Caracas Police Fire Bazookas At Snipers

Caracas, Venezuela-Police firing bazookas flashed snipers from buildings in downtown Caracas as officials strove to quell pro-Communist violence that has left nearly 100 dead or wounded. A woman was killed and six other persons, including a policeman, were wounded as fighting spread from the workers' suburbs to El Silencio, a district of modern business buildings.

Coming on the heels of Venezuela's worst day of terrorism Tuesday, the new casualties put the two-day toll at 20 killed and 76 wounded. President Romulo Betancourt remained in his office as police, the army and national guard poured into the streets.

The number under arrest rose to 130, and police said most were Communist party members. Many were youths who wore black pants and red sweaters, as a sort of uniform. Among those held were 40 persons seized by troops Tuesday night for sniping at traffic.

Hot Line For NATO

Washington--A House Republican task force on NATO unity has urged President Kennedy to call North Atlantic Treaty Allies in on the "hot line" between Washington and Moscow.

The group headed by Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said in a statement that the Kremlin-White House emergency communication link was negotiated bilaterally and secretly with Russia and has contributed greatly to what they called the current disarray in the NATO alliance.

U.S. Fears Refusal Of Aid Will Swing Cambodia To Reds

Phnom Penh, Cambodia—American prepared Wednesday night to dismantle their aid machinery, fearful that Cambodia's refusal to accept further U.S. assistance will swing the nation into Red China's powerful orbit.

U.S. Ambassador Philip D. Sprouse was summoned to the Foreign Ministry, presumably to get the word that U.S. food and dollars are no longer welcome. He has not seen Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, for several months.

In Washington, the State Department reported Cambodia sent a note asking negotiations to end U.S. aid. Sihanouk was said to have expressed his thanks for U.S. aid and reaffirmed his friendship.

Work on all U.S. aid projects halted Tuesday after Sihanouk told a meeting in Peking that Red China will give "resolute support to the Cambodian people in their just and patriotic struggle against imperialism and for the defense of their sovereignty." Red China and the Soviet Union have been sending aid to Cambodia but it is small compared with the American effort.

Thailand, a neighbor on the north which has its own quarrel with Cambodia over border issues, accused Sihanouk of "Selling his country to Communist China."

Sihanouk will ask the three million Cambodians to tighten their belts, will nationalize number of businesses Dec. 31 and has announced the government will take over banks next July.

U.S. officials said aid programs, mostly agricultural and educational projects, will be closed out as soon as possible.

300 Students Protest Copper In Baghdad

London--Three hundred Iraqi students protesting Monday's army coup in Baghdad occupied Iraq's Embassy for six hours Wednesday.

Then they filed out peacefully, claiming they had achieved their objectives.

The demonstrators had said they would stay in the embassy for weeks if necessary. But they quit after a Soviet deputation held talks with Ambassador Abdul Hazzaz.

The envoy asked them to leave, but discussed the matter and convinced them that they should behave in a proper manner.

Zvihar Kadiri, 29, spokesman for the students, claimed they had been told that President Abdul Salam Aref, leader of the military coup, will form a new Iraqi government including representatives of the deposed Baathist Socialist party.

"This is what we needed to know," he said.

General Exam Information
Examinations for one and two-credit hour courses will be held during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the formal final examination period. Three, four, and five credit hour courses will meet at the times listed above.

A student who finds he has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations scheduled at one time should petition, his academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that a student may decide to miss his scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for a student whose petition has been approved by his dean.

A student who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. In the event a student misses a final examination and is not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph, a "WF" will be recorded on the permanent record of the instructor, A "WF" grade must be completed within one year of the end of the quarter involved; otherwise, it must remain as an incomplete grade.

A special note needs to be made relative to examinations for evening sections for those classes which have been granted a special time for examining all sections. As some students attending at night may not be able to attend the special examination period scheduled for the daytime, each department involved will have to arrange special examination periods for such students. This problem involved those night students who are fully employed during the day and who are taking night courses because it is the only time they are able to do so.

Ciardi's Latest Volume Short Of Early Promise

John Ciardi shares many qualities with the best teachers of literature; he is an engaging and persuasive stimulator (even controversially) who has the capacity to convey complex and experienced knowledge and understanding. Unfortunately, he appears to have the occasional habit of talking about poetry better than he writes it.

In the number of years now Ciardi's stature as a public personality has been steadily increasing. As poetry editor of the Saturday Review he has emerged as a public figure, criticized, feared and challeng­ing in essays and reviews. His book, Made to Order, made him one of the highest paid men on the platform. His career is often referred to as "Accent," while not a commercial success, did earn praise for its imaginative use of "educational" materials.

What of Ciardi's development as a poet? In the six­ ninth and latest volume of poetry, one is left to the conclusion that his early promise is not being fulfilled; this may be partly below first rank.

The title serves to indicate the subject matter of the writer. What he wants to do is to transform the usual intellectual experience into statements of permanent beauty. If one away from the obscurity of the fashionable poets of the 1930's and early 1960's he published an essay in which he formulated a list of guidelines which he attempted to write his poems. First on the list was the point that "the very language should be understandable. of course he added that he did not mean "paraphrasable," and that a good poem usually means several things at once.

Most readers welcome such a clear appraisal of a leadership in the movement would be more effective if his expressions were even more unflattering. However, there are attractive aspects to this collection of essays to encounter familiar and homely subjects: Saturday Review, among other things, being social responsi­

The result was a chain reaction culminating in Pearl Harbor. Japan's ultimate defeat removed the last effective barrier to Soviet Communism's expansion to the Pacific. This was called the first trigger of the Cold War.

The second colossal blunder, we are told, was the failure of the Roosevelt admin­

However, his approach is to identify critics and criticisms and to shoot them down immediately, to describe Peace Corps in terms of the Chinese and their post card incidents and not to lightly gloss over them completely.

The reader is soon convinced that Mr. Winkenbach believes in the Peace Corps, that he wants to call them off errors, and that in his implication that the reader may seriously question his objectivity.

Actually most of the writing about the Peace Corps seems to be a matter of writing emotionally for or emotionally against the Peace Corps. The majority of the writing and publicity seems to fall in the first category, that of overstating the case.

One still looks in vain for a genuinely objective appraisal of the accomplish­ments of the Peace Corps in terms of its original object­ives. There is a need to get at this matter objec­tively at the present time that it may be expected that Mr. Winkenbach's "The Peace Corps" will market well.

Much of the justification of the Peace Corps lies in the political objec­tion of lack of any organization that is capable of comparing with the Peace Corps. In the Peace Corps, there are some basic questions which need to be answered.

In meeting the needs of the new generation of volunteers, all kind of balance must be kept between thoroughly trained professionals and short-term helpers who are not volunteers? How does the effec­tiveness of assistance at the local level compare with the effectiveness of assistance at the national level? How are the making schemes in the political, social and economic aspects of the world? What is the actual level of support from the Peace Corps? Peace Corps and the Peace Corps type unnecessarily.

In reading the case his­tories and personal accounts of the Peace Corps, one must be careful to note the headings. Two of the most important headings deal with the work of the Inter­national Voluntary Service in India and the Catholic Relief Services in Viet Nam. After reading the book, one so that almost always already the impression that these are Peace Corps type unnecessarily.

As a matter of fact, the IVS / Indo - China operation described in this particular project carried out by IVS under contract with that Agency. In spite of the bias of enthusiasm generated by glorification of the Peace Corps in both cases, it is suggested that the project carried out by IVS under contract with that Agency.

Annual Intrasquad Gym Meet To Provide Pre-Season Debut

A pre-season showing of SIU's gymnastic team is in store for the fans next Monday night, when the local squad presents its annual intramural meet. 7:30 p.m. in the Men's Gymnasium.

Coach Bill Meade figures his talented squad of ladies will be able to compete in all of his regular events, but he has yet to fully recover from a broken toe. He will compete, although not in his special events.

In addition to Mitchell, the varisty will be staffed by veterans Rusty Mitchell, Bill Hildick, Ray Yano, Steve Pasaureaux, Tom Geocaris and John Proebk. Yano and Proebk are highly-regarded transfers. Proebk came to SIU from Iowa, and will not be eligible for intercollegiate competition until January.

Heading a strong contingent of freshmen will be Frank Schmitz, a newcomer who has left his imprint on the potential.

From Lafayette, III., Schmitz was an AAU National Trampoline champion and Meade has high hopes for the younger when he recovers from varisty status.

Another heralded freshman is Joe Nappi, whose home is Columbus, Ohio, but he transferred here from Passadena Junior College. Nappi is an AAU National Junior All-\around champ, with outstanding abilities in free exercise and rings.

Scheduled events on the Monday program include the five regular competitive events: floor exercise, high bar, side horse and steel rings—as well as the standard four varied and trampoline.
