Fee Hike Displeasing To Paluch

In a letter to President DelRoy W. Morris, George J. Paluch, student body president, expressed disappointment with the passage by the Campus Senate of a bill for an activity fee increase, and complained that the Athletics Department may become involved in illegal recruiting practices by having the increase.

Paluch said the majority of opinions expressed to him concerning the bill indicate that the students do not want the activity fee increase.

Paluch also said that third of the receipts from an increased activity fee be used to set up a fund for academic scholarships monies equivalent to the athletics grants.

The Athletics Department would like to expand their intercollegiate sports program to a "big-time" operation, with more national publicity, through the use of the increased activity fee increase.

The student body president also said that some students believe that if Southern were major sports, the Athletics Department may become involved in highly competitive recruiting battles that have sometimes degenerated into illegal practices.

Paluch said that he would not like to see Southern gain a bad reputation from such recruiting practices as when Bill Chamberlain went to the University of Kansas. Paluch also said that if the University Council recommended to the Board of Trustees that the fee be increased, students will be subsidizing seats in the Arena and McAndrew Stadium for the general public.

Fan Flips February Switch, Holds Losing Hand for Aces

One avid Saluki basketball fan has a problem.

When he went to the SIU game Wednesday night he realized he had purchased both the tickets for that game and his son had purchased for the SIU-Evansville game here Feb. 26.

In a confusion going into the stadium he produced a set of tickets, handed them to the ticket taker, accepted his stubs and made his way to his seat.

He became disillusioned that he had given the wrong set of tickets to the wrong ticket taker.

He plans to explain his plight to ticket officials here, hoping they will understand that it was just a natural mistake caused by all the excitement, and accept his stubs on Feb. 26.

SIIU FANS PULL WILD CARD ON ACES-Members of Tau Kappa Epsilon, a social fraternity at SIU, surprised Evansville fans Wednesday night when they paraded around Robert's Stadium with SIU banners. The banners, along with noisemakers, were supposedly based from the game. The Teks paraded, the SIU fans cheered and Evans­ ville lost.

Evansville Action Held Reciprocal

There were 1,056 reasons—Chambers and Evans-dollar denominations—to prevent SIU fans from videotaping the SIU-Southern basketball game Wednesday night.

Robert Hudson, athletics publicity director for Evans­ville College, told the Daily Egyptian Thursday that this is what happened.

Last year, when WTVM-TV Evansville won the bid to videotape the basketball game played in the SIU Arena, the station had to pay the SIU Athletics Department $1,056 for the television rights to the game.

This year, Hudson said, the Athletics Department of Evansville College felt that due to the circumstances, there would have to be a reciprocal agreement. That is, SIU would have to pay the same amount to tape the game in Evansville.

Hudson had announced earlier in the week that WTV­Y would videotape the game and replay it here at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday. However, late Tuesday, Hudson said the University of Southern Illinois and Evansville had a reciprocal agreement to used to set up a fund to support academic scholarships. When that most students do not want the reciprocal agreement to be expanded.

Gus Bode

Gus says it would have been more than fair to tape the Saluki-Evansville game in his TV set.
Drama Company Will Present Lincoln Play at State Park

An SIU drama company will again stage the play "Prologue to Glory," a story of young Abe Lincoln, at the Kealoa Hollow Theater in New Salem State Park this year. Collegiate players from across the country selected in participation in SIU's 1966 Lincolnland Drama Festival will present a month's run, July 25-Aug. 29, of the El P. Cooke play.

School children find the play particularly appealing, according to Archibald McLeod, chairman of the Department of Theater, who is presenting his fourth production of this drama at New Salem.

The Cooke play was first staged at the park, site of the reconstructed village of Lincoln's time, and in the SIU summer theater company in 1957 and 1958. It was reopened last summer in what is expected to be a permanent summer attraction there, McLeod said.

Twenty-four graduate and undergraduate students, accepted from applicants from colleges all over the country, will comprise the theater group, which will present daily performances at 8:30, each afternoon except Monday, and evening performances Friday and Saturday at 8 o'clock.

"We are facing a spiritual crisis," the Rt. Rev. Chandler W. Sterling told Freshman Convocation audiences Thursday.

"We are living," he said, "in an intermission between two great civilizations."

It is the same type of crisis that faced the apostles of the 1st century, he asserted. The church, however, is aware of the problems, he stated, and the clergy is doing its best to bring the teachings of the apostles back into basic church doctrine.

The Rev. Mr. Sterling, who is Episcopal bishop of Montana, is on campus as part of Religion-In-Life Week. He is best noted for "bringing the church's message out of the stained glass jungle."

Speaking of the population explosion and the subsequent knowledge explosion, Bishop Sterling said, "There are more people alive today than have lived throughout all of history, and we have learned more in the past 10 years than the sum total of what had been learned before that."

The bishop maintained that the problems presented by these explosions are being dealt with successfully in the church by "combining the doctrine of science with the doctrine of theology," thereby incorporating religion into everyday life.

Disapproving of those who might "go out and chase them into the church," the clergyman feels that the gospel should be explained so it can be easily understood. "If it can't be explained," he declared, "it has no place in the church."

Required Attendance

Not Fair to Speaker

SIU has been fortunate enough to attract several distinguished speakers this year. Often, they deliver their talks at night, supposedly to an audience that is there because they have an interest in the top of the speech.

The problem, however, is that the reality is often quite the opposite. Too many evening speeches do not operate the same as Freshman Convocations or other daytime talks. During those times everyone realizes that the purpose of the speech is to entertain; during the evening, the audience will have leave for the next class.

The trouble is that this practice is sometimes carried over in the evening. But one should not place all the blame on the students. University-wide the members of the audience who get up to leave are those who are attending because they are required to be. They seem to feel that if they attend psychology in the day and at night and should be allowed to make up their minds on important matters of the day.

College students are intelligent enough to react to at least their own needs.

Feelings Concerning Coach

To the editor:

My feelings on the actions taken towards the coaching staff of the Saluki football program are best summed up by Bill Schrader of the Evansville Courier & Press on Jan. 16, "Don Shroyer, who became the 12th football coach of the University of Southern Indiana football coach this week at the school's request, may find some consolation in the remarkable similarity between the current situation and the ex-Camp Breckenridge Job Corps center director James HUBLEY, who was fired in 1977.

"When the SIU administration made the bold move of cutting the school's football team, HUBLEY, who was hired in 1977, were taken to smooth over the matters of the day.

"The administration had a stranglehold on SIU's football program for years through an unattended Scholarship program, Now that Shroyer has played the role of a man who

Why Increase Athletics Fees?

To the editor:

Can somebody clarify the need and justification for the $4 student athletics assessment that you just sent everyone in the mail? What you are working low hours at low wages yet are willing to subsidize 130-150 of your fellow students? When I made the decision to participate in the field of their choice and not yours. The athletics department, which has a record of excellence in many areas, is the one that only way it can compete in all areas is to substantially beef up its budget.

But why is one department given the privilege of receiving the students for its benefit when all other departments in the university are in a dire state of seers of having the where-withal to attract the most promising talent?

Each of your specialized departmental fees could be strengthened with such as-seen-on-TV, but, in a direct way or another. It cannot be demonstrated that finding, training, teaching, physicists, musicians, mathe­matics, etc., affects the students' future so here because we have a winning football team. It can't have anything to do with bringing up the enrollment. Is your budget being measured, reasonably by having SIU always at the top in every athletic activity?

I did not believe the fee on the basis of comparing a future reality when first proposed, and now that is is apparently in operation, I do believe that I find it simply incomprehensible. What don't I understand?

Get Thanks

There is so much being said about our "problem generation," that one often overlook the many selfless deeds that our students do. Today's young men and women, An example of what can be done, at least in part, is the late Saturday night when a fire threatened an entire block on Mill Street. When the news that the dangerous endangered was that of the water tower.

Ingram was attempting to evacuate his home when, he says, nearly 400 students swarmed in around him and in less than 10 minutes removed every ounce of water from the tower, including the kitchen range and the engine itself.

On behalf of Ingram, the Daily Egyptian would like to express its appreciation to those students who braided the below freezing temperatures to provide what help they could.

China-Soviet Mud Traffic Gets Hotter

An Old Land Question Lies Beneath Slanders

By Copley News Service

HONG KONG—Today Moscow and Peking stand more remote than ever. The expanded Viet Nam war, which some experts warned would pull the Communist giants together, has in fact created a greater schism.

At the heart of the current Chinese-Russian dispute over Vietnam is the question of doing the most to aid President Ho Chi Minh’s North Vietnamese regime, and subsequently the Viet Cong. The form the dispute has taken is name-calling, slander and rumor mongering. Ever since the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam mushroomed last spring, Moscow and Peking have been at each other’s throats.

The Russians appear to have started it all, or at least it can be pointed out that the first allegations that the Chinese were obstructing Soviet shipments to Hanoi emanated from Western correspondents in Moscow. Similar reports followed from the Eastern European capitals.

Among other things, the Soviet Union has accused the Chinese of creating difficulties in the transit of supplies across China, of exerting heavy duties on the movement of war material and of demanding U.S. dollars in payment of the duty instead of Russian rubles.

The Chinese reply: All slanderous lies!

“We have not charged the Soviet Union a single kopeck; let alone U.S. dollars,” asserted the People’s Daily recently.

Furthermore, Peking responds, a great part of the Soviet military equipment supplied to Viet Nam consists of obsolete equipment discarded by the Soviet armed forces or damaged weapons cleared out of warehouses.

“Both in quantity of quality,” Peking says, “they (the Soviet weapons) not only are far from the highest quality, but are beyond the strength of the Soviet Union but also far, far inferior to the aid the Soviet Union has given to the Indian reactionaries.”

Someone, obviously, is lying. But the crux of the issue is not who is lying but why the two countries are so bitterly attacking each other.

The answer appears to lie in the essential issues of the longstanding Sino-Soviet quarrel, in the prospects for international Communism in the years ahead and in the recent losses China has suffered internationally.

Added to this latent dispute is a factor often overlooked—the deepening dispute between Communist China and the Soviet Union over their common border.

Intelligence reports gathered here indicate there have been a number of military clashes along the western sector of the China-Russia border.

Fresh reports of strafing along the border have caused some observers to predict the possibility of prolonged fighting similar to the Sino-Indian fighting of 1962 and 1965.

China claims her historical realm includes parts of three Soviet Asian republics, the provinces of Kazakhistan, Kirghiz and Tajikistan which China says Russified between 1944 and 1945.

Boundary differences have existed between China and Russia for a long time but no open protests were made by either side until last year.

During 1964 Communist China made several demands for the restitution by the Soviet Union of almost 600,000 square miles of land “grabbed” by Imperial Russia.

Red Chinese party boss Mao Tse-tung openly criticized Russias for its “territorial ambitions” in both Asia and Europe.

Former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev earlier had retorted to Chinese hints of its unhappiness with border affairs by saying, “Let us take Sikkim for example. Have the Chinese lived there from time immemorial?”

Khrushchev was attempting to demonstrate that the Chinese had taken much of the territory through imperialistic maneuvers of their own. Khrushchev’s ouster ended the Sino-Soviet polemics and border arguments while Peking was sizing up the new leaders. But it soon became apparent that the China-Russia border problem would remain no matter who the leaders were.

It would be too easy and too presumptuous to say that the Moscow-Peking bickering has done little more than lower the stature of both countries in other eyes. The conclusion does suggest itself rather strongly.

Honolulu’s Chinese Celebrate Their New Year

HONOLULU—Firecrackers are popping and a dragon is cavorting through the streets of Chinatown as the Chinese community prepares to welcome its new year, the Year of the Horse.

The new year, marked on the lunar calendar, is ushered in today.

Its arrival is being celebrated with the 17th annual Narcissus Festival sponsored by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce. The narcissus is the traditional Chinese good luck flower.

Like most other celebrations in the islands, the festival is geared for tourists. Among the most colorful events were two Nights in Chinatown last weekend, Firecrackers popped in profusion—to ward off the evil spirits. A sequined dragon, called the Lucky Lion by the Chinese, paraded through the streets, propelled by relays of Chinese athletes in sneakers who man the lion from below.

For those interested in Chinese culture, there was an elaborate Chinese Cultural Show featuring displays of ancient Chinese arts and culture in the Hilton Hawaiian Village Dome.

The Chinese—there are more than 40,000 on the island—comprise roughly 6 per cent of Hawaii’s population. In per capita income they are the wealthiest racial group in the state.

This was amply demonstrated at the glittering Coronation Ball held in the plush Monarch Room of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel where 18-year-old Lynanne Sue Jim Moo, daughter of a physician, was crowned queen of the Narcissus Festival. Miss Moo,velte cheongsams and white flowers, was a dime a dozen.

While the coming new year is being celebrated with gaiety by the Chinese, there is one ominous implication. In addition to being a year of the horse in the 12-year cycle of animals, it also will be a year of the fiery horse in a 60-year cycle.

According to ancient belief, persons born during the year inherit some of the characteristics of the animal which gives the year its name. Girls born during the year of the fiery horse by legend are so strong-willed they make men cower.

This superstition will cause a decline in the birth rate this year, according to some experts.

DEAN C. HORTON TALLEY

In Communications Building

After 19 Years, It's Talley-Home

C. Horton Talley, dean of the School of Communications, has finally found a home, Talley, who has changed offices five times during his 19 years as a member of Southern's faculty, recently moved into permanent quarters in the new Communications Building. After carrying out his duties in offices ranging from barracks to his most recent — a pink bedroom — Talley admitted that it was "quite a shock" to finally be settled.

But the fact that he has spent 19 years in barracks and renovated houses highlights the statement made by President Morris a few years ago that 75 percent of Southern's activities were carried on in temporary buildings," Talley said.

In speaking of the Communications Building which is partially completed, Talley said that the structure which was planned in 1958 is now too small to handle all of the departments of the school.

"We have grown so fast during the past few years, that we are having to double up in the offices," he continued.

The building now houses four of the six departments in the School of Communications. These include Speech, Speech Correction, Theater, and Radio and Television.

Phase Two of the building is not yet complete.

Talley, who came to Southern as chairman of the Department of Speech, O'Neill Play Parts Offered in Tryouts

Auditions for the production of Eugene O'Neill's drama, "Long Day's Journey Into Night," will be held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 25 and 27 in Room 214 of the Communications Building.

Sherwin Abrams, associate professor of theater, will direct the play, which will be presented in April.

"Long Day's Journey Into Night" won O'Neill his fourth Pulitzer Prize.

All students are eligible to try out for the play. Reading copies of the script are available in the reserve reading room of Morris Library.

Chinese New Year Festivities Planned

The Chinese Students Club has planned several activities to mark the Chinese New Year. According to Tommy Yau, club president, the events will be held on Saturdays although the New Year begins today.

Activities will include a basketball game with the Chinese Students Club of St. Louis University at 2 p.m. in University High School Gymnasium.

Credit Union Reports Increase Of Dividends by 49 Per Cent

Dividend payments made by the SIU Employees Credit Union increased during 1965 by 49 per cent, according to a year-end financial report issued by William C. Daniel, treasurer of the union. He said 1965 dividends totaled $16,749, compared to $11,273, in 1964. Payment of dividends semiannually also was started in 1965.

During the 12-month period ending Dec. 31, share deposits increased by 25 per cent and funds loaned to members increased by 20 per cent, McDaniel reported. Membership increased from 854 to 972.

The credit union’s total assets at year’s end amounted to $47,018, compared to $41,392 a year ago. Net earnings rose from $17,472 in 1964 to $20,008 in 1965.

Total member share accounts increased during the year from $367,894 to $458,077, while reserves and surplus funds rose from $15,285 to $24,505.

McDaniel, who became treasurer on a temporary basis after Mrs. Mary Cole resigned as treasurer and office manager in September, said the credit union’s growth was especially significant because service was curtailed for a time until Carlton Skick was named new office manager in October.

McDaniel said the credit union’s annual meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Mississippi River Room of University Center.

McNamara Asks $12.7 Defense Spending Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara asked Congress for another $12.7 billion in spending authority Thursday and said some of it may be used for a "massive application of firepower" in Viet Nam.

The defense chief said the extra money backing is needed between now and June 30 for beefing up U.S. activity in the Viet Nam war and augmenting military strength elsewhere.

"We have assumed, for budgeting purposes, that combat operations will continue through the end of June 1967," he said.

In the public version of a statement he presented at a closed Senate committee session on the supplemental money request, McNamara included these points:

1. Creation of another Marine division as part of the general 112,843-man increase in strength for all of the four services.

2. A boost in buying of ammunition to provide "a massive application of firepower to enhance the effectiveness of our forces and reduce casualties."

3. Preparation for deploying "even more forces if the Communists choose to expand their activity in the Viet Nam," beyond the 190,000 already in Viet Nam.

In the next, McNamara gave no specifics on how or when fighting might intensify in Viet Nam.

But after a morning session of the Senate Armed Services Committee and an appropriation subcommittee, Sen. Ernest Gruening of Alaska, ranking Democrat on the committee, said McNamara "implied that it would not be too long before fighting resumed if the President's peace offensive fails."

McNamara, according to Senate sources, gave no dead-line for expiration of the lift which has stopped bombing of North Vietnamese targets.

Russell quoted Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as saying the United States can win the war in Viet Nam. This presumably referred to some senator's worry that the war could bog down in an inconclusive stalemate.

The buildup in the armed forces, as further revised by increase them this way for the current fiscal year ending next June 30,

The Pentagon asked for an increase of 122,843, up from last year's 112,843. Among factors that may have been considered was the fact that in the current year's $107 billion in additional funds for the departments of Defense, Navy, and Air Force by 4,225 to 85,359.

McNamara told Congress that when the Pentagon asked last August to bring strength in South Viet Nam up to a total of 190,000 he said the government should "be prepared to deploy still more forces if that should become necessary."

His public statement Thursday still didn't disclose the manpower plan for Viet Nam.

Radio Hanoi Campaign

Increase in Tempo of Violence Likely After Viet Holiday Lull

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Radio Hanoi joined in hopes that a more lasting peace might follow the military lull marked the advent Thursday of the Year of the Horse, successor to Ongtional reckoning to the Year of the Snake.

The Red station broadcast calls of both the Viet Cong and a Communist North Viet Nam spokesman for harder attacks.

"Let our whole people march forward to continually strike deadly blows at the U.S. aggressors, annihilate and disintegrate many puppet troops and win greater victories," said the lunar new year's message of the Viet Cong.

Ton Duc Thang of North Viet Nam, president of the Fatherland Front, urged "more and still greater successes to bring the national salvation war against U.S. imperialist aggression to early victory."

Cease-fire orders—after a ragged start—had brought a lull in the Viet Nam war, which the Vietnamese called Tet. It was sponsored by a 1964 pact to last until midnight Sunday.

The Viet Cong chalked up early violations, but have promised to wish the annual lull to last until midnight Sunday. That would round out four full days under the plan, launched half a day before the allied truce order went into effect at 12:01 a.m.

Nearly two hours after both sides were supposed to be securely under wraps, a Viet Cong company fired on men of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division west of Tuy Hoa, on the central coast 240 miles northeast of Saigon. The time was 12:30 p.m.

A U.S. military spokesman said the paratroopers, escaping injury, shot back and killed one of the guerrillas.

Cuban Exiles Plan Together

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Militant exile hands say a new phase is emerging in their resistance to U.S. forbidden lands to Cuba. This time, the radicals are being coordinated.

"If we can't unite, we'll split," said Frank Frey of the Cuban exile Representation (RECH), one of three groups participating in the last announced hit-and-run attack against Fidel Castro's island.

Representatives of rical anti-Castro organizations meet weekly in security chambers in the "New Havana" quarter of West Flagler Street.

"Our plan is not for an occasional attack," said Frey, "but for periodic action, one action after another."

NEW INDIAN LEADER CONGRATULATED—Mrs. Indira Gandhi, left, who will be sworn in Monday as India's prime minister, is congratulated in traditional Indian manner by unidentified Parliament member in New Delhi after she was chosen leader of the governing Congress Party. Mrs. Gandhi to Visit Johnson

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's new leader, Indira Gandhi, announced Thursday she has accepted an invitation from President Johnson to visit the United States. She could not say when she would make the trip.

Mrs. Gandhi's predecessor, the late Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, had been scheduled to visit the United States Feb. 1. He died Jan. 11 in Tashkent, Soviet central Asia.

President Johnson said he would be "delighted" if Mrs. Gandhi could make the visit Feb. 1, but acknowledged her preening duties might make this difficult.

To Strengthen Federal System

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson urged Congress Thursday to "nourish and strengthen our creative federal system" by amending the Constitution to double the two-year terms of House members.

Johnson, who won six House elections himself, said representatives have to start campaigning for the next election almost as soon as they take their seats in Congress.

"We have learned," said Johnson, "that brief and uncertain periods in office contribute to harassed inefficiency and the loss of invaluable experience."

He wants the lawmakers chosen for four-year terms, identical to those of future presidents, beginning, perhaps, in 1972.

For a potentially skeptical Congress, Johnson's proposal is shielded against election-day challenges from House members who do not first relinquish their seats.

A Texas Democrat said Johnson's measure might weaken the hand of future chief executives. Congressmen Jack Brooks said off-year elections tend to weaken the mandate given presidents by the voters.

But the Johnson plan drew potent opposition, too. Strongly against it is Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

First Known New World Atlas Acquired for Morris Library

A rare and historically significant world atlas printed in 1597 has been acquired for the Rare Books Room in Morris Library.

The atlas is the first issue of the first edition of "Descriptionis Ptolemaicarum Augmentum, Sive Occidentis Notitia," which is the earliest known atlas of the New World.

The most outstanding feature of the atlas is the maps showing North America and Mexico.

A number of rivers and other landmarks are not accurately placed on several of the maps. However, one famous American area—Cape Canaveral—is clearly marked on the map showing Florida and parts of the eastern seaboard.

One of the maps shows the Mississippi River, slightly misplaced, but does not show the Great Lakes. However, at the spot where Chicago is located, the map very clearly shows a fort and a settlement marked "Chiacka." Another map has the city located in the same spot and spelled "Chiga."

The map of Mexico, which was discovered in 1519, clearly shows Mexico City, Acapulco and Yucatan which were not settled until much later.

Within its original vellum bound cover, the 369-year-old atlas contains 96 pages including 16 detailed maps of North and Central America based on Spanish exploration between 1509 and 1519. It is written in Latin and was printed in Allemagne.

Ralph W. Bushee, rare books librarian, said the atlas was acquired through Helmut Lehman—Haupt, rare book representative for the H. P. Kraus Co. It is kept in the vault under the supervision of Bushee.

Nepalese Forester Tours SIU Area

Reorganization Announced

Paul Isbell to Head Services Division

A reorganization of SIU operations to conform with the all-University concept has divided the fiscal and service operations into divisions of the business affairs organization.

The announcement of the changes by John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs, called for the following changes to conform with the revisions of the SIU by-laws and statutes.

Paul W. Isbell, who has been business affairs director for the Carbondale campus, is now all-University director of the Services Division.

Offices under Isbell's jurisdiction in Carbondale include: Campus architectural office under Willard Hart; University Center under Clarence Dougherty; physical plant under Anthony W. Blais; auxiliary enterprises under Carlson F. Ranche; personnel under Gene C. Turner; Security Office under Thomas L. Loffler; civil defense under A. Frank Bridgesc and safety under Oliver L. The former auxiliary service director, Bill D. Hughes, will be assistant to Isbell. Similar offices in Edwardsville will be under James P. McNell.

The all-University director of the fiscal affairs is C. E. Poolehus, formerly business affairs director for the Edwardsville campus.

The following offices are under Poolehus' supervision:

Milk Price to Be Discussed At Annual Dairy Program

The question of how best to determine milk prices will head a program on dairying problems at SIU's 11th annual Dairy Day, Feb. 22, according to Howard H. Olson, dairy specialist in charge of arrangements.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. in Mullkroy Auditorium in the Agriculture Building.

Gary Hannan, general manager of Square Deal Milk Products, Highland, will discuss the pricing problems in a talk on "The New Look in Federal Milk Marketing Orders."

The morning program also will include a discussion on mechanized dairy calf feeding, by Frank Crane, research director for Land O'Lakes Creamery, Minneapolis, Minn.; and a progress report on SIU research with complete feeds for dairy cows by James B. Bent, graduate student from Hamburg, Ill., who is conducting the study.

Up-to-date information on better herd management by evaluating sire and by obtaining higher reproduction efficiency will highlight the afternoon program.

Morris Ewing of the Curtiss Breeding Service at Cary, Ill., will report on ways to evaluate the worth of sires used for the dairy herd.

Paul Isbell

Robert L. Gallegly, formerly SIU treasurer, is now the controller. He will be in charge of capital improvements funds for both campuses.

R. Dean Isbell, former Camp Breckinridge Job Corps business administrator, will be Gallegly's assistant in Carbondale.

Fiscal disbursements for research and projects office will be handled by Charles Bernardoel. Norman L. Wenden in SIU auditor. His assistant in Carbondale is William J. Surman.

State Hearing on Schools Set

An open meeting of the School Problems Committee, sponsored by the Illinois State Legislature, will be held at 10 a.m. today in Davis Auditorium in the Wham Education Building.

The meeting, held in conjunction with the College of Education, is open to anyone interested in current school problems in Illinois. Elmer J. Clark, dean of the College of Education, will preside, with members of the Legislature, officers of the committee, and a group appointed by the governor present.

Also participating will be the Council of 100, a group of community and school leaders throughout Southern Illinois, who are major supporters of SIU. Russell Rendleman is the executive officer of this group.

Some of the topics to be discussed at the hearing include the progress and problems of school district reorganization, and the need for further technical revision of the school laws.

Meade's Gymnasts Won't Pull
Punches From Memphis State

Gymnastics is relatively a new varsity sport at Memphis
State University, but the inexperienced Tigers won't be getting much pity from Coach Bill Meade's Saluki gymnasts.
The Tigers, now in their third year of gymnastics, will be running up against virtually the same lineup that was victorious over Big Eight champion Iowa State last weekend.

Meade's only major change will find Dick Tucker replacing Larry Landauer in the all-around.

"I could give some of my reserves some experience in this meet, but I don't think it would be fair to the boys who have earned a starting spot on the team," Meade said.

Mayer is expected to work

Freshmen Breeze
Past Junior Aces,
92-60 in Prelim

In a field of red, the "green"
Saluki freshman basketball squad rolled to an easy 92-60 victory in Evansville Wednesday night.

The stands were about half filled for the freshman game, and half filled at Roberts Stadium means about 6,000
scrambling fans.

SIU's Dick Garrett was the game's high scorer, using an outside shot and a jumping jump shot inside to gath-ner most of his 21 points for the evening.

Garrett was followed by Creston Whitaker in the scoring department, who had 15 points for the young Salukis.

Coach Jim Smelser felt that the first-half rebounding was bad, but SIU was still out in front 34-23, at the half's end.

Smelser said that even though SIU won, the squad was inconsistent, and did not play nearly as well as last week's loss to Bradley.

The freshman bench rebounder was Leon Brown, who dropped down a total of 15, even though he played very little in the first half.

In free throws, SIU had only 18 out of 26, which wasn't much worse than Evansville's 18 out of 32.

Southern returns to the Arena to play its first home game in nearly two weeks when it meets Tennessee State at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The Salukis haven’t played at home since Jan. 10, when they edged Kentucky Wesleyan 60-56. After that they started a three-game road series which began with losses to Arizona State and the University of Arizona.

But any games that may have arisen from the Salukis’ defeat in Arizona should have been erased by the hard-earned road win of Roberta Stadium in Evansville Wednesday night.

Hitting with better than average accuracy and balanced scoring, the Salukis out-classed their old nemesis.

George McNeil was the leading scorer in the game with 20 points. The performance upped the season guard’s season total to 210, He has made 75 of 133 field goal attempts and 60 of 79 free throws. The free throw total is down considerably from last year when he hit 115 of 130.

Little Dave Lee is next in scoring with 15.2. The McCranis’ senior has hit 16 of 21 free throws and 68 of 149 tries from the field.

Boyd O’Neal, the team’s third leading scorer, tops in rebounding with 114. He grabbed 11 off the boards against Evansville. The 6-6 senior has hit 47 of 99 from the field and 34 of 47 from the line for a total of 128 points.

Clarence Smith moved up into the fourth-bestscorer slot ahead of Randy Goin with a 16-point performance against the Aces. “Big G” has scored 121 points and pulled 66 rebounds. Goin is also above the century mark in scoring with Aces Set $1,056 As Telecast Fee.

colleug felt it was necessary to charge WSIU to protect its local station, Hudson said. Director B. R. Roof, director of the SIU Broadcasting Service, was asked if it was true that WSIU-TV had been asked to pay to tape the game.

Rothstein said, “It is not literally true.” Unless all the facts are given careful consideration, the problem becomes cloudy, he said.

“Unfortunately, I may,” he said, “I thought up until 3:30 yesterday (Wednesday) that we would videotape the game and fly it back for broadcast at 10:30.”

“This is the only statement I can make at this time,” he said.

Donald N. Boydston, SIU director of athletics, could not be reached for further comment on the situation.

Hudson said, concerning the incident, “There are no hard feelings. We enjoy a good relationship with Southern Illinois.”

Evansville, 79-65. Four of Southern’s five starters finished in the 15 to 20 point range, and the fifth got nine points.

It was the sweetest victory in many a day for most SIU fans, who remembered the three heartbreaking losses the Salukis suffered at the hands of the Aces last year. Those three games were decided by a total of five points but this year’s first game saw the Salukis outscore the Aces on their home floor by seven points in each half.

The Salukis hit with accuracy and balance from both the field and free-throw line. They made 20 of 29 field goal attempts and 15 of 19 free throws.

1st and You’re No. 1,” referring to the United Press International small college basketball poll released Thursday which ranked the Salukis and Evansville first and third, respectively.

The pep band then played “Go Southern Go!” and the singing drowned out the Evansville fans’ cheering.

At half time, the students staged a continuous rally. Smuggle-in banners proclaiming “We’re No. 1” and “Hang On, Salukis!” were paraded about the playing floor.

A cheerleader was carried through the stands on fans’ shoulders.

Not to be outdone, Evansville fans began waving white handkerchiefs at the Redbirds and called for them to give up.

As the Salukis built up a bigger lead and the Evansville fans started leaving, the S.I. students stood and waved goodbye to them.

With little over a minute remaining in the game, SIU fans started chanting “We’re No. 1,” again and stopped to cheer when the Salukis scored.

Just before the game ended, the S.I. group brought out one banner proclaiming “Southern Rampage Now!” That summed up the night’s excitement.
