Dancer to Highlight Convocations

Russell Curry, lecturer and dance master, will be featured at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Freshman Convocations today in Shrobek Auditorium.

Curry is director of a school of dancing bearing his name in Boston, Mass.

He inherited the school from his mother and under his management it has grown from a single studio teaching 150 students, into a "traveling dance academy" serving over 150,000 students.

The school has recently expanded its teaching activities into the Midwest.

He is past president of the Dance Teachers Club of Boston and later presently on the teacher training faculty of that organization.

Curry is currently chairman of the National Council of Dance Teacher Organizations.

Thomas Johnson, a member of the Activities Programming Board, will introduce the speaker.

The University Band will be featured at the next convocations on April 28, in Shrobek Auditorium.

2-Campus Transportation Planned

Set for Trial

An experimental Carbondale-to-Edwardsville transportation system will begin Monday, according to a University operations bulletin.

A transport system is needed because of the increase in travel between the two campuses as a result of the establishment of the one-university, dual-campus concept.

The system will consist of riding station wagons between the campuses twice daily. The cars will meet at Peoria where the drivers will exchange cars.

University personnel wishing to use the service should make one-way or round-trip reservations in advance. Cost for one person, one-way, will be $4 during the experimental period.

Small departmental packages, which are wrapped securely and are delivered to the Post Office at least one-half-hour before the next scheduled trip, will be delivered on a twice daily schedule. The schedule Monday through Friday during school sessions, is as follows:

Morning passengers from Carbondale will be delivered to the University Center at 7:30 a.m. and arrive in Edwardsville at 8:40 a.m. at the Central Mall Bus Stop. Afternoon passengers from Edwardsville will depart at 3:30 p.m. and arrive in Carbondale at 5:10 p.m.

Freshman Convocations today.

Miss Myers, of Peoria, has been named editor of the 1967 Obelisk, SIU yearbook.

Announcement was made recently by W. Manton Rice, assistant professor of journalism and adviser to the yearbook.

Miss Myers, of Peoria, has been an associate editor of the Obelisk for two years. She succeeds Jeanne Baker, a senior majoring in English.

Five associate editors have been announced.

Do Salukis Represent SIU?

Edwardsville Fans Say No

SIU—the No. 1 team in small college basketball—has perhaps come closest to winning a national title and part of the season, represented Southern Illinois University.

At least it represented the Communications and Student Senate because how many Edwardsville Campus students have even seen the Salukis?

We realize it is not feasible to have a team composed of students from both campuses. But we feel that it would be beneficial for the students on the one-university concept to have teams at both campuses. Although President Delory Morris has supported the one-university concept, he has admitted that there are areas in which the campuses must act independently.

The Board of Trustees recently approved a gradual increase in sports scholarships—for the Carbondale Campus. But there aren't even intercollegiate sports at Edwardsville, much less scholarships.

Students are becoming increasingly impatient for intercollegiate sports at Edwardsville. As brought out in an article in this week's University Post:

"One student at the Alton Center pointed out that "we have a homecoming, but what have we got to come home to?"

One objection to a football team at Edwardsville is the expense. The money seems to be available at Carbondale, but not for students at Edwardsville.

"Space is the object, we feel that students would vote overwhelmingly for an increase in activity fees. We would support an increase of as much as $5 per student to pay for a football team. True, most students wouldn't be able to participate in sports such as football, but, for most students, real participation comes not from playing. It comes from having a team to rally around and cheer."

Although basketball would be less expensive to begin with, it is difficult to foresee a court on which a team might play in the immediate future, except perhaps at the Edwardsville Junior High School or some other area school.

A football field, on the other hand, could be prepared in a relatively short time. The Edwardsville Campus has unlimited space available for both football spectators and the playing field itself.

The Edwardsville Campus Senate's newly-formed sports committee is circulating a questionnaire this week on the possibility of a football team. They hope students, if they really do want intercollegiate sports, will show their support.

University Should Take Over Food Services at U-Center

Slater Food Service has borne the brunt of many complaints from the SIU student body. At least one of these which may solve their problem has not been mentioned.

"Wouldn't it be just as simple for the University to run the U-Center as to hire a non-university catering service to do the job?"

One of the objections to Slater's is the loss of profit to the School of Business, making organization, often taking place in the U-Center, difficult. It is impossible for students who could use the money they save on inexpensive food for something else. If the University were to operate on a non-profit basis, it would be able to correct this problem.

Slater's has a yearly contract with the University, according to Clarence G. Dougherty, director of the University Food Center. This contract, which has a renewal option attached, is due for renewal August 1.

We suggest that this contract not be reached on the University, which is now running three large dining halls in residence halls, which would take over management.

The problems which causes the University to give the University Center Food Service to Slater's may not be completely gone, but they must have been worked out to some extent in setting up dining halls at Thompson Point and University Park.

And, if the situation does not improve under University management, there is next year, and the opportunity to try another catering service.

Highway Maintenance Discarded Cans Are Costly

The state says it costs $34 cents each for highway maintenance crews to pick up discarded cans and bottles. The way the state arranges its figure points to one way for saving money.

Highway department figures show $1.95 an hour for the truck, $2.87 an hour for the driver and $2.73 an hour for each of two laborers. The total is $10.29 an hour or 17 cents a minute. The department calculated, further, that it takes an average of two minutes to bring the truck to a halt and to retrieve a discarded can or bottle and throw it away again. Hence, the $34 cents per item figure.

Under this formula, if laborers could pick up a bottle in only one minute, the cost of clearing Michigan's highways of ugly litter would, obviously, be cut in half.

If the playing field with flying figures, there's also another obvious answer to the staggering $600,000 total cost.

"It's for motorists to stop discarding cans and bottles."

The United States says it cannot practically remove its military bases from French soil by next April 1, as requested by the French. Translated from the language of diplomacy, what we're telling M. de Gaulle comes down to this:

Usage of 'Hope' Is Misunderstood

To the editor:

Although David Born in his letter to the editor deplores lack of understanding, he is guilty of the very thing he decries.

The use of the word "hope" in Ric Cox's "Frederick" is peculiar to a segment of Christian culture and must be understood as such. "Hope" transcends hope.

College Students Are Still Bored

By Robert M. Hutchins

The reason why people of my age have a hard time understanding higher education in this country is that it has reversed its field in a generation. Everything is the opposite of what it was.

I wrote a book in 1936 in which I complained that if it had not been for the Rockefeller, Carnegie and Hartford fortunes there would be no such things as called the American universities. At about that time A.P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors, told me that all useful support. If a president or professor had thought of doing so, he would have been restrained by the trustees or regents, who would have been horrified by such a socialist idea.

We were all worried then about the apathy of the students. They appeared to be interested only in extracurricular activities. Neither the course of study nor the status of the world around them attracted them.

The universities in what later came to be called the Ivy League were undergraduate colleges with professional schools on the fringes. Their object was to take the sons of the rich and render them harmless to society. A graduate student, Yale professor, said, was a man who did not know enough to go home when the party was over.

The faculty and the administration had to cope with student demonstrations, which were usually at the onset of spring and which seemed to be induced by the ebullience associated with the season and a dislike for the local police. They appeared to have no ideological base beyond boredom and an unwaranted antipathy to the Irish.

The public attitude toward the universities was one of indifference. They made the newspapers, apart from the sporting pages, only when an extra comunità suicide. The duty of a university president, when he was one, or more than 40 years ago, was to keep the news of such tragedies out of the papers. Nobody thought he could hope to get anything into the papers.

Eminent people were still saying in those days that, since college was a four-year loaf, only a loser would use it. Any red-blooded American should get out and start to make his mark in the world as soon as the law allowed.

In short, the institutions of higher learning were irrelevant. They were outside the main stream of the economy. Nobody cared about them one way or another.

The change has been swift and dramatic, too swift and too dramatic for comfort or even for comprehension.

Almost every characteristic of the old days remaining in the new is that the students are still bored. But now they are bored by extracurricular activities as well as by the activities to which a ridiculously fragmented and ill-taught curriculum condemns them.

Meanwhile, they see the world around them going to pieces; they see causes that do and should enflame their interest. Their demonstrations may no longer be a source of satisfaction with what Tom Lehrer calls the "obdurate" and with the society in which they live.

That society has swung from indifference to higher learning to an hysterical confidence that it is the sure and only road to national prosperity and power. Society is just as wrong now as it was a generation ago.

Foot In Mouth...

By Elbert A. Talley

No one is safe from the hazard of putting his foot in his mouth when he opens it. The only difference is that some of us do it in the circle of our close friends whereas those in prominent places do it in public and their blunders are there for all to see or hear.

To the average man, who has occasionally misspoken or written and then caught himself, it is comforting to know that there is room at the top for foot-in-mouth utterances.

Take President Johnson for instance. He was speaking on one of his favorite subjects of late: what we will do if necessary to avert runaway inflation. His earnestness was caught by the television cameras—also his words. He said: "To far we've just touched the brake pedal lightly (gesturing to show a little pump on the brakes now and then), not slammed on the brake with both feet." Don't know if it is in that white Lincoln he enjoys touring the L.B.J. ranch in, but the brake pedal on my car isn't big enough for both feet. In yours?

But this week's award for foot-in-mouth performance goes to Sen. Birch Bayh (rhymes with Bligh), Indiana Democrat. (We ought to figure out an award for something like the shoe-wash-a-hole so proudly worn by Stevenson admirers; have any suggestions?) Bayh, regarded as one of the sharper young senators, was complaining in floor debate that metal roofing made in Japan is "twice as thin" as the American product.

"Twice as thin?" asked Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican. "Half as thin," amended Bayh, looking a little doubtful. Then, triumphantly he added: "Twice as thick!"

Finally, realizing he was worse off than ever: "Let the record show what the senator from Indiana meant to say, not what he said."

Reminds me of an old favoritie of mine about the angry s enator who thundered: "There are 10 liars in this chamber, including Calhoun and Clay!"

The presiding officer rapped his gavel and pointed out that Senate rules do not permit attacks on senators when they are singled out by name.

The resourceful senator, still boring in, persisted: "There are eight liars in this chamber, not including Calhoun and Clay!"

And then there was Peg. Joel T. Broyhill, Virginia Republican, who said in the House, "It would be much easier to get on the spending gangway and let the floods gate down."

Steve Allen, presiding over "I've Got a Secret," excitedly proclaimed the presence of a 25-foot snake on stage as "one of the more unique features ever presented on this program." Allen is one of the more intelligent TV performers and under calmer circumstances wouldn't be caught dead saying something like this. But I'd get excited, too, if I were in close proximity to a 25-foot constrictor.

Napoleon Solo of "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." spoke of Clemency's clairvoyance as "a very unique gift."

There is no such thing as "more unique" or "most unique." If it is unique it is the only thing of its kind. Since catching these, I've heard three other radio and television performers of less prominence misuse unique; if you see it in a carefully edited newspaper I'll wager that it is inside quotation marks, some one else saying it, not the newspaper. Watch for and listen to people using unique.

About half of them misuse it.

Most of you readers are aware that the writer of this column is a newspaper editor. Some of you may even know that he is a redactor (look it up if you don't know what it means). But I am indebted to Prince Philip for learning that I am also a collector of "dentopology." On his recent trip to this country, the British prince, commenting on his running feud with the press, described himself as "a master of dentopology—the science of putting one's foot in one's mouth."

And further, deponent saith not.
Sixty-five students, including the SIU Chapel Singers and the Baptist Student Union touring choir, will attend the meeting.

The choir, conducted by Charles E. Gray, student union director, will perform an arrangement of Negro spirituals and poetry by James Weldon Johnson entitled "God's Trombones" during the Saturday evening session.

Exhibit to Feature Art by Students

A color exhibit will be on display by the Department of Art from Monday to May 8 in the Ballroom and in the Magnolia Lounge of the University Center.

The exhibit will represent the works of approximately 150 students in the basic studio course offered by the department.

Within the quiet confines of the Life Science Building a young Chinese couple are busy studying under the careful guidance of one of the world's most respected authorities on yeast genetics.

Yuh Lin Hwang and his wife, Donna, both from Hong Kong, have spent the past several years working with Carl C. Lindegren, professor emeritus, past chairman of the Department of Microbiology and Director of the laboratory, and his wife, Gertrude. Lindegren has gained international recognition as a geneticist.

When the Chinese couple married in Carbondale six years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lindegren were hosts for the wedding reception.

Hwang has completed requirements for a doctorate in microbiology and is an expert on "crossing over," the process by which chromosomes break and reunite in the reproductive process to form a different characteristic in the next generation.

Mrs. Hwang obtained her master's degree in microbiology in 1963 from SIU, concentrating her study on the structure and function of genes, she is working toward a doctoral degree in microbiology.

As veteran scientists, the Lindegrens are proud of the promising young couple's achievements in their specialized field. Mrs. Lindegren, also an authority on "crossing over," says Hwang, her former student, has now become her "boss" in this field.

The 31-year-old research assistant has published more than 10 articles on genetics, mostly coauthored with Lindegren. His achievements have brought such honors as membership in the Genetics Society of America, American Society of Microbiology.

Honors have also come to his wife. In 1963 Mrs. Hwang was named a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honor society. The couple's membership requires better than a 4.5 grade point average.

University School
Musicians Win 2nd

Southern's University High School finished "Sweepstakes Runner-Up" in the class B state music competition held April 16 at St. Elmo.

Competing against schools with enrollment of 230 to 550 in Area Five, the University School musicians earned superior ratings in 23 categories and excellent in two.

The Carbondale students finished only two points behind the winning Nashville. This was the seventh straight year that the University School has either won the competition or finished as runner-up.

VTI's Annual Open House Slated

Tours of SIU's new two-year aviation technology program at the Southern Illinois Airport will be included in the fifth annual Vocational-Technical Institute open house Friday and Saturday.

Opened this year with 41 students, aviation technology is the newest of 26 major fields of study at VTI. It is one of only eight university-connected aviation technical schools in the nation.

Four bus tours on Friday and one on Saturday will take guests from the VTI campus on old Illinois 13 nine miles east of Carbondale to the SIU Airport between Carbondale and Marj POVboro, according to Open House Chairman Harry Soderstrom.

Aviation technology occupies a new 240- by 180-foot building at the airport which houses classrooms, offices, laboratories, library and hangar.

Guided tours and demonstrations will also be given on the VTI campus, where training in such fields as architecture, electronics, dental technology and boypne, data processing, commercial art, mortuary science, wood technology and cosmetology is provided.

About 1,500 people, including high school students, representatives of business and industry, and the general public are expected for the open house, Soderstrom said.

Phyllis Curtin To Sing in Shryock

Phyllis Curtin, an internationally acclaimed soprano who has sung with the La Scala Opera Company, Metropolitan Opera and the Vienna State Opera, will sing at SIU Sunday.

Miss Curtin, who will appear here as part of the Community Concert Series, will perform at 3 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Among the 71 roles of her operatic repertoire, Miss Curtin sang the title role of Puccini's "Tosca" with Finland's National Opera, Donna Elvira in Mozart's "Don Giovanni" and Violetta in Verdi's "Traviata."

At Southern, Miss Curtin will sing selections from operas by Franz Schubert, Hugo Wolf, Giacomo Puccini, Hector Berlioz and Claude Debussy.

Life magazine has reported that: the demand for her performances in American and Europe is so great that she is booked solidly for two seasons.

Live and learn at University City

NEW ACADEMIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAM offers a special staff of instructors who counsel and tutor University City residents on a personalized basis throughout the quarter.

The program includes registration counseling and regularly scheduled sessions which parallel university classes in such subjects as mathematics, physics, chemistry and English. Quarterly fee is only $25.

SIU'S LARGEST AND MOST COMPLETE RESIDENCE HALLS—just a 12-minute walk from campus—consist of 6 new dormitories, a large dining hall, recreation building with complete game and exercise rooms, a heated indoor swimming pool opening onto a spacious sundeck, a roathesheler with snack bar, a book store, a laundromat and post office, off-street parking, covered bicycle and motocycle storage, and tennis and volleyball courts. A staff of more than 100 specialists assures comfort and convenience.
McNamara Charges as 'Baloney'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara dismissed Wednesday as "baloney" charges that the Pentagon is mismanaging the war in South Vietnam.

McNamara said the war probably will intensify with a large-scale new Communist offensive, perhaps next month. He forecast new political discord in South Vietnam as well.

McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the U.S. effort in South Vietnam should inspire pride in America — not only because of its power but because of its restraint.

"We should be proud of what we're doing there," he said. "Instead we seem to seek and try to exaggerate imaginary weaknesses."

While McNamara testified at a crowded Senate hearing which was broadcast by radio and television, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford challenged anew his management of the war effort.

The Michigan congressman added a charge of shipping shortages to his assertion that bomb shortages are hampering the air effort against Communist forces.

"It's absurd," McNamara responded.

"All this baloney, and it's only that, about lack of bomb production, is completely misleading," McNamara said.

His retort was indirect; Ford's name was not mentioned.

McNamara indicated that strength is somewhat larger than the Pentagon had publicly disclosed. He said there are 245,000 fighting men on the ground in South Vietnam; 75,000 on the waters nearby.

That is 5,000 more ground troops than had been previously disclosed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said Wednesday he stands forthrightly behind his statement that there has been "shocking mismanagement" of the war in Viet Nam.

But he left unanswered whether there's a split in the Republican congressional leadership over Viet Nam policy.

Maybe an answer will come Wednesday, Ford, the House minority leader, said, after a news conference, confined to a House Republican Policy Committee statement on the merchant marine.

"Much of the present problem is attributable to the fact that several years ago Secre­tery of Defense McNamara de­cided that he could reduce the role of ships in the defense picture," the GOP statement said.

Ford said this has resulted in a ship shortage that is hampering the war effort.

McNamara, testifying be­fore the Senate Foreign Re­lations Committee, declared: "We don't have any shipping shortages. How can you talk about shipping shortages—it's absurd."

The seemingly unified stand of GOP congressional leaders in statements on Viet Nam was ruptured Tuesday when Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader, refused to associate himself with Ford's "mismanagement statement."

In putting a lid on questions about a possible disagreement between Republican leaders, Ford said he expects the subject to be fully explored at the next regular joint news conference he and Dirksen have been holding almost weekly.

American Pacifists Bombarded By South Vietnamese Youths

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Fifty Vietnamese youths fired hostile questions, eggs and tomatoes Wednesday at six American pacifists who, on an expenses-paid visit to Saigon, are demanding an end to the war.

The youths broke up a City Hall news conference of the Rev. A. J. Muste, 81, a New York Presbyterian minister who said he and another Quak­er, and his associates in the U.S. Committee for Nonviolent Action.

"Are you South Viet Nam's friends or Communists?" shouted the hecklers, who said they are Saigon University students.

They parried assorted paci­fist responses with the cry: "Communist go home! Go home to North Viet Nam!!"

A paper ball struck Brad­ford Lyttle, 38, of Voluntown, Conn. Eggs splattered the shirt of William Davidson, 39, a physics professor at Haver­ford College, Haverford, Pa.,

Final Approval Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House gave final approval today to the administration's proposal to transfer the Community Relations Service from the Commerce to the Justice Department.

The vote rejected a Republic­an-sponsored move to dis­approve the transfer. The Sen­ate had similar move 42 to 32 on April 6, so that the plan now takes effect.
Turkish Students Boo
U.S. Secretary of State

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Lofti scientists booted Secretary of State Dean Rusk as he stepped from a car Wednesday. The demonstrators then clashed with a pro-American group that shouted, "You would not boo Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin."

Police broke up the fighting. The incident occurred shortly after the opening session of the Central Treaty Organization — CENTO — at which Rusk said the alliance is still needed because Communists have not renounced world revolution.

Wielding nightsticks, police broke up three other clashes, including a flurry outside the office of the U.S. Information Agency in the heart of Ankara. At least 15 persons were arrested. One student said he was stabbed during a scuffle. His injury was reported superficial.

Rusk had no comment on the booping, which occurred as he left his limousine to enter a Turkish officers' club for lunch with Prime Minister Subleyman Demirel. Police broke up an anti-American demonstration on Rusk's arrival Tuesday and arrested 73 students.

Stateville Inmate Seriously Injured
JOLET, Ill. (AP)—A Stateville Penitentiary inmate seriously injured another Wednesday with a large peeling knife during an argument over potato sorting.

Warden Frank Pano said the victim, Thomas Evans, 45, who was serving a 4 to 6 year term for unlawful possession of narcotics, was assaulted in the prison's vegetable preparation room by Arthur McFadden, 26, serving a 5 to 15 year term for armed robbery.

First English Opera ‘Psyche’ Will Be Performed May 6

One of the features of the Department of Music’s month-long Baroque Festival will be the performance of “Psyche,” the first English opera. “Psyche,” which first appeared on the British stage in 1674, was written by Matthew Locke, a composer who pioneered in writing music for the theater. Very few copies of the only published libretto of the opera exist, according to Tommy D. Goleeke, associate professor of music. Goleeke unearthed the work and modernized the score as a research study for his doctoral dissertation at Stanford University.

Locke was the first Englishman to apply the term “opera” to a libreto, Goleeke said. “Actually, ‘Psyche’ should be called a semi-opera, for the musical numbers are interwoven with the dialog,” he continued.

“Psyche” is the story of the troubled romance between Cupid and Psyche. Psyche’s two sisters are envious of the romance and the goddess Venus is jealous of the mortal Psyche receiving the adulation of men which she feels should only belong to her.

In the opera, neither Cupid nor Psyche have singing roles. In the concert version which Goleeke will present, much of the plot will be carried through the narrator, Robert Wilde.

Wilde is presently appearing in the role of James Tyrone in the Southern Players’ production of Eugene O’Neill’s “Long Day’s Journey into Night.”

The performance of “Psyche” will be given at 8 p.m., May 6 in Muckelroy Auditorium by the SIU Opera Workshop.

Eldred W. Hough To Present Talk

“Education and Research” will be the topic of a talk presented by Eldred W. Hough, assistant dean of the School of Technology, at 9:30 p.m. today in the Morris Library Auditorium.

Correction Given On Requirement

The grade point average required for a student to hold a position of student body president, vice president or senator has been lowered to 3.2.

In a previous article the grade point for student body president was reported to have been lowered to 3.4, and the grade point for a senator to 3.1.

May 20, June 1 Checks Withholding Tax Changes Slated Next Month at SIU

A new withholding tax regulation will affect SIU student employees, faculty and staff members beginning in May.

The new regulation, part of the 1966 Tax Adjustment Act, provides for change in the method of calculating federal withholding tax. It will take the sting out of end-of-the-year taxes by slightly increasing monthly withholdings, according to SIU Payroll Supervisor Arthur Albon Jr.

The change is not a tax increase, but a different method of calculation, he said.

Under the old method, 14 per cent was deducted from each month’s earnings after exemptions, regardless of the employee’s marital status or gross monthly earnings.

The amount of monthly withholdings under the new method, however, differs for married and single employees.

The new tax scale is graduated into six tax brackets instead of only one as in the old scale, Albon said.

The monthly allowance for each exemption has been raised from $56 to $58.30, he added.

The new regulation will become effective with student work checks received May 20. It will become effective for faculty members with their June 1 checks, Albon said.

Under the new regulation, student workers and faculty must fill out new W-4 forms. Albon urged SIU employees to return these completed forms to their work supervisors or to the Payroll Office, 807 S. Elizabeth St., as soon as possible.

SIU Baptists Break Ground For $885,000 Student Center

John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs, was among the guests present at groundbreaking ceremonies for a new $885,000 Baptist Student Center at the corner of Lake and Mill Streets.

The ceremonies were held Tuesday to coincide with a meeting of the board of directors of the Illinois Baptist Association. Rendleman congratulated the Baptist Foundation for having shown continued and expanded faith in the University. When the original Foundation was erected it was possibly the largest complex on the campus, he noted. "We consider religion a part of the overall concept of education," he said.

This last week's unpredictable weather conditions left little workable time for scheduling the event," said Charles E. Gray, spokesman for the Baptist Foundation. Despite the overcast skies and brisk winds, more than a hundred persons took part in the ceremony.

Final Exam Schedule

A class meeting at the hours listed below will have its one-hour final examination on the first day listed provided that day is one on which the class has a regularly scheduled lecture session.

If not, the examination will be scheduled for the second day listed provided that day is one on which the class has a regularly scheduled lecture session. If a class does not meet on either of those two days it will have its examination on the day of the week on which the last regularly scheduled lecture session is held.

If a class is of a type in which no lecture sessions are employed, it will have its examination on one of the regular meeting days which will cause the fewest number of students in the class to have more than three examinations on that day. Otherwise it may be scheduled on the most convenient regular meeting day by the instructor.

A make-up period on Friday, June 10, at 12 o'clock, will be used for examinations for students who have more than three examinations on one day and who receive approval from their academic dean to defer one until the make-up period. When more than three are created by a departmental examination, the one to be deferred will be the departmental one.

Classes meeting only Saturday or one night a week will have their examinations during the regularly scheduled period.

To Prod the Body Into Shape,
Start With a No Lunch Lunch

By John Ochomick

Spring has come to SIU, and with spring a young man's fancy traditionally turns to thoughts of love.

The coeds realize this. They turn and twist, push, prod and pray their shapes into two-piece swimsuits that somehow have shrunk during those inactive winter months.

Many find that they must diet or spend the summer with a handicap.

The problem is not confined to Southern, and some schools are helping the females with their problem. At Northern Illinois University, dieticians are offering Metrecal at one of their meals.

Alas,南方的烹饪潮流似乎还没有达到那种阶段。但也许他们已经用到了一个替代方案。

Ty Floyd Merrie, kitchen captain and chef for Slopper's Food Service, offers this suggestion: "We are helping those who need to diet by presenting our version of the 'no movement' movement."

Merrie cited how current advertisements are featuring such items as the "no lipstick sticks" and the "no swim-suit swimsuit."

"In keeping with this trend we are offering no lunch lunches," said Merrie.

We do take an ordinary sandwich, remove the meat and throw away the bread. Presto! You have a sandwich.

Merrie pointed out that the possibilities are endless. He envisions no chicken, no ice cream ice cream and no salad salads.

"We of course will maintain our current prices for this latest innovation in dieting," said Merrie. "Our expenses will be reduced and actually we'll be helping to curb inflation in the economy as well as the coeds."

Merrie explained how he arrived at this idea. "I merely put on my glasses, took out my pencil and began to think, keeping the best interests of the student bodies at heart."

Tour of University Laundry, Fashion Show Slated May 4

A tour of the University laundry and "The College Girl's Time" of clothing and textiles laboratory, a dinner and a fashion show will be included in a program May 4 sponsored by the Department of Clothing and Textiles and the University Laundry.

The program has been planned for the homemakers, educator, businessman and the general consumer.

Highlights of the day will include guest speakers Rose Padgett, chairman of the Department of Clothing and Textiles, speaking on "Recent Fabric Care Research;" Anne Sterling, director of Consumers' Education of the American Institute of Laundering, speaking on "Current Fabric and Basic Buying Tips;" and a fashion show sponsored by the local merchants, launderies and dry cleaners.

Admission is $3 a person.

Persons interested may forward requests for advance reservations by May 2. Checks may be payable to Brokency Children's program secretary, SIU Laundry Department.

Schedule of events: 1:30 p.m.: Visit to University laundry. 2:30 p.m.: Talk to clothing and textiles laboratory (Room 300). 3:30 p.m.: Dinner meeting and program in the University Center Ballroom.

Glory Be to Tulsa; It's Not Scheduled

Coach Ellis Rainsberger can be happy about one thing concerning the new football schedule announced Tuesday—Tulsa isn't on it.

But beyond that, there appears to be little relief in sight for the Salukis after the past two years when they won only seven games.

Although the two teams Southern beat last year will be on tap for next fall, six of the eight victors over the Salukis also return. The only two missing from the schedule are Tulsa and Lincoln University.

Tulsa is absent after racking up three consecutive victories and scoring 167 points against Southern from 1963 through last season. Lincoln, which beat Southern last year 10-6 on a late field goal, split four games with the Salukis.

But even with these two gone, it looks like another rugged year for the Salukis and a tough test for Rainsberger.

The former Kansas assistant takes over the reigns of a young team that will be without last fall's starters at several key positions.

The biggest question mark is probably at quarterback where Rainsberger will have to find a replacement for Jim Hart, who has been Southern's record-breaking quarterback over three consecutive losing seasons.

Hart holds almost every passing record in Southern's books. In 28 games with the varsity over a three-year period, Hart passed for 34 touchdowns and only two miles in net yardage.

Rainsberger also could be handicapped by the late entry he had into the recruiting game because it was not until last February when he was hired. By that time, many other colleges were already actively seeking high school and junior college talent.

But one thing that can be in favor of the Salukis for next year is the experience gained last year by the many sophomores and juniors in the lineup. It was not uncommon last fall for Southern to have sophomores as all but two or three of the starters.

Another year in age and experience could help many of those players.

But the fact still remains that Southern will have its hands full in trying to come up with a winning season next fall with its schedule of games. Southern hasn't finished above 5-0 since 1956.

Of the teams returning to the schedule from last year which bear Southern, only Wichita has lost very many seniors.

Ellis Rainsberger

Golfers Suffer 1st Home Loss

In 3 Years, 3rd in 12 Years

Southern's golf team suffered its first lost home game in three years and only the third in the last 12 years Tuesday when it went down 19-18 1/2 at the clubs of Southern Massachusetts.

The setback gives the Salukis a 7-6 record so far this season as they head into Friday's home match with St. Louis University.

The last home defeat came from Lamar Tech in 1963. In 1962 the Salukis lost to Western Illinois. The team's 12-year overall record since the home matches is now 62 victories, three losses and a tie.

The low score for the match ended up in a four-way tie between Southern's Gary Robinson and Tom Muehleman's scores. Gary Robinson, 45, and Bob McBride, all of whom are with 79's.

The results:

Gary Robinson (SIU) beat Dick Wellman 72-76.

Tom Muehleman (SIU) tied George Britsko 78-78.

Jack Downey (Shi) lost to Dennis Bircher 77-77.

Steve Hecker (SIU) beat Tim Reynolds 78-83.

Jim Stilson (Shi) lost to Mike Gray 78-86.

Phil Stimson (Shi) lost to Bob McBride 78-83.

Refuge Officials Announce Crab Orchard Rule Changes

Officials of the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge have announced new rules effective this year. The increase of motor-bikes has resulted in complaints of damage to the beach and park areas. Officials advise motorists riding on the beach and picnic areas are in need of other people as well as a safety hazard.

The public is reminded that a federal refuge regulation prohibits use of motorcycles other than on roads open to traffic and parking lots. Violators will be prosecuted in federal court.

Fire trials on refuge lands near Crab Orchard have also been closed to traffic. The roads were open in the past but have been damaged by traffic and their adjoining areas littered. The roads will remain open to hikers.

Swimming is prohibited at any place other than the designated beaches, which include Carterville, Morgan Beach, Crab Orchard Beach, the group picnic area and the Crab Orchard campground. The rest of the refuge is open to fishing, hunting, guided tours, and swimming. From boat use is prohibited.

Several new regulations are now in effect for boaters. No boats, except sailboats, are to be operated with any person sitting or riding on the gunwales or on the deck above the bow. Any boat containing toilets that flush directly into the water must have the toilet sealed on the craft in on refuge waters.

Sailboats, when under way between sunset and sunrise, must display a bright white light to show all around the horizon. Open alcoholic beverages are not permitted on any motor driven boat while the craft is in operation.

All other regulations that prevailed in the Crab Orchard Refuge area will remain in effect.

Bluhm Takes First

At Cycle Trials

Kenneth R. Bluhm, losing only 104 points in seven difficulties, will win the American Motorcycle Association sanctioned and observed motor-cycle trials held Saturday by the Southern Riders Association.

Only two points behind Bluhm in the 125 cc class was Tom S. Johnstone, who competed on Bluhm’s Honda. Third was Roger D. Callaway, also on a Honda.

Duane K. Smith won the honors in the 0-75 cc class with Grant A. Dahlgren only one point off the pace. Third was Vern A. Dillison.

The 125-250 cc class was won by Jeff F. Ryan on a borrowed motorcycle followed by Terry Dyroff and Jim L. Bevers.

Only one entry finished in the over 750 cc class which attempts to the difficulty of the course. "The Picture-unique Levy's determined effort brought his BSA to the finish line. Hall of fame riders in this class dropped out before the race was started.

The next nationally sanctioned event planned by the Southern Riders Association is a field trials scheduled for May 1.

Contests Scheduled To Select Soloists For SIU Festival

Piano and voice contests to select soloists for SIU's Music Under the Stars festival will be held April 23 in Aalfeld Hall.

The tryouts will also be the regional contests for the Chicagoland Music Festival. Winners of the April 23 preliminaries will appear in a state contest for selection of the artists for the Chicago festival.

The auditions for both voice and piano will be held from 10 to 11:45 a.m. and from 1:15 to 4:30 p.m., with voice contestants meeting in Room 115 and pianists in Room 230. Robert W. Kingsbury, chairman of Music Under the Stars, said the contests will be open to anyone under age 35 who will perform in the festival. Singing contestants must furnish their own accompanists and all entrants may perform any selection they wish provided it is not longer than 11 minutes.

The two soloists selected will be featured in a program with about 4,500 performers from 50 high schools throughout Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri.
