Cold Weather Fails to Slow Construction

The cold weather is bringing only the normal amount of construction slowdowns, said William A. Volk, associate university architect.

While the weather is slowing down some jobs, he continued, "It isn't stopping any of them."

The reason for this, Volk indicated, is that most of the jobs have been sealed off from the long overdue Southern Illinois winter and inside work can continue at near normal speed, as long as the chilly winds do not prevent it.

When asked if the lateness of winter this year has put some of the jobs ahead, Bob said construction people are pessimistic by nature and talk as if they are always behind.

The cold weather, however, is expected to knock Volk off schedule in bagging a deer this season, but he points out that "I have three more days."

Morris Revamps Organization Of Area and Student Services

Concept of 'One University' Furthered on 2 Campuses

President Deloye W. Morris has announced a vast reorganization of area and student services affecting both Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses and furthering the "one university" concept.

In a special announcement to the faculty and staff, Morris said the reorganization is aimed at assisting "the orderly implementation of the new Statutes of the Board of Trustees."

It is hoped the new structure will provide a basis for "more effective day-to-day operations" and establish a framework for developing working papers required by the statutes.

Three new staff positions were established under the vice president for area and student services, Ralph W. Ruffner.

William Tudor, now director of Area Services Division, was appointed special assistant for legislative information; I. Clark Davis, director of student affairs, Carbondale, was named special assistant, Carbondale Campus; and Howard V. Davis, director of student affairs, Edwardsville, was named special assistant, Edwardsville Campus.

Three division were set up under the new structure:

(1) International Services Division will include the offices of the dean of international students and the coordinator of international programs.

(2) State and National Public Services Division will include the Community Development Service, Office of Public Administration and Metropolitan Affairs, Alumni Service and Placement Service.

(3) The new Communications Media Services Division will include the information, broadcasting and photographic services for both campuses.

Robert Jacobs was appointed dean of the International Services Division.

Weather to Be:

Eskimo or Saluki?

Whether to wrap up like an eskimo or drape normally, that is the question.

Temperatures have taken a drop from last week's mild weather, the thermometer on Monday showed a low of 27 and a high of 50.

This sudden change leads to the question of what will happen today.

According to history, anything could happen. In 1931, the record high for Nov. 23 was 78. In 1937 the record low was set at 27.

According to the forecasters the weather today will be fair with a high in mid 50s.
Happy With 'Parents'

By Shirley Hollinger

"Dear Foster Parents,

"I was very happy to know that you have decided to adopt me as your foster child to help from now on. My whole family thank you, too, for it and they are happy too..."

These are the words of Cho Jae Ho, a 10-year-old Korean boy who is the foster child of the AFROTC Advanced Cadet Corps. The corps adopted Cho Jae in May, 1964, through the Foster Parents Plan.

Four members of the corps saw a Foster Parents advertisement in the Air Force Times newspaper and wrote for more information. After receiving the information, the corps initiated the plan and collected the $90 needed for the first six-month period. They had their choice of any one of 10 countries and of approximate ages for the boys.

The corps has just completed their collection for the second six-month period. The collection committee, headed by John Adams, raised $30 more than the $240 required. This surplus will go into the fund for next six-month period. The Corps has received three letters from Cho Jae, who writes his letters in Korean. They are then translated into English.

Cho Jae is in the third grade at Ami Primary School. Each month he sends home $3 plus other items such as, cookies, ink, soap, insect lotion, poplin, and clothing.

Cho Jae's family consists of his mother, one sister, and two brothers. His father died when Cho Jae was 2 years old. His mother works in a cotton mill. There are no other brothers. His mother works in a cloth mill.

"My whole family is thankful to you. Hope to hear from you soon. May God watch your health and lucky. Praying for you.

With love, Cho Jae Ho"

Playwright's Tales of a Paper, Newman Writes of a Play

The playwright has written or rewritten newspaper and newspaperman writes of the play. This is the background of this review of "God in the Hamstick" by Clifford Haislip, who did graduate work at SIU, has written a play about school desegregation situation in a small, southern town. The play is focused around a teacher, a native of the community, who has always been part of her life in the North and returns with liberal ideas to ward racial segregation.

A nation exposed to a long, historic, such policy, can pretty well predict the outcome with this as the plot setting. It's the liberal versus reactionaries theme; the liberal happens to have a pet stovepipe as a vehicle of expression, and she and the good mothers keep her views on desegregation.

The author has set forth a plot of writing a great drama combining truth and fiction, in a plot that could be found in any number of small towns in southern states in recent years.

But more than this, the author has sought to measure a study of the world editor, played by Helen Seitz.

As it turned out Friday night, this review, wrote of the review. It's the minor who has sought to achieve a drama with a strong message, and here was an opportunity to do it. The cast was adequate, but just a little heavy on the corn on the cob born in several instances.

For a newspaper reviewer, the newspaper office in which the play was set was just a little too quiet, and a little to tidy one.

The cast was adequate, but just a little heavy on the corn on the cob in several instances.

Thanksgiving

It is perhaps characteristic of our civilization to erect parameters of definition about everything, to specify, and to point simply every entity to its very essence. This specification is essential to an advanced technology, for technology itself is an empirical thing. But it is also valuable to common usage of words in our language, for it allows each a common ground from which to build his own meaning.

Thanksgiving is defined. It is a national holiday in the United States commemorating the harvest of the Plymouth Colony in Nov. On Nov. 26, 1879, George Washington proclaimed a national day of thanks. Lincoln revived the custom in 1863. Since 1941, according to a joint resolution of Congress, the holiday falls on the Thursday in November.

Outdoor Education Begins Newsletter

The first issue of a newsletter on the outdoor education program in Illinois, beginning this semester, is in the hands of the Peace Corps. The other student dropped out due to illness.

The program, in its fourth year nationally, provides a registered outdoor education fellowship for a year’s study. Starting with the 1965-66 summer session and extending through June 30, 1968, additional funds are available for the increase in the number of students receiving fellowships. NDEA officials in Washington announced.

Fellowships are for study of Arabic, Chinese, Hindi-Urdu, Japanese, Portuguese, Russian, and Latin American Spanish. Spanish is the only language that all fellowships can be used at Southern Illinois University.

Members of the SIU community who are interested in participating in the Outdoor Education Program should contact the Department of Foreign Languages, and Joseph R. Cummins, assistant professor of foreign languages.

Flag Pledge Reference to God
Upheld by Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court refused Monday to interfere with the requirement by pupils in public schools of a pledge of allegiance containing the words "under God." The refusal to prohibit an "under God" pledge of allegiance to the flag was significant in light of questions raised when the court banned religious exercises by school authorities. The court, however, made no comment on the question Monday in unanimously rejecting an appeal by parents of two children in schools of Richmond County, N.Y.

Joseph Lewis and Alfred L. Klein of the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Kansas City, Missouri, asked that the pledge of allegiance be removed from the flag because they contended, "has the necessary effect of advancing religion and thereby appears to fail the test of First Amendment validity."

New York was joined by attorneys general from 31 states in asking that the appeal be rejected. The state argued that the pledge is not a religious exercise but a patriotic ceremony.

Warren Testimony Reflects
"Nightmare Sense of Unreal"

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Warren Commission's report to the American people on the possibility of assassinating President Kennedy, Johnson and scores of others, "My husband never made a sound," recalled the president's young widow of the instant the bullets struck. "He had this sort of quizzical look on his face, and his hand was up..."

To Lyndon B. Johnson it all had a nightmare sense of the "unreal, unbelievable." And to Mrs. Johnston, the most heart-wrenching moment of that tragic day — a year and two days ago — was seeing Jacqueline Kennedy, "that immaculate woman," wearing gloves soaked with her husband's blood.

She told Mrs. Kennedy, "you know we never ever wanted to be vice president and now, dear God, we are."

The grim story of Nov. 22, 1963, and the following events as told in the 26 volumes of the Warren Commission's report in preparing its recent report on Kennedy's assassination in proceedings before the joint subcommittee of the Senate and House on Wednesday, the 24 hours after the AP dispatches were transmitted the White House announced the immediate release and public sale of the full transcript.

The transcript shows:
- Despite urging of officials and concern for the government, Johnson held up the presidential plane in Dallas, so that it could return to Washington. The body of the dead president was sent to Dallas in the widow still wearing her blood-stained clothing — a lady of nobility and dignity," said Johnson of Mrs. Kennedy.
- The massive report was based on months of evidence-taking, and it is a transcript of these hearings, statements and other documents that became available Monday.
Discount Rate Hiked
By Federal Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board Monday raised the discount rate from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent.

The Federal Reserve said the action was taken in order to counter "possible capital outflows that might be prompted by widening spread between interest rates in this country and the higher rates abroad." Britain's bank rate was raised Monday from 5 to 7 per cent.

The discount rate is the interest charged member banks for borrowings from the Federal Reserve.

The British government boosted Bank of England lending rates in an effort to ward off a crisis that had made the pound sterling wobble and had brought talk of devaluation.

In one move, the swiftness of which demonstrated the underlying urgency, the bank rate was raised as high as it has been in modern times.

The rates followed a weekend in which foreign confidence in sterling appeared to be evaporating at an alarming rate. With the nation's international trade seemingly headed for its biggest-ever annual deficit, financiers had started shedding pounds as fast as they could unload them.

This trend was instantly checked by the higher bank rate.

Within hours of the announcement, one leading dealer reported substantial buying of sterling by the continent.

The pound-dollar relationship, which last Friday sank to the lowest in eight years, $2.7825 to the pound, quickly picked up to a rate of more than $2.79.

The $2.7825 rate is the floor at which the Bank of England must pay out gold for support, and it is believed to have paid out from $30 million to $60 million for Friday alone. The pound was devalued in 1949 from $4.85 to $2.80.

Government spokesmen said they had put up the rate only to combat speculation on the pound, and will lower it as soon as the pressure is off. This assurance was given to union leaders by Economics Minister George Brown when he met with them to confer on long-range plans for boosting the economy.

IRISH REMAIN TOPS IN POLL

Ford Production
To Resume Today

DETROIT (AP) — With the last of its local strikes settled, Ford Motor Co. plans to begin turning out automobiles again today.

The first of 80,000 laid-off or strike-idled employees returned to manufacturing plants over the weekend, and passenger car assembly lines tentatively were scheduled to begin rolling again today in Dallas, Louisville and Wixom, Michigan.

Ford said it may be a week before it gets its coast-to-coast network of 17 assembly plants fully back into the 1965 model car production race.

Kerner to Push for Increase
In Aid to Schools Next Year

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner said Monday he will push for a substantial increase in state aid to schools next year but declined to forecast whether a tax hike will be necessary.

Kerner indicated reappropriation of both the House and Senate on a population basis and adoption of a new state revenue article will get his top priority in the General Assembly which opens in January.

He said he also will seek enactment of a minimum wage law, open occupancy legislation and elevation of the Board of Economic Development to cabinet level.

At his first news conference since his re-election, Kerner said he planned no vacation at all but would concentrate on his legislative program and budgetary matters between now and the first of the year.

Kerner would not say whether he agreed with a recommendation by state School Supt. Ray Page and the Illinois Education Association that pupil support for grade and high schools be hiked from the present $252 to $354.

Such an increase would boost state aid by $108 million in the next two-year fiscal period. Present school costs total about $433 million in state funds.

Kerner said he would be unable to say whether new taxes would be necessary until he receives complete reports on anticipated state revenue and proposed budgets for state agencies.

The last major tax hike boosted the state sales tax a half cent, to 3 1/2 cents in 1961.

Kerner said his proposed revenue article would be the same as the one rejected by the legislature in the 1963 session.

He said the present personal property tax "must be abolished" because it is "con­ discriminatory and hard to collect." He added later, however, the governor might support elimination of all personal property taxes except those on automobiles.

The governor said he was awaiting results of the at-large House election before calling legislative leaders together to enlist bi-partisan support for a master plan for better education.

Kerner attributed his re-election to "support for a master plan for better education."

He said he would consider running for a third term, Kerner said: "I think you ought to let me start my second term first."

Housing No Barrier to Coeds But Does Present Its Problems

By Jack Sampson

Housing hardly seems to be a barrier to college-bound women who want to come to SIU.

Women's housing on most campuses is much more restricted than men's, said Mrs. Helen Farlow of the Extension Division, University of Illinois, in a discussion held in conjunction with the meeting of the Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

Housing is a barrier to many state universities and land grant colleges, women must stay in college-approved dormitories while men can make their own housing arrangements.

Men and women at SIU are treated much the same with the exception of the curbew for women in supervised housing. Women do not live in dormitories in the week-ends. 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights and 11 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Anita Kuo, off-campus housing supervisor at SIU, said both men and women have the freedom to choose wherever they wish to live as long as it is approved by the Housing Office.

There are more than 400 off-campus dormitories located all over the campus and around Carbondale.

There are even a greater number of supervised housing approved by the Housing Office.

The Housing Office recommends that students planning to live off-campus make their own arrangements with the individual householders.

When asked about housing as a barrier to off-campus living at SIU, students expressed different points of view.

"The women's housing situation on this campus is in a state of complete disgrace," one student stated. "Most of the off-campus dorms are unheated and unmaintained as cleanliness and roominess go.

Though it was easy to get into these off-campus dorms, once you move into them you regret the fact that you ever came to college, I think off-campus housing should have house mothers to run the dorm rather than students," another student said.

Another replied, "Well, it really isn't hard to get into off-campus housing. The problem is getting out. Most of the off-campus housing is well supervised, but some authority-seekers have a tendency to rule as dictators. I would rather live in Woody, TP, or a trailer." The Housing Office is currently striving to develop the Area Program for off-campus housing.

The purpose of the Area Program is to create a neighborhood activity by dividing Carbondale and other vicinities into housing areas. There are eight such areas.

It seems that men's reactions to housing at SIU were less critical.

One student said, "I got a $40 loan from the housing office and checked out the vacancies. Out of three houses that had vacancies, I chose the best that suited my needs.

Another fellow said, "When I first came here, I headed for campus housing and it was full everywhere I went. I then began to ask around and finally wandered into a very nice place by talking to the right people.

Nationally Known Educational Center Finding Answer to Problem of Reading Comprehension

By Frank Messersmith

Spot is a dog. See Spot Run. Spot runs fast. The center is a dog. It can run. Spot is a dog. You can read those three familiar sentences and understand what they mean. This is a primitive way of getting the point across, but the fact is many students do not have the ability to understand what they read.

This is an old problem but not impossible to solve. SIU students are being denied the advantage of reading fortunate, because on the campus is a branch of the College of Education called the Reading Center, which is nationally known for improving reading skills.

This College of Education agency is the Reading Center, and it is a center of activity. They are, 1) to assist academic departments in developing curricula for preparing reading specialists and to prepare students for these majors, 2) to offer consultation services in reading, 3) to serve as a clearing house for possible solutions to reading problems, 4) to provide diagnostic evaluations and corrective treatment for children, older students and adults, and 5) to conduct research in human learning.

The Director of the Reading Center is Robert Karlin, professor in the College of Education. Karlin, a distinguished-looking gray-haired man who sits relaxed at his desk in front of an enormous gray, black and white modern abstract, is concerned that students and faculty at SIU don't know that the Reading Center exists.

"We have had several students come to us after they started their master's degree work in English, and express their regret at not knowing about the graduate reading course available," Karlin said.

Many English and education majors are interested in the instruction of reading, but they just haven't discovered our program," Karlin said.

"They know us in California, New York and Uruguay, but not in Carbondale," Karlin said, "How come?"

Maybe we don't "blow our own horn" enough as others do around here, he continued.

The major purpose of the Reading Center, according to Karlin, is the instructing and preparing of students to teach reading.

The other purposes are part of the total program which involves training, research and services as most campus units do.

The center is also a cooperating agency in the clinical services.

The Reading Center offers a course for students to increase reading ability, but unfortunately many aren't interested because it is a non-credit course.

The course, elementary education 000, emphasizes comprehension reading, and stresses meaning and flexibility, according to Karlin.

Graduate students preparing for a higher degree as a reading specialist and consultant can select from a diverse range of courses.

These integrated courses of study, which presently are offered through the Department of Elementary Education and Secondary Education lead to the master's degree, Sixth Year Professional Certificate, and Ph. D., masters.

2-8 Football Season Ends With 2-0 Loss

Loosing, like penalties and pass interceptions, is a part of collegiate football. The frustrating thing about losing, though, is when a team—namely SIU—makes a habit of the practice.

Saluki Gymnasts to Compete In Intersquad Meet Tonight

Southern Illinois University's gymnasts, who last year won the NCAA Champion­ship, will prepare for their title defense by holding an intersquad meet at 7:30 tonight in the Arena.

This meet will pit the junior and seniors against the freshmen and sophomores. Since Saluki coach Bill Meade started this meet in 1959, the junior-senior team has won three times and the sophomores twice.

Seniors Bill Whitlock and Ray Varp, along with junior transfer student Mike Boegler are expected to be the leading point makers for Southern this year.

Wolf has recovered from a knee operation last spring and appears ready to perform his specialties, the parallel bars, side horse and the rings. Yao will be used as an all-around man and Boegler will perform his specialty, the side horse.

Meade will be watching closely the performance of three freshmen who have looked impressive in prac­tice, Paul Mayer from El Cerrito, Calif., will work as an all-around man. Ron Hardt, a newcomer from Arlington Heights, will work on the parallel bars, and the high bar, Dale Hardt from Stokke will work on the trampoline.

Sophomores will consist of Steve Whitlock, Rick Tucker, Larry Lindauer, and Hutch Dvorak.

Meade is counting on Whitlock for help on the long bar, and free exercise, Tucker and Lindauer are two all-around men and Dvorak will work on the trampoline.

There will be no charge for admission to the meet.

Miss Schaenzer took first place in the all-around total with a score of 38.5, while Miss Daly, a member of the Canadian Olympics team, came in second.

Two of the club's new members also turned in first-place performances.

Nancy Smith, a senior at the University School, made her debut by taking first in the trampoline event. Another newcomer, Judy Wills, took first in tumbling, the event for which she is the current world champion.

A minimum of 67 hours or four quarters of instruction is required for completion of the program, according to Mrs. Lois L. Hedges, coordinator.

As a registered trade under supervision of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, the school meets requirements for total time, teaching staff, equipment, facilities, and course content.

They also study English and record keeping.

Instructors working under Mrs. Hedges are Mrs. Shirley Hill of Marion and Mrs. Lu­reta Cassady and Mrs. Gladys McVey of Herrin,
