rejected. The bill stemmed from a 1978 U.S. Supreme Court Decision that restricted civil rights protection for minorities at institutions where federal funds were being used in some departments but not others.

Grove City College contended that because it did not receive federal funds, it did not have to comply with Title IX laws. At the behest of the administration, the high court ruled that only the admissions department had to comply because it was the only department at the college receiving federal dollars. It handled guaranteed student loans.

SEN. EDWARD KENNEDY, D-Mass., was a leading sponsor of the bill. "This country does not want to retreat on protections of rights for the American people," he said, and his words echo what should be a bulwark of any administration's civil rights policy.

It's taken four years, but protections first won in the Civil Rights Bill of 1965 have been wasted, and a 292-133 count in the House. Perhaps the lopsided vote is proof to stand for liberty and justice for all.

Moral Majority also contends that the bill would force them to comply with civil rights laws. The veto was overridden by a 73-24 tally in the Senate. Senators are talking about all these social problems when we can have the genuine article — someone who has lived the social problems.

So why should the country waste time listening to some white, neo-liberal, pseudo-liberal, old-time liberal or whatever the rest of these Democrats are, talking about all these social problems. If we are going to nominate Jackson, the Democratic Party should make the Democratic candidate for president.

If Jackson gets most delegates, Democrats should nominate him

Mike Royko
Tribune Media Services

That would be the fairest thing to do. After all, the Democrats have gone to great pains to get away from the old-fashioned back-room dealing, the delegate swapping and the brokering. When George McGovern came in with the most delegates, he was nominated. When Walter Mondale was the leader, they threw the convention to him. So why not do the same if Jackson is the leader?

What's that you say? Jackson will be a cinch to lose? That's probably true, but so what? George McGovern was a cinch to lose, but that didn't stop the Democrats.

Mondale was a cinch to lose and they went right ahead and let him do it.

Not only did they lose, but they left no legacy that would benefit the Democratic Party in future campaigns. But by nominating Jackson, the Democratic Party would create a legacy by putting the national conscience to a true test. We would have a referendum on racial discrimination, which is the most destructive and persistent of all our domestic problems.

So why should the country waste time listening to some white, neo-liberal, pseudo-liberal, old-time liberal or whatever the rest of these Democrats are, talking about all these social problems. If we can have the genuine article — someone who has lived the social problems.

And what a perfect match-up it could be — Jackson vs. Bush. The Southern-born black man from the humblest of backgrounds against the white Eastern aristocrat.

But despite our glorious Constitution, our state of commitment to equality, we really are a racist nation.

Democratic race tightens with Gephardt’s withdrawal

DETROIT (UPI) — Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt decided Sunday to withdraw from the Democratic presidential race following a dismal performance in the Michigan caucuses, sources said. The candidate scheduled a Monday afternoon news conference in the nation’s capital to announce what was said to be his exit from the campaign and laid decision to seek a seventh term from his St. Louis congressional district.

Gephardt, 47, made the decision after spending the day conferring with top advisers and discussing his future with his wife and three children at their home in Great Falls, Va. His campaign will not eliminate Gephardt from the race for national convention delegates at the halfway point in the selection process for the Democratic presidential nominee. If delegate projections from Michigan hold up, the Massachusetts governor leads Gephardt by only five hundredths of a delegate vote. Murder-for-hire jury trial to begin today in Vienna

The murder-for-hire jury trial of Physical Plant Assistant Director Dale Reiman begins at 9 a.m. today at the Johnson County Courthouse in Vienna.

Reiman has pleaded not guilty to charges he hired Shawnee Correctional Center inmate David Scott Polk to arrange the murder of a University student worker in December, 1986.

Reiman faces 34 counts of kidnapping, sexual assault, sexual abuse and battery in Jackson County for the alleged abduction of the student over a four-day period earlier that month.

Johnson County Assistant State's Attorney Patrick Prendergast said Polk will be subpoenaed to testify in the trial.

Polk said in a telephone interview that he received $750 from Reiman when he visited Polk at Shawnee. Polk said he never agreed to arrange the murder, but that Reiman intended the murder be executed by gangs whom Polk was to contact.

Thirteen counts of sexual assault, aggravated sexual assault, aggravated sexual abuse, unlawful restraint, and aggravated kidnapping against Reiman were dismissed in Jackson County on Feb. 4. Judge David W. Watt ruled that numerous charges were filed for the same offenses.

Peace group praises ceasefire of the Sandinistas and Contras

Nicaragua's cease-fire declaration brought a jubilant response from the Solidarity Committee, told about 50 people in the free forum area.

Hartso, a member of the Southern Illinois Latin-American Solidarity Committee, told the audience the ceasefire will begin April 1, and the possibility of peace negotiations to end the six-year war.

The ceasefire is focused on U.S. involvement in Central America. Two of the teach-in's students talked about media portrayals of north-south conflicts, the lifting of the U.S. economic embargo against Nicaragua would encourage the Sandinistas and the Contras to hold further peace negotiations.

four speakers emphasized the war in Nicaragua.

Firm donates equipment for students in electronics

Electronics technology students in the College of Technical Careers will be exposed to new technical equipment donated by Motorola, Inc.

Fourteen commercial Syntor and Master FM radios and accessories valued at $20,000 were presented to the college by Harlan Meister, Motorola's district service manager in Springfield, and David Soldat, employee relations manager at Schaumburg.

Training on equipment will help students make a successful transition to working with commercial FM radios in the business community, Frank Le Gere, senior vice president in Motorola's National Service Organization, said.

Soldat said the University's critical technical recruiting requirements.

William G. Shupe, coordinator of electronics technology, said, "This state-of-the-art equipment will greatly enhance our communications courses. Donations of this type certainly help the program because in times of limited state funding, it's difficult to get new equipment."

Mine was. By the time I had written 190 pages, I was convinced that my house would burn down. I kept my note cards on ice, too.

In May there was a power failure. A half-gallon of Mint Chip ice cream infiltrated my study of industrial espionage.

continued by trumpeter Robert "Bill" the mood of the concert featured everything from the pop style of John Cooper, to the jazz-oriented improvisation of Miller. Grassel said he was exhausted from constant talking.

When the jazz band, Grassel was the dominant player, showing he is most comfortable with rock-fusion jazz in "What on Earth," and "One Man Band." Grassel performed an inspired solo guitar version of Thelonious Monk's "Blues in Midtown," bringing a quiet end to an evening of many jazz sounds.

Guitarist Jack Grassel says he doesn't listen to other guitarists and isn't influenced by jazz guitar legends, such as Wes Montgomery or John McLaughlin. "I could play just like Wes Montgomery and people would say, 'Jack, you sound like Wes Montgomery,'" Grassel said. "I threw away all my guitar records. I go out of my way not to listen to other guitar players. Now I sound like me."

The Milwaukee-based guitarist was in Carbondale Saturday as guest artist at the Fifth Annual SIU-Jazz Festival. Grassel lists saxophonist Eric Dolphy as his main influence. "I say like someone, I'd say I sound like Dolphy," Grassel said. "I just try to do more on his guitar than what traditional it is done on the instrument." "Most of the great innovators, like (saxophonist) John Coltrane, try to transcend what can be done on their instruments," he said. "I spent many years running into the ground by saxophone players, but now I've got my technique down and I'm thoroughly enjoying reeking vengeance on sax players," he said. "I don't mean to call myself a great innovator. I don't know what I am," he said. However, in concert Grassel showed he is an innovator, even if he won't admit it.

Grassel was an associate of SIU-C bass teacher Harold Miller when Miller taught at the Wisconsin Conservatory of Music in Milwaukee. "Harold and I played countless gigs together" during the 1970s, Grassel said. On Saturday, Grassel played some of those gigs, performing with Miller in the faculty jazz group, the New Arts Jazz Quintet, in an evening concert at Shryock Auditorium, and later at Pinch Penny Pub with the Carbondale jazz quartet Mercy.

After giving a three-hour jazz improvisation clinic Saturday afternoon, Grassel said he was exhausted from constantly talking. However, at the concert his inspired performance showed no sign of fatigue. He was well received by a sparse, yet appreciative Shryock audience.

The concert focused on the variety in the SIU-J jazz studies program. From the contemporary improvisation of the New Arts Jazz Quintet to the pop style of the Vocal Jazz Ensemble singing "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," the concert featured everything the program has to offer.

Grassel was featured with the faculty group in "Song for Bill," a slow, contemplative tune that Grassel composed. He also performed three songs with the SIU-J Jazz Band and took the stage alone for a few songs. Arranged by Miller, "Song for Bill" shows an example of "being run into the ground by a saxophonist." On alto sax, woodwind instructor Eric Mandat screeched and snorted until it got his way, working the mood of a tune piece into a quick frenzy.

The quick tempo was continued by trumpeter Robert Allision, who inserted baroque-style sounds into his solo. Miller eventually slowed the tempo during his solo.

With the jazz band, Grassel was the dominant player, showing he is most comfortable with rock fusion jazz in "What on Earth," and "One Man Band." The jazz band, with its big brassy sound, provided backing for Grassel. "What on Earth" was the highlight of the jazz band portion of the concert, featuring Grassel creating Hendrix-like guitar sounds.

The concert closed on a more solemn note, with Grassel performing an inspired solo guitar version of Thelonious Monk's "Blues in Midtown," bringing a quiet end to an evening of many jazz sounds.

Blues band to perform at local bar

By Richard Nunez
Entertainment Editor

Texas blues guitarist Will "Smoked" Logg will blast into Carbondale when he and his band, The Flamebrothers, perform as part of Tuesday night.

Inspired by another Texas blues guitarist, Freddy King, Logg became interested in playing the guitar. It wasn't until seeing King at a Dallas concert.

Logg has been compared to that of guitar greats T-Bone Walker, Jimmy Vaughan, Bucky Guy and King. Logg usually draws from the music of these guitarists as well as the music of Albert Collins, Muddy Waters, Junior Wells, Eimore James, King Curtis and Big Joe Turner during his performances.

Logg's guitar playing has been described as gritty, raw and explosive, and his voice has been described as husky and soulful. His band members include Blaine Wilson on drums, Haskell Tinkle on keyboards and Randy Joe Pullerton on bass.

Logg and his band recently recorded their first album "You Can Stay, But the Noise Must Go," that was designed for its range of blues styles, including both fast shuffles and boogie.

The Flamebrothers has opened for musicians such as Stevie Ray Vaughan, Albert Collins, Janis Joplin, Joe Ely and the Fabulous Thunderbirds. The band has played the Texas Blues Festival in 1987.

Carbondale, Marion, Mt. Vernon, Rax Only
Lady and Michele Davvidovitch started a one out rally with back-to-back singles to left field. Peterson pitched on an error by Northern pitcher Bath Schrader.

With bases loaded and pinch runner Kayla Boston at first for Peterson, freshman Kim Tummins got her second hit of the game, an RBI single which sent home LeMonnier.

"I've decided not to get frustrated," Tummins said. "Now I just get in the frame of mind to hit. I feel better now I'm making contact."

Two more runs came in on Mary Jo Firnbach's batted ball which was bobbled by the first baseman.

"We made non-senior mistakes," Northern Illinois coach Dee Abrahamson said. "Southerns kept putting the ball into play, which is what they had to do."

Firebach took second and Tummins raced to third, providing shortstop Therese Smugala with another area to display her hitting talents.

Smugala ripped Schrader's pitch to the left-centerfield fence. Tummins and Firnbach made it home safely for the tyning and winning runs.

"That was an excellent comeback," Brechelsdorfer said.

Peterson, the winning pitcher against Northern Illinois, struck out six to defeat De Paul.

Against Ball Stale, Saluki's pitcher Lisa Robinson got the loss in allowing two walks, seven hits and four runs in 3-2-3 innings. SUU-C had just five hits against the pitching tandem of winners Berene Coffman and Cathy Lewis.

Woman runner sets record in triple jump

By Stephanie Wood

Staff Writer

Christian Philippou set a school record in the triple jump with a jump of 40 feet, 1 inch at the Saluki Open in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The Saturday meet was moved to Southeast Missouri State's facilities because SUU-C's outdoor track at McAdrew is not complete.

Philippou's previous personal best was 40 feet during this year's Gateway Conference Indoor Championships. The jump was good for first place.

"We've certainly been expecting her to jump like that," Coach Dee Abrahamson said. "The key element is for her to continue to improve every week."

The national qualifying standard in the triple jump is 41-4, he said.

Philippou went 5-92 meters in the long jump to win that event. She was the team's only double winner.

Lisa Judson's finished second in the 5,000-meter run in 17 minutes, 56.8 seconds for second place.

Roseanne Vincent ran the 800-meter in 2:10.3 to finish second.

Felecia Veal finished second in the 400-meter hurdles in 1:04.34 and third in the 100-hurdles in 14.07.

Michelle Sciano placed third in the 400-hurdles in 1:06.81.

Kathy Raske, who was redshirted by DeNoon this outdoor season, ran unattached and placed second in the 100-meter hurdles in 14.01. She paid an entry fee to run.

"I thought we ran well," DeNoon said. "We didn't see any letdowns from the athletes."

Salukis split doubleheaders

By Dave Miller

A great pitching performance by St. Francis and squandered scoring opportunities for the Salukis gave St. Francis a split in the four-game weekend series at Abe Martin Field.

After beating St. Francis twice on Saturday, the Salukis lost 4-0 and 7-4 in Sunday's doubleheader.

"I really didn't think we came to the ballgame aggressive enough to win two games," Coach Hoppy Jones said.

In the first game, St. Francis pitcher Steve Parrie (2-2) shut out the Salukis for the first time this season. He allowed three hits without issuing a walk. Shane Gooden (0-1) received the loss.

In game two, the Salukis blew a 6-2 lead after four innings. St. Francis right fielder Dave Cronin hit a two-run homer off starter Lee Meyer in the fifth. In the sixth, St. Francis took the lead with three runs off losing pitcher Dale Kisten (2-2). The tying and go-ahead runs were unearned as pitcher Dave Wrona committed two errors on the same play.

In the bottom of the seventh, the Salukis had a man on second with one out but failed to score. Wrona crushed a line drive to the shortstop with the tying run on third base to end the game. The Salukis left seven men on base in the game.

Saluki Chuck Verschoore extended his hitting streak to 19 games with an infield single in the fourth inning.

On Saturday, the Salukis won 2-1 and 8-6. In the first game, Rich "Soup" Campbell (2-0) earned the victory by pitching a two-hitter. Joe Hall bunted home Chuck Verschoore on a suicide-squeeze play for the game-winning RBI in the ninth.

In game two, Cliff McIntosh (2-0) picked up the win with Larry Beattie getting his second save. Hall's two-run homer in the sixth was the difference.

On Friday, the Salukis beat St. Mary's, 19-0 and 21-1. Three-run homers by Chuck Locher and Rick Damico gave Tim Hollman (1-0) the win. The Salukis are 12-6.

Men's track team wins Saluki Open

By Stephanie Wood

The men's track team won its first outdoor meet of the season at the Saluki Open in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Saturday's meet was moved to Cape Girardeau because SIU-C's new track facility at McAndrew is not complete.

SIU-C scored the tie-breaking points followed by Ball State with 57, Illinois State with 40 and Southeast Missouri State with 39.

"I knew it was four pretty good balanced teams and anyone could win," Coach Bill Cornwell said. "We seemed to be a little better prepared." The Saluki pole vaulters led the way placing first, second, and fourth in the event. Shane Weber won with a vault of 16 feet, 6 inches, followed by MikeMichels in second at 16-0 and Derek Fails in fourth at 15-6.

For the NCAA outdoor championships in the discus, won the event with a throw of 179 feet. Harrer threw the javelin 300-4 to capture first. He placed second in the hammer throw with a throw of 181-0 and fourth in the shot put with 51-14.

Eric Bombell placed second in the shot put with 32-7, third in the discus at 198-8, fourth in the hammer with 152-2 and fourth in the javelin with 165-9.

Leonard Vance won the triple jump with a jump of 49-5/4 and Modzha Crawford placed fourth with 47-7.

Salukis put away DePaul in 15-0 victory

By Troy Taylor

As early Saturday evening shadows reached across IAW Field and covered the outfield, SIU-C pitcher Traci Furlow knew it was time to knock out Priebe's freshman right-hander making her first collegiate start, forced the last two Western Michigan batters to line out as the Salukis edged the Broncos 4-3 in the final round of the Saluki Invitational.

The Salukis, 11-5 overall, went 3-1 on the weekend, winning all four of its games. This was the second time Furlow was named to the tourney opener against Northern Illinois. She's got to nine rebounds and seven assists. And Scooter Barry, who hit five of six shots from the field, scored 18 points.

Manning still led Kanas with 20 points on 10 of 18 shooting and seven assists. Again, Barry, who picked up six of seven field goals, led Kansas to victory.

Manning proved they could hold their own against the Jayhawks' spectacular 38-point performance Manning delivered Friday against Vanderbilt.
