Buses to Run Students to IC Station

Special buses will be available to transport students from and to the Illinois Central train station and to the Pocahontas form on campus during the Thanksgiving holiday.

Buses will leave the campus area at 5 p.m., Wednesday, from University Center, Thompson Hall, Gymnasium, Housing Woody Hall, University Park, and University City. A bus will travel down University Street.

Four buses will be at the station to meet the returning Saluki Special.

The Saluki Special will leave Carbondale at 2 p.m., Wednesday and arrive in Chicago at 8:45 p.m. The train will depart from Chicago at 4:30 p.m. Saturday and arrive in Carbondale at 10:30 p.m. Round trip price is $16.80.

Computer Tickets Parking Offenders At D.C. University

The influx of students with cars and motorcycles at SIU is causing parking problems on campus and in Carbondale.

However, SIU is not the only university having troubles in that area.

The problem at the American University in Washington, D.C., has become so grave that the officials have computerized the parking section.

The new system immediately produces a list of offenders for the traffic and parking office. Disciplinary letters are prepared automatically by the data processing system and are mailed within 24 hours of the traffic violation.

According to the parking and traffic regulations office at the American University, any student responsible for three or more parking violations during the year will have the privilege on university property revoked.

Three violations, a warning letter; four violations, a 30-day suspension of parking privileges on university property; five violations will result in dismissal from the university.

Books, Rare Maps To Go on Display

A collection of rare maps and books is on display today in Morris Library.

The collection consists of maps of southern Illinois but will also include some of North America that date as far back as the 18th century.

Books pertaining to the same time period and places will also be shown.

Fee Raise Rally Set for Tonight

A rally to support an increase in the student activity fee for the fall semester was called last Thursday by Richard Shroyer, an SIU student senator and a member of the Student Government Association's spirit council; and John Paul Davis, vice president of the student organization who will speak in favor of the proposal which, if passed, will increase the activity fee $4.

Currently $2 of the active fee paid by each student goes to the athletic department.

New Higher Education Act to Benefit SIU Through Work Program, Financial Aid

The Higher Education Act (HEA) which was recently signed by President Johnson will allow SIU to expand its present student financial aid and work programs, according to Raymond P. DeJarnett, assistant director of the student work and financial aid program.

Of chief interest to students are the HEA Loans, which will be similar to present National Defense loans, said DeJarnett.

The new law, which is administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has also absorbed the federal work program, he said. It was operated by the Department of Labor.

DeJarnett said it would be next month before SIU makes its official request for assistance from the program and probably March before it is told how much of its request it will receive.

The student loan program under the new measure will allow students to obtain loans from private concerns (probably area banks) at the three per cent interest rate payable from the time of graduation. This rate is presently charged for NDEA loans. If the bank or loan agency charges more than three per cent interest, the additional amount will be paid by the government.

It is hoped that the first HEA loans may be given to students from the summer of 1966, DeJarnett said.

While DeJarnett saw no immediate great effect in the new work program under the new law, he said that he hoped it would allow an increase in student salaries in the future.

It was the federal work program which enabled the University to give the 15 cent increase in minimum wages last year.

The one entirely new facet of the new law is a plan for education opportunity grants to students entering college for the first time or transferring into a college or university from a junior college.

These grants, said DeJarnett, are only for prospective students who could not possibly afford a four-year course of study on their own finances.

Before a student would be eligible for the grant, he would have to do everything he could to raise the needed money on his own, including student work, loans and scholarships. Parents would also be expected to help out as much as their incomes will allow.

If through all these means a prospective student still does not have enough money to enter school, he then may be given a grant equal to more than half his total needs for a year, or $800, whichever is less, DeJarnett said.

The grants will be renewable, but students will be reevaluated each year to see if they still need a grant to continue their education. The first grants will probably not be awarded until the summer term of 1966.

Under the law, "If a high school student has the academic ability and the desire to earn a college education there is nothing to prevent him from attending school, " said DeJarnett. He emphasized, however, that before a new student may obtain a grant he must use every other possible means to finance his education.

One stipulation under the act is that schools participating must make an effort to find students in high schools who need the program to continue their education in college. DeJarnett explained that SIU presently has a program of this type, but it will be increased.

Students Seek New Tribunal

A court of appeals for students assessed fines for campus traffic violations may be a reality at SIU in the near future.

SIU students met with three administrators Monday to discuss its establishment. The purpose of such an appeals court would be to handle cases in which no clear-cut law defines the situation.

The appeals board would not bother with cases of obvious wrongs such as speeding or illegal parking.

The appeals court would have the power to determine whether a violation has occurred and, whether a fine should be assessed.

One idea for such an appeals court would have 10 students and two faculty advisers on the board.

The group would meet twice a week in groups of six to expedite the cases.

John S. Shaw, student government association commissioner, one of the students who met with administrators Monday, said he has written to the University of Miami (Fla.) for information on its student appeals board which has reportedly been successful.

Shaw said that all the plans for such a board at SIU are only ideas now, but it is hoped a recommendation of organization can be presented to the Carbondale Campus Senate in the near future.

Other students participating in the Monday meeting included Ted E. Orf, member of the Student Traffic and Safety Committee, and Larry B. Lindauer, one of the organizers of a student group to promote motorcycle safety.

Other students who met were Ralph E. Proutik, associate dean of students; Capt. W. R. Kimbrough, the security officer and Robert M. Brown, chairman of the Parking Section.

Key Role in Peace Corps Laid to Home Economics

Mona Palta, graduate assistant in the Department of Home Economics Education, spent three months last summer at Annapolis, Md., working at St. John's College with Peace Corps volunteers.

"I learned more in those three months with the Peace Corps than I would have learned in three years of reading and studying," said Miss Palta. "While I was helping the other person, I also grew."

Miss Palta came to SIU from New Delhi, India. She did her undergraduate work at the Delhi University. She has completed the preliminaries for her doctorate and is beginning her dissertation. "Carrying on Home Economics in Peace Corps Programs."

"Home Economics plays a unique role in the development of potential in the Peace Corps volunteer," she said. "Everything the Peace Corps tries to accomplish must first start with the home and family, then expand into society and then into the world."

"Its principle touch on the basic Christian principle of sharing—the brotherhood of man."

"The objective of the Peace Corps appeals to me. I feel that I can contribute to the needs of nations such as India. I can understand the background of "under-developed" countries. I can help bridge the gulf between East and West."

While working with the Peace Corps volunteers, Miss Palta lived with them, shared their doubts, fears and joys.

"The feedback of intensity was much greater there than in the classroom," she said. "I like teaching but the classroom contact is very limited. I prefer the close contact such as I experienced with the Peace Corps volunteers. I was learning from them as well as from them."

The main objective of the Peace Corps, according to Miss Palta, is self help. "The people learn what can be done with a minimum of equipment under primitive conditions."

The Peace Corps also helps remove false images from the minds of the people in foreign countries, she said.

Miss Palta is secretary of the Visiting International Students Association and social committee chairman of Kappa Phi of the Wesley Foundation.

She earned her master's degree in home economics education at the University of the Philippines, and attended Kansas State University for one year.

When Hector Rojas Castro was about ready to leave for the United States he was told to expect "great simplicity and kindness in the United States."

"I have found this to be true," the Columbian editor said while visiting campus Monday.

Rojas, editor of La Patria, a daily newspaper in Manizales, Colombia, is touring the United States as part of the International Visitors Exchange Program of the U.S. Department of State.

At a coffee hour Monday Rojas discussed his viewpoints of Latin America and the United States, most specifically the Alliance for Progress, with members of the Journalism faculty.

Rojas said his main reason in coming to the United States is to learn and see how the journalism departments in the schools he will visit are operated, and to take his experiences back to Colombia. Prior to visiting SIU, he had visited the University of California at Berkeley, and UCLA before his departure from the country Dec. 15.

Rojas has been here 17 days and when asked what he thought of this country, his response was, "Splendid!"

Rojas is a 2nd year Peace Corps volunteer and is beginning his Peace Corps project. He has a degree in journalism.

Rojas and his interpreter, Jose Gonzales Fatoty, will be on campus through most of Wednesday and will leave for St. Louis at 4 p.m.

Motorcycle Group Urges Helmet Use

A resolution that helmets should be mandatory for all non-motorcycle riders was approved unanimously Sunday by members of the Southern Riders Association.

The resolution, which will be sent to the United States Traffic and Safety Committee and the Carbonado-Campus Senate for consideration, also recommends that part of the helmet be reflective to increase visibility.

The newly-formed association also secured support from the student government committee at its first meeting.

The committee also made further recommendations to the University on the safe operation of motorized cycles.

Dear Editor:

I am a member of the Smith Hall Residents Union and I am writing to you because of the article that appeared in the Daily Egyptian editorial page. I have been a resident of Smith Hall for two years and I am appalled by the statements made in this article.

First of all, I would like to address the issue of the "blame" game. The article accuses the women of Smith Hall of blaming the Negro American instead of taking responsibility for their own actions. This is completely untrue. We do not blame each other, we have no need to, since each of us knows that we are responsible for our own actions.

Secondly, the article states that the women of Smith Hall are being disrespectful to the Negro American. This is not true. We have always treated everyone with respect, regardless of their race.

Finally, the article claims that the women of Smith Hall are being lazy and uninterested in their studies. This is also false. We are all interested in our studies and we work hard to achieve the best results.

I hope that you will allow me to respond to the editorial in a similar manner. I believe that it is important to correct the misrepresentations and inaccuracies contained in the editorial.

Sincerely yours,

[Your Name]

Letters to the Editor

Don't Define the Symptoms as the Disease

After reading the study that appeared on the Daily Egyptian editorial page (November 16, 1965) under the title "Negro Leaders Unrealistic," by J. R. Gannon, I find that he has missed the point entirely. In a society where the Negro does not have the right to live the way he wants to live, one must define a disease as he sees it. What other conclusion is there to draw than that Negro leaders are unrealistic? I feel that Negro leaders are being appreciated by the Negroes because they are called upon by the Negro to do the right thing, and they are doing what is necessary. They are not the only leaders that have been doing this for the Negroes, but they are the leaders that are doing it now.

Henry D. S. Johnson

Rightly Life

Civil Rights Leaders Appeal to Wrong Class

Mr. Jones (Rev. 9:16). Column 2.

We agree with you that there is a need for a new kind of Negro leadership; for it is true that there are many existing Negro leaders who are not realistic. The government is now trying to find his identity. This search has taken over 100 years, the Negro race cannot afford to let it be made by someone else. It is possible for him to have any pride when he doesn't know who he is, or where he comes from, and the only way he can get the identity that is that of the white society which has constantly rejected him.

Mr. Jones

The world is a stage and we are all actors. In my case, I have the role of a Negro American. I have the responsibility of being a Negro American. I must make sure that I am doing the right thing, and that I am doing it for the right reasons. I am not going to let the world dictate what I am going to do. I am going to do what is right for me, and I am going to do it for the right reasons.

Mr. Jones

Mickey's Courses Cut To Expedite Education

By Robert M. Hutchins

It must be several years since Rev. Robert Gannon, then President of Fordham University, proposed a six-year elementary school, a three-year high school, a three-year college, bringing the student's time for high education to the B.A. degree at approximately 11 years, rather than to "speed" up education. It was to squeeze the water, the trivality and triviality out of the system, and to keep the student up and moving. It was that important and challenging and to enable him to enter upon advanced study, if he was interested and qualified, before he had to have any more education. The proposal was not "speed" up education.

Father McLaughin is not of course an avid advocate of teacher's rights. He is limiting the Fordham experiment to 40 or 50 students, that is, a class small enough to give attention to his students, and he is asking for only one modification: a seven-year college and a six-year primary school. He is the one who is trying to do something about the education in this country, for his students will have to be as hard as they are intelligent. If they can perform with the middle range of students, they will not be caught up in the middle range of students. If they can perform with the middle range of students, they will not be caught up in the middle range of students. If they can perform with the middle range of students, they will not be caught up in the middle range of students.

Father McLaughan, the faculty of this school will not be able to be as hard as they are intelligent. If they can perform with the middle range of students, they will not be caught up in the middle range of students. If they can perform with the middle range of students, they will not be caught up in the middle range of students. If they can perform with the middle range of students, they will not be caught up in the middle range of students.

Proposals Advanced To Improve Town-Gown Relations

By Ric Cox
Last of a Series

The other major problem is the liquor problem, of all student offenses "It's much more serious than the 10 per cent, 100\% invariably security police said living areas should have more voice in the Chamber of Commerce and should apply pressure to civic organizations.

Davie also suggested that closer ties with the city could be achieved if University people would go to the City Council and demand their rights. He also suggested the University hold training sessions for merchants on salesmanship techniques and promotion.

Students and townpeople also should get together at informal meetings and should establish some sort of permanent community-campus commission, he said.

Peck agrees that improved communication is necessary because students and merchants must try to understand each other. Peck added that students must become more conscientious and should apply their own sanctions against disorderly students. Another student suggested the solution was for "students to begin acting like responsible citizens whether they are or not."

He said the initiative must come from the students. "If the merchants try to re-form first," he said, "they'll be suckers and students will continue to take advantage of them."

Commissioner Frank Kirk agreed that the initiative should come from the students. He expressed support for creating a campus-community commission but added; "I'd have a hard time selling the City Council on the idea unless the members knew students were behind the idea and were willing to work at it. About all we (the council) can do is provide the opportunity."

Commissioner Joseph Ragasdale, at the recent press conference held on campus, termed as "an excellent suggestion" the idea of regular meetings between students and the city. Plans currently are being made in this direction, he said. The merchant seemed to sum up feelings accurately when he said: "Things should improve a great deal if students would get the chips off their shoulders."

Law Enforcement

Chief Attributes Trouble to Few

By Jeff Raffle

Is law enforcement tougher in a college town? "Not especially," said Carbondale Police Chief Jack Hazel. "Only a small minority of the students cause trouble serious enough to concern the police. I'm sure we deal with less than 10 per cent of the students during the school year."

"Our biggest problem, of course, is the liquor problem," Hazel said. "Last month, for example, 24 out of 25 violations before we concerned underhanded drinking, or attempts to purchase liquor illegally by SIU students. The other case involved a high school student for the same offense."

Hazel cited a marked increase in drinking violations, During September and October 35 violations were reported, as compared with 15 in July and August. The drinking problem also seems to create other disturbances such as fights, rowdiness and other general unruliness, he added.

The other major problem before Carbondale police, according to Hazel, is the rapid-worsening motorcycle situation. Chief Hazel ruefully observed: "The number of motorcycles here in town has more than doubled in a year's time. Two years ago, I don't think there were 40 in the entire city. Now the problem is threatening to get out of hand."

(There are an estimated 2,500 to 3,000 cycles in the city now.) "We're just not equipped to handle the traffic problem," he continued. "We have only 7 men and need at least 25 to do the job. I'm hoping that by next spring, we will have an additional seven or eight men on the force.

"I also anticipate that the recent $1.5 million bond issue to widen our streets will aid the traffic situation." Loud parties often require such an action, Hazel reports that local residents frequently ask police to quiet things down. "This is an area where the off-campus Presidents Council has been of help to us," the chief said. "The kids are usually very cooperative in keeping the noise down, when asked."

The cooperation is good between local authorities and the SIU security police. The security police are invariably notified of all student offenses resulting in court appearances.

The most serious problem confronting the Carbondale Police Department is not an excess of unlawfulness among the city's youthful citizenry, Hazel said. The problem is there aren't enough men to handle the law enforcement situation in Carbondale. According to Hazel, there should be 14 officers for every thousand students. With only 13 men and some 18,000 students here, the ratio is only about half of what it should be, that is, about 7 officers for every thousand students.

When asked about the difference between summer and winter months, Chief Hazel cited 4,253 calls during October as compared with only 1,576 during July, less than half. "It's much quieter during the summer," said Hazel.

Chief Hazel maintains that SIU students are, for the most part, "well behaved and cooperative. Most of them are here for an education and they conduct themselves accordingly."
Softly, But Surely,
the Autumn Leaves Fall

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)-A large force of Viet Cong guerrillas—some apparently hardened veterans—took a blustering crossfire land, sea and air Monday in an attack on a South Vietnamese ranger headquarters on the central coast. By nightfall, with their dead scattering the area, the enemy force pulled back in failure, officials said they counted 200 Communist bodies in and around the fort at Thach Tru, 320 miles northeast of Saigon. They said the enemy death toll may reach 400.

Two U.S. Army advisers were killed in the assault, sprung before dawn, Government casualties were reported to have ranged from light to moderate. Their exact numbers were not released because of security regulations.

At the same time, about 1,000 other Viet Cong launched an attack on a government regimental and artillery command post 40 miles north-west of Saigon, South Vietnamese officials said this attack also failed and that 10 guerrillas were killed.

There was no report on government casualties.

Meanwhile, fighting in the bloody La Drang Valley in the central highlands apparently tapered into a lull. There were no reports of activity there since clashes of light to moderate proportions erupted Sunday.

The Viet Cong force hitting the 500-man ranger headquarters at Thach Tru numbered about 1,500. Some wore buttons reading "Dien Bien Phu Battalion," denoting the red outfit that decisively defeated the French in that northern city in 1954.

Two U.S. Army advisers were killed in the assault, sprung before dawn, Government casualties were reported to have ranged from light to moderate. Their exact numbers were not released because of security regulations.

At the same time, about 1,000 other Viet Cong launched an attack on a government regimental and artillery command post 40 miles north-west of Saigon, South Vietnamese officials said this attack also failed and that 10 guerrillas were killed.

There was no report on government casualties.

Meanwhile, fighting in the bloody La Drang Valley in the central highlands apparently tapered into a lull. There were no reports of activity there since clashes of light to moderate proportions erupted Sunday.

Cape Kennedy Machinists Go Back to Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A threat of delay in the nation's doubleheader Gemini space spectacular was lifted Monday when striking machinists agreed to pull down picket lines at Cape Kennedy and go back to work.

But members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists remained on strike in St. Louis against the McDonnell Aircraft Corp., prime contractor for Gemini space vehicles and producer of Phantom jet fighter planes used in Viet Nam.

Machinist Vice President Eugene Glover said union negotiators agreed unanimously to the government's back-to-work request at Cape Kennedy.

The 17,000 machinists striking the St. Louis plant were not affected by the agreement.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Chief Federal Mediator William E. Simkin won the union's agreement to return to work at the Gemini-anchoring site early Monday afternoon.

Simkin said the White House, which has expressed hope for an early settlement, had no part in the agreement.

Astronaut Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. are scheduled to command a 4 in Gemini 7, to be followed Dec. 13 by spacecraft Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford in Gemini 6. The two spacecrafts are to try tricky formation flying within a few feet of each other.

SIU Receives Grant For Drug Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has granted $21,630 to SIU for a concentrated campaign against appetite drugs by young persons.

The award to the Edwardsville campus Delinquency Study Project was announced Monday by U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A four-day national conference next year—the first of its kind—will focus on the physical and psychological health hazards, control measures, and law enforcement problems involving misuse of the drugs among youths of high school and college age.

Four Negro Homes Blasted In North Carolina Bombings

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The stillness of a foggy, rainy night was blasted apart Monday by explosions at the homes of four Negro civil rights leaders in Charlotte.

Targets of the bombers were a city councilman, federal court official, dentist and the state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. They and their families escaped injury despite extensive damage.

Windows were blown out and the front doors shattered at the homes of Fred Alexander, newly elected city councilman, and his brother, Kelly Alexander, state NAACP president. The sprawling brick homes all sit side by side in northwest Charlotte.

Two miles away in opposite directions, blasts rocked the home of Dr. Reginald Hawkins, a dentist and militant civil rights leader, and the home of Julius Chambers, a lawyer and U.S. commissioner.

Police Chief John S. Hord said the blasts all occurred about 2:30 a.m. and were the work of "a well-organized group, possibly four or five people in two or three cars."

"Whoever it was knew explosives and they knew the sections (of Charlotte) and how to get in and out quickly," Hord said. Hawkins and Chambers live on dead-end streets.

A team of Army demolition experts and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were called in Hord said preliminary reports indicate sticks of dynamite were used. Police had no recent reports of threats against any of the four men or their families.

SIU to Clear Athletic Dates For Coeds at Area Schools

SIU's Women's Recreation Association will be the "clearing house" for the Illinois Athletic Recreation Federation of College Women in Southern Illinois for 1966-67, according to Charlotte West, assistant professor of physical education.

"SIU is WRA will be responsible for coordinating and approving all dates for sports events in the south half of Illinois," said Miss West, faculty sponsor for the association.

Plans for the year were made at the annual meeting of the federation at East Bay Camp, Illinois State University at Normal.

Two of the major sports events for the remainder of the current school year—a baseball sectional Feb. 12 and an invitational golf sectional May 14—will be held at SIU. A Midwest sectional in badminton has been Eastern Illinois University, an Illinois sectional to be held at Western Illinois University April 30, an invitational meet in golf and tennis at Illinois State University at Normal May 7, and an invitational sectional in softball May 21 at Normal will all be held at SIU.

Miss West was accompanied to the federation meeting by Joanne Thorson, assistant sponsor, and 10 students from the Department of Physical Education.

Other students who attended were Mary Anne Crone of St. Louis, Suzann Roberts of Normal, Mo., Sue Taylor of Arlington, Va., Mary Jane Dameron of Harrisburg, Wanda Derry of Missouri, Marilyn Harris of Carbondale, Paula Verderber of Breese and Donna Wirtz of Wittenberg.

Students, Faculty Attend Meeting

Six faculty members and 15 students in the Department of Physical Education for Men attended the Illinois State Convention of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in Peoria during the weekend.

The faculty members who attended were Edward Shea, chairman of the department; Ronald Case, assistant professor; Herbert Weber, assistant professor; James J. Wilkinson, assistant professor; C. C. Franklin, assistant professor; and Carl Sexton, instructor in health education.

Two Deans Named Officers Of Universities Association

Deans of two schools at SIU have been named to positions with the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Mrs. Eileen E. Quigley, dean of the College of Home Economics, has been named chairperson of the home economics association.

Scholarship Gifts Will Be Accepted

Contributions are still being accepted to the scholarship fund set up in memory of the late Will E. Swartz, former dean of the SIU Graduate School.

His widow has asked the Board of Directors of the First Presbyterian Church of Carbondale to administer the fund.

Swartz died on Nov. 6. He was a professor in both the Departments of Higher Education and Government.

Swartz came to Carbondale in 1930 as chairman of the Department of Government. From 1943 to 1950 he was chairman of the SIU Graduate Council, and from 1950 to 1963, he was dean of the Graduate School.

Swartz played an important role in developing SIU's program for foreign students and served as an advisor to foreign students for many years. He was dean of international students in 1963 and 1964.

SIU Indian Group Chooses Officers

Mirza Ahmed, a graduate student in government, has been elected president of the Indian Student Association for the 1965-66 school year at SIU.

Other officers are Madhav Madishes, vice president; Maheen Parvez, secretary; Nasukhul Aabdyday, treasurer; and Asha Naik and Nazir Mughal, members-at-large.

The group holds a public program each quarter. It will exhibit a full-length Indian movie in January.

ROBERT HILL

Three representatives of the graduate housing committee of the Visiting Universities Association at Purdue University and Purdue University attended a meeting in Peoria last week.

They were Milton T. Edelman, associate dean of the Graduate School and chairman of the graduate housing committee; Vernon Broegert, chairman of the SIU housing committee; and Karl E. Bretscher, superviser of planning in the university architect's office.

They looked at the graduate housing centers at the two universities and talked with the people who planned them.

Purdue University and Indiana University have done more in developing graduate housing than many other universities, Edelman said.

The graduate housing committee is working on plans for graduate housing at SIU. Additional trips to other schools are planned.

Faculty Council To Meet Today

LA&SS Creates Advisory Panel

To better understand the needs of its students, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has formed a student advisory committee.

David G. Hart has been elected chairman/moderator of the six-member group. The members of the committee and the departments they represent are Born, English; Brian T. Courtesy, zoology; Martha L. Edmiston, mathematics; Robert F. Han- li, chemistry; William V. Moore, government; Jerry L. Pitchford, geology; and Rebecca B. Ragland, English (alternate).

"Student opinion should never be ignored," commented Bruce D. Müllechian, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. "That is why we urged the formation of this committee."

One problem under discussion is the group's improvement of student-teacher relationships.

A suggestion box has been set up in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences office, 311 W. Main St., for those who have any suggestions for the committee.

Wider Wall Street Provided in Project

The Illinois Division of Highways, Carbondale Township and SIU are working together on a project to widen W. Main Street, according to Willard Hart, University architect for the Carbondale campus.

The widening will take place between Roservoir Road and Grand Avenue.

Robert McCormick, assistant design engineer for the Division of Highways, said the contract has been given to the Mitchell Contractor Co. of Herrin on a bid of $162,000.

The University's participation in the project is the allowance of right-of-way. Hart said the project should be completed by early summer, weather permitting.

Animal Nutrition Jobs Talk Slated

Robert Murray, representative of Palton Poultry Co., St. Louis, will discuss the field of animal nutrition in an open meeting of the SIU chapter of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural fraternity. The session will be at 4 p.m., today in the seminar room of the Agriculture Building.

Alpha Zeta is a scholastic organization established to promote the profession of agriculture, to improve scholarship and to promote fellowship among outstanding men in agriculture.

Baptist Student Union Elects Officers for Frosh Council

Rodney Geter of St. Louis has been elected president of the Baptist Student Union's freshman council. Other officers are Mike Marks of Vandalia, vice president; Judy Hobbs of Rosiclair, secretary; Kay Childers of Murphyboro and Susan Weinacht of Carbondale, mar-sch­ ship cochairmen; Pat Broock of Fairfield and Candace Robb of Murphyboro, chapel cochairmen.

Pam Schaubert of Herrin and Sharon Stofield of Cairo, devotional cochairmen; Ella Gunter of Thompsonville and Jefferson Center of St. Louis, coordinators of the Seacole; Maria Lauer of Mor­ rimville and Paul Hicks of DeSoto, international student cochairmen; Judy Zanotti of Johnson City and Janet Brown of Herrin, enlistment cochairmen.

Jane Doty of Ewing and Reva Turner of Clinton, missions cochairmen, Joy Taylor of West Frankfort and Linda Thompson of Carbondale, social cochairmen; Margaret

Tate of Raleigh and Bob Huff of Greenville, Miss., interfaith cochairmen.

Serving on the freshman council gives new students knowledge of the duties of each office and of the organization and purpose of the Baptist Student Union.

It is actually a training process so freshmen may later assume positions of ser­vice such as the executive council.

Olmsted to Judge NSF Fellowships

James M. H. Olmsted, chairman of the Department of Mathematics, was invited by the National Science Foundation to help evaluate NSF science faculty fellowships for 1966-67.

He attended a panel meeting in Washington, D.C., last week.
South-West Africa Politics
To Be Discussed Tuesday

Andries Nel, chairman of the geography department at Stellenbosch University in the Republic of South Africa, will speak on "Lysistrata" Tryouts at 8 p.m. in Room 141 of the Lawton Building.

Nel's lecture will discuss the political problem of South-West Africa in a public lecture on campus next Tuesday. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in Room 141 of the Lawton Building.

Nel's discussion is sponsored by the SU Department of Geography as one of a series of public geography lectures during the current school year. The speaker is on a study tour of the United States under a Carnegie travel grant. He is evaluating the contributions of geography to such general programs as regional planning or African studies. He will be on campus for the week of Nov. 28.

Nel's specialty is urban geography. During the last four years he has worked periodically in South-West Africa as leader of a team of research workers. He is the author of more than 36 publications, including three textbooks.

Coach Reveals Jim Hart Had a Broken Thumb

Sophomores and Football Records Dominated 1965 Season

By Joe Cook

Defeats don't always tell the true story of a football team. The year's team failed as far as a won-lost record is concerned, but some outstanding accomplishments were made by some of the Saluki—many of them sophomores.

Senior quarterback Jim Hart, who holds every SIU passing record except completion percentage, ended his career on a high note. Hart threw 252 times this year, completing 100 for 1,144 yards and seven touchdowns. These statistics are impressive enough, but when one considers that Hart was hampered most of the season by a bad knee and a broken thumb on his throwing hand, they become even more impressive.

Coach Don Shroyer admitted that Hart had suffered a broken thumb in the Homecoming game with Tulsa, but asked to keep it out of print until the end of the season for reasons of security.

Hart's three-year record at SIU shows that he played in 28 games, threw 671 times, and completed 283 for 3,779 yards and 34 touchdowns. Another Saluki record breaker was sophomore end John Ference, who caught 51 passes, a new Saluki record, for 580 yards also a new Saluki record. Four of the passes were touchdowns. He also established a record for most passes caught in a game, just five less than Tulsa's all-America end Howard Twilley's record of 18.

Halfback Arnold Kee also got his name in the Saluki record books when he ran back 133 yards for a touchdown in the last game.

His return ran his season's total to 16, one better than the record Rudy Phillips set last year.

Coaches usually figure one defeat for every two sophomores in the starting offensive line. Southern had 10, including seven starters on the offensive line.

The line was perhaps shabby at first, but in the last two games Hart attempted 60 passes and was thrown for a loss only once.

Sophomores making up the offensive line were Ference and Bill Blanchard at the ends, Ralph Culloway and Ted Cunningham at the tackles, Ron McCartney and Al Equi at guards and Joe Ewan at center.

Senior Vic Pantaleo substituted for the injured Equi in the final game.

Of the backs Eugene James perhaps improved the most. Jackson sat on the bench much of the early games and had a rushing average mark of 1.7 until the final game when he gained 79 yards on 16 carries for nearly a five yards per carry average.

Senior Money Rifer was the busiest Saluki and steadfast on the entire Saluki back as he led the team with 339 yards on 104 carries for an average of 3.3 per carry.

On the defense the sophomores again made their presence felt.

Heading the list was right tackle Al Jenkins, who started slowly at first but was in the swing of things by the season's end.

Senior defensive back Warren Shallfatt, who is named by Shroyer as pound for pound the best Saluki, applied steady influence on the young backs headed by junior Norm Johnson and sophomores Gus Heath and Eddie Richards.

Gymnastics Meet Scheduled Tonight

If you're finished with classes and not going home until Wednesday, the annual intrasquad gymnastics meet is a cheap way to be entertained tonight.

The meet will start at 7:30 o'clock in the Arena, with the men's gymnasts divided into two squads, juniors and seniors competing against freshmen and sophomores.

There is no admission charge, and students should see some close competitions, according to Coach Bill Meado.

Meado said that the junior-senior squad has a slight advantage, particularly in free exercises and transition events that NCAA champion Frank Schmitz will be competing in.

The upperclassmen have lost four of the past six intrasquad meets, but it looks as though they will fare better this time than they did last year.

Sound Trumpets, Beat Drums, Tap the Leg! Southern Defeats Southwest Missouri 19-6

By Bob Retocke
Strike up the band. Sound the trumpets. Tap the leg. Beat the drum. Tap the leg. Shoot the fireworks. Tap the leg. Southern won.

The Salukis, playing their best game of the year, closed the 1965 season by ringing easily over Southwest Missouri 19-6.

The game was Southern's all the way as it displayed a surprising good ground game to go along with the usual good passing of Jim Hart. The Salukis' runners racked up 181 yards on the ground and Hart clipped in 104 yards passing as the Salukis' runners took over on their own 35 at the start of the second quarter, and moved the remaining 66 yards in seven plays for the first score.

The passers by Hart and a short run put the ball at the 20-yard line. The Bears did threaten, however, in the closing minutes of that quarter. Taking over at the Saluki 44 after intercepting a Southern pass and returning it 35 yards, Southwest moved all the way to the Salukis' 20.

But there the drive ended. On the fourth down, quarterback Dan Young reverted to the usual good passing of Jim Hart. The Bears did threaten, however, in the closing minutes of that quarter. Taking over at the Saluki 44 after intercepting a Southern pass and returning it 35 yards, Southwest moved all the way to the Salukis' 20.

Hart's Sure Arm Pitches Salukis To Final Game Victory Over Bears

Southwest 29. From there a 15-yard run on a reverse by Gene James set the stage for the touchdown. The tally came on a pass from Hart to Ference. The extra point try failed, and Southern led 6-0 with 12 minutes left in the half.

After the kickoff, Southwest took over, but couldn't move the ball. On the third down on his own 15, Pat Hogan boomed a quick kick that looked like puffed rice being shot from a cannon. The ball finally rolled dead 78 yards downfield at the Saluki seven.

From there, Southern moved to the 45 before having to punt. Southwest was able to get off only three plays before Southern's Norm Johnson intercepted a pass at the Bears' 39 and returned it to the seven.

On the first play from scrimmage, the Salukis picked up only one yard, but on the next play, Hart rolled to his left on a bootleg and scored Southern's second touchdown. Hart pulled most of the other 21 men on the field to the right with a beautiful fake and could have waltzed into the endzone for the score. The kick once again was off, and Southern led 12-0.

Johnson saved the day for the Salukis again late in the first half when he intercepted a Southwest pass at Southern's five. The interception choked off the Bears' threat, and Southern led 12-0 at the half.

The third quarter was scoreless, but Southern did penetrate deep into the Bears' territory once. That was midway in the quarter when the Salukis marched to the opponents' 15 before losing the ball on a fumble. The Salukis moved 62 yards in the drive without losing a pass. Gene James played the key role with a 20-yard jaunt that put the ball in Bears territory.

Southwest threatened once again early in the fourth quarter. Led by fullback Pat Hogan who picked up 62 yards in the first three plays from scrimmage, the bears moved to the Saluki nine before running out of downs.

From there, Southern marched the 91 yards to pay-dirt and scored with three minutes remaining on a pass from Hart to Mike McGehee. The combination of Hart-Ference played a crucial part in the drive as they teamed up twice on a third down with the long yardage needed for a first down. Doug Mossey's extra points conversation was good and the Salukis led 19-0.

Southwest almost countered with a touchdown on the ensuing kickoff as the deep man, John Huddleston, raced all the way from his own 15 to Southern's 33 before being knocked out of bounds. Southern's man-about-the-field, Norm Johnson, was the only Saluki to get to him. Southern moved to the Saluki five in the next five plays and a pair of offside penalties put them only 18 inches from the goal. From there Cornelius Perry plunged over with about a minute left in the game to make it 19-6.
