$4 Million Housing Bid Slated Here

The biggest group of contractors ever to bid on a construction project at SIU are expected to come Tuesday when proposals will be received for the $4 million housing development.

According to the University architect's office, 32 firms have submitted specifications for the project which will house at least 350 moderate-income families, most of them graduate students. The bid opening will be in the Anthony Hall office of the SIU Foundation, a non-profit organization created to serve the University.

John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs, said the firms will then be "closely observing" the project. SIU is the first university to take advantage of new Federal Housing Administration regulations permitting colleges to get FHA financing for student and staff housing. The $4 million loan has been allocated by FHA.

Prospective bidders include home builders, real estate firms and major construction companies. Most will be from Illinois, the architect's office said, but specifications also have been requested by firms in Alabama, Missouri and Ohio. Some are private investment firms who would then hire a builder.

In terms of a university campus construction, the project is unique because the contractors won't be bidding on a complete architectural plan already drawn up. The University has sent them only basic requirements demanded by FHA and the job. The bidders will submit their own design plans in package. They must also make sure the plans comply with SIU official's, the successful bidder will be the one who can "give us the most for our $4 million in quality and quantity."

Since FHA requires a mortgage on the 40-year loan and the University can't mortgage state property, the SIU Foundation will be the one to issue the mortgage. It will borrow the $4 million, pay the builder and then lease the completed buildings to the University.

The project is slotted to the foundation a 39-acre plot for the housing project. It is located southwest of the campus near the Carbondale city reservoir.

Centanni Named To Senate Post

Ronald P. Centanni was appointed to the newly created post of City Relations Commissioner at the Carbondale campus to take effect Thursday.

The Senate passed a bill directing George J. Paluch, student body president, to appoint the commissioner, bill submitted by Paluch named Centanni as the representative.

City officials recently cited a lack of communication between the chief sources of student city misunderstandings.

Centanni will act as liaison between the Carbondale City Council and the Carbondale campus Senate.

Centanni will act as the official voice of the Senate. He will also have the power to appoint assistants, subjects to the approval of Paluch.

Cabs Useless; How About SIU Bus?

Private industry, many you might think, could not provide an adequate means for transmitting written communications between the cities of this country. The government is also a means to fill this gap.

Other gaps have since been filled in areas of emergency insurance, health insurance, and public utilities. If local private business has shown an inability, incompetence or unwillingness to fill this gap, perhaps you, the reader, can find the answer. May I suggest that the public service is a public utility.

The Chicago cab companies in coping with traffic have been found to be barely adequate. In San Diego, nearly everyone who is forced to stand in line for any reason is practically amazed to see a Carbondale policeman directing traffic during sporting events. But they are bottlenecks at peak periods. If not enough police are available, perhaps hiring temporary police would be less costly than any more loss of human life.

Fred Beyer

Let's Use Policemen to Best Advantage

As a public service I would like to offer a few comments on Carbondale’s traffic situation. It is common knowledge that we have a very heavy volume of traffic and installation of traffic control devices have not kept pace with traffic. This situation is understood that insufficient funds and good intentions are the hindrances. Until these can be overcome, it would seem advantageous to establish certain stop measures be taken immediately to reduce traffic jams and accidents.

Since Illinois and Main Streets carry the heaviest volume, special attention should be directed to this area during these peak periods: 7-9 A.M., 4-6 P.M. and before and after sporting events.

State and University police do an excellent job of directing traffic during sporting events, but I have yet to see a Carbondale policeman un-clogging downtown jams at these times. I observe one writing parking tickets on the side lines, while impatient motorists sit helplessly piling up behind him behind a stop sign during an afternoon rush hour.

Most cities assign policemen to direct traffic during these "rush hours." The four-way stop on S. Illinois work fine most times, but they are bottlenecks at peak periods. The university policeman assigned to the four-way stop at S. University and Grand does a wonderful job. It is regrettable that his fine work is undone by the traffic coming from the Grand and Illinois intersection.

I am sure that many first time visitors have wondered why one and sometimes two policemen stand on the curb at Illinois and Harwood Avenues, where there is a traffic light, and watch the autos back up and stand in line for a face looked at them. The response: Paul, the student, or young policeman, has been facing a "rush hour." It isn't hard to do. It doesn't take more effort than pulling and stretching a few facial muscles.

Hear Today, Gong Tomorrow, Young Man

As a former student at SIU, I have read with great interest the many letters referring to the Viet Nam question. I was particularly interested in the letter to the editor published in the Daily Egyptian of November 9, 1965.

In your letter you mentioned that you had been reading a school newspaper and I, through my work in radio broadcasting, do my best to control for you should say, "Stop talking." I could not agree with you; I was very happy to see that you had written a letter. Paul's letter, written in the Nov. 5, 1965, brought to the attention of the many students of the Vietnam situation, the fact that we have support from our NATO friends and that our strategy is working out very well in Viet Nam. I find that we have support from such NATO countries as Australia, New Zealand, and the United States. The more you read, the better you will be able to understand the situation. I hope that our men in such places as Viet Nam can keep this country safe. If we fail in Southeast Asia, or in any part of the world, the "brass gongs" won't be able to bang away in their empty-headedness.

The Cards Stand for People!

The first day I was on campus, and my own, the people in advisement and sections were just plain bent on pulling all the task. New students are scared stiff, even if they don't show it and won't admit it.

While getting an appointment for advisement, for instance, I was stumped when, after standing in line for fifteen minutes and arriving at the desk, I was greeted with "May I help you?" Of course she could!

Recently I went to the Registrar's office to report for advisement. The, receptionist, thus far the only student or young staff member with a seminar, pointed out the way. After ending up at the "end of the hall" a face looked at me, to which I almost said, "May I help you?" I told her I had just registered with my selective service board. The response was, "What can I do for you?" I'd had my body left, I had "Cry me a river," I had cried me a river.

All that is needed is a smile, a happy face of the students, and their group. All that is needed is a smile, a happy face of the students, and their group. We have so that you and others are not just another card that has to be turned over and put back. Each person, yes all 20,000 of us, should be made to feel his problem or task is the most important of the day, that he is welcome, and that his needs will be met. It isn't hard to do. It doesn't take more effort than pulling and stretching a few facial muscles.

Survey Shows Wide Agreement

Townspeople Appreciate Students

By R.C. Cox
Second of a Series

SIU students interviewed for this series had nothing good to say about Carbondale, when asked for their opinions of the community. "Townspeople's attitudes toward the students, however, are just the opposite. By nearly unanimous agreement, SIU students --90 per cent of them at least -- are appreciated and respected by residents of Carbondale.

A city official says most students are considerate. One of the city's prominent lawyers says problems with students are exaggerated, and a local merchant says, "It is not the student merchants love...''

Whatever the reason, the opinion is the same. Not one of the dozen residents had anything bad to say about the student body as a whole. Perhaps the most critical was Commissioner Frank Kirk, a member of the Carbondale City Council and assistant to President Deloy W. Morris.

"I think student views are often unreasonable because there is very little attempt to understand the problems of the community, and they don't bother to understand the problems to fall back on," he said. On the other hand, Kirk noted, "Carbondale is not large, don't give much consideration to the student point of view. Many students are considerate, but many of them are not."

Other townspeople were glowing in their descriptions of the students. More than one referred to all students as "loving students."

"I don't think you know of no merchants but that are very tickled with student business," I am, and I find no problems with students," said Frank Bleyer, owner of Bleyer's Department Store.

"The highest percentage of merchants are highly complimentary of the students. There are a few troublemakers, but it would be ridiculous to blame the whole student body," commended V.A. Beadle, president of the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce.

"We feel students have done an awful lot for us in this town. And we think an awful lot of them," said Ray Flower, manager of the Kroger store. "The merchants at Murdade Shopping Center have had good relationships with students as customers and employees.

"We need students real bad. I'd have rocks in my head if I didn't appreciate student business," We love students," said Don Smith, owner of the Hill Franklin store.

The view held by most merchants was expressed by John Fozard, owner of Hewitt Drugs: "We don't have a bit of trouble with 99.9 per cent of the students. Problems with the remaining one-tenth per cent usually stem from two sources, according to two merchants.

"The only trouble we have," said Ed James, manager of Yellow Cab, "is with the few people from the city who try to tell us how to run our business.

"The low problems we have with students," according to Jack Smith, manager of Recht's, "are due to personal attitudes of some of them." Wiburn Lawrence of Lawrence Drugs explained one situation often complained about by students, that of check-cashing.

"I don't cash checks except for the amount of purchase," he said, "because I don't keep enough money on hand. It's just business."

Other merchants explained that another check-cashing problem is that many students want to cash checks on their way out of stores. It simply isn't worth the risk of having to chase them down, they said.

Douglas Heath of Cherry Realty Co, Inc., said, "We get along splendidly with students."

"We have no financial connections with students, believes students are a bit beneficial to the community. "In general, I don't believe the community has any opinion against students."

Actions performed by townspeople seem to indicate that their desire to cooperate with students is not just talk. Merchants point out they try to cooperate with window dressing, special promotions and donations to various University groups. They also advertise in athletics programs and student publications.

Support of the athletic teams by merchants, by and largeship with students, is not just talk. Despite these efforts, students have been exploited by unscrupulous merchants and misinformed by residents.

Docility, Not Rebellion, Held Major Problem on Campuses

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Despite rebellions on many campuses, the majority of college students are passive, conformist and docile, a Stanford University professor maintains.

Prof. Joseph Katz, research director of Stanford's student development study, said, "The primary need still is to wake up students, not to constrain them."

Katz told the American Council on Education, convening here this week, that "the present college system is well designed to create docile citizens. ... The college has, in effect, of recent emphasis on higher academic performance, continued to be largely un intellectual."

Katz cited a recent large-scale survey of students at two universities.

"When we asked the students what they expected to be doing in 10 years from now," he said, "they often replied with a description of what they considered the middle-class lifestyle, that they considered the main goal. They thought it understandable, but at the same time expected that after some kind of little blue married, they would have to accept it as their lot."

"They rank highest their own individual careers and family future, and in that sequence, involvement in international, national or civic affairs and helping other people ranked astonishingly low, and there is little change from the freshman to the senior year."

Katz said the booming college enrollments

are due primarily to economic and social incentives, not intellectual ones.

"The popular image is that going to college provides access to a better job and to a higher income. College is perceived as a prestigious club in which one acquires friends, connections, a mate, and in which one may also have a good time. The minority of students view college as providing the opportunity for continuing to satisfy intellectual curiosity."

The Stanford professor said "the post-Sputnik raising of academic standards has primarily encouraged higher grade-getting capacities ... It has had small, and sometimes negative, effects on the cultivation of general intelligence and intellectuality."

Katz's study is one of several to come out of the rise at the University of California at Berkeley. Herman repeatedly has been blamed for the trend. But at a recent meeting of college presidents at Michigan State University, a number of speakers pointed out that negative attitudes.

"In the big ten, we already have six institutions with more than California's 2,500 students and we haven't any trouble," said President Fred Harrington of the University of Wisconsin.

Chancellor R.W. Fleming of the University of Wisconsin, which has 29,400 students on its Madison campus, said there has been a relative lack of unrest there because the university has a policy "which permits students a high degree of freedom both in governing themselves and in participating in extracurricular activities."
Jacobs to Attend Conference

Robert Jacobs, dean of the International Services Division, will take part in an English-American conference to be held at Dachley Park, England, to discuss Anglo-American cooperation in teaching the English language. The conference will meet at the University of Chicago, where Walter Johnson of the University of Illinois will be a member of the Midwest delegation.

The conference organizer, Robert Jacobs, dean of the American delegation, will take part in an International Conference on English-American cooperation in teaching the English language. The conference will meet at the University of Chicago, where Walter Johnson of the University of Illinois will be a member of the Midwest delegation.

Jacobs said that the resources of the native English-speaking countries will be used in the development of the English language. The conference will focus on the nations of India and Nigeria, which are now using English as a tool of communication to such an extent that their plans for national development require the language, he added.

Jacobs’s recent work in Nigeria and India influenced his position.

New Professor Joins Psychology Department

James P. O'Donnell, 31, has been named to the Department of Psychology as an assistant professor.

The new professor received a bachelor of science degree from John Carroll University in 1957 and a master of arts degree from Kent State University in 1961. He earned a Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh this year.

Before coming to SIU he was a research assistant at the University of Pittsburgh, a psychology intern at Syracuse Psychiatric Hospital, and a trainer at the Veterans Administration Mental Hygiene Clinic.

He is a member of the American Psychological Association and the Society of Sigma XI.

The Journal of Comparative and Physiological Psychology published his article, "Concurrent Learning Set Formation in Normal and Retarded Children."

He is married to the former Carol Ann Ackley and they have three children. His birthplace is Cleveland, Ohio.

Grant Is Renewed For Parasite Study

Tommy T. Dunagan, assistant professor of physiology, has received a renewal grant of $10,000 for the study of small intestinal parasites.

The investigation, called a study of carbohydrate transport in ascariidophora, involves parasites found in small intestines of both man and swine.

Dunagan said these parasites cause economic loss to livestock owners and such conditions as anemia in man.

The grant is from the National Institute of Health.

Dunagan holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas Agricultural and Mechanical University, and received his doctorate from Purdue University in 1960. He joined the SIU faculty in 1961.

Long Will Attend European Meeting

Howard R. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism, will attend an international conference in France the week of Nov. 22 on problems of journalism education.

The meeting, which will emphasize the need of continued training of members of the working press and training of journalists in under-developed countries, will be held at the University of Strasbourg's International Center for Higher Studies in Journalism.

Junior College Specialist Joins Education Staff

Ken A. Brunner, a specialist in junior college education, has joined the staff of the College of Education.

He will assist junior college districts in smoothing the way for graduates who will enroll in colleges and universities.

Brunner, professor of higher education, came to SIU from Washington, D.C., where he was with the U.S. Office of Education. At Southern he will initiate a program of preparing administrators and teachers for junior college posts.

While with the Office of Education, Brunner was author of a 134-page report on junior colleges made for the Missouri Commission on Higher Education.

The report, released in September, recommended a substantially increased emphasis on vocational training. He suggested employment surveys in all junior college areas and increased job placement assistance.

Born in Milwaukee, Brunner has his doctor of education degree from the University of Florida. He is a member of the honorary scholastic fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, and has written numerous articles for professional journals.

SIU Professors Book Being Used as Text

"A Flora of Southern Illinois" written by Robert H. Moelebroek, chairman of the Department of Botany, and John W. Voigt, professor of botany, is being used as a textbook in field botany at Murray State College in Murray, Ky.

The book, published by University Press in 1960, has been used at SIU as a text since publication.

We developed Picturephone service so you can see as well as talk when you call. And be seen, too. We introduced Tele-Lecture service (two-way amplified phone calls) to let you hear lecturers in distant locations. And so you could ask them questions no matter how far away they were.

Right now, many students can dial from their dormitories to a language lab. Soon a student will be able to dial into a computer thousands of miles away to get information for his courses.

Depending on the nature of the information, he might get his answer back audibly, printed on a teletypewriter, as a video image, or a facsimile print.

Some of these services are available now. Others are being tested.

For the next week or so, better get a move on.

Sixth Day of Fighting

Cavalrymen Continue Battle of Ia Drang

PLEIKU, Viet Nam (AP) - U.S. air cavalrymen remained toe-to-toe in battle with tough North Vietnamese troops early Friday in the sixth day of bitter fighting near the Cambodian border.

Communist mortar and small arms fire slapped into the three main American positions Thursday night and early Friday morning.

Bright flares lit the Ia Drang Valley throughout the night.

Bone-weary U.S. infantrymen, crouched in deep foxholes, fought off four attacks. The North Vietnamese attacked in plan to company strength.

U.S. casualties were described as very light in this latest action. This assessment by a U.S. 1st Cavalry spokes- man was in sharp contrast to the moderate to heavy casualties reported during the past five days.

There was no estimate of enemy dead in this latest action.

The battle scene in 210 mile north of Saigon in light jangled country six miles west of Cambodian. Far from the central highlands battlefield, Vietnamese government troops mounted drives against Viet Cong battle-troops that had staged major raids in two sectors—east Tan Hiep in the south and Hiep Duc in the north.

U.S. sources said a North Vietnamese detachment estimated as a platoon perhaps 11 men—opened up after dark on government of the Americans in the Ia Drang Valley with mortars and small automatic weapons. The Communists brushed lightly with Plei KU. a military headquarter, 35 miles north of the valley.

On the other hand, U.S. patrols said they counted at least 300 North Vietnamese dead on the battlefield. That boosted estimates of enemy killed from ground action and air strikes to about 1,200.

U.S. B52 bombers worked over Communist positions in the hills twice during the day. These were the fifth and sixth strikes by the high-flying, eight-engine jets of the cavalry operation.

Mansfield’s Senate Delegation Holds Discussion With Gromyko

MOSCOW (AP) - U.S. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko examined a lengthy talk Thursday, the Viet Nam problem, chief obstacle to improvement of relations between the United States and Russia.

Mansfield arrived in Moscow Wednesday to sound out Soviet leaders. With him at the Gromyko meeting were four other U.S. senators. They already have discussed Viet Nam with President Charles de Gaulle.

Mansfield and the Soviet government declined to make public details on the talks at the Foreign Ministry, which lasted 2 hours and 30 minutes. The senatorial group which will stay in Moscow two more days, is understood to be seeking a meeting with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Ike Still Improving, Monitor Disconnected

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) - Doctors disconnected the machine that has been keeping continuous tab on Dwight D. Eisenhower's damaged heart, they announced Thursday.

They said they will disclose Friday how and when the former president will be shifted to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

The 75-year-old five-star general will remain here at least until Saturday.

In advance of Heaton's arrival from Washington, Eisenhower's doctors said "findings this morning indicate that the general's recovery is progressing well, without any complications."

Soviet Gains in Missile Might During Past 12 Months Reported

LONDON (AP)— The Institute of Strategic Studies said Friday the Soviet Union now has strategic nuclear missiles with far greater killing power than anything in the United States arsenal.

The institute also said, in its annual review of world military power, that the Russians reduced the American lead in numbers of strategic missiles by 25 per cent during 1965.

U of I Blood Drive Hits 2,000 Pints

URBANA (AP)— The University of Illinois blood campaign for American servicemen in Viet Nam draws its 2,000th pint Thursday as the three-day drive ended, well surpassing the goal of 1,500 pints, a spokesman said.

Most of the blood will be processed for plasma fractions and made available to United States troops in Viet Nam.

The institute is a private international center for research on defense, world security and disarmament. It has an International council drawn from 13 countries, with research associates in Britain, Canada, West Germany, India and the United States.

The review, published today, suggested the Warsaw Pact powers are paying a lot less money for their military power than the Western alliance nations.

The institute said the Russians now have an intercontinental ballistic missile with an estimated warhead power of more than 30 megatons. A megaton is equal to the explosive force of one million tons of TNT.

The institute stated categorically that "there has been no marked improvement in Communist China’s strategic potential during the past year" despite its explosion of a second nuclear device.

Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace Dies

DANBURY, Conn. (AP)— Death took Henry Agard Wallace, 77, former New Deal Cabinet member, vice president, candidate for president and controversial crusader for "the more abundant life."

Memories of many strange political past came flooding back across the nation when the shy, gray-haired, rather mystic man died Thursday in Danbury Hospital, two hours after he was rushed there from his farm in South Salem, N.Y.

Doctors gave the cause of death as a stoppage of the breathing function due to a nerve-muscle ailment and hardening of body tissue.

A political maverick from the soil of Iowa, Wallace joined and quit three political parties in his lifetime—Republican, Democratic and Progressive.

White-hot criticism centered on him in 1948 when he was the Progressive party candidate for president. He was accused of being a captive of Communism. He denied he was a traitor of any sort and lived to see himself honored by Moscow as among "the enemies of mankind."

Shimer College Plans Expansion

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)— Shimer College announced Thursday it has purchased 10 acres of land with a donation from a former student, Rockwell & Co. executive, quadrupling the size of its campus.

F. J. Mullin, Shimer president, said the gift was made by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Shroyer of Lake Zurich, Ill., and I.A. Jolla, Calif. He did not disclose the amount of the gift.

Wallace got only 1,157,000 votes in 1948 and failed to carry a state. Harry S. Truman was elected.

In private life, Wallace was a skilled participant in the atomic revolution which, among other things, has added billions to the nation's crop values in the form of hybrid corn. He was among the developers of hybrid corn.

The institute said the Warsaw Pact nations, which have strategic nuclear missiles, are spending an estimated $147 billion on their arms program.

Sorority, Fraternity Combine
To Show Parents SIU Life
An SIU fraternity and sorority recently teamed up on an experiment to show parents what part of college life is like.

The members of Theta Xi and Sigma Sigma Sigma sought to answer for their parents such questions as "I wonder why my son joined a fraternity?" "Will she be happy in a sorority?" "Do they feed him enough?" "Does she get enough sleep?"

Circle K to Send Yule Wish to GIs
Circle K, a service organization for college men, plans to wish a Merry Christmas to Southern Illinois men serving in Viet Nam.
The project involves sending personalized Christmas cards to the servicemen. All people who have relatives and friends in Viet Nam are asked to send their Viet Nam addresses to Keith McGill, 116 Small Group Housing, SIU.

In addition, anyone in the Southern Illinois area interested in sending a card can mail his personalized card to McGill. Circle K members will then send the cards to those in Viet Nam whose addresses have been received from relatives.

Selecting the Parents Day weekend for their experiment, the two groups decided to take their parents on a typical college weekend - a bit glamorized, of course.
Both held open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday and then a buffet dinner was served to about 80 parents and 100 members of the two houses. Most of them attended the game and the parents joined the students in forming a cheering section.

Following the game there was a social hour at the Giant City Lodge at which both groups entertained with their fraternity and sorority songs, but it broke up in time to have the mothers and girls back to the Tri-Sig house at 1 a.m. so they wouldn't accumulate late hours.
The mothers from both houses were then treated to a serenade by the Theta Xi, who brought the fathers along for moral support. And later the Tri-Sigs had a candlelight pinning ceremony.
Sunday both houses held informal social hours before the parents returned home. A spokesman for both houses said the members considered the weekend a success when they heard a number of parents promising to get together again the weekend of the Theta Xi variety show in February.

To Be 'Out of It'
Is to Be 'Camp'

By Ed Rapetti

The semantics tell us that language is dynamic, ever-changing and, at many times, illegal. New words are continually being added and old, overused expressions dropped.

One of the newest words on the American scene is an old one that has taken on new meaning—camp. What is camp? A friend said it is just a new way to say "hip" or "in." Not true, friend.

To use an old expression, camp is something that is so old, the language is dynamic, ever-changing and, at many times, illegal. New words are continually being added and old, overused expressions dropped.

Organist to Play At Church Concert
An organ concert by Majorie Jackson Rasche, associate professor of Organists and former head of the organ department at Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, will be presented by the Southern Illinois Chapter of the guild today at the First Methodist Church in Carbondale.

Richard Rasche, her husband, is a new staff member in Morris Library. Mrs. Rasche has given concerts and recitals in various churches and institutions of this country. She spent one year in Belgium on a Fulbright grant.

The Southern Illinois chapter of the Organists Guild was organized under the leadership of the SIU Department of Music in 1937, according to Marianne Webb, associate professor of music and church dean. Membership is open to area organists, directors of choirs and ministers interested in church music, she said.

Mrs. Rasche has chosen organ compositions by Wagner, Van den Heuvel, Einojuhani Rautavaara, Franck, Walch, Mendelssohn and Faure.

String Becomes New Medium Of Expression for Sculptors

Sue Fuller, sculptor whose one-man show will be exhibited in the Mr. & Mrs. John Russell Mitchell Gallery Dec. 5-Jan. 14, has created a new art medium-string.

Stirring 20 years ago with soft-ground collages—printing or tissue to provide texture in metal plate etchings—she grew dissatisfied with their flatness, began stretching and finally changed their structure to the basic single thread.

After a few such compositions which she translated into metal, Sue Fuller, the sculptress whose one-man show will be exhibited in the Mr. & Mrs. John Russell Mitchell Gallery Dec. 5-Jan. 14, has created a new art medium—string.

Women's Gymnastic Team Opens Season
With Intrasquad Meet Tonight at Arena

It'll be Canadian against Canadian, American against American, and teammates against teammates when the SIU women's gymnastics team opens its season with the Kennedy Memorial intersquad meet scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight in the Arena.

In an effort to make this meet as close as possible, Coach Herb Vogel will split his Canadian duo of Gail Daley and Irene Haworth and his American trampoline duo of Judy Wills and Nancy Smith.

Miss Daley, who won the Canadian national women's gymnastics championship last spring for the fourth straight year, will represent the Blue team.

Miss Haworth, who finished second to Miss Daley last year and third the year before, will be on the Blue team. Miss Wills, the world trampoline champion, will be a member of the Blue team, while Miss Smith, third-place finisher, will be on the Black.

According to Vogel, Miss Wills will be at a disadvantage tonight because she has just recovered from an injury and is not yet at her best.

Completing the Blue team will be Donna Schaezner, the 1965 intercollegiate all-around and tumbling champion; Judy Dunham, the former Midwest all-around champion; Sherry Koskey; and freshman members Kristi Barkhamer, the Indiana state champion; and Lori West, the Florida state champion.

Kennedy Memorial awards will be given to the most outstanding woman or women gymnasts who brought "honor and distinction to the University through their performances nationally and internationally."

The captain for the 1965 team will be announced. Those nominated were Miss Daley, Miss Schaezner and Miss Haworth.
1965 Salukis to Take Field For Final Game Saturday

The 1965 version of the Salukis will take the field for the last time Saturday afternoon when they face Southwest Missouri in McAndrew Stadium.

As you go, it's been a bad one. The Salukis have lost eight of nine games, but Coach Don Shroyer still has a glimmer of optimism in Coach's one's past, offensive performance. Following one, the Bears have picked up 1,900 yards rushing and 946 yards passing.

Another possible reason for optimism is the return of senior and sophomore John Ferenc. The student from Parma, Ohio, caught nine of Hart's passes for 123 yards. He now has 43 receptions for 491 yards. But credit also must go to the offensive line, which provided protection that makes a good quarterback. Hart had better protection. Saturday than he has had mas much of the year.

Saturday's game is rated a toss-up by most observers. Southern has a much poorer mark than Southwest Missouri, which is 7-2 this year.
