The $2-million question in SIU's 1974 appropriation bill, which applies for the University's employees and student workers—is back in the state Senate for an answer.

Actually, it's a $2,176,000 question—the difference between SIU's appropriation for its three秘密 for the University's employes and the state's three per cent lower figure that has cleared the House.

House Democratic leader Clyde Choate of Anna led a successful drive to block the Senate's extra three per cent salary boost for SIU employees Thursday, sending the appropriation bill back to the other body.

The Senate must now decide whether to withdraw its higher figure or send the matter to a joint conference committee.

According to Choate's press secretary, the Senate representative argued against the SIU increase because the eight per cent raises would be unfair to other state employes who are only slated for five per cent boosts.

Choate's press secretary said Friday that Choate was "in the lobby on his way to the House floor" when the U of I bill was voted on.

According to Choate, Walker has assured him he will veto the portion of U of I's $266 million appropriation providing an eight per cent pay increase.

A spokesman for Walker said the governor was "very much opposed to the additional increases" but would await legislative action on the other university appropriations before deciding to veto, sign, or reduce the U of I bill.

Several Murphysboro land owners agreed.

Robert Van Cloostere of RR 3, Murphysboro, said he was one of the first persons in the area to lease his land to oil companies, starting 12 or 14 years ago.

Van Cloostere said his land has been leased to two small oil companies and is currently leased to Amoco.

Wells have been drilled on the 2,300 acres Van Cloostere owns in Perry and Jackson counties, but no oil has been found, he said.

Abraham said he knows of only one well in the area that has struck oil. The oil gushed an hour before the well went dry, he said.

Wells were drilled two years ago on the 440 acres owned by R.A. Williams near Vincennes, but no oil was found.

Dean gets roadwork for new job at SIU

By Gary T. Hoy
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Charles B. Hunt Jr. has been getting tremendous support for his position as dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts.

He won't officially become dean until July 15, but he's been spending his weekends at SIU for several weeks. Hunt, 38, took some time out of a busy schedule Friday to discuss his background and some of his plans for his new job.

"I haven't had any time to practice in the last 16 years," he said, referring to his favorite musical instrument, the clarinet. "Since then, I've tried to bring the best out of the people I work with. That's what creativity is to me. And I hope some creative things can be done here."

Seeming at home in the office of the dean, Hunt said he is impressed with the campus and its employees, "There's a lot of first-rate talent here. I hope we can continue to have successes here."

Hunt said he expects to keep close to the people he has met at the Daily Egyptian Slall Writers, "One of the major oil companies has a five-year lease on Williams' land. He said he knew Tretter was going to drill at an angle from government land, to save money by leasing the land at a lower price from private landowners, and then drill at an angle from government land to private land."

Both Caldwell and Wallace Ridge, president of the First National Bank of Cobden, said they haven't heard of anyone in the Cobden area being contacted by oil companies.

Van Clouster said he couldn't understand objections of environmentalists to drilling in the forest. ""Oil is a natural resource we need very much," he said.

Van Clouster said he feels it is wrong not to use the resources found on government lands.

Handicapped youngsters get feel for nature in camp with a 'touch'

By David Kornblith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

At the Touch of Nature summer camp handicapped children get to experience something they rarely get to--nature, Jack Leggett, camp director, said Friday.

"Touch of Nature is a unique camp," Leggett said. "There is no other place in the area where handicapped children can be out with nature, riding horses and being with other children like themselves."

The camp provides canoeing, taking horse-back riding, arts and crafts shop and other activities for about 400 to 450 mentally and physically handicapped children throughout the state, Leggett said. The children range in age from 6 to 17.

"The camp is designed to give the children a feeling of confidence," Leggett said. By allowing the 90 campers a two-week session to do things they are not accustomed to doing, they gain experience they might not have ever gotten, he added.

Sessions are broken into two-week sessions. The camp runs from June 16 through August 10, Leggett said. Each camper is expected to pay $152 for the session.

In addition to the University the footed most of the bill for each camper, Leggett said. In September, the camp was facing a shutdown, because of budget cutbacks. University officials decided to start charging each camper

"The job itself will offer new horizons and challenges," said the 52-year-old Hogan.

Hogan is the second official in the department to resign within the last two months. Former police chief Joseph T. Dakin, 36, resigned June 4 because of a dispute with City Manager Carroll Fry over the police budget.

Dakin is now director of SU's two-year law enforcement program.

Hogan came to the Carbondale Police Department in April 1971 as a lieutenant.

"The past three years were very productive, meaningful and hearing," Hogan said.

Hogan is a 20-year veteran of the St. Louis Police Department. He has also worked as chief of security for Arlan's Department Store in St. Louis.

Hogan was one of 15 applicants who have applied for the chief's position in Carbondale.

John Gilbert, chairman of the Police Chief Evaluation Committee, said Friday he plans to send three recommendations to Fry shortly after the July 15 cutoff date for applications.

Fry said Friday that he plans to have the vacancy filled by Sept. 1. Hogan salary at Centralia will be $10,000 a year. As Carbondale acting chief he has been told to work on plans for a west bypass. An east bypass or widening existing roads through the city, said Jack Martell, locations study engineer, explained that the highway department had originally planned to widen Illinois Avenue to four lanes.

The planners now have told him the Carbondale Area Transportation Planning Committee will be deciding what will be done with Rt. 51 through Carbondale. The alternatives are a west bypass, an east bypass or widening existing roads through the city, said Martell.

Council to hear about demolition

The Carbondale City Council will hear specifications on the demolition of two homes on and around 15 St. Louis, in the Murray Park neighborhood. The old McDonald's restaurant and a vegetable stand, on the Lenus Turley corner of the intersection of Elm Street and South University Avenue in Carbondale are to be razed, said the city Planning Department recommended the area selected.

Writing the statement only takes about three months, Mocaldo said, but about six months are needed for the report to filter down to the various levels of the agencies involved.

"It looks good at this point," Mocaldo said. "We're writing the statement now and it should be available for the public about Oct. 1."

Carbondale Chamber names

Harold Calhoun as president

By John Russell

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Businessman Harold Calhoun, a lifetime Southern Illinois resident, will become president of the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Calhoun, owner of the H.R. Construction Co. and the Calhoun Valley and Circle Park Manor apartments, will succeed Dan Sherrick, president of the Bank of Carbondale, who resigned to move to Springfield.

The 35-year-old businessman said he doesn't have any plans for the chamber yet, other than to carry out the programs initiated by Sherrick.

The chamber plays a more important role in Carbondale that do divisions in many other communities, Calhoun said.

"It is the only function that ties in all phases of business in Carbondale," he said. "Without it I don't think you'd have any unity."

Calhoun said he has had six months to prepare for the presidency while serving as a senior vice president of the organization. In his three years as a member of the group he has also served as a vice president.

In the construction business since 1958, Calhoun said he, "sort of fell into" the apartment building complexes area in 1966. He and his wife Joanne and their four children ("ranging in age from eight to 13") live in a house in back of the Calhoun Valley complexes.

His other interests lie in farming, the Moose and Elks clubs, and the Knights of Columbus, for whom he pitches in a summer softball league.

The Chamber will move into a new office one month after Calhoun moves into the presidency. The new office will be located at 277 W. Walnut. Marvin Van Metre, executive vice president, said the new office will provide more office space, a larger parking area, and better visibility than at the old location at 219 W. Main.

The Chamber is also working with the Bike Centennial '76 program, as part of the U.S. bicentennial celebration.

Bike Centennial '76 is a national program planning a cross-country bike trail trip, Van Metre said. Carbondale is on the route of the coast-to-coast path, and the chamber is planning on working in conjunction with SIU and the SIU Bike Club to arrange hotels in Carbondale where the bikers may stay overnight.

Patrol vessel shelled, sunk in Japan Sea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—North Korean gunboats sank a South Korean maritime patrol vessel Friday, and the two governments quickly exchanged charges of provocation.

South Korea's chief spokesman, Information and Cultural Minister Youn Chuyung, accused the North of an unprovoked attack against the patrol craft. The craft was in international waters protecting fishing boats, Chuyung said. The sunken vessel was reportedly in the 200-mile class with a crew of 30.

The number of casualties was not immediately known.

Youn said the Communist attack was another premeditated military provocation aimed at communicating the entire Korean peninsula.

He demanded an apology and return of possible survivors, as well as the bodies of any crewmen.

North Korea in turn accused the South of illegally dispatching the boat into Communist waters. In a broadcast it said North Korean naval forces sank the boat in self-defense and captured some survivors.

Survival series offered to women

The first of a five part series on "Survival Techniques for Woman at SIU" will be held at 7:30 Monday, on the first floor lounge of Neely Hall.

The first program of the series, "What Every Woman Needs to Know About SIU," will provide information on services and courses of special interest to women. Awareness games will be played and group discussions will take place.

The series of programs is sponsored by Women's Programs. Further information can be obtained at 439-578. The programs are open to the public.

Ehrlichman conspiracy trial opens

By Harry F. Rosenthal
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) - John D. Ehrlichman gave the final approval to the break-in of the Democratic National Committee's Watergate office three days before the break-in occurred, the government charged Friday in its opening of the Ehrlichman conspiracy trial.

Ehrlichman, prosecution witness on Monday and Tuesday, was identified by President Nixon's White House lawyer, John Ehrlichman's former boss, as having been a supervisor of the Plumbers.

Ehrlichman, who was said to be on the break-in team, was seen at a key meeting of the group of government agents and officials who planned the break-in at the offices of the Democratic National Committee.

In his testimony, Ehrlichman, who was a top National Security Council aide when the break-in occurred, said he was not involved in the planning of the break-in.

Evaluation for teachers taught in class

A course in teacher self-evaluation was incorrectly termed a "study" in the June 22 issue of the Daily Egyptian.

The course was taught by Helen James, associate professor of secondary education at SIU during winter and spring quarters. It was a voluntary course offered to teachers at Carbondale Community High School (CCHS).

James said she did not question and evaluate the teacher's performance, but that the 21 teachers participating evaluated themselves.

The teachers also evaluated each other and had CCHS students fill out questionnaires evaluating them.

"The teachers are to be commended for their efforts to improve themselves," James said. She said it would be desirable to maintain the high quality of instruction at CCHS.

James said the course was suggested by the CCHS school district in hopes of developing a model for teacher self-evaluation. Supt. William Holder was also a participant in the course, she said.

Teachers participating in the course met after the school day on their own time. James said. She spoke to the CCHS Board of Education June 20, but discussed the values of this type of evaluation. She said the board could provide the motivation needed to continue the evaluating process. The teachers would like release time from their jobs to organize the process, she said.

Convicted slayer may face further murder prosecution

By The Associated Press

Convicted slayer Robert F. Garwood Jr. will probably face prosecute for three other murders he has admitted, authorities said Friday.

A Hamilton County Court jury convicted Garwood of murder Thursday in the stabbing death of Philip Dombrowski, 21, of Schermecky. Garwood now faces 25 years to life in prison when he is sentenced July 8.

"We anticipate further murder prosecutions," said John Holcombe, Oskanss County district attorney. He said he would announce Thursday what he intends to do.

During the trial, Garwood confessed in the murder of Alison Hausk, 18, of Syracuse. Daniel Port, 18, of Oskanss; Susan Potz, 21, of Schermecky, and Susan Hausk, of Syracuse, has not been charged in any of these slayings.

The guilty verdict in the Dombrowski trial left the slain youth's mother, Mrs. C. B. Dombrowski, "satisfied," she said.

The parents of the three other youths said they were also relieved. Earl Petz, Susan's father, said at his home that he saw no reason to press any other charges against Garwood, including the murder of Susan Hausk.

"It doesn't seem necessary, if this conviction stands up," Petz said. Defense attorney Francis Beige said he would appeal because he had been refused a change of venue after the cost of the pending trial was made public.

Beige also said he would appeal because Garwood, 38, was "tryed by a jury of his peers. The average age was 43.5 years, probably the oldest jury average age known in the history of the United States.

Belge and Frank Arman, Garwood's other court-appointed attorney, face investigation. In pre-trial questioning of Garwood, they learned the location of the bodies of Hausk and Petez. They withheld the information because they considered it confidential under the lawyer-client relationship.

Response team named to hear zoning points

A neighborhood response team has been organized to hear zoning complaints from Carbondale citizens. City Manager Carroll Fry announced Friday.

The response team, made up of four city officials, will meet in any neighborhood with groups of 10 or more to discuss zoning problems beginning Monday. Fry said.

The team will meet in houses, backyards, parks or about anywhere to answer questions on the zoning issue, he said. This is an effort to reverse the usual procedure of citizens coming to city hall to voice complaints, Fry said.

"The response team will go to the citizens," Fry said.

Citizens who wish to schedule a meeting with the neighborhood response team should call John Vow, director of code enforcement at 549-3527.

Lack of communication with the citizens has been a problem bothering the city council. Fry said. The response team should help open up a direct line of communication if citizens will take advantage of it, he said.

In many cases, people have not known who to call to voice complaints or report violations, Fry said. Often citizens will call the code enforcement to report a violation which should be directed to the police, he said. The main function of the neighborhood response team should be to hear the problems and then direct them to the proper city officials, Fry said. Fry said he hopes the team will hear from students, single family residents and landlords alike to get all sides of the issue.

Members of the response team are: Vow, city planner; Tom McNamara, administrative assistant to the police chief and Phil Baever, director of industrial development.

Workshop series on aging planned

The second series of workshops for Black Aged and Aging began July 13 at the Easta C. Shalley Multi-purpose Center at 441 E. Willow.

Topics to be discussed during the second series of the workshop are much as attitudes of the black aged, cultural differences, psychological aspects and an overview on aging.

For further information about the workshop or information about further dates of the workshop, call 536-7999.

Trip to St. Louis offered by YMCA

The Jackson County YMCA is sponsoring a bus trip to the St. Louis region.

A bus will leave the YMCA at 8 a.m. and return to Carbondale by 5 p.m. Children must have completed the first grade or be accompanied by an adult in order to make the trip. A sack lunch and money for a drink must be furnished by those participating.

Registration for the trip and fare payment must be made by July 11. The cost for the trip is $3 for YMCA members and $5 for non-members.

For further information about the trip contact Rick Ford at 549-5380.
Watergate staff says Connally not responsible in tax probe

By Brooks Jackson
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee's staff says bureaucratic bungling and not John Connally, a key player in the Watergate scandal, is largely to blame for the failure to uncover any evidence of illegal donations.

The committee's staff report, released Friday, notes that Connally was the Senate's star witness in the Watergate hearings, and that his testimony was central to the committee's investigation.

But the report says that Connally was not involved in any illegal activities, and that the failure to uncover any evidence of such activities was due to a lack of cooperation from the IRS, the FBI, and the Justice Department.

The report also notes that the Watergate staff was not given access to all relevant documents, and that the committee's staff was not able to interview key witnesses.

The report concludes that the Watergate staff's conclusions about Connally's role in the Watergate scandal were not based on sufficient evidence, and that the committee's staff should have been more diligent in its investigations.

The report also calls for a review of the Watergate staff's investigations, and for more cooperation from the IRS, the FBI, and the Justice Department in the future.

By failing to expand the audit beyond the fiscal year in which the original political payment was discovered, the IRS missed evidence of massive illegal political donations by the cooperative, Associated Milk Producers, Inc.

These donations included an admittedly illegal $100,000 to President Nixon in 1969, apparently illegal money in Hubert H. Humphrey's campaigns in 1968, 1970, and 1972, and apparently illegal funding of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills' brief 1972 presidential campaign. They didn't surface until two years after the IRS audit, and then only as a result of Watergate and anti-trust investigations.

The IRS episode began with a routine audit of the milk producers in mid-1971, and dragged on through the following year.

Use of corporate money in federal political campaigns is illegal.

The Watergate committee's staff report, written principally by Democratic staff members David Dorson and Alan Weiss.

Consumer Advocate Office planned for 12 area counties

By Barbara Chamaess
Student Writer

A Regional Consumer Council, working in conjunction with the Illinois Attorney General Dan Walker’s Consumer Advocate Office, is being set up in Carbondale to serve consumers in Jackson and 11 other Southern Illinois counties.

The Consumer Advocate Office is starting a statewide system of eight bureaus and a manual appeals from a consumer lobby to tell legislators of consumer problems.

Other counties that will be served are Fayette, Bond, Marion, Madison, St. Clair, Washington, Randolph, Perry, Monroe, Clinton and Franklin.

“Everyone has a hobby but the consumer,” said James Tarr, an organizer of the council and group leader. “I think we have people in the legislature that are sympathetic with individual constituents. However, their actions are biased on the amount of pressure brought to bear.”

Tarr, a class coordinator for Carbondale Central High School, will return to teaching business classes this fall. His work with the council will be on a voluntary basis.

Because the council will be made up of volunteers, the cost of the operation (telephone calls and traveling expenses) will be paid by the Consumer Advocate Office. This will mean no increase in taxes for the consumer, Tarr said.

The first meeting, for all interested citizens, will be at 7:30 p.m. July 6 in the Carbondale Room of the Carbondale Savings and Loan, 300 W. Main St.

Tarr said he and a person from the Consumer Advocate Office will explain the system and organize a council. A representative of the office is expected to attend each meeting.

Tarr said the Consumer Advocate office will conduct a survey in the 12 counties to ask as many consumers as possible specific questions about problems they may be having. He explained the council will hear consumers’ complaints and turn over the information to the Consumer Advocate Office. The information may become the ground work for bills presented to the legislature to meet consumer problems.

Such legislation, Tarr suggested, can be expected to get the legislature’s attention because many voters will have had a part in the creation of it.

The need for a consumers council was accentuated by an experiment in the Chicago area by persons working with the Consumer Advocate Office, Tarr said. The experiment took a car in perfect condition and loosened the fan belt. They made sure this was the only problem.

They then took the car to several garages to have the car repaired. Costs for the repair ranged from $18 to $20, Tarr related.

The council will deal with any problem consumers have, he said, such as fuel allocation, wage and price stabilization, and quality of service and products.

The program is dependent on consumers’ interest and will, according to Tarr, “give them an opportunity to voice their opinion in a concerned manner. It will give them a direct line.”

Sex-and-handicapped panel finds some normal hang-ups

By Carl Courtier
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The biggest barrier to a fulfilling sex for a handicapped person is basically no different than that facing the general public, according to a mutual friend of confidence and communication.

That was the conclusion of eight participants in a panel discussion on sexuality and the handicapped, video-taped Friday for workshop and daylong use in the Wham video studio.

Moderating the panel was Harris Rubin, associate professor in the Stock market

ends first half
on dismal note

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined broadly again Friday, pitting the last six months of work as generally dismal first half of 1974.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials drifted down 1.41 to 802.17, windup with a net loss of 46.47 for the first six months of the year.

Declines outweighed advances 491 to 439 among the 1,766 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange in volume of 101.01 million shares.

The Dow had another of its periodic skidmarks at the 800 level, falling briefly below that point in early trading and then holding up again.

Although the Dow held several points above its closing low for the year so far—96.37 on May 28—several other indicators hit new low points as the first half ended.

The NYSE composite index, made up of all the approximately 1,500 common stocks listed on the exchange, lost 23 Friday to 46.00, its lowest close since Sept. 16, 1970.

Westinghouse Electric was the Big Board volume leader, up 13% after a delayed opening. The issue, 14% points Thursday before trading was halted as the company issued a statement excising what it described as "irresponsible and unfounded" rumors about its financial condition.

Real estate investment trusts, which generally have been under pressure recently and are treading worries, once again dominated the list of percentage losers on the Big Board.

Roaming gypsies a problem, immigration officials report

CHICAGO (AP)—Deporation of a gypsy king without a kingdom and his 75 nomadic followers has become a diplomatic problem, immigration officials said Friday.

Meanwhile, George Kosarav, and his band roam the streets of Chicago as they pursue the Wild West in Europe, said Kosarav.

"They The Netherlands say they can't tolerate them because they don't have U.S. travel documents," said David Vandersall, acting regional immigration director. "Immigration officials say the band illegally crossed the Mexican border near Nogales Feb. 26 after leaving a Dutch airlines tour in Mexico City.

Best of 7 Inn hit by hold-up; city police seek lone gunman

The Best of 7 Inn on East Main Street in Carbondale was robbed of an undetermined amount of money Friday at 1 a.m. by a man with a sawed-off shotgun.

H. Clyde Smith, owner of the Inn, told police that the assailant demanded all of the money.

"Smith said that he didn't get a good look at the man because he kept staring at the barrel of the gun," said L.J. Jerry Reo of the Carbondale police.

Smith described the man as a black man in his mid 20's, 5'4 to 5'7 and weighing 145 pounds. He had an Affroyo hairstyle.

Carbondale police are continuing the investigation.

"They had round-trip tickets to Amsterdam, but they let them ex-

We've done a good job of persuading gypsies to just come in and out of the U.S. legally, but down here in the Midwest, they've been crossing the border. Allegations of petty thefts and burglaries have followed them. We're watching this problem very carefully.

"We don't want them down here in the city," said one of King George's band.

Carbondale residents hear Guru Maharaj Ji at festival

Approximately 25 persons from Carbondale plan to attend a festival July 5-7 at which the Guru Maharaj Ji, is expected to speak according to "Hill Waddell, coordinator of Divine Information Center in Car-

Carbondale. The festival known as Guru Puja, honors the young spiritual head of the Divine Light Mission with programs based upon a Hindu tradition of worship of the Perfect Master during the full moon of "Harki," or July.

Day-time programs will include workshops for Masonic members on the spiritual aspects of the Guru Ji's teachings, music, and on organizational aspects of the Mission's various social service programs. Continuous music, dances and spiritual discourse will be held daily.

The day programs are mainly for followers of Maharaj Ji, Waddell said, but evening programs will be open to the public at which the Guru Ji is expected to speak.

Connors fights back to remain in Wimbledon

By Will Grimsley
AP Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England - Swinging Jimmy Connors, two points from elimination, slashed back with bold, nervy tennis Friday for a marathon five-set victory over a dartishaw Australian and kept America's last line-unknown in the Wimbledon Championships.

The brush young left-hander from Belleville, Ill., won 7-6, 6-4, 6-2 over Phil Deeds, a 30-year-old byliner, in a match started 9 hours earlier and then trudged for three times in interrupted by rain.

Connors, accompanied with Stan Smith as No. 1 in the United States, swept into the third round along with veteran Arthur Ashe of Miami, seeded No. 8, who beat the Soviet Union's Taimirn Kalahull 64, 6-2.

"I thought I should do something to help along the comeback fortune," Ashe remarked afterward, referring to President Nixon's current visit to the USSR.

Another top-seeded player, Tom Okker of The Netherlands, 7, also squirmed out a straight-set triumph through intermittent raindrops, beating Stanislas Matney of Hungary, 6-4, 6-7, 6-2. But it wasn't easy. Three days of off-and-on showers have almost destroyed the program of the proud All-English club, hunking up some 18 matches and forcing the committee into a two-hour early start Saturday.

The situation has become so desperate that it will be necessary for players such as favored Billie Jean King and Chris Evert in the women's division, who are signed up for doubles and mixed doubles as well, to play matches in the next seven days if they are to go all the way.

Mrs. King has scored the rare triple twin -in 1967 and 1973. Louis Brough also did it in 1967 and 1968, and now the record of three is held by the late Suzanne Lenglen of France in the era just following World War I.

Both Mrs. King and Miss Evert were idle Friday but two other of the seeded ladies swept forward. Evonne Goolagong, No. 3 from Australia, won easily over Isla Kins of South Africa 6-2, 6-4. Rosemary Casals from Florida No. 4 had a struggle with Pam Green of Los Angeles before winning 6-2, 9-6.

Cop trades in cap for helmet

CHICAGO (AP) - An eight-year-old police veteran is trading in his high school's uniform for a Chicago Bears football suit.

"This is the dream will ever have," said Gary Cop, 8, of Evanston, Ill. "I've always wanted to work for the city until this day." He recently was hired by the city as a police officer.

Copp, who dreams of becoming a cop, said he plans to use the new uniform for his own benefit. "I want to be able to wear it and be a cop," he said.

Ex-Chief of A's faces devilsish job with Angels

By Ron Roach

ANAHEIM - Dick Williams, who took the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim to the World Series triumphs the past two years, is back in baseball with the task of straightening out the California Angels.

Williams, 45, is in enforced retirement from managing after quitting Connie Fox's Athletic as last spring's manager.

He takes over from interim manager Whitey Herzog, Monday, but in time to take the field against Oakland at Anaheim Stadium.

The Angel front office respects his reputation as an iron-fisted manager. If he could get along with the Registrar at Oakland, he can handle the Frank Robinson at California, was the prevailing feeling.

Williams said he was fired because he couldn't handle Robinson, the 36-year-old designated hitter in his 19th big league season, a black man who complaints to manage in the big leagues. Robinson said he wasn't asking Williams to manage more.

"He said, 'You talk to any manager of color and you'll learn the fact that I've never caused trouble.'" Williams has a $35,000-year contract at an estimated $1,500,000 a year-

Home-made pool serves tankers

SIU Swimming Coach Bob Steele has seven college swimmers under his training this summer on a "home-made" 50-meter pool, constructed at the Lake-on-the-

Four of the swimmers are from SIU, one from Iowa State, and one from Illinois State and one from North-

Western University.

Dennis Roberts, Dave Boyd, Ken Meyer and Ken Munroe are from the Saluki swim team. Tom Mancuso is from Illinois State and Phil Dodson is from Northwestern University.

The group has handled their own 50-meter course on the Lake-on-the-

Tom Steele said that Indianans, Wisconsin and other schools with swimming teams will meet. The Carbondale-based team will also compete in the Aug. 20 AAU meet.

The pool is swimming 10 miles per day across the cloudy course and Steele claims that the 50-meter course is a good preparation course for collegiate swimming because it involves less turns.

Communication Workshops fall to 45

The SIU Summer Workshop in Communications, designed for high school students, opened Sunday with a slight decrease in enrollment from last year’s figure.

The workshops, which included six commuters at the two-week and one-week levels, was 36 percent lower than last year’s total.

The four remaining workshops are those in Theater, Radio, and Oral Interpretation.

The Communications Workshop began in 1957 with only 24 students at a four-week session of debate.

The classes in theater, journalism, radio-TV, photography, and public relations, which have various levels, have all been canceled.

Tumblers to baseball players

What is considered a diagnostic problem by the SIU Communications Workshop is the small number of students in the workshops this year. The decrease was expected, however, the reason for the decrease was not as great as expected.

The SIU Communications Workshop is a four-week workshop that attracts students from all over the United States.

The workshop is split into two sections, one for high school students and one for college students.

The high school section is divided into three parts: the first part is for students who are considering a career in communications, the second part is for students who are currently enrolled in a communications course, and the third part is for students who are interested in communications but do not have a communications course.

The college section is divided into two parts: the first part is for students who are currently enrolled in a communications course, and the second part is for students who are interested in communications but do not have a communications course.

The workshops are open to students of all ages, but the majority of students are high school students.
