6-27-1964

The Daily Egyptian, June 27, 1964

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_June1964

Volume 45, Issue 170

Recommended Citation

Spencer Parolee Held In Rape Case

A 24-year-old parolee from Tennessee is being held in Jackson County jail in connection with the rape of a SIU coed.

A spokesman for the Jackson County State's Attorney's office said the man, Dallas Chaney of Murphysboro, is charged with rape.

Chaney, in a statement, said he held the woman's companion while two other men raped the girl. He gave the official the names of the two men.

The spokesman said one of the men named is in the northern part of the state, and the other in a neighboring state at this time. However, they reportedly live in Murphysboro.

Efforts are being made to have the pair arrested and returned to Jackson County, the spokesman said.

Chaney, who served time in Tennessee State Penitentiary for armed robbery, was arrested Thursday night. He is under bond pending a Jackson County Circuit Court trial on an armed robbery charge. He was indicted earlier this year for robbery of a Martin Oil Station on West Main Street in Carbondale.

The coed, 20 years old, and her companion reported the rape to a coed foreman. The attack took place soon after midnight on a rural road north of Murphysboro. Chaney is under bond pending a Jackson County trial.

Grinnell Cited By Menard

The convicts and Warden Ross V. Randolph of the Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard have cited John E. Grinnell, retiring SIU vice president for operations, for service.

A gift accompanied the citation at Thursday's commencement exercises at the penitentiary.

Grinnell, who had been invited to return to the campus, said the award came as a surprise to him.

"I don't like to think the award was for something I have not done. It is something I have not wanted to do. It was given to me because I am retiring." the vice president said he had no intention of leaving the campus which allowed convicts to study.

1,242 on Dean's Lists

237 Undergraduates Made Straight A's During Term

The Registrar's Office has announced that 237 students scored perfect five-point grade averages during the spring quarter. An average of five points in the equivalent of straight "A's".

They were among the 1,242 students on the Carbondale Campus who made the Dean's Lists for high academic achievement during the term.

The Dean's Lists include only undergraduate students who compiled grade averages of 4.25 points or better while taking a normal load—at least 12 hours—of class work.

The students cited for high academic achievement comprised 10 percent of the total Carbondale campus enrollment during the term.

Surprisingly, the number of students who achieved academic excellence increased during the spring quarter, as the number who made the list for this quarter was only 1,162.

Rights Group on SIU Campus Holds Vigil to Arouse Opinion

The Student Nonviolent Freedom Committee Friday began a daily two-hour vigil—11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.—at Old Main Gate to focus the attention of the community on the racial problems in Mississippi.

The committee urged the campus community to join the "flyer" or wire your congressmen, your senator, the President and the Department of Justice, requesting immediate federal intervention to ensure the safety of the people connected with "The Summer Freedom Project in the State of Mississippi."

The SNFC action followed the disappearance in Mississippi of three civil rights workers.

The SNFC cited "a wave of violence that has terrorized Mississippi" and "threatens to engulf several hundred student workers—among them six from SIU.

Students from SIU are among an expected 1,500 students going to Mississippi to work on voter registration and to staff freedom schools.

"The Mississippi these activities are considered crimes," the SNFC flyer said. "Only immediate and effective action by the federal government can insure the safety of these students and the thousands of Mississippi citizens who seek only to exercise the rights they take for granted."

DAILY EGYPTIAN
SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

350 High School Pupils to Join SIU Workshops This Summer

Programs Slated in Science, Music and Communications

About 350 high school students from many states are, or will be, on the SIU campuses this summer.

Fifty-five students from about 25 states are enrolled in the National Science Foundation summer science training program.

This is the seventh consecutive year for it at SIU, according to Howard J. Stains, associate professor of zoology, who is in charge of the program.

It includes work in organic chemistry, psychology, engineering, mathematics, physics, physiology and taxonomy. Six SIU instructors are participating in the program, which involves two morning lectures of two hours each, SIU Will Conduct Housing Conference

A conference designed to create a better understanding between professionals in the fields of code enforcement and public housing will be conducted by SIU at Pare Marquette State Park in Grafton July 19-22.

The conference will be led by the Community Development Service and the industrial and technical programs of SIU, in cooperation with the Illinois State Housing Board and the Building Officials Conference of America.

"The conference presents an opportunity for the professionals to create better understanding of their mutual roles in community development," said Robert Knittel, director of SIU Community Development Service.

Spencer Parratt, professor of political science at Southern Illinois University, will keynote the four-day conference, "Government Influences on the Community."

The object will be to give you the opportunity to learn about the work they might be doing at college.

Gus Bode

Gus says he thinks the students should vote to pay personal property taxes so the the past eight or nine years. SIU campus politicians can louse up the city government, too.
Art of Letter Writing Still Lives On,
Love, Wit, Thoughts Sparkle in Lines

By Leonor Wall
Letter writing is a fine art. It takes the skill of a craftsman to weave a tale of humor, news and love throughout its pages. It is an ancient art practiced by the famous and the not so famous. Letters are written for many purposes: to ask for money, to seek a job, to convey news to friends and loved ones, to carry on business correspondence and to express our feelings of love. Letter writers can be seen at a desk or table, relaxing in bed, contemplating beneath a tree or, as with so many students, snatching a free moment between classes to hastily jot down their fleeting thoughts.

Letters are highly personal in nature. Perhaps for that reason people feel no qualms about unburdening their innermost thoughts for they know that it will only be read—hopefully so anyway—by the one to whom it is addressed. But, as in the case of the famous, the public at times is allowed to invade this curtain of privacy and to learn and to contemplate on the words and emotions of the authors.

Stepping into this private world, we come across the works of George Bernard Shaw. The love in Shaw's letters to Mrs. Tompkins is a love of wit as much as of woman.

"You look much better un­buttoned" was his straightforward suggestion to her in regard to reducing the amount of make-up she was wearing. On the subject of peta and women, Shaw once wrote "Beautiful women should never have dogs hanging around them. Try a parrot." In a scolding manner he penned "I discovered that you are really ugly. I cannot be certain of that before because you are as vain as a goldfinch, and make up your lips and tips, and throw yourself in the people of that state... in a scandalous manner."

Shaw once persuaded Mrs. Tompkins to remarry her hus­band (which she did) whom she had just divorced. Yet he wrote her, "I can still read and even write quite a bit, so correspondence is pos­sible, but not bodily visit or contact. The man you knew is dead."

Not all of us are as brazen as Shaw in our letter writing, but there is only one George Bernard Shaw. A young man in love talked of a great deal about his beloved; he thinks and writes a great deal about himself, as well, and Woodrow Wilson, our 28th president, was no exception.

Although Wilson's love let­ters were filled with ardo and passion, they also re­vealed a great deal about his character and showed that he is not a person who is ashamed of his body, juggled himself with some objectivity and specu­lated about himself judiciously.

There was no doubt in Wil­son's mind when he wrote to Eleanor Axson that of defe­tion I chose was political, the profession I entered was a fine craftman to weave a tale...

Wilson, like many students of today, was a school­boy who had no interest in scholarship and little confi­dence in his powers. He wrote: "I have no patience for the tedious toil of what is known as research. I have a policy for interpreting great thoughts to the world."

While at Johns Hopkins Uni­versity he wrote, "I want to be near the world. I want to know the world. I am afraid of being a mere student."

Wilson had great ability to concentrate, to avoid the lure of pleasure or of the esthetic. He "is so much averse to scattering my forces that I possibly limit them too narrowly of a field."

Such a policy was proved by his only comment upon his reaction to an exhibition of letter drawings. They "suggest nothing... they are the signatures of a rather­skelered lines and irresponsible patches of the law..."

"Oh, how I adore you! I am perfectly sure that you are the greatest, the most wond­erful, most loving man who ever lived." Such a love has no woman for a man to whom she had been married for 28 years as had Ellen Wilson in her letter to Mrs. Tompkins.

"I am perfectly sure that you will never have dogs hanging around you. Try a parrot." Such a love has no woman for a man to whom she had been married for 28 years as had Ellen Wilson in her letter to Mrs. Tompkins.

"You look much better un­buttoned" was his straightforward suggestion to her in regard to reducing the amount of make-up she was wearing. On the subject of peta and women, Shaw once wrote "Beautiful women should never have dogs hanging around them. Try a parrot." In a scolding manner he penned "I discovered that you are really ugly. I cannot be certain of that before because you are as vain as a goldfinch, and make up your lips and tips, and throw yourself in the people of that state... in a scandalous manner."

Shaw once persuaded Mrs. Tompkins to remarry her hus­band (which she did) whom she had just divorced. Yet he wrote her, "I can still read and even write quite a bit, so correspondence is pos­sible, but not bodily visit or contact. The man you knew is dead."

Not all of us are as brazen as Shaw in our letter writing, but there is only one George Bernard Shaw. A young man in love talked of a great deal about his beloved; he thinks and writes a great deal about himself, as well, and Woodrow Wilson, our 28th president, was no exception.

Although Wilson's love let­ters were filled with ardo and passion, they also re­vealed a great deal about his character and showed that he is not a person who is ashamed of his body, juggled himself with some objectivity and specu­lated about himself judiciously.

There was no doubt in Wil­son's mind when he wrote to Eleanor Axson that of defe­tion I chose was political, the profession I entered was a fine craftman to weave a tale...

Wilson, like many students of today, was a school­boy who had no interest in scholarship and little confi­dence in his powers. He wrote: "I have no patience for the tedious toil of what is known as research. I have a policy for interpreting great thoughts to the world."

While at Johns Hopkins Uni­versity he wrote, "I want to be near the world. I want to know the world. I am afraid of being a mere student."

Wilson had great ability to concentrate, to avoid the lure of pleasure or of the esthetic. He "is so much averse to scattering my forces that I possibly limit them too narrowly of a field."

Such a policy was proved by his only comment upon his reaction to an exhibition of letter drawings. They "suggest nothing... they are the signatures of a rather­skelered lines and irresponsible patches of the law..."

"Oh, how I adore you! I am perfectly sure that you are the greatest, the most wond­erful, most loving man who ever lived." Such a love has no woman for a man to whom she had been married for 28 years as had Ellen Wilson in her letter to Mrs. Tompkins.

"I am perfectly sure that you will never have dogs hanging around you. Try a parrot." Such a love has no woman for a man to whom she had been married for 28 years as had Ellen Wilson in her letter to Mrs. Tompkins.
WSIU Radio Theater Program

To Present ‘Bird’s Eye View’

Tonight’s Radio Theater will feature “Bird’s Eye View” at 6:30 on WSIU Radio.

Other highlights:

1 p.m. - Saturday Showcase
6 p.m. - Music in the Atr.
7 p.m. - Hootenanny
9 p.m. - Jazz and You
10 p.m. - News Report

Sunday

Mousorgsky’s “Khovanshchina” will be featured at 8 p.m.

Other programs:

1 p.m. - Music for a Sunday Afternoon
6 p.m. - Music for a Sunday Evening
10:25 p.m. - News Report

Monday

Franklin D. Roosevelt and his Four Freedoms are the subject of the program. And the World Listened at 2:30 p.m. today.

Other programs:

10 a.m. - Ethics in Broadcasting
16:30 a.m. - Pop Concert
1 p.m. - Afternoon Serenade

---

India’s Cultural Unity Problem

To Be Discussed on WSIU-TV

The cultural problems of Asia will be discussed at 7 p.m. Monday on WSIU-TV. This program explores the complex unity of Asia and assesses whether the current conflict between the old and the new can be guided for India’s good.

Other programs:

4:30 p.m. - Industry on Parade
5 p.m. - What’s New: Discussion of the cowboy’s West with Max Morath, plus a veterinarian’s talk on how to care for your dog.
6:30 p.m. - What’s New: Review of the talk about the steamboat’s golden year.
7 p.m. - Perspectives: “The Saints and the Commissars.”
8 p.m. - Of People and Politics: The first in a series of programs on the November election. This first program looks at the American voter, influence and apathy, and the pressures that set voting patterns.
9:30 p.m. - Continental Cinema: “Typhoon Over Nagasaki” — A French film produced in Japan, starring Danielle Darrieux and Jean Marais. The story is of a French engineer working in Japan who falls in love with a Japanese girl only to have it complicated when his former sweetheart from France arrives in Japan.

---

Picnic for International Students To Be This Afternoon at Reservoir

Saturday, June 27

An examination in practical nursing will be given at 8:30 a.m. on WSIU Radio. Other programs:

10 a.m. - Ethics in Broadcasting
16:30 a.m. - Pop Concert
1 p.m. - Afternoon Serenade

---

Rent's Summer Specials

NEW SUMMER HOURS—4 pm—9 pm

With NEAR BEER... a delicious treat

NEW SUMMER HOURS—4 pm—9 pm
Closed on Thursdays

PIZZA KING

719 S. Illinois Have it delivered! PHONE 457-2919
SIU's Lake-on-the-Campus Is . . .

Photos by Randy Clark; aerial by Van Dinh

... a bridge over an inlet . . .

... a subject for art students . . .

... a man-made concrete pier . . .

... a sort of Illinois Walden Pond . . .

. . . or a log fallen lake-ward . . .

. . . puddles 'n things . . .

. . . a place to swim, fish, canoe, dangle feet, or just look at . . .

. . . carving on weathered wood . . .
New Envoy to Viet Nam May Play Soldier's Role

Compiled From Associated Press

SAIGON, South Viet Nam--American combat troops, facing machine-gun brush with a general war in Asia since hostilities ended just over 10 years ago in Korea, that's the opinion of Malcolm W. Browne, the AP's chief correspondent in Saigon, and a winner of the Pulitzer Prize for his reporting from that Vietnam. The war correspondent warns that America could be headed -- the Southeast Asia -- for a collision with Peking or even Moscow.

President Kennedy this week appointed his highest-ranking active-duty soldier, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, as U.S. ambassador to the anti-Communist nation, his brushes with South Viet Nam. Taylor will be in civilian clothes when he reports for duty, but there is no doubt he is going to play a soldier's role in the war effort pledged there by the United States government.

Since 1961, the involvement of American manpower in Viet Nam has been nearly 10 million. Approximately 10,000 of the 16,000 U.S. servicemen are now in the field -- at the working level. Besides advising the Vietnamese in military matters, these military men handle psychological warfare, military intelligence and even some forms of direct civilian aid.

For the present, at least, there are apparently no prospects for increasing the number of U.S. servicemen here, but Johnson, and ex-President Kennedy before him, have irrevocably committed Americans to the role of doers of the encroaching communism in South-East Asia.

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, readily endorsing Taylor, says the crucial hour in South Viet Nam's anti-Communist war is at hand, and if he's right, Taylor could take over instantly as commander of the Vietnamese theater if a major war should develop.

Possible expansion of the American-backed war was a subject of grave comment in Saigon from the American ambassador in the wake of the appointment of Taylor. The Saigon government paper said, "American plans in Viet Nam are faltering" and that Taylor lacks diplomatic experience, but the only American diplomacy is with a pen.

Tokyo soldiers warned that an intensified military campaign by the U.S. would dramatically increase the possibility of Chinese Communist "volunteers" going to North Viet Nam.

Chen Yi, Red China's deputy premier, said the United States is contributing to an increasing grave situation through "preparations for new military adventures in southern Viet Nam."

Pro-Western Thailand welcomed the appointment of Taylor as a symbol of American awareness that the struggle against Communist aggression must be stepped up.

Taylor's predecessor, Henry Cabot Lodge, planned to return home Sunday, a year and a day after Kennedy named him ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Illinois Apportionment

WASHINGTON -- Illinois leaders hailed and condemned the U.S. Supreme Court order on reapportionment of the state Senate, but agreed that it will not affect the Nov. 3 election.

The high court on Monday ordered a decision by a special three-judge federal court in Chicago that approved the present apportionment.

The Supreme Court sent the case back to the judges telling them to reconsider the matter in the light of the Supreme Court's ruling a week ago. At that time the court ruled that both houses of state legislatures must have representatives or population basis.

In a previous opinion, Joseph Germino, head of District 31 of the United Steel Workers of America, attacked the 1954 amendment to the Illinois constitution and a 1955 Illinois law that set up the state Senate apportionment.

"Less than 29 per cent of the state's voters residing largely in fixed rural or 'downstate' areas are granted the perpetual power to elect a majority of the state Senate," he said in the appeal.

Meanwhile, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said his staff will look into the possibility of constitutional amendment dealing with reapportionment. Dirksen said the ruling may mean that in some cases large cities will control both houses of their state legislatures.

Only Two Weeks to Go

The Stop Goldwater movement gained an eminent proponent this week in the person of Henry Cabot Lodge.

The recently resigned ambassador to South Viet Nam is only wanting his time, according to the Goldwater came in joining what has been termed "an exercise in futility."

But on the other hand the belated candidacy of Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, with the closest of a gang of moderate Republicans like Lodge, may succeed in somehow sidetracking that champion of conservatism, Barry Goldwater.

Just the week remains before the GOP national convention meets in San Francisco to nominate its candidate for president. GOP is facing a presidential race against Lyndon B. Johnson.

Goldwater has enough delegates on his side at the moment to insure a first-ballot victory at the Cow Palace.

But Scranton and Lodge and the GOP Congressional liberals are determined to convince the party that the nomination of Goldwater would be disastrous.

Lodge's effectiveness in winning the party's candidate favored by 37 per cent of the voters in a nationwide sampling, Goldwater, at the same time, was the pick of only 14 per cent.

Just before the spring high water mark of Lodge's popularity, the Dallas Lodge organization has dis­ missed the nation by the winning the New Hampshire with Lodge winning in votes despite the Goldwater's supposed indifference.

Lodge made impressive in writing in editorials in primaries in Illinois, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Texas, also, that his Oregon, where his name was on the ballot and where he was the favorite, he lost to an energetic Nelson Rockefeller.

Lodge's continued insistence that he definitely would not set come home to campaign finally led to the vir­ tual abandonment of the drive in his behalf. Many of the Lodge backers joined the Scranton camp when Scranton announced that he was running.

Now the possibility has been revived that Lodge himself may come to San Francisco as a potential candidate, but Lodge insists he wants only to aid Scranton and has no ambitions for himself.

At 61--he'll be 62 in about a week--Lodge has a long and distin­ guished political career behind him. He was elected to the Senate at 34 and later served as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Lodge left his Senate seat in 1952 to John F. Kennedy.

"DANNED TABLE-HOPPER"
Goldwater Loses 8 Delegates, Scranton 7 in Latest Count

WASHINGTON—Sen. Barry Goldwater's first ballot strength slipped by eight votes this week and Gov. William W. Scranton's dipped by seven as the nominating delegates showed their votes Friday.

Goldwater's current total of 686 is 31 more than the 655 needed to win the GOP nomination on the first countdown at the San Francisco convention opening July 13 if those who are personally committed to him or say they favor him stick with those who are bound to him.

Scranton, Pennsylvania Governor who is the Arizona senator's closest competitor now has 58 first ballot votes according to the AP survey.

Goldwater had been credited with 135 first ballot votes from the 58-vote Ohio delegation, but at a caucus earlier this week the delegates decided to support Gov. James A. Rhodes as a favorite son on the first ballot.

This surface loss of 15 votes for Goldwater was partially offset by a pickup of one from Florida and six in Tennessee. Under the Ohio decision, Scranton lost 10 delegates who said they favored him on the first ballot. But he added two in New Jersey and another in West Virginia, making a net loss of seven.

Launching Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla.—Guidance-system trouble Friday forced a second straight postponement of an attempt to launch the high-energy Titan-Centaur rocket on its third test flight.

The launch was rescheduled for the same time Tuesday.

Food, Housing Prices Drop; Consumer Goods Slightly Up

WASHINGTON — Food and housing prices dropped in May more than other consumer goods increased in price and living costs remained below the month before, the Labor Department said Friday.

This figure means it cost $10.78 in both April and May to buy typical consumer goods that cost $10 in 1957-59.

Avo;lable

i!umer

Consumer Goods

straight month at

May. but most other con­

mained unchanged from tbe housing prices dropped in sen,

To Fight Ruling

apportioned on a population

drop

Dirksen, Halleck

1965,--through a constitutional day tbe present

The House passed

day the temporary national debt ceil­

Sent

sent to President Jobnson Fri­

WASHINGTON—The Senate

22

WASHINGTON—A StateDe­

partment spokesman said Friday there is some uncertainty here over whether Russians or Cubans now have operational control of antimissile missiles. Missiles on the Soviet-built ships are considered capable of hitting high-flying jet planes.

As a career officer Richard L. Phillips said U.S. reconnais­sance at the same time according to the estabished pattern which goes back before Dec. 1955,Soviet missile crisis.

The Soviets have been remaining their troops from Cuba.

Debt Ceiling Bill

Sent to President

WASHINGTON—The Senate sent to President John­son Frid­ day the bill increasing the temporary national debt ceil­

The new limit, which will be effective through June 30, 1970, is $120,600,000,000.

The Senate vote was 48-2; the House vote was last week 203-182.

Johnson will have to sign the bill.

Johnson stepped-up FBI activities for Goldwater was in Latest Count

classified advertising rates: 20 words or less are $1.00 per insertion; additional words five cents each; four consecutive insertions, $3.50; six consecutive insertions, $5.00; two consecutive weeks, $10.00.

The Daily Egyptian reserves the right to reject any advertising.
Golf Coach Readies Lineup, Plans to Cop Another Title

Although the 1965 golf season is in the distant future, Coach Lynn Holder is busy planning for the defense of Southern's 1964 NCAA golf championship.

But, for the most part, the veteran golf mentor is expected to encounter many complications in the course of his planning. Holder loses only two starters (veterans Gene Carello and Jim Placal) from this season's squad, which posted a fine 15-6-1 record and captured the NCAA's College Division crown.

Next season the building coach expects to field a solid squad comprised of six experienced veterans and a number of promising sophomores.

Among the returning lettermen, which will face one of the best schedules in the nation, are seniors John Krueger, Jerry Kirby, Leon McNair, and Gene Carello, and junior Al Kruse and sophomore Tom Muehleman. The six are expected to form the nucleus of the 1965 squad.

Among the returning lettermen, Holder feels that Tom Muehleman is a key man in next year's golf picture, and is counting on the Altos sophomore to fill one of the starting positions lost last season by the loss of Place and Carello. The sophomore turned in a fine 4-0 record and a respectable 76 average for four dual matches this spring.

"Muehleman," said Holder, "has the potential to be one of the finest collegiate golfers in the nation, and will be given every opportunity to make the starting lineup next season."

Holder, who has guided SIU's golf program since 1946, also can count on a crop of fine young golfers moving up from the freshman ranks to bolster his squad's title defense. Those making the big jump from the varsity next year are Ed Zastro, Motrion Grove; Jim Schönoff, Quincy; Jim Smith, Homewood; and Jack Downey of Mt. Vernon.

According to Holder, Schönoff showed well in practice matches against the varsity this spring and has the ability to make the starting six. "In fact," said Holder, "every Olympic Tryouts

Next for Woods

George Woods, SIU's All-American shot put specialist, will not compete in this weekend's national AAU track and field championships at New Brunswick, N.J.

Although Woods qualified for the upcoming amateur championships by placing second in the recent NCAA tournament, the Siloam, Mo., junior will pass up the AAU to prepare for next week's Olympic tryouts in New York City.

Jim Dupree, former Saluki track star and current SIU graduate, will compete in the AAU meet as a member of the Southern California Striders, an independent track club.

Marconi to Blame

If Area Is Hommy

If things get a little "hammy" around Southern Illinois today just blame it all on Marconi.

Licensed amateur radio operators who are members of SIU's Amateur Radio Club will compete in a national radio contest with "ham" operators all over the United States and Canada.

Terre Haute, Memphis Sports Stars Enroll

With the 1964-65 sports season just around the corner, SIU coaches have recruited several promising young athletes.

Wednesday Saluki basketball coach Jack Hartman announced that Ted Sweatt, one of the top players in Indiana prep basketball last season, has enrolled at SIU.

Sweatt, from Terre Haute, is currently attending summer school at Southern Ill., and will be a 6-5 center who averaged 20 points and 17 rebounds per game last season. The high-scoring center also is the Indiana high jump champion with a leap of 6 feet, 6 7/8 inches to his credit.

Coach Hartman earlier signed prep stars Ken Flick and Ken Smith of Cobden and Jay Weiscott of Belleville.

Football coach Don Shroyer has announced that Edward Richards, a standout all-state halfback from Memphis, Tenn., has enrolled at Southern Ill. Richards, also attending school here this summer, weighs 180 pounds and stands 6-1.

Other prep players who have recently signed letters of intent to play football at Southern Ill. next fall are Rick Hooper, 180-pound Rich Township end, and Glen Bater, a 225-pound Blue Island tackie.

Your Newspaper Advertising Is Your Store's Image...

A store's image is "part and parcel of everything you do in your advertising," said Morris L. Rosenblum, creative advertising administrator for Macy's, New York. Speaking recently at the National Retail Merchants Association, Mr. Rosenblum told of several qualities of good image-creating advertising.

1. CONSISTENT: Ads should run each time the store appears, and should do the same thing. The less advertising a store uses, the harder the ads have to work to create a character image.

2. DIFFERENT: A store's ad style should be different from the competition. Should the store be a discount type, should it be quality, should it be a high, premium item?

3. SIMPLE: Ad style should not draw attention to itself, but should help get the message read.

4. FLEXIBLE: Ad style should allow you to advertise any kind of merchandise at any time of the year for sale or non-sale events.

5. LONG LIVED: Ad style must be able to stand the rigors of television and radio, and must maintain its individuality.

6. BUDGETING: Get every benefit of wise budgeting. A budget assures you of enough advertising to attract the attention of a maximum number of prospects with the full story of your merchandise.

Good Ads = sales producing ads — DON'T JUST HAPPEN! Careful "think through" of newspaper full power advertising and "how to budget advertising for bigger volume, more profits" will be discussed and planned at your convenience by competent advertising men who can help you solve your problems and aid you in getting your share of the retail market. Let us discuss your advertising with you — NOW!