Two Alternatives Face Students In Campus Voting Wednesday

Outcome Will Determine Structure of Government

Students on both SIU campuses will be asked to decide what kind of student government structure SIU will have next year.

Their choice will be limited, however, to two alternatives.

Alternative "A" was originally submitted to the University Council as a recommendation from the ad hoc committee appointed by student government.

Dominican Policy Will Be Discussed

A discussion on the American role in the revolution in the Dominican Republic will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Family Living Laboratory of the Home Economics Building.

Tackling part in the discussion, entitled "Gunboat Diplomacy or Welcome Intervention?" will be Ward M. Morton, professor of government; Albert W. Bork, director of the Latin American Institute; C. Harvey Gardiner, professor of history; and J. Albert LaFontaine, lecturer in foreign languages.

The program is being sponsored by the Off-Campus Programming Council.

Gus says he used up a whole tank of gas waiting to make a left turn at University and Main.

Auto, Boat Accidents Kill Three

Three SIU students were killed in accidents between Friday and early Monday—two in separate auto accidents and the third in a boating mishap at Crab Orchard Lake.

They were:

Glenda F. Pittman, a freshman from Olmsted, who was killed 11 a.m. Monday when a car in which she was riding went out of control and overturned on Old Route 13, one-half mile west of Crab Orchard.

Robert D. Beatleston, a sophomore from Goodnord, who was found dead in his wrecked car Saturday on Old Route 13, three miles west of Murphysboro.

Karen Gergans, a sophomore from Chicago, who was killed Friday afternoon when a car in which she was a passenger was hit head-on five miles west of Chester in Carbondale.

State police said Miss Pittman was a passenger in a car driven by Kenneth Biss of Chicago when it overturned while moving east on Old Route 13. Biss and two other passengers in his car, April A. Biss of Chicago and Roger T. Taylor, a student living at 411 W. Walnut St., Carbondale, were hospitalized as a result of the accident.

Biss and April Biss are listed in serious condition at Doctor's Hospital and Taylor is listed in fair to serious condition. The Ryan Funeral Home in Mounds is in charge of Miss Pittman's funeral (Continued on Page 9).

Student Leaders Want to Add 3rd Proposal to Ballot

A third alternative for the campus referendum to be held Wednesday concerning student government was proposed by the Student Council in an emergency meeting Monday.

The referendum, recommended by the University Council last Friday, presently has two alternatives.

After a brief discussion on adding the third alternative to the referendum, the Council decided to hold it but that President Delmont W. Morris for an hour in his two-way intercom system.

Morris said he would discuss the views of the University Council today, and would notify student government leaders as to the possibility of adding it.

The newest course of action regarding student government was proposed by Stephen Wilson, and a committee organized (Continued on Page 12).

SIU Coeds Are Being Polled

For Opinions on Later Hours

Women in SIU residence halls are being polled this week to see if they prefer later hours for curfews.

Loretta K. Ott, assistant dean of student affairs, suggested the poll was a good idea, and the women were asked to discriminate between the various living units in a meeting Thursday. The poll was the result of student complaints about the limits of the curfews and, at "the late leave system."

Representatives of the living units were to turn in reports to Mrs. Ott on Friday.

An informal poll on this issue was taken in Kellogg Hall Thursday night. The first and second floors voted for the extension, but the third voted against it.

One of the reasons most frequently given for voting against the extension was that the present hours rule provides a girl with an excuse to get rid of an unwanted date. Two reasons were expressed for wanting to extend hours: First, coming in early often made other girls think the date was uninspiring, and second, that boys wouldn't have to hurry so fast to get their dates back before 1 a.m. on weekends.

54 Initiated by Honor Society,
John W. Voigt Elected President

The SIU chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society, held its initiation banquet Sunday in the University Center.

The initiation of new members was followed by a banquet and an honors address entitled "Scholars Young and Old," given by Charles D. Toney, vice president of American University.

Newly elected officers of SIU's chapter of the honor society are John W. Voight, executive officer of General Studies at SIU; president: Wendell E. Kepper, dean of the School of Agriculture, vice president; Loretta K. Cox, assistant dean of Student Affairs, secretary-treasurer; and Frank Komish, associate professor of home economics, corresponding secretary.

The list of new members includes 48 undergraduates, 11 graduate students, and one faculty member.

Graduate students selected were Sandra H. Fritt, Judith A. Johnson, Carl S. McClerren, Richard A. Paill, and Cyril S. Schlosser, Thomas E. Jordan, the new chs:rn: of SIU's Department of English, is the faculty member who was selected for initiation into the organization.

"Do We Really Want Censorship?" will be the topic on WSIU's Forum, at 8 p.m. today. Guests will be James L. C. Ford, Department of Journalism.

"Pacem in Terris" On WSIU Tonight
WSIU-TV will feature "Pacem in Terris" at 8:30 o'clock tonight. This evening's discussion will be on how the non-nuclear powers look upon the requirements of peace.

Other highlights:
5:00 p.m., What's New: How boats were developed from logs.
5:30 p.m., Silver Wings: United States Air Force films.
7:00 p.m., The French Chef: Chicken livers à la Française.
7:30 p.m., Bold Journey: "Giants in the Sand," clues to forgotten tribes in Peru.
8:00 p.m., Cleny Trail: Truth and fiction about the heroes and villains of the old West.

Today's Weather Fair
Fair to partly cloudy and continued warm. High 84 to 90. According to the SIU Climatology Laboratory, the high for this date is 86, set in 1911, and the low is 33, set in 1925.

Let's Declare Cold War Over

By Robert M. Hutchins

I propose that the President of the United States make the following statement at the next session of the General Assembly of the United Nations:

"I hereby declare that the Cold War is over."

"I do not minimize the depth and breadth of the ideological differences that divide us. I am proud to proclaim that we will do so within the American system. But I do not intend to carry on a war, but only to prevent it."

"In the first place, such 'proof' is not convincing. It is even possible that we were 'proved' better than any others because it won a football game.

"In the second place, more urgent matters claims our attention. Millions of our fellow men are suffering from ignorance, poverty, hunger and disease. They have learned that these sufferings are not inevitable. The knowledge and productive capacity of the world are sufficient to eliminate them."

"We shall support such advances in the United Nations as may be required to enable it to act as a clearing-house and as a forum to prevent the revolutions of the world's mass and as a means of promoting peace and reducing armaments."

"I promise the people of the world that the United States will gladly, in its own self-interest, make available its material, intellectual and material resources for the development of all peoples—regardless of any war or cold war doctrine."

"There are several things that must be done immediately:

1) An overhaul of committee structure. Now, when a measure is referred to a congressional committee in Washington, there are at least two weeks of staff work before the measure sees the light of day. Often, much of the time is taken. In Illinois, our committee staff is no more than a secretary who simply reports on the measure and may or may not be available. There are over 120 offices for the governor and his staff, and the budget in future years will increase per-pupil $126.1 million over the 1963 appropriations."

2) Expenses must be realistic. Excessive needs have caused the increase in taxes, because of the effect it might have on the budget in the future. Persons, who have been satisfied for many years, are unhappy with the increase in taxes.

3) The funds will be used for education."

4) Adequate office space should be available. There are a few adequate offices for committee chairmen, but most committees meet on the floor of the House or Senate, with constant interruptions, and with virtually no chance to discuss in privacy a personal problem which a constituent may have.

5) Expenses must be realistic. Excessive needs have caused the increase in taxes, because of the effect it might have on the budget in the future. Persons, who have been satisfied for many years, are unhappy with the increase in taxes.

"By that time, however, many of those who were here may have passed from the earth. As soon as it would be possible, the House of Representatives would be called to order, and the committees would be called to order.

"We are asking for the people to allow this to happen."

"As a result, the committees would close to not functioning. We had one committee last week which approved requests for more than $100 million in less than five minutes—and no one can tell me this is right. It is one of the average bills which in committee now receives more than 10 minutes of attention. Some receive much more, but many receive much less. Obviously, this is not a good day to make laws."

"History will repeat itself. History is going to lie so that we'll never do it again, and the people will lie so that they'll never do it again."

"By the way, history is going to lie so that we'll never do it again, and the people will lie so that they'll never do it again."

$ Billion Boost for Education

Education was earmarked for $4 billion in the $4.4 billion biennial budget proposed recently by Gov. Ogilvy.

It is only fair that in the first flush of victory, the $4 billion, education should receive the largest allocation — $1.3 billion — for any single purpose.

Demands for instruction, research and expansion of the horizons; of education will increase as technology, science and general learning increase.

The following statement at the 'proof' is not convincing. It was 'proved' better than any others because it won a football game.

"In the first place, such 'proof' is not convincing. It is even possible that we were 'proved' better than any others because it won a football game.

Anybody Want to Claim Universe?

By Rex C. Mack

Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — I hereby claim ownership of the universe.

This includes the billions and billions of galaxies and their associated planets — everything, except the planet earth, the moon and the stars.

If you do, you can probably successfully refute my declaration of ownership, but I guarantee you, I will win the case.

If you do, the whole universe will be real.

It would be absurd to attempt to split up the universe in accordance with some prescribed plan, no one even knows what really constitutes the universe.

However, it also is absurd to charge blithely ahead with developing and exploiting a space of which we have at least some knowledge about the ownership.

There is not much that we can do about dividing up the universe, but there is much we can do about organizing it.

"I suppose that the conquest of the universe is as necessary along the same lines as did the conquest of our own planet.

One day an astronaut and his crew — his name may be Columbus — will seek an exploration charter from President Kennedy to explore the universe and we will have a woman as president.

After a long flight, they will arrive at some presently unknown planet and find a somewhat different race of people called Injuns.

Things will go along all right for a while. There may even be a princess or two around, but after a bit, controversy will arise, and it will be necessary to do something.

Eventually, wars will be fought. There will be good and bad people, and the good people will probably have the earthlings or the Injuns as their friends.

Either way it goes, somebody will "civilize" somebody or other.

History will repeat itself.

Among the names of the particular proposal under consideration, below the recommended investment is the establishment of a just and lasting world government.

Regardless of the immediate outcome, Illinois race tracks stand to lose $1.3 billion — for any single purpose.

The few pennies taxpayers could lose will be returned to them in the form of good education for their children, increased aid for Oregon, California and New York, more taxes from 5 cents to 50 cents, a decrease in tourism and increased per-pupil taxes in Illinois.

For the next two years, in addition to $19.1 million from Illinois Building Authority bonds.

Kernan has asked that taxes on gasoline, cigarettes, utility rates and horse racing in Illinois be raised to meet the new expense.

There has been some antagonism between legislators concerning the hike in taxes because of the effect it might have on people planning to move to, or vacation in, Illinois.

With the increase in gasoline taxes from 5 cents to 6 cents it is estimated that there will be a decrease in tourism and personal income, there is a decrease in the number of Illinois people employed by the Illinois state government, and the Illinois legislature is arguing.

Pardon and betting at Illinois race tracks stand to take a loss if persons decide to take their money elsewhere instead of paying the increased taxes.

In a long-range view, families intending to take residence in Illinois might be hesitant in making the move when they hear of any increase in utility, gasoline and cigarette taxes.

It should also be recognized that the budget being asked for by the governor below the recommended increase is necessary.

Excessive needs have not been demonstrated, and by answering the needs, it can be shown that the proposal under consideration will benefit the people.

Somebody mentioned a secretary who simply provides that every legislator be allowed a personal problem which a constituent may have.

Right now a legislator has to spend an hour a day dictating for a six-month session for printing, postage, stationery, and hotel expenses. In 1870 that may have been satisfactory but in 1965 it certainly is not. In the last week, for example, I have received approximately 3,000 letters and cards opposing the gasoline increase, in the amount of $20 in postage alone.

Other things could be mentioned.

The improvements suggested will cost money. Right now the legislative process costs about $1 billion, one percent of the total budget. If a little more care and money were spent on how we pass laws, the result could be a big improvement for our state, financially and otherwise.

An elegist is not a man who thinks too much of himself; he is a man who thinks too little of other people. —New Oxford (Pa.)

Barring Red Propaganda Mail Is Unconstitutional, Court Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down Monday a law permitting the government to intercept and destroy sealed Communist mail from abroad unless the addressee asked in writing to receive it.

Justice William O. Douglas, speaking for an 8-0 court, said this law placed an "affirmative burden which we do not think the government can impose."

"Any addressee is likely to feel some inhibition in sending for literature which federal officials have condemned as 'Communist political propaganda,'" Douglas said. He added this is especially so for officials in jobs requiring security clearance.

"The regime of this act," Douglas added, "is at war with the 'uninhibited, robust, and wide-open' debate and discussions that are contemplated by the First Amendment."

Justice William J. Brennan noted in a concurring opinion that the 'sensibilities of the mailing recipient' of such mail are protected — all he has to do is ask the Post Office not to deliver it.

Brennan was joined in his opinion by Justice Arthur J. Goldberg. It was noted without explanation that Justice Byron R. White took no part in this case.

The government held the law was necessary to protect American citizens, especially officials in jobs abroad, from harassment. Also, it contended, the law permitted waiver of the 'uninhibited, robust, and wide-open' debate and discussions that are contemplated by the First Amendment."

"The law permitted waiver of the Fourteenth Amendment's protection against restrictions on civil rights," the court said.

"The court held that the government had not established a compelling government interest for a law which interferes with the exercise of First Amendment freedoms," the justices said.

Hearings

CHICAGO (AP) - Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court late Monday refused to call off a scheduled hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities today. A temporary restraining order had been asked by two Chicagoans called as witnesses before the congressional group.

The petitioners - Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, Chicago Board of Health official, and his assis­tant, Dr. Robert Yolando Hall - challenged the constitu­tion­ality of the rule setting tion, one hears from responsible Venezuelan, may be President of the Dominican Republic.

United States plunged into a situation without the will to see it all the way through, stopped a rebellion but failed to go all the way to eliminate the rebel movement which it called Communist-influenced. The result was a prolonged crisis which produced a state of shock in much of Latin America.

The expectation is that Communist - Castroist ele­ments will gather their forces for a new campaign to introduce wide-spread turmoil around the northern rim of this continent.

Private, highly placed sources say it probably is likely that the U.S. military action prevented a Castro­like takeover of the Dominican Republic. But they add that this does not save the situa­tion, since the United States did this on its own without any prior consultation with the Organization of American States and thus, in their opinion, dealt a blow to an already sick inter­American organization.

Extremist elements are lying in wait now. They are not expected immediately to mount their big efforts, but in the long run they may reap what propaganda advantage may be gained from the U.S. intervention in a Latin-American nation.

The sensation of the trial Monday was Ruby's fresh testimony that he took pills which "make you want to do positive things," before gunning Oswald to death.

"To the American people and the world I'm going to be branded a part of a con­spicacy with Oswald," he declared in an emotional courtroom scene.

"You're going to forget how I felt about the beloved President Kennedy," he said.

3 Companies To Interview Here for Jobs

Three companies will be on campus this week to interview new students for jobs.

- Breckenridge Jones
- Camp Breckenridge
- Service Field, Ky.

They will hold representatives on campus Tuesday to seek a resident fellow and instrucational assistant to live with 22 students.

Requirements are that he be a single male at least 21 years old.

Any academic area is acceptable and a B.S. is desirable but not required. Applicant must be available any time from June to September.

On Thursday, Ernest and Ernst, Accountants, St. Louis, Mo., will be seeking trainees for their accounting program.

Thursday, Travelers Insurance of St. Louis will also interview seniors in management and liberal arts and sciences for a claims trainee program.

Students interested in any of these positions should contact the Placement Service in Anthony Hall as soon as possible to set up interview appointments.

Carbondale Show Wagon Would Offer Traveling Stage to Community Groups

Plans for a Carbondale Community Show Wagon have been unveiled by Kenneth R. Miller, president of the Carbondale Park District and director of the SIU Foundation. This specially built trailer would be used for neighborhood shows by adults and children groups.

"It can be used for a talent show, a variety show, a series of one-act plays, a musical, a soap box for a civic group—possibilities are as limitless as the imagination of those using it."

This statement, made by William H. Riddinger, associate professor in the Department of Recreation and Outdoor Education, describes the versatility of the mobile community show wagon recently developed by his department.

A scale model of the 16x8 trailer would be taken to Chicago to show to officials of several foundations interested in supporting community recreation projects. Miller and Riddinger said the Carbondale Show Wagon would be available to neighborhood groups and to area community centers who would use the facilities to produce their own shows.

They envision a fleet of such vehicles, each costing about $5,000. Each would be a mobile stage complete with lighting and sound equipment.

Possibilities Are Limitless

'Game' of Cops and Robbers is Serious at Grassy Campus

Riot control, disaster and mob control and bomb disposal are among the topics being studied by students in a police training course at SIU's Little Grassy Lake campus.

The program, which began Sunday in conducted by seven University of Illinois state troopers, five FBI agents and a member of the U.S. Secret Service.

Six-day courses in basic and advanced training will be offered to working police rookies and veterans. Sponsors in the program are the Safety Center and the Division of Technical and Adult Education at SIU.

Participants in the program will be given field problems in solving simulated burglaries, armed robberies and homicides.

Don Ragsdale, assistant security officer at SIU, said about half of the trainees in the basic course will stay for the advanced session the following week.

plenary council, the Vice President for Student and Area Services to proceed with the elections as recommended and approved for implementation.

ALTERNATIVE A

It is proposed that:

1. In the June, 1965, elections, 24 students from Carbondale be constituted as the student government of the Carbondale Campus (22 to be elected representatively, as determined by the present council, and 2-at-large). The 2-at-large representatives to be designated as the Executive Officers of the Carbondale student body. The competition for the 1965-66 Lifted States government grants for graduate students to go abroad for academic study, research or professional training in creative and performing arts, opened officially this month.

Under this program, more than 800 American graduate students will have the opportunity to study in any one of 55 countries.

The purpose of the awards is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the U.S. and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills. Candidates must be U.S. citizens at the time of application and have a bachelor’s degree or its equivalent by the beginning date of the grant.

In addition, they must be proficient in the language of the host country.

Selections will be made on the basis of the applicant’s academic and professional record, the feasibility of his proposed study plan, and personal qualifications.

Three types of grants will be available under the Fulbright-Hays Act: U.S. government full grants, joint U.S. and other government grants and U.S. government travel-only grants.

Further information is available at the International Services Division in Anthony Hall.

Sophomore to Fore, Helps SIU Beat Parsons Golfers 11-7

SIU’s golf team got help from an unexpected source to defeat Parsons College 11-7 Saturday at the Crab Orchard Golf Course.

Phil Stamison, a sophomore who hasn’t competed in a varsity match all spring, was pressed into service when starter Jerry Kirby was not able to play because of a test. Stamison’s score was good enough to defeat his opponent, Bill Klinger, by five strokes. And it offset the disappointing showing of John Krueger, team captain, whose 82 put him three strokes behind his opponent, John Nickerson.

Leon McNair shot the second low score for the Saluki golfers. He had an 18-hole total of 73, two strokes better than Dave Musengo of Parsons.

John Phelps turned in the third highest score of the day, a 74, for the Saluki golfers, but it wasn’t enough to beat John Mayes, who shot a 73.

Bill Muehleman kept up his winning ways with a three over par 75, good enough for a victory over Bill Backus.

Tom Muehleman, younger brother to Bill, was next with a 76, which won over Hayden Schott.

The victory over Parsons closed out the regular season.

Saluki Netters Blank Parsons, Memphis State in Final Matches

Southern’s tennis players never had it as easy as they did last weekend against Memphis State University and Parsons College.

In the span of 24 hours the netmen won two matches from their visitors, both by 9-0 scores, it was the Salukis’ second and third straight victories over the Parsons team.

Jerry Kirby was not the only SIU starter fighting to beat fatigue. Leon McNair shot the second low score for the Saluki golfers. He had an 18-hole total of 73, two strokes better than Dave Musengo of Parsons.

Parsons Beats SIU Baseball Team 8-5

SIU’s baseball Salukis go looking for another winning streak this week thanks again to Parsons College.

The Iowa school, small in enrollment but long on baseball talent, halted SIU’s 11-game winning streak by defeating the Salukis 8-5 here Saturday. It was the first loss at home in 22 games for SIU.

The Parsons victory came in the second game of a doubleheader after the Salukis had won the first game 2-0. SIU had taken the series opener Friday with a 7-0 victory. The Salukis were hoping to launch another winning streak Saturday—one they hope will carry them to another NCAA College Division Regional Championship and finally a spot in the Missouri Valley Conference champion St. Louis will be the first foe this weekend in a doubleheader on the SIU field.

SIU, now 17-2, is awaiting a post-season tournament bid expected to come at some time this week. Southern will be the host for the tournament next Tuesday and Wednesday.

In Saturday’s second game, the Wildcatalso went into the bottom half of the inning on triples by Gib Snyder, John Sievel and Kent Collins but Parsons added single runs in the second, seventh and ninth and two in the ninth to win.

It was their twenty-first out of thirty outings and closed their regular season. It also marked the second year in a row the Wildcats have ended a Saluki string.

Last season they won 10-8 in the third game of a series in which SIU had won the first two games—last regular season. It was also their twenty-first out of thirty outings and a no-hitter going until the seventh. Then Wildcat catcher Larry Blat singled sharply to right. The other hit was a bloop single to left in the eighth by pinch hitter Steve Gilliatt.

SIU scored both its runs on errors. John Sievel scored in the first with two outs when Parsons’ leftfielder Tim Heinzerleman dropped a fly ball. Then, Pat Paoletti scored the second run on a wild pitch in the second.

Parson’s won the series without its leading hitter leftfielder Larry Skinner, who didn’t make the trip because of illness. The hefty freshman was hitting .470 with 39 hits in 83 at bats.

Miller to Meet With Students

Today on Beer Sale at LBJ

Carbondale Mayor D. Blaney Miller, who is also the city liquor commissioner, is scheduled to meet this morning with three minor students who were arrested last week for serving beer at the Little Brown Jug without having been asked for identification. Blanche Marando, manager of the Little Brown Jug, also will be at the meeting.

The Daily Egyptian, in a series of articles last week first disclosed that the three students each were fined $50 and $5 in court costs for underage drinking but that no action was taken against the restaurant.

Miller said he planned to hold the meeting Monday morning, but only one of the students showed up. He was Ronald D. Ruleman, 18, of Vandalia, Calil, who was arrested again Saturday night and was in court Monday morning. He has a fine of charges on underage drinking.

Miller said that after he meets with Marando and the students he will decide whether to hold an official hearing.

The mayor met with University and city officials in connection with the case Monday and afterwards said it appeared that “it had been handled properly from the beginning” by the University and police department involved. He stressed, however, that “it was not intentionally mishandled.”

“It was a breakdown in communications more than anything else,” the mayor said. “We don’t think it will happen again.”

Miller said guidelines for dealing with such cases in the future were drawn up at the meeting. Similar cases are to be handled by the Carbondale police chief or, if he is not in, to his deputy, and then taken before the judge. This course was outlined, the mayor said, “just to avoid confusion.”

In the present case, the security police report and the statements were furnished to the city police after the case had been settled in court.

“We want to continue working together with the University and the city,” the mayor said. “They have been a great asset to us.”

He noted that relations between the University and the city are exceptionally good and he said, “As far as I’m concerned they are going to change this way. This is the way it must be. All parties want it this way.”
