University Press Releases Three New Books By Fuller

The University Press is releasing three books by R. Buckminster Fuller, research professor of design, almost simultaneously.

Fuller, who has gained world fame for his geodesic dome, and Vernon Stenberg, director of the Press, presented copies of the books to President Delyte W. Morris and Vice President John E. Grinnell this week.

The books are "Nine Chains to the Moon," "No More Second Hand God," and "Education Automation: Freeing the Scholar to Return to His Studies."

"Nine Chains to the Moon," is a paperback reprint of a book Fuller wrote in 1938. It is among the first paperback books released by the Press. It contains the principles of the dome structures which Fuller has made popular throughout the world.

"No More Second Hand God" is a collection of poems and essays in which Fuller explains many of his ideas and theories. In the poems from which the book takes its name he combines ideas of science in comparison of theories of religion.

Fuller explains the poems as scientists findings, without trying to be irreverent, which do not prove any of the laws of the scripture, but finds the universe to be a collection of the intellectual findings of man.

The scientists who know the universe as intellectual composition are close to God, the first hand God. Therefore they do not have to know God second-hand—handed through the teaching of the various religions and sects, he added.

"Education Automation: Freeing the Scholar to Return to His Studies" is a book which was developed from a speech Fuller gave at the Edwardsville campus.

It first attempts to point out where the world and man are going in relation to the future. Then the book points out the educational facilities which will be required by future man.

Fuller admits that the conceptions of the future are above his expectations for the near future, but he says he wrote it that way purposely. Fuller feels the legislation will not go anywhere near the political suggestions he has made for future universities. But he gives reasons that going halfway the appropriations will be enough to handle future schools to a certain extent.

Fuller sums up his feeling toward the publications by saying: "I've gone through most of my life without publication, and now all of a sudden publishers seem to think I am coherent."

Student Janitor Breaks Toes In Service Elevator Mishap

A student janitor received five broken toes Tuesday evening when he got his left foot caught in a service elevator at the Agriculture Building.

Charles W. Wenzel was rushed to Doctors Hospital the evening when he got his left foot caught in a service elevator at the Agriculture Building.

What would you say if someone told you that you could get a full eight hours sleep in two hours?

The Russians recently came up with a machine that they claim will do just that. And while there is considerable doubt about the veracity of the Russian claim, a number of SIU students bailed it as the college students answer to almost all their problems.

Pete Parnell, sophomore from Springfield said: "I don't believe its possible, but if it were, I would sleep between 11:30 and 11:00 in the p.m."

"If this were possible, students could take twice as many courses and finish school sooner. This would be a big help to the crowded educational facilities," said Judy Joynson, senior from Decatur. "I think it is possible, because I don't believe anything is impossible in this day and age. If it is possible, I would study the extra hours in the day time, sleep between six and eight in the evening, and goof around at night," said Ed Brennan, senior from East St. Louis.

Debbie Tighe thinks its a great idea, "I love you, how do you do that," she said. "I would sleep from six to eight in the morning, because I can't find anything to do that early."

What would she do with the extra hours? "Waste them like I do the rest," she replied.

"Pretty darn good," was Mary Koolman's comment on the machine. "I would sleep from five to seven in the morning, and stay up all night to study, socialize, and drink."

"I think it's possible," said Chal K, Kim from Seoul Korea. "I would sleep from four to six in the morning, and stay in bed all extra six hours."

"I don't believe it's possible, but if it is, I would sleep all the early morning, because I hate the early morning hours," Karen Janhke of Mt. Prospect said.

"I don't know why, but I don't believe it's possible," Gary Ingoldsay, a freshman from Springfield, commented. "Baloney," was Jim Pierse only reply.

"You have to prove that to me," said Charlie Baugh of Tamoras a real believer.

Explosive Issues Highlight WSIU- TV Listings This Week

WSIU-TV will present Shakespeare, desegregation, art and a wide selection of subjects for the rest of the week.

Universal Prayer Day To Be Observed Here

Universal Day of Prayer will be observed at Southern Illinois University Feb. 17, with several student religious foundations joining in an evening program to be held at the Wesley Foundation, according to Rev. Malcolm E. Gillespie, director of the Student Christian Foundation.

The Rev. Douglas Horton, distinguished Protestant theologian and educator, will be the guest speaker, to lecture on "An Interpretation of the Ecumenical Council." He will also speak on Monday at a faculty luncheon held at the Student Christian Foundation Center.

Also joining in the world-wide prayer observance will be the Camarbury Club (Episcopal student organization) and the Lutheran Student Association, Gillespie said.

The Rev. Mr. Horton, from 1955 to 1959 dean of Harvard Divinity School, has been the board of directors of the American University in Cairo and is a trustee of Princeton University. From 1943 to 1955 he was a lecturer at Union Theological Seminary. He has also taught at Chicago Theological Seminary and Andover Newton Theological School.

Phil Kappa Tau
Collects $525 In 'Line of Dimes'

The members of Phil Kappa Tau Fraternity sponsored a dinner last night at the chapter house honoring the Carbondale March of Dimes campaign and presented a $525 check to Max Waldron, Jackson County drive director.

The check was the proceeds from the SIU "Line of Dimes" conducted earlier this month by members of the fraternity.

This year's "Line of Dimes" was the most successful the fraternity has ever conducted, according to Stan Shapiro, co-chairman. Last year's total was $439, he said, Mike Hansin was the other co-chairman of the campus campaign.

Pick Up W-2 Forms For Tax Refunds

The Internal Revenue Service was advising students who earned less than $600 to get their W-2 wage slips and file an income tax return as soon as possible. This is the only way to get a refund due on next year's taxes withheld by employers.

Students who earned over $600 are reminded they must file, and may claim themselves as exemptions even though parents may also claim them as dependents.

Card form 1040A is the right one for students to use in filing their returns. The tax table which comes with this form makes it easy for students to determine what they owe in income taxes.

The Personnel Office now has distribution W-2 forms for students, faculty and staff who are employed by the University.

Transfer Student
Noes Buss Chess

The newly crowned king of the chess players on the SIU campus is Bruce Dawson of Chicago, a junior transfer student from Wilson Junior College, Chicago.

Second place winner was Byron Pappas, a freshman from Fairfield, Hung-Chad P. Han, a junior from Hong Kong, China, was third and Charles L. Kelch, a junior from Mokena, was fourth.

All four chess winners will be invited to attend the regional face-to-face tournament.

The lights glow late behind the yellow doors of the playhouse this week as the Southern Players prepare for opening night of "Right You Are".

A brightly colored signboard, shiny with fresh paint, announces the dates: Feb. 1-3, Feb. 5-9. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets for the performances are now on sale at the box office between 10 and 11 in the morning and 3 and 4 in the afternoon.

On stage, the players concentrate on their lines. They move self-consciously around the stage, interrupted occasionally by stage directions and whispered cue lines.

To the casual observer the strange combination of costume and street clothes and the unfinished stage set makes opening night seem a long way off. Yet this is how a play grows.

Within hours they will be ready to present to the SIU audience perplexing questions, rollickingly posed in "Right You Are If You Think You Are".

Jack Hartman Grades His Boys: 'Satisfactory'

Coach Says He Is Well Pleased
With Basketball Team So Far

Jack Hartman started the basketball season in November with a not too optimistic feeling. But after 17 games he is saying "Mason" with the progress of the SIU basketball team.

SIU is currently ranked third in the Associated Press and seventh in the United Press International small college polls.

"At this point I am very well pleased with our season," Hartman said, "I also feel we have made much progress and that we will continue to improve throughout the remainder of the season."

Hartman is in his first season as SIU's head basketball coach. He came to SIU from the Midland Junior College where his team won the national Junior college basketball championship.

Hartman arrived here knowing that SIU would be facing the toughest basketball schedule in its history but was hopeful of a fine season.

"Our defense has been sound," he said, "It has held us up in many of the tougher games especially against major opponents."

"Our success against major-college teams has inspired college division teams on our schedule to play well against us," he continued.

"Evansville, Ball State and Aecim Peaty all played extremely well against us because they were mentally ready."

Hartman explained SIU's poor showing at home this way, "Yes, I am disappointed that we haven't been able to play as well at home as we would like."

Hartman said, "Because I know how much the boys would like to play well before home fans."

"I sincerely feel that the infrequency of home games has been a factor in our inconsistent play at home," he added. "The boys want very much to play well at home that I think they have tightened themselves up trying too hard."

This year SIU has beaten six major-college teams on the road and in general have played very well on the road. The Salukis have beaten St. Bonaventure, Western Michigan, Oklahoma, Toledo, Western Kentucky and Fordham this year while losing only to Butler.

"I have been real proud of our kids in those games," Hartman said. "I'm extremely pleased with our games on the road and especially against major teams."

Hartman was apprehensive at the start of the season because of the schedule he had planned. He has hit 19.5 percent of his shots for a .430 average.

Hartman has improved as the season went along.

"I also scored in the double figures in five of those eight games with his highest point total being 19. He scored 19 points in the 71-67 win over Chicago.

In addition to his scoring ability, Hood is an exceptional rebounder. In several games this season he led the team in rebounds. His two best rebounding nights came against Fordham and Ball State. He pulled nine and eight rebounds off the board, respectively.

He also is one of the better shooters on this years SIU basketball team which sports an 11-6 record. He has hit 55 of 131 shots for a .430 percentage.

Last year Hood scored 310 points for a 10.0 game average. He hit 123 of 283 field goal attempts for a .434 shooting percentage. From the free throw line he hit on 64 of 89 charity attempts.

HAROLD HOOD
Sponsors Bus Trip For SIU-Cape Game

Students wanting to go to the SIU-Southeast Missouri basketball game (Feb. 13) can sign up now in the student activities center of the University Center.

Students may sign up for 50 cents which includes only the bus trip. They will pay for a ticket when they pick it up.

Frank Helligenstein announced that two buses have been scheduled for the trip but hopes that more will be necessary.

Just Like June, SIU Is Bustin' Out All Over

Record Breaking Enrollment Means All Available Classrooms Are In Use 34 Periods A Week

SIU is bustin' out all over. The University couldn't begin to accommodate its present enrollment today unless it utilized noon, evening, and Saturday morning classes," said Rino Bianchi, he speaks with knowledge.

As assistant to John's, Rendleman, executive director of business affairs, Bianchi makes studies of how classroom space is utilized at SIU. This year the average SIU classroom is used about 34 periods each week. The national average is 20 periods per week. Thus, Bianchi says, 99 percent of American universities use their classrooms less than Southern does.

Program Suggested To Help Mentally Subnormal Students

A program in high schools to assist mentally subnormal students is in press a productive place in society is suggested in an article by two faculty members of the College of Education.

The article, "Changing Philosophies of Special Education," recommends a program to keep the same in school until they are 19 or 20 years old.

It should be a program which uses academic, work evaluation and work experience to teach vocational, personal and social skills, according to the authors, G. C. P. Kolosz and J. P. S. Archibald, chairmen of SIU department of special education, and Roger O. Johnson, a psychology professor in the department.

The course, they say, should aim at helping auxiliary hand-capping conditions such as poor reading and visual and hearing problems. Also it should provide training in physical fitness, cleanliness and grooming.

The curriculum should teach self-confidence, cooperation, cheerfulness ability to accept criticism, mix socially and mind one's own business. The curriculum should teach initiative and respect for supervisors.

Their report calls for at least one hour of on-the-job training in the high school building and four to eight hours a day of on-the-job training off the high school campus with supervision by a high school faculty member.
