The Board of Trustees approved Friday a recommendation by Dr. DeWey Smith, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, that the fees for out-of-state students be increased.

Morris told the board that SIU charged less out-of-state fees than any other state university in the nation, and the board decided the $240 figure was in line with such charges as Missouri's $230, Ohio State's $250, Michigan's $280, Wisconsin's $245, Iowa's $304 and Indiana's $330.

Trustees Indorse Housing Loan Bid

The Board of Trustees Friday authorized the University to apply for a Federal Housing Administration loan up to $20 million for housing for low and moderate-income families, students and staff.

At present, the university has 272 permanent apartments for persons in these categories.

The board report said, "The growth of the institution, particularly the Graduate School, is creating a pronounced demand for adequate housing for young families.

The board action clears the path for preliminary negotiations with the FHA on interpretation of the National Housing Act of 1961.

Clock Game Is You'll Lose an Hour Again; Your Sleep

Remember that blissful extra hour of sleep you got on one night last week when the time changed? Well, forget it.

Thanks to the blessings of some "progressive thinkers" and a thing called daylight savings time, you get to give that hour back come midnight tonight.

Illinois and a large section of the United States will return to six o'clock daylight saving time Sunday morning. Clocks will be advanced two hours later than the current Central Standard Time, meaning that what might have been 1 a.m. CST will instead be 3 a.m. CST.

About 12,000 SIU students will thus be faced with a decision. They'll not only have remember that blissful extra hour of sleep you got on one night last week when the time changed? Well, forget it.

How Does SIU Stand in 'Moral Revolution'?

Campus Interviews Show Varied Opinions

In SIU a battlefield of "The Morals Revolution on the U.S. Campus".

Newsweek magazine recently took a long look at sexual morality in American institutions of higher education. The story came up with this conclusion.

"Despite their doubts, chastity remains a virtue for most of today's 4 1/2 million college students; but for a significant and growing minority the question has become academic."

"While the revolution has not yet reached some parts of the intellectual hinterland, many of the nation's oldest, largest, and most prominent universities are caught up in a painful struggle over sexual morality," Newsweek stated.

"Where does SIU stand in this struggle? A series of interviews came up with a wide variety of responses."

Loretta Ott, assistant dean of the Office of Student Affairs, contends that sexual immorality at SIU is not a problem.

"I think they know there is no permanence or value in merely forcing a girl to,'" she said.

"They talk about sex, more than anything else."

Joseph Zaleski, assistant dean of the Office of Student Affairs, believes that the number of students involved in disciplinary problems was smaller when he was in school, but the number of students was not as large.

"I think our students are giving a little thought to moral standards," he said. "Unless one has pride and self-respect, guidelines mean nothing."

Newsweek cited a lack of statistical evidence as a major difficulty in determining the extent of any change in attitudes and practices. The story quoted Paul H. Gebhard, director of the University of Wisconsin's Institute for Sex Research, to the effect that the magazine's Kinsey Report found 20 per cent of the college women admitting having premarital sex relations before graduation.

Newsweek quoted John saying he guesses there has

Morris Evades 'Hot Water'
As Trustees Bail Him Out

President Dolely W. Morris asked for and received action from the Board of Trustees Friday which bailed him out of what he called 'hot water' resulting from an "internal mistake."

Morris told the board that a recommendation to revise SIU policy regarding admission of out-of-state students went to the University Council -- which approved it and put it into operation instead of to the board, which has sole jurisdiction in such matters.

The board in 1959 decided that out-of-state students in the lower 20 per cent of their graduating classes could not be admitted to SIU in the following fall term unless they passed entrance exams in the 60 percentile. The council changed the policy so that students in the lower 60 per cent of the classes have to meet the same entrance requirement.

Morris asked the board to approve the action retroactively, so that what is already in effect can be continued. The board complied.

"Thank you, gentlemen, for removing the hot water," the president said.

Defense Dept. Economy Drive Hits 63 Bases

WASHINGTON -- Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Friday announced 63 new actions to reduce military bases, depots and other Defense Department installations.

He estimated savings at $8 million a year.

McNamara was speaking at a news conference in the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

The primary emphasis is on consolidating one or more of the separate contract monitoring offices maintained by the Army, Navy, Air Force and Defense Supply Agency in many places.

Other actions involved the specified installations areas. White House sources said McNamara had left open the possibility of additional cuts at the shopping centers.

The installations to be closed in the United States include Army ammunition depots in Nebraska and South Dakota, a naval air station in Tennessee; and four seaplane bases in Florida and Virginia.

Win Nearly a Third of All Awards in Collegiate Contest

There are the four first-place entries of SIU photography students in the recent National Collegiate Photo competition held at the University of Missouri. The entries of the SIU students captured nearly a third of all awards in the contest, an annual event. It is sponsored by Kappa Alpha Mu, national photo-journalism honorary fraternity, World Book Encyclopedia, and the National Press Photographers Association.

In addition to the first-place photographs reproduced here, Robert Miller won third place in sports news; James Klepitsch took second, third and honorable mention in pictorial; and Frank Salmo third in experimental photography, fourth in portfolio, and honorable mention in portrait/personality.

Frank Salmo of Herrin, an SIU photography major, is national president of Kappa Alpha Mu.

James Holland won first place in experimental photography with this entry. He shot the pictures in the panel at the Seattle World’s Fair and the effect is achieved through the mirrors, some of which are cracked or entirely broken.

This is a boy, but what’s behind this puzzled – or slightly worried – expression. This is the question asked by this photograph by Robert Miller; the work was awarded first place in the portrait/personality entries of the national contest.

Santa Claus, the personification of the Christmas season, is seldom caught with a shovel in his hands. He’s more apt to be bouncing youngsters on his knee, but Jim Klepitsch spotted this unusual activity in New York City; his effort won first place in the news-feature category of the contest.

The right man with the right camera under the right conditions can take an ordinary subject like these trees and turn the scene into a work of photographic beauty. This is what Frank Salmo did with trees, foliage and fog; the judges in the National Collegiate Photo competition selected this as best in pictorial/scenic.
Nuclear Cutback Raises Hopes for Arms Control

Compiled From Associated Press

WASHINGTON--There was new hope in administration quarters this week that a more favorable atmosphere may be developing for disarmament negotiations and actual East-West agreement to bring the nuclear arms race under control.

Washington officials welcomed the announcement Monday by President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev of plans to cut back production of nuclear explosives. Johnson made the announcement at an Associated Press luncheon in New York, while the Soviet news agency Tass simult“substantially” cut back production of uranium 235 and would allocate more nuclear materials for peaceful purposes.

Shortly after Johnson’s statement, the White House revealed that the U.S. had obtained important information from its underground testing program since late 1963, when the nuclear test-ban treaty became effective. Included was the detonation of the highest yield nuclear device ever fired in the continental U.S.

The production cuts in the informal agreement do not require inspection. Republican leaders in the Capitol questioned the lack of provisions for verification, making it impossible to check on any actual reductions.

In London, Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home placed Britain, the other main nuclear power, squarely behind the plan. Britain has been reducing its own produc-

WASHINGTON - The United States is seriously considering the sale of a synthetic rubber plant to Communist Romania, authoritative government sources asserted Thursday.

Evansville Cage Star Tops Salukis' Vote on Opponents

Jerry Sloan, the "spade" of Evansville's NCAA college division basketball championship, stopped Southern's all-opponent team selected by members of the 1963-64 Saluki basketball squad.

Sloan, a 6-foot jumper formerly of McLeansboro, gave his Evansville teammates a one-point edge over the Salukis in the closing minutes of the NCAA regional championship game last March which helped him to receive all but two votes cast by 13 SIU varsity players.

First team members, including Larry Jones of Toledo, Mike Red, Kentucky Wesleyan Freshman, Bill Bradley, Tennessee State A&I, and Tom VanArsdale of Indiana, were Dick VanArsdale, also of Indiana, Jerry Jackson and Ken Willburn of Ohio Central State, Larry Hawk of Oklahoma State and Bud Vollino, Central Missouri State.

Sloan received first-team Little All-America honors for the second year. In a row and was named to compete for a berth on the United States Olympic team but was cut during the trials.

Coach Jack Hartman has another All-America; an all-junior college choice, Ed Lopes of Coffeyville Junior College, visiting the SIU campus this weekend.

Lopes, a 6-foot-5-inch guard, is considered a fine prospect by Hartman. The Providence, R.I., prep star, averaged more than 20 points a game for Coffeyville, the same school that Hartman guided to the national junior college championship with a 32-0 record before coming to Southern.

Lopes will be graduating from the Kansas junior college and is considering a transfer to Doctor's Hospital.

Southern's track squad had a field day at last year's Drake Relays but today the Salukis might have to settle for just making an appearance. SIU, the Cinderellas in the Des Moines classic last year, has the fast-breaking medley team in the country. Only one member of that winning team, triple jumper Bill Cornell, is back this year and he's recovering from a foot operation.

Bill Cornell, the Briton, will not be able to make the two-day extravaganza because of his injured foot. The others on the team are Houston, Al Pulliam and Jim Stewart.

The quartet turned in a blistering time of 3:18.7.

In last year's Drake Relays, the Salukis were the two-mile event.

The Salukis have a strong entry in the shot-put event this year with George Woods, one of the favorites. Woods will have a difficult task in defeating Texas A&M's defending champion Danny Robert, however.

The Saluki's strongest man came close in last weekend's Kansas Relays upasing Robert and he feels he's about ready to take him this weekend.

Other Saluki entries include Jim Dupree, running in an open mile, freshman John Hoaglin in an open three- and Herb Walker in the intermediate hurdles.

A crowd of 15,000 is expected to watch today's finals and will witness a special mile featuring Loyola's 1,500 - meter Olympic hopeful, Tom O'Hara. O'Hara probably won't even come close to the tape this year because he will be making his third outdoor appearance after a sensational indoor campaign.

Loyola coach Jerry Weiland commented Wednesday, "I'd like to see Tom run as slow as 4:10." O'Hara, who ran a record Indoor 3:56.4 March 6 in the Chicago Daily News Relays, came off the boards with a slight groin strain, an acting knee and a sore hip.

Southern's Dupree will be entered in the special mile race with O'Hara.

Ford Mustang... a car as American as its name. And one that aptly fits the dictionary definition: small, hardy and half-wild. Conceived as a niche, sporty car, the Mustang offers distinctive styling in two tasty packages—Convertible and Hardtop. Both are 2-door, 4-passenger vehicles. The price? Sporty going never came more economically.

It took a lot of hard work and many people with creativity, imagination and drive to get the "grrrr" to be. All kinds of men were involved: styling, research, manufacturing, marketing, product planning and many others were needed and will be needed in the future. For Ford Motor Company, the latest expression of Ford Motor Company's ability to anticipate modern tastes in driving.

In Ford Motor Company's search to find better ways to do the unexpected, there is the constant need to enlist people with a flair for the future. This year, approximately 30,000 college graduates in all areas of study and with all kinds of majors can enjoy the challenge of training new automotive marketing and manufacturing concepts.
