American Finds Solace in Canada

By Kevin Cole

Alan Hopkins is a man with a country. He wants it that way.

He is an American citizen who now lives in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. His journey to his home in Carbondale, Illinois, faces time and improvement.

Hopkins is among the growing number of draft-aged American men who have fled to Canada to protest either the war in Vietnam or their own relationship to that war.

Until he left the country in October, 1966, he attended SIU. He professes to not believe in killing.

“My conscience does not allow me to participate in an army which is organized for the purposes of destruction,” Hopkins wrote to his draft board in Murphysboro.

He applied for classification as a conscientious objector, I-O, which would allow him to serve his country in some benevolent work without wearing a uniform.

“I would be proud to serve my country in a capacity such as work in mental hospital or in the recovery of draftees,” he wrote.

The draft board received his induction notice.

Lawyers advised him to take the case to court, but discouraged about the chances of winning in court, Hopkins went to Canada.

Before leaving, the youth wrote:

“...and so I am now free to express my opinion on any subject. The press has given me a voice to the world that I will try to use wisely...”

Carbondale May Obtain Federal Funds

The Carbondale City Council passed a resolution Tuesday night that will allow Carbondale to apply for federal funds under the Demonstration Cities Program.

City Manager C. William Norman said this in a program handled by the Office of Housing and Urban Development that is aimed at reducing blighted and depressed areas in the city.

Norman said the program is designed to consolidate money allocated to the areas conducted by the government. He said under this program, the federal government will pay up to 80 per cent of the city’s share in the redevelopment project.

A committee bargaining with the city workshops presented its recommendations for a contract settlement to the council.

The committee recommended a 11 per cent hike in wages if the settlement is reached within 10 years service, one day less leave for each month of service, and a three-week vacation in cities.

The increase was attributed to increased out-of-town calls of inquiry about the federal government’s role in reducing the effects of the cities.

IT'S SPRING—Despite cool temperatures Monday, Cecilia Ann Floyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coleman and other SIU students were given an opportunity to listen to the students, and other administrators.

“Students should fight the administration, but with their mouths—not their fists,” says E. Claude Coleman, president of the SIU committee and head of the School of Music.

Coleman says students need a more forceful voice in university affairs, but not through militant action.

Recently, Clark Kerr, president of the University of California, warned that student unrest will lead to national militant student unions.

Coleman and others were asked to comment on Kerr’s prediction.

“I don’t see how these unions would help—or how they would be run,” Coleman said.

“Students need to fight the university. The university is a fuller and friendlier communication between students and administrators,” Coleman said.

As Coleman sees it, most students know something is wrong, but they do not know what it is.

“They ask for greater freedom. But along with this freedom, there must be some kind of order. There is no such thing as complete freedom without limits,” he says.

Coleman is also concerned about other students and addicts.

Calls Bring Relief To The Concerned

The tornadoes that left death and destruction Friday in northern Illinois left a wake of anxiety and concern among SIU students whose families and friends live in the disaster area.

Telephone calls—when callers could get through—were up about 10 per cent in Carbondale, according to General Telephone Company.

The increase was attributed to the growing number of draft-aged American men who have fled to Canada to protest either the war in Vietnam or their own relationship to that war.

The federal government will pay up to 80 per cent of the city’s share in the redevelopment project.

Some students were given graphic descriptions of the effects of the tornado on their families and friends.

Steve Lipkin, a senior from Chicago, said he was rising through Oak Lawn Friday just after the perils tunnel struck.

“There was wreckage all over,” Lipkin said. “Rooftops were blown off houses and people were standing around them with their heads in the air.”

Ambulances were running through Oak Lawn about every minute, he said.

Jerry Roos, a student living in University Park, was relieved to find out that his home was over a few feet untouched in his neighborhood.

Roos’s home is in the Chicago area.

After attempts to call his home failed, Richard Steegmann, a senior, boarded a train bound for northern Illinois. It was reported his brother is employed in the Chrysler plant, heavily damaged at Belvidere.

Robert A. Vondrak, senior from Chicago, said his uncle was in a parked car in the 95th and Circle area. He was not reported missing.

The next day he was in a parked car in the 95th and Circle area.

change in air pressure making it difficult to breath. The man crouched on the front seat of the car as the windscreen was blown out. The area around the car, including a trailer park and roller rink, was leveled, he said. In a telephone conversation with his mother, Dan Lopatowski of La Grange Park learned that damage was light near his home. Janice Jones, a freshman from Oak Lawn, was told by her parents that her home had not been touched although 14 had been swept away. Miss Jones was scooped from the driveway by her mother's home before 14:45 and returned to the house. Though many other trailer dwellings in the area were hit by the storm, she said her father said a shopping center across the street from their home was demolished. Tornado warnings were not heeded by many, one student's mother told him over the phone. Jim Hernandez said his mother told him that there are frequent practice warnings each year in Chicago and that many persons thought Friday's was another practice alert.

Ron Cowell, a senior at Barrington High School who was visiting his brother at SIU Monday, said gruesome evidence of the tornado's path was seen near his home where trees were uprooted and cars flattened and cars tumbled about like toys. He said one family leaving a golf course was "whipped out of their car" as the storm passed. Only severe thunder storm warnings were issued for the Carbondale area over the weekend in the wake of the tornados striking the country from southcentral Texas to Michigan. The death toll reached 50 dead Monday in the Chicago suburbs of Oak Lawn, Belvidere and Stone Park where damage was estimated to be $35 and $50 million. Saturday, President Johnson declared Illinois counties of Cook, Lake and Boone as disaster areas following a request from Gov. Otto Kerner. "No actual tornado sightings were reported in this district," an Illinois State Police representative from Du Quoin said Monday. A tornado watch was in effect during the weekend, he said.

Computer Use Rising

More than 38,000 computer systems were being used in the United States at the beginning of 1967. The number of computer users has increased at an annual rate of 30 to 50 percent. The growth has been fueled by the increasing demand for computer services and the availability of new and improved computer systems. The trend is expected to continue as the use of computers becomes more widespread and accessible.

The life of General MacArthur will be highlighted at 8:40 p.m. today on WSIU TV, as part of the program, "Biography" on WSIU TV.

Entries Due May 10

A photography contest for SIU students has been announced by the Department of Printing and Photography and the Photographic Society. Entries in the competition must be submitted by May 10 and must have been taken since March 31, 1966. Photions will not be classified but will be judged on individual merit. There are still a dozen openings for SIU students who wish to study in Europe this summer for credit.

"I fear that many students have misapprehensions about the exclusiveness of our program," said John Bell, project secretary, "Any student of good standing may join the Oxford Summer Seminar and Travel-1967, "

Undergraduates can earn up to 15 hours general studies credit and graduate students can earn up to eight hours of social studies credit, Bell said.

The program includes one month of lectures and seminars at Oxford University, Great Britain, and one month of travel on the continent. Interested students should contact Bell in room 101 in the Administration Building.

Firearms Control Essential To Curb Rising Crime Rate

There are certain laws, designed to protect human life and reduce suffering, which dry out for passage. All the dictates of wisdom, morality, and good citizenship demand their enactment. One of these laws is extraordinarily hard to pass because of the organized opposition of groups who put their own pleasure above the common welfare.

This group has sought, without success, to obtain backing for their enactment. The latter's own protection.

Fall Forecast

To the editor:

The following is forecast of things to come at SIU. A student graduate or undergraduate shall operate any type of motor driven vehicle, off road, on any SIU campus or within a 30-mile radius of Carbondale.

Liquor: Since Carbondale is now dry, the University shall not tolerate the consumption of intoxicating drinks by a graduate or undergraduate of the University, the public with a duty to itself and to the country.

Every year consumers must dispose of more than 250,000,000,000 bottles and cans, and 65,000,000,000 metal and plastic caps and crowns, plus billions of miscellaneous packages, according to the President's Science Advisory Committee.

It costs taxpayers an estimated 32 cents to pick up each piece of litter along the highways. Even when picked up and ground, the residue still presents a disposal problem. If incinerated it pollutes the air, if dumped into fills some of it contaminates the ground.

All this is solidly good science.

Criticism of One’s Country’s Pact Act

About the Story
This is the first of four articles taken from the book "One’s Country’s Pact Act: The University from The Arrogance of Power by Sen. J. William Fulbright. The series is being distributed by Chronicle Features Syndicate.

By Senator J. William Fulbright

"...it is often easier to fight for principles than to live up to them."

To criticize one’s country is to do it a service and pay it a compliment. It is a service because it may spur the country to do better than it is doing; it is a compliment because it evidences a belief that the country can do better than it is doing.

In a democracy dissent is an act of faith. Critics of America display it proudly, the way most people display the cross of their religious faith. In small-town gatherings it is their duty not to murmur, but to murmur loudly, and the more, the better.

Rome
In order to bring you a clear picture of the Italian political scene, the following is an extended interview with Mr. Alfredo Romeo, Mr. Romano Panettinga, Mr. R. R. R., or the Extreme Radical Center Party.

Q -- Pirat, Mr. Romeo, what is the composition of the G.R.R.R.R.?
A -- We began as a tightly-knit coalition of Manifesto Communist, Socialists, Unpopular Anarchists and unemployed textile twisters. But we have since broadened our base.
Q -- Where does your party stand today in the Italian political scene?
A -- We are opening the door to the left, a cutback to the right and a buttonhook over center.
Q -- How many political parties are there?
A -- Just ours. The other dozen are nothing but bands of bandits, corruptors, milk bottle thieves, wine adulterators, margarine peddlers.
Q -- Please, your wrinkle my lapel.
A -- I cannot answer you by emotion when I think of how these mountains of the opposition would erase our economic gains and take it all.
Q -- Whose jobs?
A -- Well, my brother-in-law, Alberi, who works for the Post Office; my mother’s cousin, Guseppe, who is a Customs Inspector; my uncle, Luigi, who works for the Post Office; my mother’s sister, Maria; my uncle, Guiseppe, who is a Customs Inspector; my grandmother, who has two nephews out of work. But if we get expansion, eliminating unemployment of the G.R.R.R.R.?
Q -- How many political parties are there?
A -- Excuse me. But I get carried away by emotion while expressing a consensus of values. Criticism is just one’s country.

Traitors” “Long Live America”

Criticism is an act of faith. It is a service because it ensures that the country can do better than it is doing. In short, is more than a right; it is an act of prudence. The applause was long and loud. The extreme right may turn you into a blue funk.

It is an encomium, a well-expected feature of the American national character. Louis Harz attributes it to the heritage of a society which was founded, a society which is surrounded by serious criticism because it has experienced so little revolutions. R. R. R., Al. Delegations of agricultural economics students from universities in 12 states will meet Friday and Saturday at SIU for the Midwest regional conference of the American Farm Economics Association. The SIU Agricultural Economics Club will be the conference host.

The conference is the annual meeting of the midwestern college agricultural economics clubs to stimulate interest and promote the interchange of ideas among persons interested in agricultural economics.

A discussion of world food problems by William Gray, professor of botany, will open the conference at 7:30 p.m. in the Seminar Room of the Agriculture Building. Saturday morning Marvin Kleineme, varsity debate coach, will conduct workshops to help students prepare for the club’s forthcoming debate, speech and essay contest. Officers of each club will meet before the workshops to discuss problems of club management.

A barbecue luncheon at the Little Egypt Agricultural Cooperative, a housing unit for SIU agriculture students, will conclude conference activities.

discussed the matter with the Rev. Malcolm Gillespie, director of the Student Christian Foundation and advisor to several on-campus organizations.

"I guess he felt it was the only way," the Rev. Mrs. Gillespie said.

"He is an exceedingly serious guy." Hopkins began his career at SIU in 1963. In a freshman speech course, he advocated dissolving the U.S. defense budget. During the same period, he signed three petitions protesting U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Hopkins claimed in his letter to the draft board that his parents did much to foster his pacific inclinations. "Their examples of kindness toward me and toward others and their statements on these subjects have left lasting impressions on me. They continually impressed on me the duty of man to be kind."

"On more than one occasion I can remember my mother telling me that if there were another war when I grew up, she did not want me to take part in it; that war solved nothing, and that I had no right to take the life of a person whom I had never met."

Hopkins went to Cairo, Ill., in the summer of 1965 as a civil rights worker. "He seemed unwilling or perhaps unable to hurt someone even in jest," a friend and a fellow civil rights worker wrote of Hopkins.

"He refused to agree with me that certain wars should be supported. I almost wish I could swap childhoods with him and accept his childlike faith that the evils of the world are beyond understanding and fear."

A relative and member of the family with which Hopkins lived since he was 15 wrote of the youth, "He is undoubtedly one of the kinder and gentlest human beings who ever lived. It seems evident to me that for him the power of love as the supreme force in human affairs is deeply felt, clearly conceptualized and strongly motivating."

On Oct. 23, Hopkins left for Canada, shortly after a sudden tightening of border regulations by the U.S. If he secured a visitor's visa in Toronto, then applied for immigrant papers in order to find work in Canada. He spent the first three days in Toronto with Richard Panceruk, a sociology graduate from Marquette University, who was one of the subjects of an article in the March 7, 1967, Look magazine on the "draft-dodgers" in Canada. He is in charge of the information program for the reportedly thousands of young American men in Canada for the same reason as Hopkins.

He found a room for $10 a week, two minutes from the Toronto subway.

"Every day I like it more," he wrote his sister in Carbondale.

In a letter written in February, he blamed the reasons for U.S. involvement in Vietnam. He said U.S. foreign policy resembled a "comic book plot" being enacted in a world full of real people.

"The unlucky few who survive the next war will be the meek that inherit the earth, with all the radio-civility that goes with it," he said.

Shortly after arriving in Canada, he wrote home, "Canada may not be a Utopia, but, by God, you can breathe up here."

And Alan Hopkins is still a man without a country.

Coleman Says Administrators Need to Listen

with the loss of individuality in the university complex—what Clark Kerr calls "the anonymity of the complex,"

"There has been a great deal of discussion about what constitutes an education," Coleman says. "The students we are graduating now are getting training—not an education."

Coleman says there is a need for change in the present system of education. "The faculty does not feel enough responsibility for educating and the students feel cheated. They know what they're getting in the classroom is "phony," says Coleman.

Coleman finds a possible solution in the system of "cluster colleges."—a multi-"college" system where each college provides its own liberal education, separate from the others. A student enrolled here would be a part of a small college and a large university. He would then be closer to faculty and administration.

Said Coleman: "A student just can't be boxed in a General Studies program."

Coleman anticipates many more differences of opinion and heated discussions between students and administrators before any clear understanding emerges.

"It will be another five years before we get back down to the business of educating students," says Coleman.

Soviet Space Disaster May Cause Setback

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The death of Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov could delay the Soviet moon drive in much the same way the Apollo I fire maimed U.S. chances exactly a year ago, predicted Monday.

It also probably was a premature ending to what was supposed to be a space spectacular, they added.

"Like any other accident," said Dr. Charles Shelton, consultant to the National Aeronautics and Space Council on Soviet space affairs, "the length of delay depends on the assessment of what went wrong."

"A review board must determine what went wrong, studies to see what it means as early as possible," he said.

The U.S. space programs.

Western experts on cosmonautics and

"tacular, they noted.

U.S. Space agency officials said.

Despite words to the contrary from the official Soviet news agency Tass, Western observers are convinced Komarov's death was supposed to form a much bigger space adventure.

We have heard all along from Moscow that they were up to something spectacular," Shelton said. "You don't just one man up in a low earth orbit and call it spectacular. We did not see the rest of their operation."

American observers said the actual Soviet mission perhaps was to include a rendezvous between Soyuz I and another manned ship or possibly having Komarov's motor to propel him to a lofty altitude in preparation for future flights around the moon itself.

Like the United States, Russia has had trouble perfecting its new generation of spacecrafts. Trouble with a nitrogen-oxygen breathing system on earlier manned Soyuz and Voskhod spacecrafts forced the Russians to switch to an oxygen-helium mixture on Soyuz I, sources said.

Committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., said estimates of the Vietnam cost last year were "almost a joke. You missed by 500 percent."

Opening the joint commi-

defensive effects of Vietnam spending, congressional leaders and the Defense Department had not provided adequate funds for adequate expenditures for the year ending June 30 — it may be too little."

Any overexpenditure, Anthony said under questioning, would total $1 billion or $500 million — something on that order."

"FASTEN YOUR SEAT BELTS, BOYS!"

Troops 'Dismayed' by Protests

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland revealed a major speech at the last minute Monday to include the statement that his troops in Vietnam "are dismayed, as I am, by present unpatriotic acts here at home."

As he spoke, about 100 anti-anti-war demonstrators marched and chanted outside, clashing with police who halted their attempt to burn an effigy of President Johnson.

Addressing the annual luncheon of The Associated Press at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, Westmoreland declared: "Regrettably, I see signs of enemy success in that world arena which we cannot match on the battlefield."

"He does not understand that American democracy is founded on debate, and he sees every atom of the evidence of crumbling morale and diminishing resolve. Thus, discouraged by repeated military defeats he encouraged by what he believes to be popular opposition to our effort in Vietnam, he is determined to continue his aggression from the North. Thus, inevitably, will cost lives — American, Vietnamese and those of our other brave allies."

In response to a question, Westmoreland said, "I was delighted to learn of the two MiG bases bombed today, it is true that MiGs could take sanctuary in China, but they would be at a disadvantage operating from these bases."

To another question, the 53-year-old general said, "We are picking up more prisoners. There are more defectors. A year ago it was primarily limited to lower ranks, but now we're getting some senior officers."

Johnson Carries America's Sorrow

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Johnson carried to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Monday America's condolences on the death of Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov. In a 90-minute visit he also laid out a full program of later discussions, on the treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons, American troop withdrawals from Germany and other issues.

"It was a mixture of sentiment and practical politics," there was sympathy in Bonn who said; "The old man would have wanted it that way."

Adenauer, West Germany's first chancellor, died Wednesday at the age of 91. Until his last days he was preoccupied with world affairs. One of his final acts was trying to get the countries of Western Europe, including France, to react to the latest offer of partnership made by Vice Pres. Hubert H. Humphrey in Bonn last month.

Leaders of the Western World praised Komarov, 36, for his "extraordinary" achievements. Round of trade talks and the drain on American gold reserves, which the President said would continue his aggression from the North, "will inevitably, will cost lives — American, Vietnamese and those of our other brave allies."

A review board must determine what went wrong, studies to see what it means as early as possible," he said.

Effective lobbying by the billboard interests and widespread dismay in Congress at the estimated $2 billion to $3 billion cost of the program have brought the two-year-old law back for what could be a complete revision.

Singing Sergeants Wednesday. has been named director of the SIU Arena, it was announced at 8 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Justice said that there have been four sellouts to Saluki basketball games in the Arena, which meant that there were more than 8,800 tickets available. However, 11,000 seats for his presentation before 10,400. In the case of Alpert and of Al Hirt during the past winter, more than 1,000 seats are lost because the stage is placed in the north end of the gymnasium.

Currently, Justice said, the University is investigating the possibility of revising its sound and lighting systems so that future shows can be done in the round and thus reduce the seating eliminated by the stage at the end.

Blattner, who is presently director of Baptist Student Work in St. Louis, has a bachelor's degree in education from Harris Teacher's College in St. Louis, and a master's degree in school administration from San Jose State College, Calif.

The new student union director served two years in the army, 1953-55, and was a teacher in St. Louis 1955-57 and Jefferson Union School District, Calif., 1957-62. He then became vice principal of Burrego Springs School, Calif., 1962-63. The temporary Baptist Student Union director, Mrs. Lora Blackwell, will continue to serve part-time until August when Blattner will take over the duties, the board of directors of the Baptist State Association announced.

Mrs. Blackwell filled the vacancy in December created by the resignation of Charles E. Gray, who is now a counselor in the Student Work and Financial Assistance office.

Southern May Associate With India School

A three-man team from SIU will be in India during July to study the possibility of establishing an association between SIU and Bangalore University in South India, according to William S. Hardenbergh, associate professor of government.

Hardenbergh said that a permanent center is being established in Bangalore for research, study and exchange of students and faculty.

A center would be operated by SIU and other Midwestern universities.

Hardenbergh is now interested in guidance and advice from the various departments on campus, so the best interests of each department can be considered by the research team.

Hardenbergh would like the following information: members of departments who have a specific interest in such a center; names of those who might be interested in an advisory, teaching, or technical assistance capacity in India; and any interest that anyone would have in using Indian professors in the different departments.

Greek System Studied

Commission to Release Report

The Commission on Fraternities and Sororities, established by President Delroy W. Morris a year ago, will issue a report of recommendations this quarter, according to Donald W. Robinson, professor of higher education and chairman of the commission.

The purpose of the commission is to make a complete study of the system of fraternities and sororities on the SIU campus and to make recommendations relative to ways in which it might be improved.

"We must stress," Robinson said, "that this commission was set up by President Morris at the request of student leaders on campus. These leaders, in my opinion, were favorable to the Greek system. So the nature of recommendations that we will release will, from the point of view of the commission, aid in strengthening the system."

During the past year, the commission has met with student leaders, both in and out of the Greek system, faculty advisors and administrators in the division of student affairs. They have also examined reports of the operation of Greek-letter systems all over the country.

The commission is composed of four student members and five faculty members.

In addition to Robinson, the faculty members are Randall Nelson, professor of government; Sheldon Alexander, associate professor of psychology; Eloise Snyder, associate professor of sociology; and Robert Mueller, professor of music.

Student members are Bard Gross, Anthony Gianelli, Martha Moyer and Kathy Ganey.

Fun in Sun Feature
Of Carbondale Area

By Tom Wood

Everyone knows the feeling well. You find yourself sitting around on some weekend during spring or summer term wondering what to do or whether to risk doing anything but reverting to an air-conditioned pad for instant relief.

Often you just end up spending half the day trying to figure out what the opportunities are for some recreation.

Well, usually the problem boils down to what being able to think of enough alternatives from which to make a choice. This need not be. Southern Illinois has a few more recreational opportunities then it is usually given credit for.

If your favor falls to cool leisurely bathing in sun or water, you have numerous choices. The area lakes include Lake-on-the-Campus, Crab Orchard, Little Grassy and Lake Murphysboro. If you're prone to stay within motor scooter distance, all offer fishing, boating and swimming facilities.

There are also picnic areas at all of these lakes. Crab Orchard also has a horseback riding stable.

The Lake-on-the-Campus opens May 1 for swimming and the other lakes are open year round for almost all recreational activities.

For the horseman there is, in addition to Crab Orchard Stables, a horse stable at Union Hills, just west of Carbondale. Golfers can find several area courses, mostly of the nine-hole variety, which are in big demand during good weather.

Midland Hills is situated off U.S. 51, south of Carbondale. Jackson Country Club is between Carbondale and Murphysboro. The Southern Illinois Golf and Country Club is in Marion, and Crab Orchard has an 18 hole course in Carbonderville.

There is also a nine hole pitch-and-putt course at Riverview Gardens just east of Murphysboro on Illinois 13. The University tennis courts, which have recently been resurfaced for the NCAA finals in June, provide excellent tennis facilities which are open throughout the spring and summer.

Hiking and picnics at Giant City Park are a favorite pastime of many.

And, of course, the sun is always just perfect for tanning right in your own back yard, for those who prefer the bronze look to recreation.

What about the pale at heart, who burn easily? Are the pool halls and bowling alleys ever closed? They're air-conditioned too!
Ditka Subject Of Trade Talk

CHICAGO (AP) — George Halas Jr., president of the Chicago Bears, said Monday he has been discussing with the Philadelphia Eagles and other National Football League clubs regarding tight end Mike Ditka.

Ditka played out his option with the Bears last season, He reportedly agreed to play with Houston of the American Football League next season, after accepting $30,000 from the Oilers, and will become a free agent May 1.

If the Bears deal Ditka, it must be before the May 1 deadline.

A story by Gene Rosswell in Monday's New York Post said the Bears were close to dealing Ditka to the Eagles for quarterback Norm Snead.

"As for the Eagles, Snead and other players were mentioned, but nothing tangible has been resolved at this stage," Halas said.

"If ditk's the Eagles, it's all right with me," Rosswell quoted Ditka as saying. "I can stop any deal I want. They can't force me to go where I don't want to legally, the Bears can trade me before May 1. I can still go to Houston, I guess.

Moore, Relay Team Win Firsts

SIU Trackmen Shine at Kansas Relays

By the smile that spread the width of Lew Hartzog’s face Monday one couldn’t help but tell that the Saluki track team had been one of the stars of the show at one of the best Kansas Relays in history Friday and Saturday.

Hartzog brought two first place finishers home, one a pleasant surprise and the other Oscar Moore, Only Rice and Kansas won more first places than SIU in the university division. The Owls grabbed four top spots and Kansas had three.

The pleasant surprise was the sprint medley relay team, which overcame favored Texas on the final lap to grab an upset victory in 3:22. Hartzog had considered not entering the team of John Quillen, Chuck Benson, Ross MacKenzie and Jeff Dutcher in the event, but when he found out they would not be required to run preliminaries he went with them.

Quillen and Benson ran 23.0 and 20.3 for their 220 legs, MacKenzie won 440 in 56.6 and Dutcher in the half mile in 1:51.7. It was Dutcher who caught the Longhorn anchorman.

“The Salukis came on like fireballs the final two laps to upset Texas,” is the way Max Siebel of the Wichita Eagle newspaper described the SIU victory.

Moore, who Siebel described as the “Old Man Moses of the Collegiate track world,” ran away from the field to win the 5,000 meters and establish another meet record at 14:19.2.

The time was well off Moore’s own personal record, 13:29.8. But Moore had three things working against him at Lawrence near gale winds, a bad case of bronchitis and lack of knowledge of the field of runners he was competing against.

He, nonetheless, won the race by 140 yards, Hartzog said Moore was his man. “Texas had the bronchitis since the team’s trip to Florida March 21 and he was bothered a great deal by it in Lawrence,” Moore said that he knew his cold would eliminate any chance of a good final kick so he got as far away from the field in front early as he could.

Two SIU Students In Judo Tourney

Re Slaughter of St. Louis, a member of the SIU Judo Club took second place in the state YMCA Meet at Albion Sunday. Slaughter, a first degree black belt, and Drew Herndon of Chicago, a brown belt, were the only entrants from SIU.

C.C. Franklin, the SIU Judo Club faculty representative, was the winner in the tournament competition.

The biggest attention getter was Jim Ryan’s new collegiate record 5:34.7 in the mile.

Three Rice relay teams broke Kansas Relay records, Wichita State’s Fred Burton won the pole vault with a 16’10” effort, and Steve Herndon of Missouri high jumped seven feet for his third straight Kansas Relays title.

Kansas State was a surprise winner in the distance medley relay, it was the first time Kansas State has taken a first place in 31 years of competition at Lawrence.

BREAKS OWN WORLD MARK—Randy Matson of Texas A&M Ist loose Saturday with a toss that broke his own record in the shot put with a heave of 71 feet, 6 inches. Matson was competing in a triangular between Texas A&M, Baylor and Texas Tech at College Station Tex. (AP Wirephoto)

85 Report for Grid Drills

About 85 football candidates reported Monday for the opening of spring drills as new Head Coach Dick Towers began the process of giving all candidates a good look.

Towers has 26 lettermen returning from a squad that posted a 4-5-1 record in 1966 under Ellis Rainsberger.

The squad will undergo conditioning drills today and begin contact work Wednesday afternoon.

The first full scrimmage will be Saturday and every Saturday thereafter will be devoted to scrimmage. The team will practice four days a week with practice sessions ending May 27, the date of an intraquad game and coaching clinic.

Towers expressed confidence prior to spring drills of bringing SIU its first winning football team since 1961, despite a much improved schedule in 1967.

Two other Salukis placed among the top finishers at Lawrence, Mitch Livingston’s 64’ effort in the high jump was good for a fifth place tie and John Vernor took fourth in the triple jump at 46’10”.

Hartzog said, “Livingston continually got high enough to clear 6’8”, but his trailing foot kept striking the bar.” Vernor’s performance was a disappointment to Hartzog because he won in last year’s relays and his bad leg was obviously still bothering him.

Ten records fell in the University division of the Relays, the Owls came favored with them. In the univer-
